ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA

Halifax Bank Scene of Daring Incident — Would-be Robber Gets Fright.

HALIFAX, Aug. 6.—Halifax detectives were searching last night for an unidentified man who yesterday afternoon made a daring attempt to stage a holdup in the local headquarters of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Up to an early hour this morning, however, no trace of him had been found despite a detailed description supplied by bank officials.

Entering the Bank of Nova Scotia during the quiet of the lunch hour yesterday, the stranger approached the case of Leonard F. Dunford, and, holding one hand in his pocket as if to convey the impression that he was carrying a gun, demanded:

"How much money have you got there?"

"Not very much", Dunford re-

Canadian Banks To Carry Unsold Balance Of Crop

(Special to The Guardian)

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6.—The statement that the Canadian banks had promised to carry the unsold balance of the 1929 wheat crop, and that the arrangements were entirely satisfactory, was made by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, at the conclusion of the conference today between eight managers of leading banks and the three Premiers of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Since the guarantees of the three Prairie Provinces to the banks for subsidizing the wheat pool expired on August 1st, Premier Bracken was asked whether the Western Provinces would again renew the guarantees to the banks. There has been no request made for guarantees on the new crop and it is not anticipated that guarantees will be required, he replied. The guarantees were to cover the whole crop, he explained and the only difficulty arose through a small portion of it not having been delivered at the end of the crop year, July 31st. It is concerning that portion that we have been having conferences with the Banks.

Mackenzie King Sees Political Significance

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—The Government is now ready to turn over the responsibilities of office to the incoming administration, declared the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, following a meeting of the Cabinet here today. The probabilities indicated that Mr. Bennett would be ready to step in tomorrow and it was likely, the Premier intimated, that we would see the Governor General within the next twenty-four hours, and tender the resignation of the Government.

Mr. Mackenzie King recalled that it was eleven years ago tomorrow that he was appointed leader of the Liberal Party and declared that it would be a coincidence if the date of his surrendering the reins of Government synchronized with that anniversary.

"What was his first wife's name?" "Caroline."

"And his second wife's?" "Caroline, also."

"What a coincidence! But what is he doing now?" "Crying for the Carolines."

Lightning Plays Prank

While Messrs Wesley and John Matthews of York were in a field back on their farm milking, last Monday, during the electrical storm, lightning struck them, stunning the two men and the two cows, felling them to the ground, fortunately in opposite directions and when the men became conscious of their surroundings the cows were still stricken and did not come around for some little time. The strange part of the affair is that neither cows or men are now any the worse for their novel experience.

Combined Flight Over Ottawa And Toronto

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 6.—The dirigible R-100 will make a combined flight over Ottawa and Toronto, the date to be announced in the near future, according to an official statement issued here this morning. The statement reads: Repairs to the R-100 are proceeding satisfactorily and it is expected they will be completed within the next forty-eight hours. In the meantime there has been no alteration of plans as announced in the official press statement issued on August 4th, which read in part: The idea of a flight over Canadian territory before the return journey has not been abandoned. However, it is hoped to combine the flight to Ottawa and Toronto into one and carry that out if reasonably favorable weather conditions should occur for the flight prior to the departure of the ship for England.

Today's statement clears up much uncertainty regarding the program of the R-100. Originally, it had been planned to make three separate Canadian flights over Ottawa, Toronto and Quebec.

Tardieu Hopes for Law to Forbid Females Working While Males Idle

PARIS, Aug. 6.—There are 2,000,000 wild women under the French flag who are giving Premier Andre Tardieu many worries. These wild women are really wild. They are uncivilized. They have a real hankering for human pot roasts, smoke pipes and gun powder in such a state of undress that they would be nabbed by the police even in a Paris music hall.

Most of them are in the tribes of the back countries of French Indochina, not affiliated to the Cambodian, Laotian or Annamite populations. Others are scattered over the African sands from the Niger to the Congo.

Tardieu is worried because it is these wild women who keep their male fellows from becoming civilized. Generally, these wild women are treated by their men as inferior beings. They get all the hard work, while the men go hunting and fishing, play games with seashells or distill their rice-alcohol and get drunk. Once in a while the masters of these wild women give them a comb or imitation silver bracelet, and they are willing to work for another year. A bit of cloth or a couple of leather thongs around the hips, is the only sacrifice of comfort they will make in the name of decency. They are naturalists—and not bad to look at.

The French government cannot hope to educate its male black colonialists to work as long as the women willingly do it. There is no chance to instill western civilization into the colonies unless the men will work, however, and that is the problem which is causing Premier Tardieu loss of sleep.

When parliament meets again Tardieu hopes to get a law ending women's work, he said.

Curtain Falls On King Government

Last Cabinet Meeting Scheduled For Today. Bennett Likely To Assume Office On Thursday. New Cabinet Representation Discussed.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 5.—(By the Canadian Press)—Political observers in the capital today are unanimously of the opinion that Premier Elect Hon. R. B. