ROADSIDE FLOWERS. By Bliss Carman. We are the roadside flowers, Straying from garden grounds; Lovers of idle hours, Breakers of ordered bounds. If only the earth will feed us, If only the wind be kind, We blossom for those who need us, The stragglers left behind. And lo, the Lord of the Garden, He makes his sun to rise, And His rain to fall like pardon On the dusty paradise. Oh, us He has laid the duty— The task of the wandering breed— To better the world with beauty, Wherever the way may lead. Who shall enquire of the season, Or question the wind where it blows? We blossom and ask no reason, The Lord of the Garden knows.

USE OF THE DRY MASH In feeding the growing chicks, the idea is to provide material of the right kind, and to supply this in such a way as to reduce the labor to the lowest point and yet be consistent with the best results. This can best be worked out by the use of a dry mash supplement. The dry mash can best be fed in large, home-made, outdoor, self-feeding hoppers, which are made waterproof, located at frequent intervals about the range. It is possible to feed a part of the cracked grains also in hoppers, but at least one feeding a day should be made by the poultryman himself going around from house to house and scattering it from a pail over a wide area. This allows of a certain amount of personal attention, which is necessary for the best results.—Harry Lewis.

GUARDIAN PICNIC.—The Guardian's annual picnic was held yesterday afternoon on the beautiful grounds of Mr. Theophilus Stewart, Westville. The staff, numbering something over fifty in all, were conveyed to the picnic grounds by Mr. J. P. Hood, Manager of the former J. P. Hood Publishing Company, in his Guardian comfortable houseboat, Dorey and to and from the grounds was exceedingly enjoyable. The voyage to and from the grounds was exceedingly enjoyable. On the grounds everything that goes to make an ideal picnic was in evidence, bright, cheerful companionship, clam digging, and the inevitable clear-bake, motoring, baseball, and races—with generous prizes—and but not least, a sumptuous supper, of which the party was indebted to the culinary skill of Messrs. Thomas White and Son, who did the catering in their usual excellent manner. After an afternoon of thorough enjoyment, the proceedings were wound up at Connolly's wharf with three hearty cheers for Mr. Hood, the sole Guardian Staff, the latter being proposed by Mr. Christie, of Toronto, who, with his wife and son are spending the summer in Charlottetown and who were of the picnicking party.

TOMORROW'S PICNIC.—At Westville promises to be the best of the season. Visitors table provided also refreshments.

"Ward of Society" was a 2-part picture, of dramatic nature, taken under the supervision of the New York City Bureau of Public Charities. The story was a strong one, and contained a moral. "A rap-ble in Conduchery" was a beautiful production featuring Indian scenes. "The sign of the Lost Angel" and "Badge of Honour" were two excellent dramas, while "The Nax's Sake" was effective with fun.

thoroughness manifested in this latest addition to the defensive force of Canada. "Premier Mathieson tells me," Colonel Hughes proceeded to say, "that another Canadian will soon be formed in the county of Kings." "I believe the militia of Canada is more of a working force and less a thing than it was. To make it such is my aim and I believe success is crowning our efforts. The 'dry' is crowning the soldiers really want what their friends desire and what officers are expected to be what they are becoming more and more. I am delighted with the morale of the troops as I have seen it on this visit, and am sure that good as this is, a yet higher standard can be and will be attained. To make the militia an effective force is what we are spending money for. "I want to say, too, what a splendid thing I think a military training is for the boys and young men of this country. Besides its result in making soldiers of them, nothing could be better for the boys than service in the cadets. In connection with the camp here the splendid weather prevailing is rendering it easily practicable for a great deal of valuable work to be done.

FIELD OPERATIONS. The plans are nearly complete for the tactical manoeuvres which will be held at the camp, which breaks up on Saturday, will be brought to a close. The operations will extend over a night and day. The general idea underlying the operations is that Red-land, which represents Prince Edward Island and is, by the way, an appropriate description in view of the color of the Province's soil, is at war with Blue-land. The latter obtains command of the sea and sends an invading force to the Island which effects a landing at Souris and Georgetown and is supposed to be marching on Charlottetown. The Island sends out her forces from the city to meet the invaders and give them battle, and to drive them back into the sea, but at all costs to prevent the capture of the city. The defending force will occupy positions along the railway line in the direction of Hazelbrook and Mount Allison, while the invaders, it is believed, will give battle from a position to the north, somewhere in the vicinity of Davison's Creek and the Fort Augustus Road. Besides the extended order operations and sham battles that will be entailed, these manoeuvres will include a night bivouac by the contending forces. It had been hoped this year to billet the men at the various farms throughout this particular portion of the country, and if that could have been carried out it would have been the first time the billeting plan had ever been used in Canada in connection with the training manoeuvres of her military forces. Whereas the conditions in other parts of the Dominion are not suited to billeting, it was considered that it might well be effected in this Island. However, on investigation, it has also proved impracticable here, mainly on account of the farms being too widely scattered in the country about which the field

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE. To Sister Cassie and Bro. Everett McLeod, Fredericton. We, on behalf of the members of Refuge Division, No. 201, Sons of Temperance, desire to extend to you our sincere sympathy in this your hour of sad bereavement. Death has again near your home, and this part with your one remaining loved parent—your father. Our words can afford your lonely hearts but little comfort; but there is one who sympathizes with you in all your sorrow, and from Him alone can the sorrowing one obtain sympathy to comfort and strengthen him in his grief. In your home is a vacant chair cannot be filled, father's cheer is empty, father's loving voice is silent. Yet when you are sad, cry to, remember that his Heavenly Father has called him to inhabit a mansion in the skies where all is peace, joy and happiness, and there he waits, with mother to be joined by the loved ones, where there is no more parting or sorrow. Signed on behalf of the members of Refuge Division, Andrew Stewart, Puznie Selleck, Laura Weska.
