

FINAL SHOWING TO-DAY
"MOONTIDE"
 Plus Sports Program - SHOWS 3.15 - 7 and 9
PRINCE EDWARD
2 DAYS - FRI. and SAT.

ROSALIND RUSSELL
BRIAN AHERNE JANET BLAIR

Two girls from Ohio raise New York roots - sky-high-ol!

MY SISTER EILEEN

WITH GEORGE TORIAS - ALYN JOSLYN
 PLUS SYMPHONY HOUR

COMING - JUDY GARLAND IN
"FOR ME AND MY GAL"

Field Of Metals Coordinator Is Broadened

OTTAWA, Feb. 15 (CP)—The Prices Board announced today that three new administrative branches have been added to the 12 now under the jurisdiction of D. P. Cruikshank of Ottawa, co-ordinator of metals.

Francis S. Kassar, purchasing agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of Canada, Ottawa, has been appointed administrator of business machines, office equipment and supplies.

A. C. Guthrie of Montreal, director of bedding and quilting for the Board, has been named administrator of metal and upholstered furniture and bedding. He is president of the Simmons Bed Co.

G. Helling of Hamilton, hitherto in the supplies control branch of the munition department, has been appointed administrator of textile, laundry and dry-cleaning establishments and offices in Toronto. He formerly managed the air-conditioning division of Canada Westinghouse Co. Hamilton.

In Memoriam

MRS. KENNETH MATHESON

There passed peacefully away at her home, 174 West Bridge, Mrs. Kenneth Matheson, (Elizabeth MacDonald) in her eighty-sixth year, after some going on the evening of November sixteenth the community of Oyster Bed Bridge and surrounding districts lost a highly esteemed citizen. Her life was full of years of diligent and faithful service in her home where she lived with her husband. A true and faithful help-met to her husband who together passed the Diamond Jubilee of married life. The large family of four girls and eight boys look back over the years to the early days when they enjoyed the company of their mother and father. She was a mother. She with her husband reflected a Godly atmosphere which enveloped them with a good start in life. Gentle and cheerful when in the sunshine of prosperity or in the dark clouds of trouble she helped to cheer the hearts of her children. Two years before the illness that ended her earthly pilgrimage she was laid in the hospital. Her death was largely due to her cheerful character and soldierly spirit, not to forget her faith and trust in God who she turned up her eyes to in her last moments.

During her convalescence she said to her children, "I am not here for long and it may be that my Saviour has not completed the place He has reserved for me in heaven."

She leaves to mourn her passing besides her husband Kenneth Duncan Matheson in his eighty-eighth year, two brothers and five sisters. Two sons pre-deceased her. Four daughters and six sons remain. (Kathleen Matheson, wife of James Glasgow Road, P. E. I.; William Matheson, Tuskar, Saskatchewan; James Glasgow Road, P. E. I.; Joseph, Westville, P. E. I.; Benjamin, Highfield, P. E. I.; Harry at home; Angus with the R. C. A. F.; Robert, North River, P. E. I.; Betty, Mrs. Bell, North River, P. E. I.; Clara at home. Also twenty-three grand children and twenty-one great grand children.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday, November 18th, at 2 P.M. at her late residence, Rev. A. O. Thomson officiating and gave a comforting message from the text Job 19:25: "The Minister and Mrs. Matheson were present. The service was conducted by Mr. George Matheson and Mr. Alexander MacRae.

The pallbearers were five grandsons and a nephew of the deceased. Burial took place in the cemetery at Lincoln, Lincoln, Gordon Roberts, Lowell Younker and Daniel Johnson, interment was in the Portchar Cemetery.

DOES INDIGESTION WALLOP YOU BELOW THE BELT?

Help Your Forgotten "2nd Floor" For The Kind Of Relief That Helps Make You Rar! To Go

More than half of your digestion is done below the belt—in your 25 feet of bowels. So when indigestion strikes, try something that helps digestion in the stomach AND below the belt. It's Carter's Little Liver Pills to give needed help to that "forgotten 25 feet" of bowels.

Take one Carter's Little Liver Pill before you eat. It's gentle, it's safe, it's sure. It helps you get the kind of relief that makes life worth living.

