—A MATTER OF LOCATION.—One of the veterans who attended the Legion Banquet in Summerside Monday night was Private Hearn from Georgetown, now a member of the Veterans Home Guard of Canada. Mr. Hearn is a native of England and after serving in the late war decided to settle in Canada. He was scheduled for Georgetown, Ont., but by some peculiar mischance arrived instead at Georgetown, P. E. I. He decided to stay there, and has been getting along very nicely in farm work.

—MARRIED IN SACKVILLE, N. B.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Main Street Baptist Parsonage Saturday afternoon in the evening at 7 o'clock when Miss Edwida Maud Gillies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gillies, of Georgetown, P. E. I., became the bride of Milton Calkin Estabrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Estabrook, of Sackville. Rev. A. K. Herman performed the ceremony. The bride was attractively attired in tea blue with matching accessories, and was attended by Miss Iris Hall, of Sackville. Mr. Charles Estabrook, cousin of the groom, was the groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Estabrook will reside in Sackville.

—"WORM" TURNS, FISHERMEN FINDS—Mr. Archibald J. Arsenault of St. Chrysostome, said he had evidence recently that the "worm" does "turn" sometimes. He related he was hauling snail nets when he saw a black duck apparently wounded and unable to fly. He investigated and found a mussel shell attached to the bird's leg, holding it anchored to the water. Apparently the bird caught at the mussel while the shell was open. He says, and Mr. Arsenault added, the bird was a shell duck, and not edible, he found on closer examination.

QUEBEC REDUCES INCOME TAX
QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—(CP)—"Reduction from 15 to eight per cent. of the province's personal income tax was announced late today by Provincial Treasurer Mathewson in a view of the increased rate in personal income tax by Federal authorities for war purposes." The result of the decrease, said Mr. Mathewson, is that the provincial revenue will "remain stationary in view of the Dominion Government's increase on the income tax."

Mr. Leonard LeClair of Pustloo spent a very enjoyable week with his sister in Borden, leaving on Monday morning on return to Dartmouth where he is stationed with the P. E. I. Highlanders. His sister, Mrs. Louie MacInnis, and Miss Shirley Gould accompanied him as far as Cape Tormentine.

U. S. Warships Patrol French West Indies

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Warships of the United States neutrality patrol have taken over from the British West Indies squadron its mission of patrolling French possessions in the Caribbean, travelers from French-owned Martinique disclosed today.

Several United States destroyers hauled anchor today at the harbor entrance of Port de France, Martinique, for more than a week, since British cruisers and destroyers withdrew.

The government of Martinique yesterday announced consolidation of good relations with the United States following the recent visit of Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade to Port de France.

A French communique issued after Admiral Greenslade's visit said: "No doubt the American acquisition of naval and air bases in the Caribbean will lead to greater activity of American air and naval forces... without it becoming necessary to conduct direct surveillance of these islands."

Observers arriving here today said that several French naval vessels at Port de France, only the training cruiser Jeanne D'Arc appeared to have steamed up and gun covers off. Well inshore the French aircraft carrier Bearn was anchored under the guns of Fort Luis, while a cruiser, two destroyers and smaller naval craft were at the quayside.

The French warships lay behind a screen of tankers anchored in a line across the seaward bight of the harbor.

Other vessels of the Atlantic neutrality patrol have recently been observed in this part of the Caribbean. The cruiser St. Louis has been based at Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, near the mouth of the Orinoco River, in the Gulf of Paria.

Twenty-five miles from Martinique, at British St. Lucia, United States destroyers are building a small naval patrol plane base on Castries Island.

N. B. RELIEF WORKS
OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—(CP)—An amended schedule of special relief work for New Brunswick under the unemployment and agricultural assistance Act has been authorized at the request of the building, a return tabled in the House of Commons revealed today.

The province had submitted a schedule for 23 works, but the total cost remains unchanged.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 14.—(C P)—Charles Fontaine Lorraine noted actor of the 19th century, died at his home here today. He was 100 years and 11 months old.

Lorraine, who had lived in Bermuda for the last 40 years, toured the United States with his wife as a member of the "Lorraine and Hussey" troupe in London, they gave a command performance before Queen Victoria.

His father, a wealthy British publisher, sought to teach him the printing business and for years Lorraine was a runner, often carrying in his 1870's for Disraeli. During his tour of the United States he became a close friend of many famous Americans, including John D. Rockefeller and Buffalo Bill.

