3rd Charlottetown (Kirk) Troop

On Monday evening Jackie Garnum was invited as a Scout and welcomed into the Troop and brotherhood of Scouts. At the same meeting the Fireman's Badge was presented to Patrol Leader Ian Taylor. Neils Hansen has also passed the Fireman's Badge test but will not be able to put it up until he completes his Second Class work.

Joint Meeting And Presentation

The 1st and 14th Charlottetown Troops held their second annual Joint Meeting Friday night, Nov. 28th, at St. Paul's Hall.

After Flag Break by the First Troop and a few words of welcome from Scoutmaster George Anderson, inspection was carried out by A.S.M.'s Frank Zakem of the 1st and Sterling Walker of the 14th. A game of Hot Potato was then run off by S.M. Anderson after which the Scouts formed a circle and an address to ex-Scoutmaster Harry Pineau was read by P.L. Joseph Revell from the Basileas Group Committee. Mr. Albert J. Zakem presented Mr. Pineau with a Long Service Medal. Harry thanked Mr. Zakem and spoke a few words to the Scouts. Harry has been prominent and valued leader in Island Scouting for over 10 years.

Then a game, Streets and Lanes was run off by A.S.M. Elmer Power followed by the Chocolate Bar game by Scoutmaster Abe Zakem.

After these two games, the Scouts assembled in Horseshoe and Major Lowther of the Provincial Council presented Second Keith Beaton and P.L. Brier Chandler with their Apple Day prizes. Then Major Lowther presented the following Scouts with their Fireman's Badges: Keith Beaton, Earl Beaton, Jim Haput, Brier Chandler, Bob Nelson and John MacDougall.

Following these presentations, Mr. Gerald Proctor, chairman of the 14th Group Committee and Rev. J.T. Ibbot rector of St. Paul's spoke briefly to the Scouts. Mr. Jack Connolly of the First Group buyers, by continuation of controls in the price of butter and by the export of cheese to Europe.

Earlier the convention was told that sale of oleomargarine in Canada would lead to a slump in the dairy industry.

November 28th. Those present were Abe Zakem, president; Mrs. G. Beer, vice president; George Anderson, Sec'y; Marion Peake and Sterling Walker, members without portfolio. Following are the items of business discussed:

It was decided to have the next meeting of the Club on Friday the 3rd of December at St. Peter's Hall. If possible, Corporal Green of the R.C.M.P. is to be invited to speak at the meeting and also to show a film or two. It was decided to show the old "Buchanan" Jamboree film and to invite anybody who is in the film to attend the meeting and for somebody to give a commentary on the film.

The following agenda was drawn up:

- 1. Welcome to new Scouters
2. Reading of minutes
3. Approval of minutes
4. Business arising from minutes
5. New Business
6. Xmas Party
7. Appointing of Committee.

This agenda is published for two reasons: 1st, if the Scouters read this column and have any new ideas or new business to bring up at the meeting, they will know where to bring them up and know there is a place provided to discuss a thing—2nd, it should show the Scouters that our meetings are mainly recreational and our business will not take more than twenty minutes.

A tentative date for the Christmas party was set for Dec. 16th with carol singing, a Christmas tree, Santa Claus to give a present to everyone, and dancing.

A Committee appointed to take charge of the Christmas party is: Marion Peake, Beverley Vandierstine, Lyle Farquharson, Lynn Burnett, Sterling Walker, Walter Conrad, Chairman.

Scouters plan to attend and get set to meet good old "Santa Claus." The last item of business discussed by the Executive was the Club-Scout concert during Boy Scout-Girl Guide week in February. This was left with the Secretary to see the Provincial Commissioner, Mr. R.C. Parent about the matter. The suggested Committee for the concert was: Mr. R.C. Parent, Mrs. R.C. Parent, G. Anderson, S. Walker, R.C. Parent, G. Anderson.

As this concert is a big undertaking, it was felt the matter should be gone into more thoroughly before presentation to the Scouters' meeting.

Dannie Steele, formerly of Summerside, has had a wonderful season and his many friends are very pleased. He has now at Charles River Speedway, near Boston, a dozen head of trotters and pacers. The only newcomer is Dillard Dale, but he will have some other new material to race as he is changing some of his trotters to pacers and two of his pacers to trotters. Dannie is assisted by his sons, who are very capable and can sit on the sulky if required and drive an excellent race.

Coming Day 2:05 2-5, fastest record two-year-old trotting colt of the season, goes into the stable of Bob Plaxico, Canton, Ohio. He was sold at the Harrisburg sale for $7,500, and is now owned by William G. Harris, Jr., Millersville, Pa. Coming Day is full brother to Fast Train 2:05, owned by Vernon H. Irving, Sheldale, N. B. Both are by Guy Day.

We mentioned that the trotter Grand Parade, purchased for $25,000 by Count Mangoni, Milan, Italy, was flown from New York to his Italian home in 24 hours. An American writer checking up on it states that it was only twenty minutes from airport in New York to airport in Italy—that, of course, is due to the difference in the time.

Address of Prince Budlong, 2:11, owned by Harold Cudmore, Brackley, injured in his last race at Summerside in 1947, will be glad to learn that he shows signs of complete recovery. He was brought over the home track he paced easily without a sign of lameness and will be given exercise all through the winter and careful spring preparation for the events of 1949. Prince Budlong is owned by Calumet Budlong, 2:02 2-4, owned by Bud Axworthy by Bud Axworthy. His racing career started in the Three-Year-Old Futurity at Charlottetown, August 18th, 1945. Interesting to recall are the others who took part in that race, but one of which are still racing.