It's the most reliable relief that you have ever had. It's the relief that makes you feel better from your head to your toes. It's the relief that makes you feel like a new man.

Get your Little Liver Pills from your druggist—25c.

Victory For Love

By FAMELA WYNNE

(Continued from Page 7)

open window. "Hallo!" Dr. Warner was smiling. Standing outside the passage opened the door. "You are holding the door of his car open. I'll come in tonight and hear the music if I'm not too late." Then Dr. Warner, lifting his hat, crunched himself into the driving seat. Joan's heart was dancing. Things like that told you without your having to wonder!

"Well, that's done." Here was Nettie coming out again. The two friends went down the hill together. And then through the gate that took them up the rough path to Pole Star House.

"It was a preposterous place to build a house," said Joan, staring at the back of it. Gray and straggly, as if built without plan, but indeed warm and snug. "Thick walls to keep out the wind. Wind was hardly the word to describe the equinoctial gale that came whooping and yelling from Newfoundland at nearly a hundred miles an hour. How they claved and battered at the windows and how Joan, sunk in her comfortable bed loved to hear them."

"Yes, but it's got a divine view."

The two women had reached the little white gate that shut off the garden from the house. And as they looked at the view they were both lulled and stooped to examine better the almost invisible spikes of Great Gable, the wind was blowing in rocky stones that they were how they should arrange the rooms. Joan thought Nettie, making a tour of them, everything dusted and polished. It should be. Pretty brocade curtains lined with dark green for the breakfast room.

"My dear, they will be comfortable. Nettie was more impressed than she had expected to be. "Two bedrooms, all facing the sea, except one that faced the light-house. All the rooms were nice. I thought Nettie, making a tour of them, everything dusted and polished. It should be. Pretty brocade curtains lined with dark green for the breakfast room."

"My dear, they will be comfortable. Nettie was more impressed than she had expected to be. "Two bedrooms, all facing the sea, except one that faced the light-house. All the rooms were nice. I thought Nettie, making a tour of them, everything dusted and polished. It should be. Pretty brocade curtains lined with dark green for the breakfast room."

TO-DAY
FRI. and SAT.
 3 SHOWS DAILY
 AT 3.15 - 7 and 8.45

SPY SHIP Timely and Terrific

with CRAIG STEVENS - IRENE MANNING

EXTRA - Chapter 7 of "SECRET CODE"
 HAM and YEGGS - Comedy - Color Cartoon

If you want to get the big thrill of seeing and knowing what a smashing job our G-Men are doing here's the hot story of the whole filthy sabotage set-up in Warner Bros' amazing new hit!

Canadiap Spitfires Are Missing

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP)—Three Canadian Spitfires were reported missing tonight in the early morning and afternoon offensive sweeps over northern France and the English Channel.

The R.C.A.F. reported the losses in a brief communique which did not disclose the nature of the objectives attacked.

Earlier the Air Ministry said British bombers raided unidentified objectives in western Germany and Nazi-occupied Belgium during the night and that fighters attacked enemy railway targets in northern France.

No R.A.F. planes were lost, the announcement said.

American heavy bombers pounded the German submarine base at St. Nazaire in daylight in the face of heavy ground and fighter defenses, losing six aircraft.

The Ministries of Air and Home Security announced that enemy planes bombed a place near the southeast coast of England this afternoon, causing some damage and a small number of casualties.

Several German radio stations and the German-controlled Calais radio went off the air at 10.48 p.m. tonight, indicating that Allied planes again hit the wayward target on the Continent.

100,000 Ration Books For Distribution Throughout Province

More than 100,000 ration books have arrived, or are arriving, at the five ration boards in Prince Edward Island for distribution to consumers between Feb. 19 and March 1. Plans are well advanced to mail sections of the Province to insure the success of this huge undertaking, said Mr. Charles P. Archibald, executive assistant to the Administrator of Consumer Rationing, War-time Prices and Trade Board, following a conference with officials of the Regional Office in Charlottetown yesterday.

Mr. Archibald is a former resident of Nova Scotia and is at present directing the work of 560 local Ration Boards now set up across the island. He expressed appreciation to volunteer workers in the present distributing campaign upon whom much of the work will fall.

"We don't want ladies here," said Grace decidedly. "Gentlemen'll be no trouble at all, you'll find. That is, so long as they're comfortable and nicely fed."

