35 Bomb Hits Scored On Italian Ships

LONDON, June 17—(AP)—Newly-graduated United States army airmen, led by a veteran of the commercial airways, scored 35 bomb hits on two Italian battleships as a major contribution to the aerial exploits which enabled convoys to run the Mediterranean gauntlet to Tobruk and Malta this week, it was announced today.

In this first American air operation at the side of the Royal Air Force in the Mediterranean war, the four-motored Consolidated Liberators coasted down with the sun at their back so quietly that the Italians did not know they were there until the bombs were neatly dropped.

It was officially stated in London that both convoys got through with needed supplies but the cost was conceded to be "considerable," because of heavy German and Italian air attacks.

No tabulation of convoy losses was given, but one source said it was believed that the British fleet lost no warship larger than a destroyer and that four merchant ships were sunk or damaged.

Urges Women

the work of the organization.

Since the outbreak of war, she said, the home front has meant a great deal to the women of the Empire. Gradually many of the foods, previously believed to be necessities, are being denied at present. However, Canadians are still far away from the sacrifices of the people in the conquered countries of Europe.

She emphasized the importance of the women's part in the war effort and stated that their slogan should be "Food for health and health for victory." Nutrition is an important factor to be considered and, contrary to general belief, the interest being shown in this study of foods is not new. It goes back several hundreds of years.

Miss Elliot stressed the fact that Canadian women should get to know more about the food they eat and serve. She pointed out that a survey made several years ago showed that many people in this country were undernourished even though they were getting enough food. In addition to this it was found in this war that 42 per cent of those applying for enlistment were rejected as medically unfit for service. It is possible to be over-fed but undernourished, she declared.

Necessary Foods

The foods which people eat too little of are dairy products and fruits, the speaker stated. These she termed protective foods and are essential to a properly balanced meal. They contain vitamins and minerals. Meat and fish are body building foods—the proteins. People do not get enough milk and they should eat two vegetables besides potatoes each day. The latter are better eaten in their skins and, contrary to belief, are not fattening.

She declared that nutrition plays an important role in keeping up the morale of a nation. People who are well fed maintain high morale, the speaker contended.

Women must also be able to get their families to eat the proper foods. Aids in this are good cooking and the ability of making the meal attractive, Miss Elliot declared.

Referring to the food products which are exported to Great Britain, Miss Elliot explained that these are protein foods and are not ordinarily lacking in the nutrition of Canadians As for sugar people normally consume too much anyway and the half-pound quota per person each week is sufficient. Tea and coffee, which are also rationed, are of no nutritive value, she declared.

The speaker also referred to the pure food laws and the grading system in effect in Canada. The buyer is given ample protection by this legislation, she stated.

in an effort to determine a definite line of policy in the light of existing and prospective supplies of oil.

There are many thousand private residences now heated by oil. We find that conversion on a large scale would involve the use of materials, particularly steel, which are in very short supply. There is the further difficulty of transporting coal in sufficient quantities to insure that the converted units will have sufficient fuel to see them through the winter.

Consequently, we have had to explore ways and means of making available more supplies of fuel oil from existing and prospective supplies of crude.

There is no reasonable hope that we can augment our existing supply of crude oil. Therefore, if we are to refine more fuel oil, we must do so at the expense of automobile gasoline.

More Fuel Oil, Less Gas

Accordingly, refiners of crude oil have been ordered to change their refinery runs so as to make more fuel oil and less gasoline. By doing this we hope to build up sufficient stock of fuel oil between now and Oct. 1 to provide for household heating equipment during the winter months.

It must be understood, however, that even after these steps have been taken, no guarantee can be given that fuel oil for domestic heating equipment will be available to meet normal requirements, because it is impossible to say at this time whether sufficient tankers will be available to maintain a continuous supply of crude.

If there is a decrease in the anticipated supply through a loss of tankers, we shall have to draw on these reserves of fuel oil to take care of the armed services and war and essential industries.

Therefore, my advice is to those who heat their houses by oil is to convert their equipment if at all possible. Those who are in a position to convert and do not do so, run the risk of having no fuel in the coming winter.

Insofar as the commercial and industrial user is concerned, it will still be necessary for all those using fuel oil for the heating of commercial and industrial buildings, including apartment houses, hotels, institutions, stores, etc., to give up the use of fuel oil for heating as of July 31st, 1942. This also applies to all those using fuel oil for the production of steam.

