picked it up. At the W. K. Rogers building Mr. Gillespie examined it and said, "Better keep the ring, and if there is a reward for it we'll go fifty-fifty." Miss Stanley laughed but said nothing. Witness assumed Mr. Gillespie saw the ring first because he was the first to speak before it was picked up.

Miss Earl had heard a conversation later between Mr. Gillespie and Miss Stanley in the shop about the ring and about a "fifty-fifty split" but did not know who made the remark, and did not think it was taken seriously.

Mr. Barnes could recall no conversation between the parties at the shop over the matter.

The Court, in dismissing the suit against the defendant, pointed out that the only matter of dispute was as to who saw the ring first. Mr. Gillespie's evidence that he did so is corroborated to some extent by Miss Sinnott. At the Roger's building corner it appears to have dawned upon Mr. Gillespie that the ring might be valuable and that if a reward was offered he should get a share of it. Miss Sinnott does not know whether the "fifty-fifty" suggestion included herself for not. The defendant seemed to take the suggestion as a joke, and made no offer to "split" any reward at that time. Mr. Gillespie claims that when the ring was picked up a bargain was made that the reward, if any, should be divided. This is denied by Miss Stanley and her denial is corroborated by Miss Sinnott. The weight of evidence seems to be against Mr. Gillespie in this.

There was no obligation on the owner's part to pay anything, but in recognition of the honesty displayed she, of her own free will, paid Miss Stanley $25 and Mr. Gillespie had no claim in the world against Miss Stanley unless, for a good consideration, she agreed to divide the money, and there was no evidence before the Court that any such bargain was made.

Judgment was therefore given for the defendant.

"Jep" as he was familiarly called by the boys, was an ardent admirer of the Madisons baseball team, and if rooting for a team helps win a game, then Jep must surely be counted on the winning side. As a slight token of the esteem in which he was held by the above club, a luncheon and presentation was tendered him last night at Lambros Bros Billiard Parlors, at which several of the party made brief remarks, expressing sincere regret at Mr. Jepson's departure, and assuring him of a warm welcome should he at any time return to Charlottetown. Mr. Joe Lambros presided, and Mr. Bill Purcell made the presentation. Mr. Jepson in a brief speech thanked the boys and assured them that he would always have pleasant memories of his stay in Charlottetown. BIGGEST AIRCRAFT LABORATORY TO OPEN JANUARY 1

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The largest aircraft experimental laboratory in the world will be completed and in operation at the Philadelphia Navy Yard by January 1, 1924, according to Captain G. C. Westervelt, manager of the naval aircraft factory here.

In addition to the great laboratory, a new 90-acre flying field and hangars, to house a score or more planes, will be ready for use by the first of the year.

The most important section of the new laboratory will be the dynamometer rooms, where instruments can measure the condition, power-output and input, and horsepower of motors under the same conditions as if the motor was at an elevation of 55,000 feet above sea level.

The expansion of the naval aircraft factory is in line with Admiral Moffett's program for naval air supremacy. The giant dirigible Shenandoah, formerly the ZR-1, was designed, fashioned and fabricated at the navy yard here and put together at Lakehurst, N. J.

BOGUS $100 U. S. BILLS ARE BLOODING EUROPE

VIENNA, Oct. 23.—One hundred dollar bills which were worth only two dollars when they left the United States for Europe are being circulated in Germany, Austria, Hungary and Italy.

In Bemurky, 1922, a counterfeiting shop was raided in Warsaw. A Polish merchant with a knowledge of chemistry had been flooding Europe with two dollars notes from which the figure "2" had been removed and "100" substituted.

It was thought that the destruction of the source of this bogus money would solve the problem. The counterfeiters had been industrious. Throughout Europe they had cashed spurious hundred-dollar notes.

In Budapest three men, May Belberbaum, William Czerny and Charles Ratgeber, have been arrested and found to have concealed in their hotel suite $10,000 in bogus hundred-dollar bills. This represented only their "pin money," and the whereabouts of the other thousands of bad dollars is unknown.

The gang has been preying on night clubs and such places. By the time the money reaches a bank the counterfeiters are far away. Search is proceeding for other members of the gang.

Defective Vision In Public Schools

Statistics recently compiled show that an average of 25 per cent of the school children in the United States have defective vision. The principal eye defects, according to authorities, are hypermetropia (far-sightedness), myopia (near-sightedness) and astigmatism.

Defective vision, chiefly myopia, is found to a large extent among older children in schools, as it is progressive. Near-sightedness is the most prevalent eye affliction, beginning primarily from congenital astigmatism and the subsequent strain upon the accommodation of the eye in an effort to see.

Have your children's eyes examined and know the facts. consult
