The matinee put on in the Opera House by the Colonial Stock Co., yesterday afternoon, was a great credit to the company. Dearest and the little Lord's intimate friends won everybody instantly, but none were such favorites as Little Lord Fauntleroy and his cute ways. The company gave three cash prizes to the children getting the most words out of Colonial. The first prize was won by Ena McLeod, with a total of seventy-eight words, second by Edith Wright, with a total of 69 words; and third by Willie McIntyre, with a total of sixty three words. A good deal of interest was shown in this part of the program.

The Farmer's Institute of Tracadie held a meeting of unusual interest on Wednesday evening of last week. Important correspondence was read from A. B. Warburton, M. P., respecting the proper steps to take in order to have an expert of the Geological Department visit Tracadie to make investigations as to the existence of coal. The Directors were ordered to make preparations and arrangements for a local exhibition to be held some time in the autumn. It is understood that prizes to the amount of $100.00 will be awarded for forty-five different classes of exhibits—five prizes in each class. Of this amount only $30.00 has been granted by the Government. John H. Court, J. J. Trainor, Peter Brodie, John Stinson and several others have kindly offered special prizes for the exhibition, which promises to be a distinct success.

The prospects are that there will be a great number of pleasure motor boats in Charlottetown and at other points in the Island this year. A motor boat complete costs considerable money, and now that insurance can be obtained at reasonable rates covering fire and sea risks, boat lovers will not hesitate as much now, in investing in one of these pleasure craft. Hyndman & Co., transact Motor Boat Insurance.

Complaints have reached The Guardian office with reference to a number of young men, who annoyed Blooming Hope Lodge, I.O.G.T., at Alexandra last Tuesday night, when they should have known better. The committee have decided to take definite action and expose the guilty parties should there be a recurrence of the nuisance. This should certainly be a warning to all thoughtless persons.

Last Sunday evening a serious accident was narrowly averted at Alexandra. A little chap about four years old was playing in a bedroom with matches at the home of Isaac A. Judson, Alexandra, when the bed-clothes became ignited and the blaze spread rapidly. Owing to the exceptional coolness and bravery of Mrs. Judson the fire was got under control, but not before her hair had caught, and with difficulty was smothered after doing considerable damage. The loss is estimated at one hundred dollars with no insurance.

On May 1st a very happy gathering of about 50 invited guests took place at the home of Thomas Bertram, Fredericton. The evening was spent in games, music and amusements of a higher order. At twelve o'clock the company prepared for the dining room and sat down to a table which groaned under its burden of delicacies, and all did ample justice to the inner man. Miss Lucy Murray presided at the organ and played some excellent music and the company, after singing, God be with you till we meet again, dispersed to their homes each one feeling pleased with the evenings entertainment.