As I have pointed out, the building up of reserves of fuel oil for the winter months means the refining of less automobile gasoline. Accordingly, it has been decided that in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, the value of the unit must be cut from five gallons to four.

The unit will remain, for the present, at five gallons in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and at two gallons in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

"We hope to be in a position to raise the unit to three gallons in the Maritimes as of midnight, June 30.

The changes in the value of the unit in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia will become effective at midnight tomorrow night.

Plan "A-A" Category

After the ration system had been in operation for a short time, the gravity of the supply situation made it necessary to re-categorize many thousands of those who were originally placed in higher than "A" categories. Many of these were reduced to category "A".

We also found that many of those originally in category "A" were owners of more than one car, or were using their cars almost entirely for pleasure purposes. It is obvious that these motorists should not receive as much gasoline as those who use their cars mainly in the earning of their livelihood.

It has therefore been decided to establish a lower category, to be known as category "A-A" the setting up of a new category takes time, and I am not now in a position to state what the gasoline allowance for category "A-A" will be or when it will become effective. This will be announced in due course.

Because there are many thousands of farmers, industrial workers and business men now in category "A", the quarterly restriction of the coupon in this category will be abolished after midnight tonight. This means that the category "A" coupons in any quarter may be used at any time regardless of the date printed on them.

cover "the sending forward of surgical and medical supplies, food, tobacco, clothing and comforts."

Pending arrival of these supplies at Hong Kong, the international Red Cross delegate in China is taking over from the American Red Cross "certain large stocks of cereals and medical supplies" at Hong Kong and Shanghai and is placing them at the disposal of the local authorities for the benefit of war prisoners and civilian internees.

Among the prisoners of war at Hong Kong are more than 1,600 members of the Canadian garrison force which took part in the unsuccessful defence of that Far East colony. The Japanese announced after Hong Kong's fall last Christmas Day that 1,689 Canadian soldiers had been taken prisoners, and a few subsequently were reported to have died while in Japanese custody.

The Canadian contingent numbered 1,965 officers and men, and on the basis of the Japanese figures it is concluded 296 were dead or missing when the Hong Kong fighting ceased.

Ever since the capitulation of the colony, said tonight's external affairs statement, the Canadian government, other Commonwealth governments and the United States had been trying to find means to send relief supplies to the Hong Kong area.

BE SURE OF SAFETY IN YOUR HOME

The bathroom, the stairway, the basement, the kitchen, the laundry the backyard, even the garage — they are all potential accident spots.

Let's take them one by one.

Make sure you have a safety mat in the bathroom and a hand hold to aid in getting out of the tub. Make sure the electric lights are controlled by a wall switch and the medicine cabinet out of reach of the children. Keep the room free of razor blades and out of place soap.

Have the inside stairway well-lighted, with a switch top and bottom and the landings clear of objects. Enclosed or not, there should be a hand rail at either side and the steps to the basement should have rubber treads. The steps should be in good condition and the steps to the upper floor carpeted.

The basement should be well-lighted throughout, the floor clear of rubbish and obstruction. The furnace feeding arrangement should be convenient and hazard-free and the basement completely free of gas odors.

The kitchen and the laundry are two of the most hazardous spots. Make sure you have a sturdy step-ladder stool to use in reaching high cabinets and shelves. Inflammables must be kept in closed receptacles and away from the stove. The windows must be easy to open and close and care should be taken to see that curtains cannot blow into gas-flames. The match box must be kept well out of the reach of the children and knives and other sharp utensils kept in out of the way places.

Keep the handles of pots and pans turned inward when they are on the stove and the waste basket clear of broken glass. Care should also be taken to see that the floor is kept clear of grease and the objects that might cause stumbling and falling. Be sure articles on cabinet wall shelves are so placed as to make their falling impossible.

You can prevent accidents in the backyard and garage by making sure that they are free of garden tools, rubbish and playthings. Keep the garage free of greasy rags and make sure it is well lighted at night.

SKIN CLEANLINESS IS THE PRIME REQUISITE— BATH OIL, LOTION, CREAM, PERFUME — THEY ALL HELP

Even if you are not truly beautiful you may be so well groomed, so poised, so charming that people will forget minor imperfections of face and figure and vote you the most attractive woman of their acquaintance.