The WEEK at S. D. U.

Joe Mahar says that he dreads to see Saturday coming, because he feels it's his duty to read these notes, and he thinks they're horrible. He made this remark while lying on his bed yesterday afternoon smoking that foul-smelling pipe of his. What a way for a guest to talk! I just looked at him, and he leered at me and said: "What's the matter, sonny boy? Can't you spell some little word?" Then he threw himself down on the bed again and had a great laugh because he thought he had cracked a joke. Tommy O'Connor joined in with him, making some reference to Jane Arden, woman reporter. Y'know, I'm getting more and more amazed at the intellects of some of our Junior class. But watch yourselves, boys. There's another Saturday coming, and the formation of the S.D.U. unit of the M.I.D.L. the Saints have taken part in several debates, winning six of them and losing one by a split decision. This is a phase of college life often overlooked by both the students and outsiders. It seems to be regarded as unimportant. On the contrary, debating and public speaking are very important to a student, any student, for the completion of his education. Confidence in speaking and conviction in expressing one's opinions are desirable in any person. It takes real courage to stand up on a stage in front of a hall full of people and talk for fifteen minutes. I don't think that it doesn't. Anyone who does it deserves credit, make no mistake about that. And when you see a debating "D" on anybody from St. Dunstan's, you may be sure that he or she has earned it.

Much of the credit to any team, however, must necessarily go to the coach. In this case the coach is Rev. Fr. Cass. Father Cass has used much of his time, and I'm sure, a good deal of his patience, in developing his speakers. It's not an easy task to take in hand the coaching of a number of speakers, when only about two hours a week are allotted for the work. But Father Cass has done just this, and as a result has come up with an enviable record.

Last Monday night, the Dramatic Society presented a three-act comedy-drama, "Noah, Wake Up!" under the direction of Mr. J. E. Jolie. The play was attended by a capacity house, and I think it is safe to say, was greatly enjoyed by all. That is, all but Joe Mahar. "Shonna" Francis asks somebody, "Are they going to put the play on again?" Joe looked at him pityingly. "How strong do you think people are, Shonna?", he asked. Then he sat back and laughed at what a funny little fellow he was. He's some wit, that boy.

The dramatics personnel were: Nora Callaghan — Ethel (I'm only seventeen, and I couldn't fall in love before I finish college) Trainor. Mrs. Peggy Callaghan — her got when Just Betty, making the last turn, back several lengths, came in a whirlwind finish. He asked that neat and her record. It was a great fight all through with a wonderful bunch of pacers all Maritimes bred with the exception of Single Streak and Miss Knox—both of which have distinguished themselves and taken fast records.

At Covehead Sept. 17th, he was 2-3-1 and awarded the race as Talugi was 1-1-DNF, June Morning 3-2-2, Rilla Bars 4-5-3, C. Albert Budlong 5-4-4, Miss Knox 7-6-DNF, Shirley H. Temple 6-8-DNF. Time 2:11 2-5, 2:12 2-5, 2:14 4-5. Talugi was owned by Dr. K. J. Thomas, Calais. He incidentally may mention that Talugi was sold this spring and raced to a very much lower record at Roosevelt Raceway, New York. There was an accident in the third heat which involved the three horses that did not finish.

Prince Budlong's final start was at Summerside Sept. 24th, where he met with an accident the first heat which put him out of racing. We have given more or less complete summaries of Prince Budlong's races because from the first we became intrigued by the number of home-grown trotters and pacers that were performing against him. Many of them have gone on and acquired much lower records and all of them have raced creditably, showing that in this little Province we can raise, develop and train speed capable of putting up a good performance most anywhere.

Milk Shortage Worse Next Year

TORONTO, Dec. 3 — (CP) — Canada's milk shortage will be worse than ever next year, J.H. Duplan, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, predicted yesterday. He told the annual convention of the Ontario Creamery Association that the shortage would be made acute by the continuing sale of milk cows to United States buyers, by continuation of controls in the price of butter and by the export of cheese to Europe.

On Tuesday night the Saints defeated the Summerside All Stars 8-4. Frank Strain turned in a great game in the Saints' nets. Cart MacDonald, returning to the line-up, picked up three points on a goal and two assists. Willy Houde scored two goals, and played a good two-way game. The boys were Isaac was forced out of the game with a couple of broken bones in his hand when he crashed into the boards near the end of the game. "Kiker" had scored a goal just before his injury occurred. Captain Reg Rogers showed the boys some of his speed. Tell me, Reg, how does Joe like the practices this year?

Thursday night, Justin Gavin, whose life-long belief has been that "the show must go on" gathered together his trouper, all of whom are likewise steeped in the Gavin belief, and with a minimum of practice and a maximum of spirit, proceeded to the Sanitorium to entertain the patients. I can't give you an accurate account of it because I wasn't there. I have been led, however, to believe that the show was both entertaining and amusing. The program consisted of songs, dances and skits interspersed with witty remarks by the Master of Ceremonies, Justin Gavin (naturally). Congratulations to you, Justin, and to all your troupe.

I met an acquaintance the other day who made this rather amusing comment: "You goose hunters don't want to kid yourselves that geese are the only things that give a man that hammering, smothery feeling in the breast when they start swinging in to a 'stool' of decoys — I get that same feeling when a trim little 'chicken' gets too close."

Despite a temperature of 102, the Canadian netminder played his last match November 28th and in the following week lost 30 matches. He died at Chicoutimi, Que., March 28, 1926.
