DISCUSSION IN BRITISH HOUSE ON RECENT RESIGNATIONS

LONDON, May 2.—There was intense interest in the House of Commons over the recent resignations from leading positions in the Air Force, during which Lord Hugh Cecil and others urged that Major-General Trenchard, former Chief of the Air Staff, be reinstated in that office.
 Referring to the criticisms, Premier Lloyd George complained of and repudiated as offensive the suggestion that amateur strategists in the cabinet had been trying to advise General Trenchard. The Premier announced that Lieutenant-General Smuts, a member of the Privy Council had been appointed to investigate the dispute between General Trenchard and Baron Rothemann, brother and Lord Northcliffe, who resigned as Air Minister on Thursday last, and that General Smuts had arrived at the conclusion that General Trenchard's qualities were better suited to leadership than to duty.
 It was hoped, added the Premier, that General Trenchard's services would be retained in a position of considerable power in the Air Force.

IN MEMORIAM

RICHARD MULLALLY

Richard Mullally died at his home in Kensington on April 27, 1918, after an illness that terminated thus fatally after a duration of only twenty-four hours. The best medical skill in attendance was unable to stay the hand of the grim destroyer, and an eminently useful life was thus early terminated. Although in his sixty-fifth year, Mr. Mullally showed every evidence to several years of useful and practical life, still the decrees of Divine Providence ordained otherwise. He was a man of exemplary life and held the respect and esteem of his neighbors and friends. He discharged the duties of his state in life with fidelity and left behind him an example of thrift and industry. He leaves to mourn a widow and one daughter, Vina, and four sons, Fred, Richmond, George and Masters Harold and James. His funeral was held on Sunday, April 29, and was largely attended, interment at Indian River. Rev. Father Poirier, St. Dunstan's College, performed the services at the church and the grave. R. I. DEATH OF D. M. FRASER

It was with a feeling of genuine regret that hundreds of Vancouver citizens learned of the death on Sunday of David Munro Fraser, an old-timer resident of Fifty-second Street and Hutson Avenue, tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock.
 Born at Middle River, Nova Scotia, 32 years ago, he was the great-grandson of the first white man borne in that province and often related stories of the hardships English speaking people had to endure in those days.
 Mr. Fraser was engaged as a contractor for the Presbyterian Church, an enthusiastic member of the British and Foreign Bible Society, a staunch Liberal and a Mason for nearly forty years.
 Before coming to Vancouver in 1888 he was an official of the Prince Edward Island Railway, in business here he was engaged as a contractor and conducted a cash and door factory for many years. He was a partner in the firm of Fraser and Brehaut, Seymour Street, nearly twenty years ago and later when the business enlarged headquarters of the company were transferred to Fairview.
 Mr. Fraser was predeceased by his wife only five weeks ago. He was apparently in good health until Mrs. Fraser's death occurred. Worry over his grandson, Clifford Risteen, who has been reported missing from the ranks of the Royal Flying Corps for several months, also weighed upon him. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, H. D. R. Fraser, Lewis C. Fraser, Mrs. G. Risteen and Miss D. Fraser, Vancouver Daily Province, April 22nd.

ALBERT HENRY WALKER

There passed away at Kensington on Monday morning, April the 22nd, of pleuro-pneumonia and intercostal neuralgia, after a painful illness of less than six days, Albert Henry Walker, aged forty-one years. The deceased was a native of Kensington, and occupied a farm about half a mile from the town. He was the son of the late Thomas James Walker and Virginia Esther Wiggins. Of a lively and mild disposition he was a general favorite, and his cheery greeting and genial smile will long be missed in Kensington, and its environs.
 The late Mr. Walker's life was full of activity of the right kind. A consistent member of the Church of England, he was capable and tactful senior warden of the parish of St. Mark's S. S. for ten or twelve years. In every activity of the parish Mr. Walker was always foremost willing to spend and be spent for the extension of the Kingdom of Christ. His work will long be remembered, and his presence long be missed. In all his work he manifested the rare combination of fidelity, geniality and ability.
 Mr. Walker was formerly an active member of the Foresters, and latterly of the Odd Fellows and Revere clubs. At the time of his death, he was Junior Past Grand of Regal Lodge, No. 124, I. O. O. F. Both Regal and Eclectic lodges attended his funeral, which was held in St. Mark's church, on Wednesday, April 24th, at 3 o'clock. The interment was at Kensington cemetery. At the conclusion of the Prayer Book service, the Odd Fellows read their impressive burial ceremony, bidding a last "farewell on earth" to their departed brother.
 It might also be mentioned that Mr. Walker was secretary of the local branch of the Canadian Bible Society, and its secretary until recently of the Kensington School Board. He is survived by a daughter, three sisters and four brothers, for all of whom sincere sympathy is felt.