Skin cleanliness is important. A clean skin is a healthy skin. Healthy skin multiplies your chance for beauty by 100 per cent. Perfect skin reflects a functioning of glands, digestion and bloodstream. You have to give your body fresh air, exercise, the right food, enough sleep- proper elimination and relief from tension. Neglect any one of these and you will see an immediate reflection in your skin.

Many people seem to think beauty care begins at the neck and goes up. It is true that a lovely face will often help to distract attention from other phisical shortcomings. Few people can afford to ignore efficient aids to good grooming.

A Saturday night ablution is no guarantee of physical cleanliness. A warm relaxing tub at night and a fresh wake-up shower in the morning should become the foundations of the entire cleansing process.

Many physicians believe that static electricity is liberated from the body during the daily bath ritual. One of the most important skin functions is the casting off of impurities, such as dust grime, sweat, waste and dead cells.

Soap and water, bath oil and lotion, cream and powder and perfume—will all do their part to add to your beauty.

Don't think that you have no need for a deodorant. Don't confuse it with an anti-perspirant. Don't make the mistake either of thinking that creams are only deodorants. Many of them are anti-perspirants as well.

It's an excellent idea to get into the habit of using a really efficient mouth wash too. Use it religiously.

Don't think "Oh, I'll get by" — maybe you won't

Popularity

Here are four don'ts in behavior that will put you on the right track for personal popularity.

Don't be a leg-twiner. It is more natural to keep the feet out in front crossed at the ankles. Any strained posture spoils a girl's looks. It calls attention to her awkwardness.

Don't be a twiddler. Girls who are always nervously pulling at their hair or fussing with their fingernails, or plucking at their costume do it out of nervousness. It is a bad habit.

Don't be a butter-in. Next time you're in a group try listening for ten minutes. You will learn a lot and you will make a pal of the boy or girl who likes an audience.

Don't be a public primer. Girls in their teens should use make-up that looks completely natural. Learn to put it on very delicately —and then let it alone.

Don't forget, when you're considering what can be done to enhance your own personal daintiness, how delightful eau de cologne and perfume may be. Used to their best advantage they can suggest a mood, lend emphasis to your own personality, give yourself a "lift." And there are as many scents as you could possibly imagine.

Defence' Board Aids Soldiers' Kin

To provide assistance or supplementary grants in special cases of difficulty and hardship involving dependants of men in the Armed Forces, is the job of the Dependants Board of Trustees, in Ottawa.

Since its inception, the Board has been actively engaged in establishing a network of regional advisory committees, and twenty-one of them are now functioning. More than 1,000 applications have been considered and dealt with on an individual basis.

One of the highlights of the organization has been the willingness with which the members of the various welfare agencies, both private and public, and individual citizens have been helping with the investigation in their respective districts. Despite a serious shortage of staff, and the increased pressure of local demands on their facilities, the welfare organizations have accepted this extra call upon their services.

In Ottawa, the Board is located in the Records Building, at the Experimental Farm. A competent staff has been assembled under the direction of Squadron Leader W. G. Dunn and an experienced staff of welfare workers under the direction of the Chief Reviewer, Miss Elsie J. Lawson.

The Board was appointed, by Order-in-Council, at the beginning of the year and is administered under the authority of the Minister of National Defence.

Health Insurance Scheme Discussed

JASPER, Alta., June 16—(CP)—The general council of the Canadian Medical Association, in session here, has held a lengthy discussion on the adoption of a health insurance scheme in Canada.

Councillors were informed yesterday the Federal Government had been studying the question of health insurance and had asked the medical profession for its reaction to a Dominion health scheme.

On this basis, councillors laid down several principles which they felt should be embodied in a health insurance plan and also expressed eagerness and willingness to cooperate in the formation of legislation for the adoption of health insurance.

Among principles laid down were:

1. All insured persons should be allowed to choose their own doctors.
2. Administration of the insurance should be under independent health insurance commissions.
3. Indigents should be cared for under the scheme, with their premiums paid by the government.
4. The plan will be compulsory for those whose income is lower than would allow for adequate medical care.
5. The scheme would provide for additional specialist services.
6. No economic barrier should be interposed between doctor and patient.
7. Best possible standard of service to be required of profession and remuneration of profession should be consistent therewith.

The meeting was told that money for the setting up of the system should come from the government, the insured man and the employer of the insured man.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

Eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called, is one of the most painful of all skin troubles.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in hot water are most unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

The relief offered by Burdock Blood Bitters is based on the knowledge that such ailments as eczema, and other skin troubles, are caused by an impure blood condition.
