SUPERSTITIONS OF THE SEA

Many strange superstitions from the distant past are inherited by the sailor, and even in these modern days of steel and steam his outlook is still influenced by them. From time immemorial sea birds have been regarded by sailors as sacrosanct. Woe betide the man who slays one of "Mother Carey's Chickens!" The fate of the man who shot the albatross is well known.

But there are other superstitions concerning sea birds. Many sailors, for instance, believe that they are the wandering souls of evil-doers condemned to continual movement. Some believe they carry the souls of masters of lost ships, plaintively crying in the still watches of the night until their bodies shall be carried to the land for Christian burial.

The small grey gulls which fly swiftly up and down the Bosphorus, near the Golden Horn, skimming close to the surface of the water without ever seeming to alight, are said by sailors to be the souls of wicked captains of ships sentenced to wander thus till the Day of Judgment.

Rats foretell disaster by leaving an ill-fated ship just before she

I CANNOT READ THE FUTURE

I do not claim the ability to read the future any more than any other man who makes a study of conditions in his particular line, but if I were asked for a statement as to the possibilities of Silver Fox farming for the next five years, my conscientious opinion would be that we are in for a period of greatly increased prosperity and better prices for Silver Fox furs than we have seen during the past two or three years.

Anyone who has studied the fox industry the last twenty years must know that Europe has been the great outlet for Silver Fox furs, and that all the world's records for pelts (which by the way have been captured by Prince Edward Island raised fox pelts) were made at the great London auctions. This is no longer the case, for the way to Austria, Russia, Germany, and France. From 1914 to 1920 these countries have been practically out of the market. Now Germany, Russia, Austria and France are again active in their demand for Silver Fox furs. The Germans were the largest buyers at the January Lampsone sale, sending the price of good skins up 50% above the previous auction sales figures. Germany also was the largest buyer at the Danish sale held a month later.

This is good news for the fox rancher, as it means a broader market and steadily increasing demand during the next few years. The United States is also demanding great numbers of Silver Fox furs. Thus market conditions are being created which will take care of all the Silver Fox furs that can be produced, at prices that will yield a profit ten times greater than any other farming proposition one can engage in.

If you intend to take advantage of this condition you would be wise to start your ranch this fall and make your arrangements at once for the purchasing of breeding stock, and avoid disappointment in securing the kind and quality of foxes necessary to make for sure success.

Owing to my extensive connections in the fur industry of this province, I believe I am in a better position than any other man here to advise and select for you the kind and quality of breeding strains that the fur markets of the world demand today.

Every fox I sell is scored by me and my score card goes with it. I also take particular pains to see that matings are satisfactory as to blood lines, etc., and that the markings are carefully proportioned. To changes that require a change of blood my services will be particularly valuable, as I am in a position to buy for them almost any desirable strain or type.

MacWalker performed the ceremony. Miss MacIntyre is well known and is a general favorite. As organist in the Baptist Church, she is well known in musical circles and in the various activities of the religious life of her home village. Mr. Clay is one of Bridgetown's enterprising young men. Many friends say "Bon Voyage" to the happy young couple just embarking on the sea of matrimony.

NEW IMMIGRATION LAWS—The American Consulate is in receipt of an instruction relative to the new Immigration Law which goes into effect July 1, 1924, and wishes to make public the following information for the benefit of persons emigrating to the United States. In general, the new law requires all persons emigrating to the United States to live, to submit a copy of their birth certificate and two photographs of themselves to the American Consulate and to fill out and swear to an "Immigration Visa Form," for which there is a fee of ten dollars United States currency or its equivalent in local currency. The new law will not affect Canadians going to the United States on bona-fide temporary visits for business or pleasure, and there is also no "Immigration Quota" for Canadian citizens. It is suggested to persons who are doubtful as to their status under the new law that they call at the American Consulate for further information, so as to avoid possible difficulties with United States immigration officials at the border.

ATTEND I. O. F. CONVENTION—The delegates appointed by Court Charlottetown, No. 576 Canadian Order of Foresters, Meisters, Rowland Melkile and Benj. L. Coombs, left June 16th for Montreal and returned June 23rd. A splendid trip was experienced. The country en route looked very good but none of it with one or two exceptions, could compare with Prince Edward Island. The meeting was everything that could be desired. The High Chief Ranger, Mr. J. A. A. Brodeur an official of the City of Montreal in the absence of the Mayor and Councillor, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors and the Keys and Freedom of the City. As this meeting was of very great interest to the Order every delegate was present and continued so till the end of the session. The Salada Tea Co., extended to High Courts the opportunity of viewing the harbor and country from the top of their high building which all appreciated. The full importance of this High Courts Meeting will be taken up in the near future when the member will be notified through the press and by personal notice of a meeting of Court Charlottetown No. 576 Canadian Order of Foresters.