"Oh, Grace, just think of the food!"

"You'll find that'll soon settle itself, mum. I've been up to see Mrs. Mills, and she's glad to think of getting into a good place. Mrs. Panner is willing to send in her Cynthia to help with the washing up in the evening."

"Netta, did you ever know any one so marvelous?"

"There certainly is no one like Grace," said Nettie frankly. "I'm sure, my Jane. When are you coming up to have tea with her, and how long will you be here?"

"I'm not sure," answered Joan. She was looking at Nettie as she turned and went out the door, and then stood still gazing out to sea.

"As the landlady of No. 7 Prince's Terrace came down the stairs she saw that Monsieur Victor had not taken his morning paper, so she tapped at the door. "Here is your paper, sir," Mrs. Payne spoke quietly, as she always did to Monsieur Victor, as her husband called him. For it was so long since she had seen him, she was just getting used to staring into an unlighted gas fire. "It's getting on my nerves," she said so faintly frequently to her husband.

"So long as he pays his rent, leave him alone," said Mr. Payne crossly. For Mr. Payne was becoming sorely by the raids. The house in which he lived was his own, bought in triumph after years of saving. And now in half a split second it might fall in ruins round him. The only bright spot was that they might all go with it.

Nights of horror and misery, and yet with some people getting fun out of it. Even Mrs. Payne sometimes thought that the nightly scrimmage under the stairs was a relief to let and sell and before what her life always had been. Only Monsieur and Mr. Payne didn't seem to get any satisfaction out of it. At least you knew Mr. Payne didn't, because you heard him at it. After an hour, but Monsieur you didn't know, because you never saw him except once a week when he stole down the stairs on his way to the bank. A small man, with dark hair that drawn down over his eyes and a muffer round his neck. What he was not one knew for certain, but Mrs. Payne guessed that it must be to the bank, for he always went on the day he paid his bill. He paid it in cash, neither Mr. nor Mrs. Payne had ever seen Monsieur's signature on a check.

And as Mrs. Payne went on down the stairs after handing Monsieur Victor his Times the clock in the hall showed a few hundred yards away struck half-past eleven. Monsieur took The Times because on the back sheet you found little pictures of houses to let and sell and before he left Paris he had loved houses and had owned several. For one evening, as he turned the pages, he visualized the house he had loved best. His dead wife had loved it, his Lucienne. Thank God, she had gone before his horror descended on her beloved France.

And when he arrived at Nettie's advertisement he blinked his eyes and read it twice. The wording of it attracted him. "A small private hotel with accommodation for four visitors. Five guineas a week. (Too much) But could you pay too much for peace?"

"I feel well in my body, but not in my heart," said Monsieur Victor slowly.

"Oh, well, I know what this is," said Mrs. Payne warming up. "I remember when I lost my Aggie I felt that I should never be able to pick up again. And that's why you feel, I expect, Monsieur. But you've got that general haven't you, see that? The man if ever there was one, I am sure of that."

"Parfaitement."

"And Mr. Payne he says that soon the Monkey Man, as he will call him, will get the knock. Sooner than we expect, he says. Someone will put his head where it belongs in a pall of whitewash," said Mrs. Payne, consumed with laughter at this joke of her husband's.

(To be Continued)

100,000 Ration Books For Distribution Throughout Province

More than 100,000 ration books have arrived, or are arriving, at the five ration boards in Prince Edward Island for distribution to consumers between Feb. 19 and March 1. Plans are well advanced to mail sections of the Province to insure the success of this huge undertaking, said Mr. Charles P. Archibald, executive assistant to the Administrator of Consumer Rationing, War-time Prices and Trade Board, following a conference with officials of the Regional Office in Charlottetown yesterday.

Mr. Archibald is a former resident of Nova Scotia and is at present directing the work of 560 local Ration Boards now set up across the island. He expressed appreciation to volunteer workers in the present distributing campaign upon whom much of the work will fall.

"We don't want ladies here," said Grace decidedly. "Gentlemen'll be no trouble at all, you'll find. That is, so long as they're comfortable and nicely fed."

"Oh, Grace, just think of the food!"

