THE NORTHUMBERLAND—The S. S. Northumberland, docked at Charlottetown last evening at 8.05.

VALUABLE HORSE SOLD—Mr. M. W. Wood, Mt. Herbert recently sold to Mr. T. W. Roadnizer his beautiful chestnut mare weighing between thirteen and fourteen hundred pounds for which he received a handsome sum. Mr. Roadnizer is to be congratulated on his purchase, and as the purposes showing it at the exhibition on the other side, every success is wished him.

NEW MEMBERS—At a special meeting of the Order of Owls held in their hall, Charlottetown on Thursday evening nine new candidates were balloted into the society, and will be initiated at the next meeting which will be held on October 16th. At that meeting fifteen applications for membership are to be balloted upon. Since its organization in this city about three years ago this Society has grown with great rapidity until at the present time it has a membership of over one hundred.

UNNECESSARY ALARM—In reference to the slight fire in the garage of Messrs Grant & Co., Charlottetown, it would appear as if the incident had been treated with unnecessary alarm. To a Guardian reporter yesterday, the gentleman in charge of the establishment said that there was absolutely no cause for the call for the Fire Department. It was not rung in from the garage 15 minutes by the men in the garage and at no time was there any danger of a conflagration. The cause of the fire is unknown. One of the chauffeurs was working about an engine with a lamp and probably this was the cause. The damage to the motor will be only about $1.50 and will not stop the automobile from running as usual.

NEW OFFICE OPENED—Mr. E. P. Miller, General Manager of The Dominion Trust Co., is spending a few days in Charlottetown in connection with the opening of the Company's new branch office here. The company now has branch offices in every province of the dominion and also in London, England and in Antwerp, Germany. The growth of its business has been phenomenal, as shown by its yearly net earnings beginning with $12,428 for the year ending March 31, 1906 and increasing to $335,063.61 in 1912. The assets have also increased proportionately—from $89,435 in 1906 to $4,973,161.05 in 1912. A feature of the Company's method of doing business attested to by the auditors, is the fact that all securities are filed separately under the name of different clients. The Dominion Trust Company has secured a suite of offices in the Morris Block. These offices will be opened today with the local manager, Col. H. M. Davison, in charge.

BAD COLLISION—A serious accident was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock when two teams collided in a bad smash-up. One team belonging to Mr. Bruce Yeo of Union Road while standing at Crabb's corner was accidentally backed into by another team; causing the animal to break its bridle. The frightened horse started to run madly along Great George St., and leaped over another team owned by Mr. Archie McConnell of Mt. Stewart, which was being driven along Kent St., and the collision occurred directly in front of the Guardian Office. Both horses and wagons were entangled and before they could be separated every piece of harness on both horses was torn off and badly broken. The shafts of Mr. Yeo's wagon were demolished while the top of Mr. McConnell's buggy was badly twisted. Mr. McConnell luckily escaped serious injury except for a slight flesh wound on the face and the horses were uninjured.

Earl Grey, which is at present lying at the marine wharf, who are engaged in removing the ash expellers put in the ship when built, and are installing ash ejectors. This method of ejecting the ashes will be a considerable improvement over the former method employed. The work will be finished about the middle of next week. Messrs. Mr. Burke manipulated the "Sins Carter & Co." at the satisfaction of the audience. The usual vote of all. At the close the lecturer thanks his capable assistant.

ANNUAL MEETING—The annual meeting of the Spring Park Annual Co., Ltd., was held Thursday at the Board of Trade Room. There was a fair attendance of the shareholders considering the very disagreeable weather. The dividend of 45 per cent. given to the shareholders all circumstances considered was found to be very satisfactory. The same board of directors were re-elected and are as follows:—President Dr. James Warburton, Vice President, Dr. S. R. Jenkins, Managing Director; Mr. R. E. Spillet, Messrs. J. O. Hyndman and R. H. Jenkins are also directors. A resolution was passed authorizing the directors to sell options on at least five pairs of next year's foxes. A resolution of regret and sympathy was passed relative to the death of Mr. R. M. Johnson, the late President of the company by whose energy and enterprise was largely due the promotion of the fox industry in Queen's County. The prospects for the company for 1914 are the very best.

TWO FIRES—What looks like incendiarism occurred in Charlottetown last night. About 11.30 as Mr. William Butt, Water street, was returning home, he noticed a blaze in the warehouse of Messrs. Grant & Co., back of his residence. Mr. Butt, who is a member of the Charlottetown Fire Brigade, hied to the spot with all haste, accompanied by his father, Captain Wm. Butt, and Mr. Edward Small. They soon extinguished the blaze which it allowed to burn much longer unchecked, would no doubt have been even a worse conflagration than that of Messrs. Auld Bros. some time ago. Mr. Butt, unable to perceive any natural cause for the fire, became suspicious and telephoned for the police. Officers went down about 11.45 and found nothing wrong. About one o'clock the fire bell sounded an alarm, this time for a fire in an out-house in the yard of the Blake Hotel. The fire did not get far, fortunately, before being noticed and the firemen arrived in plenty of time to prevent any serious damage, the fire being extinguished in about 15 minutes. Both these fires started near each other. The back of the warehouse, which was on fire, is in the yard of the Blake Hotel, only about 50 feet from the place in which the second originated. The causes of the fires are yet unknown, but the evidence points strongly to incendiarism.