He countered a serious stumbling block, the Berlin regime's protest against deportation of French nationals from Lorraine supports that view.

The major factors tending to overshadow the Russo-German conversations, however, are the Greek stand against Italian aggression, and the British air attacks on Italy's fleet. Rome's reply to the British claims sounds more like a tacit admission than a refutation.

An Associated Press observer on a British battleship tells how British Navy fliers returning from the attack on Taranto, reported that they had left one Italian battleship afloat and two others beached or half submerged. The reporter's account was wireless from a point "off Taranto."

That is an important item. It means that British capital ships as well as submarines and aircraft are operating virtually in Italian home waters. It backs up also London reports of a British naval attack on Italian supply convoys in the Straits of Otranto.

Six-weeks old Barbara Sheila Lee paid a call on Camp Borden and emerged the first child christened within those gates. Sgt. Frank Lee of the Royal Canadian Regiment is her daddy, and the lady with her here is her mother, Mrs. Lee. Capt. Rev. Roy Essex, regiment padre, performed the ceremony.

Rift Develops In Vichy-Berlin Collaboration

By Robert Okin
Associated Press Staff Writer
VICHY, France, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A rift in the new Petain-Laval policy of "collaboration" with Hitler developed today when the government announced it had protested vigorously over the mass expulsion of French residents of the German-occupied province of Lorraine.

A communique announced the protest to the German armistice commission was issued shortly after Vice-Premier Laval returned from his negotiations with German authorities in Paris and reportedly to the cabinet.

The meeting was reported also to have considered the situation in North Africa. Diplomatic circles in Switzerland reported the cabinet took steps in the hope of stopping the spread of De Gaulle's free French forces northward from French Equatorial Africa as the result of a German-Italian threat that if the Vichy government does not "defend" the African empire the axis will be "forced" to do so.

It was reported French naval units had left their continental bases for African ports. This report followed recent indications that the Vichy government is uneasy over the attitude of Gen. Maxime Weingand, its chief in North Africa.

The communique on the expulsion of Lorraine residents said French-speaking people had been given the choice of going to Poland or unoccupied France and that seven trains daily had been arriving in French unoccupied territory with the refugees since Nov. 11.

A government spokesman said some of them had been given but a few hours to collect 2,000 francs and a suitcase of clothing before starting.

The northern portion of the province, where about one third are French-speaking, one third German speaking and the remainder Poles, was affected, he said, and about 98 per cent of those expelled chose to come to unoccupied France.

The communique declared the Germans were telling those expelled that the action was a result of an accord between the Vichy and German governments.

(Nazi sources in Berlin, recalling that Germans had withdrawn from Russian-annexed Baltic countries and Bessarabia, said it would not be surprising if French were being displaced in Lorraine by German infiltration, but said they had no official information.)

Allen seamen who refuse to work on their ships when in Canadian ports may be detained for the duration of the war.

Molotoff Quits Berlin; Decisions Remain Secret

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(CP)—Vyacheslav Molotoff, Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar, left Berlin for Moscow today after a two-day conference with Hitler and other German leaders. What decisions he arrived at—if any—were for the moment a secret.

A communique claimed the Hitler-Molotoff talks led to "mutual accord on all important questions of interest to Germany and the U.S.S.R." but neither the questions nor the decisions were listed.

Meanwhile, a speech by Hitler himself pictured Germany in the post-war role of a model "Socialistic state." It is this "Socialistic state," he told munitions workers and army labor groups, which is fighting "a patriotic, capitalist England."

Molotoff took the train for Moscow with his large retinue at 11 a. m. (6 a. m. AST) and a communique issued soon after his departure said:

"During his visit to Berlin on Nov. 12-13 1940, chairman of the people's council and Foreign Minister Molotoff had talks with the Fuehrer and Reich's Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop.

"An exchange of views was carried out in an atmosphere of mutual trust and led to mutual accord on all important questions of interest to Germany and the U.S.S.R."

Molotoff and Ribbentrop had their final conference of several hours last night after a reception at the Russian Embassy.

Some exchange of views reminded Molotoff last night he was visiting a belligerent, as the Royal Air Force attacked Berlin objectives.

"First Moscow comment on Molotoff's Berlin visit came today in Red Star, the army organ, which said the exchange would bring "a strengthening and development of Soviet-German relations in the interests of both countries."