Letter of Sympathy

A few days ago, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Darrach, Clyde River, received the following letter of condolence from the officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the P. E. Island Heavy Battery, of which their son, Gunner Oswald, was a member:

Ives Point, Halifax, April 27, 1918.
 Mr. and Mrs. Neil Darrach, Clyde River, P. E. Island.
 Dear Mr. and Mrs. Darrach.—We, the officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the P.E.I.H.B., wish to extend to you our deepest sympathy in the great loss you have sustained in the death of your beloved son Oswald, which occurred after a short illness in the Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, on Friday morning, of April 26th.
 In the death of your son, this battery has also sustained the loss of a man whose place will be hard to fill. Since his enlistment with this battery we have always found him to be an honest, upright and an industrious man, always attending nobly to his duties, and by his congenial nature, he had endeared himself to both officers and men, and will be greatly missed by his comrades.
 In such a trial as this, little can be done to comfort you, and time alone will soften your sorrow for the loss of your dear son. The only hope which can comfort you in these sad hours, is the hope that somewhere in the "Many Mansions" of our Father's house, the man who loved you so dearly, loves you still.
 According to regulations, his personal effects must be sent to Ottawa, and will be forwarded to you from there.
 If there is anything further we can do for you in regard to your son's death, do not hesitate to write.
 Signed on behalf of the officers, N. C. O.'s and men of the P.E.I.H.B.

HOME LIFE FOR SOLDIERS ON LEAVE IN PARIS

A "CORNER OF BLIGHTY"
 The following copies of letters from GENERAL SIR ARTHUR CURRIE, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE and THE HON. PHILIPPE ROY, GENERAL COMMISSIONER FOR CANADA IN FRANCE, testify to the useful work accomplished by MISS BUTLER the energetic and enthusiastic founder and for five Lady Helpers at a "Corner of Blighty".

The object is to make the soldiers as happy as possible during the days they are allowed on leave from the front. The officials try to give them a good interesting time, and to keep them away from those temptations of which a large city like Paris is so full. If they are sick or in difficulties, they help them as much as possible.

The following letters speak for themselves:
 General Sir A. W. Currie, the Canadian Commander in Chief in France writes:

Canadian Corps Headquarters, 20th February, 1918
 Dear Miss Butler:—I believe the time has arrived when you find that it is necessary to make an appeal for funds in order that you may keep "A Corner of Blighty" going. I hope that any appeal you may make will meet with the success it deserves.
 When I visited your rooms in Paris I was much struck with their homelike appearance and when I learned that tea and cigarettes were served gratuitously and that the Library, the Music Room and Writing Room were at the disposal of our soldiers free of charge, I could not help but realize the great importance of the work you and your co-workers were doing.
 Leave in Paris is very popular with the Canadians and your institution must be a boon to the men. It deserves every support and encouragement and I sincerely trust the response to your appeal will be most generous.
 I am, dear Miss Butler,
 Ever yours faithfully,
 A. W. CURRIE,
 Lieut. General, Commanding Canadian Corps.

The Hon. Philippe Roy the General Commissioner for Canada in Paris writes:

Paris, 8th February, 1918
 Dear Miss Butler:—Will you permit me to express to you the deep admiration and gratitude which I feel for what you are doing on behalf of our soldiers on leave in Paris. They repeat to me every day how happy they are to find at Place Vendome a little "Corner of Blighty," which is a place of recreation and comfort and which makes them forget somewhat the hardships of war and brings to them a remembrance of home.
 I am happy that my wife and daughter are able to assist you to a degree in the very useful work which you direct.

 In the name of our Canadian soldiers I desire to thank you and to express to you my best wishes for the success of your generous initiative.
 Yours very sincerely,
 PHILIPPE ROY,
 General Commissioner for Canada

Poultry Feeds
 A writer in the New York Sun tells us that there are many things about hens a great many of us would like to know. He asks:
 "Why are eggs cheap when my hens are laying and high when they are not laying?"
 "Why are hens cheap when I sell them, and high and tough when I buy?"
 After referring his questions to Mr. Hoover or to a graduate of some good reliable chicken college, he adds:
 "Why is a hen, anyway? A rooster is a very splendid individual and after you have shaken hands with him two or three times he will speak to you anywhere he meets you, whether you are dressed up or not. But a hen—good night! You can't even approach her without getting a scolding, and when she does lay an egg even once a week she will hide the egg if she can, and then come out in the open and yell her head off just because she has laid something she knows you want and hopes you will never find."

However the hens bring the eggs, the eggs bring the dollars.