"You'll find that'll soon settle itself, mum. I've been up to see Mrs. Mills, and she's glad to think of getting into a good place. Mrs. Panner is willing to send in her Cynthia to help with the washing up in the evening."

"Netta, did you ever know any one so marvelous?"

"There certainly is no one like Grace," said Nettie frankly. "I'm sure, my Jane. When are you coming up to have tea with her, and how long will you be here?"

"I'm not sure," answered Joan. She was looking at Nettie as she turned and went out the door, and then stood still gazing out to sea.

"As the landlady of No. 7 Prince's Terrace came down the stairs she saw that Monsieur Victor had not taken his morning paper, so she tapped at the door. "Here is your paper, sir," Mrs. Payne spoke quietly, as she always did to Monsieur Victor, as her husband called him. For it was so long since she had seen him, she was just getting used to staring into an unlighted gas fire. "It's getting on my nerves," she said so faintly frequently to her husband.

"So long as he pays his rent, leave him alone," said Mr. Payne crossly. For Mr. Payne was becoming sorely by the raids. The house in which he lived was his own, bought in triumph after years of saving. And now in half a split second it might fall in ruins round him. The only bright spot was that they might all go with it.

Nights of horror and misery, and yet with some people getting fun out of it. Even Mrs. Payne sometimes thought that the nightly scrimmage under the stairs was a relief to let and sell and before what her life always had been. Only Monsieur and Mr. Payne didn't seem to get any satisfaction out of it. At least you knew Mr. Payne didn't, because you heard him at it. After an hour, but Monsieur you didn't know, because you never saw him except once a week when he stole down the stairs on his way to the bank. A small man, with dark hair that drawn down over his eyes and a muffer round his neck. What he was not one knew for certain, but Mrs. Payne guessed that it must be to the bank, for he always went on the day he paid his bill. He paid it in cash, neither Mr. nor Mrs. Payne had ever seen Monsieur's signature on a check.

And as Mrs. Payne went on down the stairs after handing Monsieur Victor his Times the clock in the hall showed a few hundred yards away struck half-past eleven. Monsieur took The Times because on the back sheet you found little pictures of houses to let and sell and before he left Paris he had loved houses and had owned several. For one evening, as he turned the pages, he visualized the house he had loved best. His dead wife had loved it, his Lucienne. Thank God, she had gone before his horror descended on her beloved France.

And when he arrived at Nettie's advertisement he blinked his eyes and read it twice. The wording of it attracted him. "A small private hotel with accommodation for four visitors. Five guineas a week. (Too much) But could you pay too much for peace?"

"I feel well in my body, but not in my heart," said Monsieur Victor slowly.

"Oh, well, I know what this is," said Mrs. Payne warming up. "I remember when I lost my Aggie I felt that I should never be able to pick up again. And that's why you feel, I expect, Monsieur. But you've got that general haven't you, see that? The man if ever there was one, I am sure of that."

"Parfaitement."

"And Mr. Payne he says that soon the Monkey Man, as he will call him, will get the knock. Sooner than we expect, he says. Someone will put his head where it belongs in a pall of whitewash," said Mrs. Payne, consumed with laughter at this joke of her husband's.

(To be Continued)

Advanced in Years Yet Still Able to Serve

Elderly people are playing an important part in life today. As a valuable aid in building up their resistance to colds and common winter ills as well as helping the body recuperate when run-down, the regular use of Scott's Emulsion is highly recommended. Because it is so rich in vital, built-up elements everyone needs, this pleasant-tasting, economical tonic is an ideal food supplement for older people. In addition, Scott's is emulsified by an exclusive process which makes it easy to digest even for the most delicate systems.

Rich in natural Vitamins A and D, Scott's Emulsion is highly recommended as a valuable year-round tonic for young and old. Buy a large, economical bottle today—all druggists.

SCOTT'S EMULSION
 A Great Year-Round Tonic For All Ages

EMPIRE TO-NIGHT-FRI.-SAT.

LEAD POISONING SURE CURE FOR GOLD BANDITS
 Greased lightning action!

