Doing it the hard way, Johnny Squarebriggs' Collegians Tuesday night fought their way into the City Hockey League finals that open tonight with the youngsters pitted against the strong Summerside team.

• • •

How they will fare off against Flying Officer Cote's crew is the problem at present confronting the large following the combined S.D.U.-P.W.C. ter.i has built up, but if they can show another fighting display as they did on Tuesday night then Summerside can well look out for the toughest series of games they have faced all season long.

• • •

It was fight and the will to win and nothing less that enabled the Collegians to come through their semi-final series. At times in that action filled encounter the big crowd were almost conceding the Airmen the series but somehow or other the kids usually dug up a little more spark to put them back in contention, and it was a fitting climax that they should finally come through.

• • •

But the crowd that jammed the Forum to its doors, reminiscent of the days of the Big Four, will not likely forget the action-filled, sensational struggle that the two teams waged throughout the entire sixty minutes of the battle.

• • •

Airmen, no doubt about it, had an edge over the kids for a good part of the game as far as displaying the better brand of hockey was concerned, but that was where any advantage ended. Right to the final five minutes it appeared as if the Collegians' number was up but that never-say-die spirit that has been part and parcel of their games all season long, was still asserting itself, and therein lay the payoff.

• • •

After coming from behind three times in the game the winners, with that penalty to Ashley, gave them their opening and the way they took advantage of it stood the 2200 fans on their feet all through the final three minutes of the encounter as they punched home two goals to put the issue beyond any doubt.

• • •

Usually once a game is over the victory celebration ends, but that was not by any means the case Tuesday night. The large student body of Prince of Wales and Saint Dunstan's that have been following the team all year were not content to let them rest from their gruelling victory.

• • •

Having a lunch at the Orchid the team, after insistent demands, were forced to come out singly to get receptions from the followers who had followed them down town. One would think the Allan Cup had been won but it was just the students' way of showing their appreciation of the team's winning struggle.

• • •

Tonight the squad faces a very much stiffer task when they clash with the Summerside team in the first game of the best out of five series to determine the league champions. And once again as was the case in the series just ended, Johnny Squarebriggs' team will enter the fray as the underdogs.

• • •

Although the series is fully expected to be a bitterly fought one and very likely to go the limit of five games, local fans nevertheless are more or less inclined to lean toward the Summerside outfit when picking the ultimate winners.

• • •

And said fans' attitude is justifiable in every way. Summerside have shown loads and loads of power all season long, and to this writer also it appears as if they have a little too much strength for the College team. But we have seen the Collegians already come through when everything appeared stacked against them and it will not come as a very great surprise should they come out on top against the western capital's squad.

• • •

But notwithstanding how it ends the series that opens at the Forum tonight should provide all hockey followers with just about everything that a hockey game can offer. Fast-skating, wide-open play and plenty of rugged bodying will be dished out in each and every encounter and every game should pack the Forum with just as big a crowd as witnessed the final encounter of the semi-final series on Tuesday night.

• • •

Borden Nationals with a three-goal lead travel to Saint John today where they meet the New Brunswick intermediate champions in the second and final game of the series leading to the two-province crown. And it seems to be the consensus of opinion of fans who have seen the Borden team in action that their three-goal lead should be sufficient to send them against the Nova Scotia titlists for the Maritime crown.

• • •

Great interest not only around the confines of Borden but throughout the entire province is being shown in tonight's game at the New Brunswick centre and all Island hockey followers will be eagerly looking forward for the Borden squad to come through with a repeat win over the N.B. champions.

Prince Budlong Winner Of Colt Race Trophy In Ice Meet Yesterday Afternoon

Prince Budlong, owned and driven by Harold Cudmore of Brackley, yesterday paced off with the colt championship of the Victoria Driving Club as he came through with a straight heat victory over the other three entries in the race, part of the meeting staged by the Victoria Driving Club over their course on the east side of the Hillsborough Bridge.

And with the Budlong horse's victory also went the silver tray donated by the Driving Club and presented on conclusion of the third heat to owner Cudmore by President Willard Kelly.

While the colts held the spotlight more or less, the other classes on the card yesterday again produced racing of the highest order with Lady Hal, Nellie Worthy, Dr. Budlong and Margaret Jean accounting for the other victories.