"German newspaper editors emphasize that Molotoff's trip is an event of first-rate political significance. Red Star said:

"Some observers said they were firmly convinced Russia is ranging herself on the side of the nations which entered the part of Berlin, Sept. 27—Japan, Italy and Germany. It was argued that Germany, Italy and Russia all feel that Turkey in due time will drop her ties with Britain and seek a link with the totalitarian powers.

"Whatever compensation Russia may want for her support of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo 'new world order' must come from a 'bankruptcy inventory' of the British Empire, Nazi sources contended.

These quarters claimed that Italy not only agreed in advance of the Berlin meeting to the general scheme proposed, but would show her adherence in some way.

Voices Criticism Of Soldiers In Commons

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—(CP)—Warning of a "growing feeling of resentment among the soldiers," a uniformed officer of the non-permanent active militia urged in the House of Commons today that monthly leave with free transportation be provided for men on active service.

A general criticism of Defence Department administration.

First uniformed member of the House to enter the discussion this session, Capt. White, a veteran of the first Great War, spoke in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Defence Minister Rafton listened quietly while the officer said the compulsory training scheme as at present constituted might produce only "an undisciplined mob."

The Minister interrupted only once. That was when Capt. White urged that men be given leave with free transportation.

On this point Capt. White said that the compulsory training could not afford even the reduced fares provided. "What is the result?" he continued.

Discipline Suffering
"You find the number of men absent without leave is increasing all the time. You find discipline is suffering. But the worst feature is a growing feeling of resentment among the soldiers."

"Surely any man who is good enough to enlist in the Canadian Active Service Force and is willing to give everything, even his life, is entitled to the very best this country can give him during the training period."

Capt. White suggested that each man with a clean crime sheet for the previous four weeks be given two week-end leaves a month, one with free transportation.

That would mean that each year with free transportation, Capt. White said it was.

Capt. White said there was an inadequacy of rifles, that his unit in training had to share one machine gun with other units and had saved one out of wood for training, while making imitation bombs out of jam tins for practice purposes.

"In short, apart from rifles and bayonets, we have no equipment except what we have been able to manufacture ourselves," he said.

Capt. White protested that officers of the First Division who lose all their personal effects are sent to the evacuation from France had received no compensation.

TROOPS IN DESERT BURROW TO SAFETY
WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Nov. 14.—(CP)—British troops in this hot, desolate region, have become sand-hogs. The great empire military establishment has gone to the desert sands which provide perhaps the world's best camouflage.

Tents are pitched in sand pits and are sand-bagged to the roof. Entering each headquarters is like penetrating an Egyptian tomb in the Valley of Kings. They are dug deep and reinforced to be proof against direct hits.

So effective has the burrowing been that owing to scarcity of targets Italian raiders often release their bombs anywhere in the desert in the thousand-to-one chance of hitting something.

Interpreting The War News

By Kirk L. Simpson
Associated Press Staff Writer
The Hitler-Molotoff conversations in Berlin, trumpeted in advance by Nazi propagandists as foreshadowing a new political coup, came to an end under circumstances which raise doubts as to the real importance of the meetings.

What has happened simultaneously to Mussolini in Greece and in Italian home waters must actually have been of far greater concern to Hitler than his vaguely indicated deal with Russia. If that compact does not go far beyond anything yet hinted at it is a mere sideshow in the war.

What does matter for Hitler is that II Duce is taking a beating at the hands of the Greeks and British sea and air power. In the judgement of neutral observers, very recently in Italy it would take little in the way of defeats to cause a serious break in Italian public morale.

No such deal as the granting to Moscow of a special sphere of influence in the proposed "world order" can first Italian military reverses. Such an agreement would leave Russia to collect her spoils from the British Empire. If Italy tentatively accepted any such arrangement, it must have been with his tongue in his cheek. British prestige and morale is unquestionably higher today than it has been at any time since the Battle of Britain began last June. There are growing symptoms that German intrigue with the Vichy government in conquered France has encountered a serious stumbling block. The Berlin regime's protest against deportation of French nationals from Lorraine supports that view.

The major factors tending to overshadow the Russo-German conversations, however, are the Greek stand against Italian aggression, and the British air attacks on Italy's fleet. Rome's reply to the British claims sounds more like a tacit admission than a refutation.