TIM HOLT FIGHTING FRONTIER

CLIFF EDWARDS
 Ann Summers

ALSO - "Barnyard W. A. A. C. S. - SPORTS"
 Travelogue - SHOWS TONIGHT 7 and 8.45
 Matinee On Saturday Only 2.30

"Spy Ship" Hitting Espionage Film Due Here

"Spy Ship" Warner Bros. First National picture coming to the Capitol Theatre to-day, in another episode of the Hollywood keeps ahead of the headlines.

"Spy Ship," which deals with fifth column sabotage in the United States, was the making months before the FBI announced the arrest of eight German secret agents who had landed on this coast in submarine and rubber boats. It even preceded a scandal in which a famous officer was arrested for dealing with the enemy.

In "Spy Ship," Irene Manning plays the part of a famed aviatrix who becomes involved with Nazi agents and betrays her country by radiating secret information which leads to the sinking of American vessels. Michael Ames, insurance executive, engaged to Pam (Miss Manning) is the tool which she uses to obtain her information, selling dates. Maris Wrixon is the girl who eventually works with Government agents to expose the betraying Irene her just deserts.

An exciting series of events comes to a climax in December, when Pearl Harbor is bombed, the day newspaper columnists, Craig Stevens comes into his own and does a service who also conducted the services at the grave.

"Spy Ship" is action-packed and as timely as your in-wet afternoon newspaper.

The exciting film was directed by B. Reeves Eason from the screen by Robert E. Kent, which was based on a novel by George Zear, who is the author of many an exciting story.

In Memoriam

CYRUS MUTCH

The death of Cyrus Mutch, a well known New Glasgow, N.S., citizen, occurred at his home, 104 Kentville, for some years Mr. Mutch was a resident at the Runcie Hotel at Windsor, and his funeral services were held at his home. He was well known in business circles in Pictou County, and was a member of the Runcie Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Stellarton. His wife, who predeceased him several years ago, was the former Annie Mutch, nee Scott, a surviving brother is J.A. Mutch, New Glasgow. (The late Mr. Mutch was a member of the Runcie Hotel, Herbert, and has many relatives in that vicinity.)

In Memoriam

LEO MACCORMACK

Funeral services for Leo MacCormack were held on January 23rd, at St. Margaret's Church, P. E. I.

The pall-bearers were: Alex. D. MacCormack, R. D. MacKinnon, Hugh C. MacPhee, Joseph G. MacCormack, Robert Carter and James Wilson, Requiem Mass was offered by Rev. Leonard MacDonald, in the absence of the pastor, who also conducted the services at the grave.

Mr. MacCormack's death took place at Charlottetown on January 20th, and his remains were transported to Seikirk, P.E.I., on Thursday, January 21st, where they rested for two days at the home of Alexis MacPhee.

Mr. MacCormack, who at the time of his death, had attained the grand old age of 93 years, was born in Seikirk, one of a large family of nine, of the late Alexander MacCormack and Mary MacInnis.

Leo Alex, as he was familiarly known, spent a part of his 93 years in the New England States. While there, he married a girl from his own community, Florence MacIntyre.

After his wife's death, Mr. MacCormack came back to the old home, where he was joined by two sisters, Mary Anne and Mrs. Julia MacDonald.

About a year ago the old home was closed and he moved to Charlottetown, where he spent the remaining days of his earthly sojourn.

Always religious at heart, he had the consolation of being fortified with the last holy rites of the Catholic Church before his death.

He is survived by one sister, Mary Anne, of Seikirk, and several nieces and nephews, all residing in the United States, to whom sincere sympathy is extended.

May he rest in peace.

Work or Fight Is Warning

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Today or fight warning was issued today by the House of Representatives naval committee as it moves to crack down on absenteeism among civilian workers in United States Government Navy yards. The committee lacked on a minor bill a rider requiring yards to turn over to local Selective Service Boards the name of each employee who has been absent without prior authorization, with an opinion as to whether the absence was justified.

Rep. Lynde W. Blackburn, Tex.) sponsor of the amendment, termed it a "work-or-fight" warning, made it clear that it is only a final step to job absenteeism, which is delinquent naval vessels.

New Glasgow and Vicinity

Mrs. Reuel Dickson and her daughter Sheila is visiting Mr. Dickson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCool, Graham Road.

Miss Marcell Stevenson, 24 Grove, has accepted a position at Mr. R. L. Dickson's store.