In a battle with Bedford Grattan in the two heats raced, Lady Hal accounted for a straight heat victory with the winner pacing away in the final yards in both heats to win by half a length.

Nellie Worthy was 1-1-1 when pitted against Peter Grattan, having a little too much speed although the Grattan horse did give her tough battles of it in the last two heats after suffering a fall just after they got the word in the first heat.

The Class B. Pace had to go an extra heat before Dr. Budlong finally copped the race after finishing third and second in the first two dashes. This class provided the fans with what was probably the best racing of the afternoon.

In the first heat Byrne Hal and Marjorie Budlong had only inches separating them as they flashed by the wire, with the Hal horse getting the nod.

It was Calumet Duds, Dr. Budlong and Byrne Hal who provided an eyelash finish in the second heat with the horse recently purchased by Rollie Wood and driven by the owner, coming through in the last three strides to take the heat.

Then Dr. Budlong, getting into the picture more and more, paced off with the third heat to force the extra one and in the raceoff with Byrne Hal and the Duds horse, the other two heat winners, had too much pacing speed left, throwing off Calumet Duds' last second challenge to win by a neck with Byrne Hal third just a stride or two back.

The free for all that brought together Peter McKinney, Margaret Jean and Royal Jim saw Margaret Jean chalk up another victory to her season's undefeated string when she paced off with the two heats that were raced, but only after getting the toughest of competition from Royal Jim who was second in each heat, and the big trotter.

S'side Cookies Capture N.B.-P.E.I. Midget Title

After playing 11 games to reach the P.E.I.-N.B. finals, the St. John Sea Cadets went down to defeat last night when Charlie Hogan's Summerside Cookies pinned a 7 to 2 trimming on them.

The Cookies had the better of the play throughout and only for the stellar work of Crawford in the Saint John nets the score would have been much larger.

Deighan opened the scoring for the Cookies in the first period when he picked up a loose puck in front of the net and made no mistake. Stewart, McKay and Schurman combined for the next goal when Stewart took a goal-mouth pass which gave Crawford no chance at all. The period ended 2-0 for Summerside.

The second period opened fast and Suttie for the Cadets unassisted caught the left hand corner for St. John's first tally. Smith on a pass from Cosman netted another for the Cadets in a pretty passing play but Stewart for the Cookies soon got that one back when he took Schurman's pass and skated in fast to beat Crawford cleanly, the period ending 4-2.

The third period produced some fireworks when Leckie scooped up Grady's pass and drove home the disc to put the Cookies 3 goals up. Pope, Gay and McKay each drew a minor penalty for roughing it up along the boards. Leckie on a pass from Deighan sunk the final tally and the bell ended the game and gave the Cookies the P.E.I.-N.B. championship. They now meet the N. S. winners for the Maritime championship. Final arrangements will be completed today.

Opening the best three out of five series for the City Hockey League title, Summerside's strong squad from the western capital's Air Force station tangle with the Collegians at the Forum tonight in what is rapidly shaping up as one of the hottest series in years.

Both squads are right at the peak of their form. In battles between this same pair all season long there has been little love lost and tonight with both anxious to jump into the lead by capturing that all-important first game, real old time Summerside-Charlottetown rivalry is expected to flare into the

The game gets underway at 8.15 sharp and with another capacity crowd expected, equalling if not exceeding Tuesday night's attendance, fans are asked to make it a point to be on hand early and so avoid any last minute crowding.