HALIFAX-PICTOU MAGDALEN SUBSIDY

Discussion in the House of Commons on the New $50,000 Subsidy for the Magdalen Island Steamer Service

Mr. LOW: Mr. Hendry is not an officer of that company.

Mr. HANSON: He was an officer of the Lovat Steamship Company up to a very recent date.

Mr. LOW: I do not state it positively, but I am informed that he is now in the company now. But why should my hon. friend say that this subsidy is intended simply to assist political friends of the government? Would he say that the successful tenderer before was a political friend of the then government?

Mr. HANSON: No, he was an enemy.

Mr. MEIGHEN: We did not go on that principle.

Mr. HANSON: If the minister will look up the correspondence in connection with the subsidy contract he will find that representations were made to his department in 1923 that these gentlemen wanted a ten-year contract in order to finance the building of the boat, and the department yielded to their representations, although as a matter of fact the service never was worth $50,000; the service is simply worth what was paid for it by previous governments. The best service ever rendered was by the Lady Sybil.

Mr. LOW: Let me remind my hon. friend that it has been the custom for years to ask tenderers to name the minimum number of years of the contract and the tenderers in this case named ten years. The other tenderer named a similar term.

Mr. HANSON: I have not a copy of the other tender, but it is quite apparent that this is a departure from the former practice; the contract for the service before was never for a ten-year period.

Mr. LOW: But there was a one year contract for a number of years, which was eventually increased to five years, but not by this government.

Mr. HANSON: I suggested that this was made a ten-year contract in order to finance the building of the boat. I do not think that these subsidies should be on such a scale as to render it possible.

Mr. SINCLAIR (Queen's): Mr. Chairman, I think my hon. friend should give consideration to the size of the boat and the speed required, when he will readily see that the subsidy will not go far towards financing the building of the new boat. There was complaint of the service by the old boat which was small, only 400 tons; the new boat is to be about 700 tons, and will require more power to drive her. She is also to have passenger accommodation, while the old boat did not have. All of those who have had any experience in the running of boats know that the largest item of expense is coal, and when you double the size of the boat and double her speed, it is obvious that the increased expense will amply warrant the increase in subsidy. The old boat could not make the trip under thirty hours; this boat is supposed to make it in fifteen.

Mr. MEIGHEN: Why does the minister say that the old boat took thirty hours to make the trip while the new boat will make it in fifteen?

Mr. SINCLAIR (Queen's): I am quoting the statement made by the minister.

Mr. MEIGHEN: He said the old boat took fifteen hours in good weather and thirty hours in bad.

Sir HENRY DRAYTON: And he never said what the speed of the new boat would be.

Mr. HANSON: What the hon. member for Queen's says is very plausible, but let me point out what the Eastern Securities Company gave to the public last spring.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

To Miss Annie MacLennan and Miss Agnes Arthur, Fredericton, P. E. I.

We the members of the Fredericton Women's Institute desire to express our most sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the great sorrow which has darkened your home through the death of your dearest sister and friend. The community has lost one of its best loved members and our society an earnest and valued member, but we realize it in the home where she was the light and joy that her death will be the most keenly felt and our hearts are full of sympathy with you in your loneliness and grief. Her life on earth was beautiful to all who had the privilege of her friendship, but in the midst of our grief we recognize that for her the Valley of Death was in truth the gateway to the fuller, more perfect, more glorious life in heaven. May the God of all comfort, solace and strength in you in your sorrow until you meet the loved one gone before at the great reunion before the great white throne.

May the God of all comfort, solace and strength in you in your sorrow until you meet the loved one gone before at the great reunion before the great white throne.

Only just across the river. Are the friends we loved below press our most sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the great sorrow which has darkened your home through the death of your dearest sister and friend. The community has lost one of its best loved members and our society an earnest and valued member, but we realize it in the home where she was the light and joy that her death will be the most keenly felt and our hearts are full of sympathy with you in your loneliness and grief. Her life on earth was beautiful to all who had the privilege of her friendship, but in the midst of our grief we recognize that for her the Valley of Death was in truth the gateway to the fuller, more perfect, more glorious life in heaven. May the God of all comfort, solace and strength in you in your sorrow until you meet the loved one gone before at the great reunion before the great white throne.