Mrs. Wallace Dickson entered the members of the Institute at her home on Monday evening, members and eight visitors attended. The vice president presided at the meeting opened by the singing of hymns. The committee followed by repeating the Club W. man's Creed in unison. The secretary's report was read and approved, also correspondence. It was voted to be forwarded to the Relief Fund and bills ordered to be paid. The stock committee reported having made some stock at New committee named. Six at luncheon committee instead of taking lunch. Miss M. E. Campbell and Mrs. Harland Hill it was decided to collect 50 cts from 12 lunch committee instead of taking lunch. Miss M. E. Campbell and Mrs. Harland Hill it was decided to collect 50 cts from 12 lunch committee instead of taking lunch. Miss M. E. Campbell and Mrs. Harland Hill it was decided to collect 50 cts from 12 lunch committee instead of taking lunch.

Mrs. Daniel Nesbitt, is at present in Charlottetown, receiving medical attention, friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The First Aid Class under the direction of Dr. A. B. Stevenson are setting further instructions in the work.

A social evening was held in the hall here on Thursday evening last to raise funds for the Women's Institute. The hall was filled with a good time enjoyed. Special mention may be made of the sale of hot dogs and tea, also doughnuts and coffee served by the ladies. The committee in charge of the entertainment was, Share The Wealth, Mrs. Harland Hill and Mrs. E. E. Dickson, Mrs. George Dickson, Mrs. M. E. Campbell, Mrs. Dickson, Mrs. E. E. Dickson, Mrs. Dickson and Mrs. Earl Houston. Mrs. Preston Campbell acted as chairman quite a large sum was raised, which will go for Institute purposes.

Mrs. Millar Orr, is improving; after her painful accident. Mrs. Orr was hit by a large piece of steel when the waterfront of their kitchen range exploded during the last week. Mrs. Orr has with her, her mother, Mrs. John Pursey, Rustico.

Mrs. George McCoubrey, Cavendish, is visiting here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Andrew.

Mrs. Lemuel Craswell and daughter Edith were visitors to Chantlotown recently.

Mrs. Benjamin Mallett, York, was a visitor here to see her aunt, Miss Eva McNeill.

Misses Joyce Fergusson and Ruth Stevenson, Charlottetown, visited the week-end at their respective homes here.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Charles Ward was held from her home in Mayfield on Tuesday afternoon. A large number attended to pay their final respects. Rev. Robert Shaw, assisted by Rev. George P. Taylor, conducted the service at the home and Cemetery. Favorite hymns of the deceased was used. Mrs. Ruth Dickson was organist. Deep sympathy is extended to the family.

BOB BURNS SPIKE JONES AND HIS CITY SLICKERS

NEW NEW NEW STATION

TONIGHT AND EVENING THURSDAY EVENING
 8.30 P.M.

From now on come in WEAF (New York - 60 KC) 8.30 P.M.

• Yes, folks, the Arkansas Traveler is on your popular N.B.C. station. Don't forget to tune in!
 SPONSORED BY LIFEBOUY

FOR RADIANT HEALTH

ENO IS THE ANSWER

No doubt your job is a difficult and tedious one these days, but bright eyes, clear skin, a buoyant step—signs of radiant health can still be yours. Just take Eno's Fruit Salt in a glass of water first thing every morning and enjoy the fitness that makes life worth living.

Eno will help keep your inner system free of the poisonous wastes and excess gastric acids that rob you of energy and vitality, that often cause headaches, a poor complexion and a listless, out-of-sorts feeling. Eno is the safe, pleasant way to natural, radiant health that comes from inner fitness.

ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT'
 FIRST THING EVERY MORNING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The office of war information reported Saturday night that the vast Willow Run Bomber plant 30 miles from Detroit is operating at "only a small fraction of its ultimate potential" but may reach peak production within a year.

The O.W.I. said it issued the report to clarify conflicting accounts of operations at the plant, which is government-owned and Ford-operated.

The O.W.I. report omitted actual production figures at the request of the war department. Peak production has been estimated at 20 bombers a day but O.W.I. said the first completed bomber to come off the Willow Run production line was not finished until three months after the date set and the first assembly was "even more behind schedule."

DOCTOR CASUALTIES

In 1942 48 United States physicians died in military service, 11 of them in action.