The largest number of both spectators and participants of the season was witnessed in Kensington Rink in the evening of March 5th, as residents of Kensington and surrounding districts thronged to watch the all important event of the children, "The School Sports" an hilarious comedy was much appreciated as James Saunders, Billy McLean and Wendall Kilbride got the evening's entertainment away to a magnificent start by appearing in a garb which greatly deceived their natural appearance and after performing several almost seemingly impossible feats on the ice, and drawing great outbursts of laughter from the spectators withdrew to make way for the over-enthusiastic pupils who were to take part in the race. Henderson of Port Hill. During the prayers reference was made to the late Venerable Archdeacon Raymond. The Rev. Mr. Ibbott welcomed the Bishop, clergy and visitors to St. Paul's. His Lordship Bishop Kingston on entering the pulpit thanked the Rector for his welcome, and preached a splendid and thoughtful sermon on "The Church", taking as his text a part of the 26th verse of the 4th Chapter of Galations: "Mother of us all". The Church gives her people a new birth through Baptism, nourishes them through the word of God and food through the Sacraments, helps them to meet life's situations and develops character.
The church prays for her children and teaches them to pray, and never ceases to love and serve her children. The church was not founded by man but by God, and urged all to pledge their loyalty and service to Mother Church.
At the close of the service the Blessing was pronounced by the Bishop. This morning at 7.45 there is a combined celebration of the Holy Communion for Diocesan Church Society and Womans Auxiliary, the Bishop being the celebrant.

Change In Liquor Law Urged By Canadian Legion

Asking that some form of Government Control law be substituted in the Province for the present Prohibition Act, a delegation representing the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, waited on the Provincial Government yesterday morning and presented a brief to Premier J. Walter Jones and his cabinet. The brief was supported by letters from the secretary of the Legion Provincial Command, and from local branches of the Legion at O'Leary, Murray River, Montague and Summerside.

The brief was read by James Walker, first vice-president Legion Provincial Command, and supported by Leo Bradley, president, Charlottetown branch of the Legion, Major T.E. MacNutt, Philip Palmer, and Major Howard Court. It stressed 10 points:

(a) Despite enforcement authorities, infractions of the Prohibition law are increasing.

(b) Home brew and moonshine are demoralizing the youth of the Province.

(c) Thousands of the Island's enlisted men have been experiencing Britain's methods of controlling the liquor traffic, and upon their return will not willingly tolerate hypocritical methods which must be employed here to obtain liquor legally.

(d) Back of many criminal prosecutions and arrests for drunkenness in this Province is the drinking of poisonous moonshine.

(e) The present Prohibition law debases both the medical men and their patients.

(f) In other provinces citizens are limited to one or two bottles of spirits a month while here the individual is limited only by the number of scripts he is able to secure. Some appear to be able to get unlimited number.

(g) The Prohibition Act is promoting an underground industry having an annual turnover of hundreds of thousands of dollars from which the Government derives no revenue in taxes.

(h) After this war, as after the last, rum-running operations on a large scale will likely be resumed.

(i) Serious attempts on the part of the American Government to enforce Prohibition only resulted in gangster rule.

The brief then went on to ask that the whole question be considered from an unpolitical point of view and with only the best interests of the people at heart.

Premier Jones replying for the Government, said he would take the brief under consideration but could give the Legion no definite answer at the present time. He reminded the delegation he had received several petitions from church organizations and that those "on the other side" appeared to be more vocal.

The brief was presented last evening by the Legion delegation to members of the Opposition.

LIBERAL CRITICISM OF PROHIBITION VOICED IN HOUSE

Two Liberal voices were raised in the Legislature yesterday in criticism of conditions under the Prohibition Act. The speakers were Messrs. J. A. Bernard, First Prince, and H. S. Francis, First King's, mover and seconder respectively of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The great majority of tourists who enjoy coming to Prince Edward Island complain about the Prohibition law, Mr. Bernard said. "They cannot understand why we still maintain regulations which are so cumbersome, so antiquated and so backward to them."

He recalled that certain people in the Province had fought against the introduction of automobiles. The present Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault, then Premier, placed the Automobile Act on the statute books, and in a very short time "those persons who appeared so unalterably opposed were among the first to purchase cars."

The introduction of autos led to a great influx of summer visitors and subsequently to the boon of permanent highways and a prosperous tourist trade, Mr. Bernard said.

"The tourist business is like any other business," he argued. "We must cater to it, and we must endeavor to see that our visitors are permitted to obtain the things they need for the enjoyment of their holiday."

Mr. Francis said he wished to draw attention "to the fact that the use of alcoholic liquor in this Province has reached a perilous stage and will in a short period have destroyed our boys and girls completely. Since the manufacture of this home-made commodity is today our largest industry, the product has become very plentiful.

"It is not my duty," he added, "to offer any suggestions as to the prevention of this evil. I simply want to draw some attention to the matter."