GREAT CONGREGATION OF EPISCOPALIANS
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The intellect and the power of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States are concentrating in New York City in anticipation of the opening next Wednesday of the forty-third triennial convention of the church. On every train distinguished bishops, active clergymen and influential laymen from all parts of the country are pouring into the city, until even the corridors of many of the big Broadway hotels for once in their history might be mistaken for the vestibules of churches, so numerous thereabout are men of priestly mien. At many aristocratic residences in upper Manhattan and in Brooklyn bishops and clergymen have found splendid quarters.

This will be about the first time in about twenty-four years that the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church is held in this city. It will begin on Wednesday next, in the morning, with a procession of the bishops and clergy, and will remain in session about three weeks. About 110 bishops and 600 deputies, equally divided between clergymen and laymen, will take part in the convention. They will come from 68 dioceses, 23 missionary districts and 10 foreign jurisdictions of the church and will represent more than 1,000,000 communicants. The convention will sit at two houses, the house of bishops and the house of deputies, each having veto power over the other. The primary object of these conventions is to make laws for the government of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, to some extent in the form of constitutional provisions, requiring action by two successive conventions, but generally in the form of resolutions adopted by each convention for itself and in the terminology of ecclesiastical law known as canons.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.
When the conference resumed at two o'clock, besides those already mentioned there were present, the Revs. T. M. Marshall, John Stirling, Z. L. Fash and T. W. Murphy, Colonel Moore and Mr. W. Robertson.

Discussion was now directed upon the temperance question, the situation in Canada, the enforcement of the prohibition law; its educational side, and the prosecution of redemptive work. At the invitation of the chairman, Dr. Shearer outlined the temperance work that had been carried out in other parts of Canada, showing that the prohibition law on the whole was very well enforced in all the provinces where there was restrictive legislation. (Continued on page 8)

MORAL REFORM.

ple away from this province, Mr. Rogers said that there were two or three things. Years ago people had to go away and they kept writing their relatives and friends here in a glowing manner about the life out West. But there was no real reason for anyone now to leave this island, because there was room for everybody to make a living, and make it better perhaps than in the big cities.

The chairman said that there was an overwhelming number of farmers growing up sons but giving them no status or interest in the country, and that he thought they might trace a large percentage of the emigration West from this place. Mr. Rogers: What we want in this island is, instead of hundred acres farms, more 30 or 40 acre farms more intensively cultivated. Mr. Bentley said that there were a great many farms in this province that were very poorly cultivated, where the men could hardly make a living; in such cases what would be the good of the man giving his son a part of the land?

The chairman said that there were a great many cases where they were not using the land that they could use, and that land they could give to their sons and so give the young people a direct interest in the country. Mr. Rogers said that the people needed to make their farming interests more varied. Matters were improving in that way very slowly indeed. Both Governments were spending a lot of money to encourage them in that direction, but the people would not listen to them; they wanted to follow their own notions, and it was very hard to persuade them to do what was best for themselves.

Mr. Campbell said that the great trouble seemed to be the lack of means. Some farmers were barely holding their own, and they said that if they had the means they would make the improvements suggested. It is much money could be got at low rates of interest to enable these people to make the necessary changes, some improvement might be looked for. Mr. Bentley said that if they wanted to keep the people here they had to keep this before them: not to restrict their reasonable pleasure. They had got to have social life they had got to have pleasure. They saw the way in which the picture houses were thronged. That showed the tendency of the age. There was something in the person calling for it, and they had got to have it. He did not see why they should attempt to interfere too much in that matter as long as what the people did was at all reasonable. It they could not keep them in the church, there might be institutions, such as the Y. M. C. A. reading-rooms, to which they might be allowed to go. But that room was closed on Sundays. He did not see why the people should be allowed to stand at the street corners and not be allowed in the reading room and read, even if it was not religious literature—let them have all kinds of literature. If they did not want to go to church, give them the next best thing.

The chairman We have got to remember that the foundation of society in the British Empire to-day was laid on the open Bible and the observance of the Sabbath Day. We cannot go back to the exact institutions of our forefathers, but we have got to conserve our principles and meet the wants of the age. The conference was at this stage adjourned.

CHINA BRIGANDS KILL AMERICAN BOY
PEKING, October 2.—The American Legation have received a report from J. Paul Jameson, vice-consul general at Shang Hai, stating that an American child had been killed and other foreigners were being maltreated by Chinese brigands at Traoyung. The legation feels that the Chinese government troops are neither capable nor zealous enough to accomplish the release of the American and Norwegian missionaries in the hands of the bandits at Hsacyang and that ransom alone can save the lives of the foreigners still in captivity. It is believed that the ransom demanded may not be heavy as Chinese ideas in monetary matters are not extravagant. By the efforts of the legations and consulates the missionaries have been kept out of the unsafe districts during the past two years, but the missionaries were not restricted from going to the northern part of the province of Hu-Peh, which hitherto had not been considered dangerous. The Japanese legation denies that Japan is making fresh demands on China and points out that China has satisfactorily complied with the original requirements with the exception of the punishment of the officers commanding the offending troops and the execution of the soldiers who killed the Japanese at Nanking. Japan, it is added, recognizes that it will take time to make a proper investigation by the Chinese government and anticipates no evasion of these points.
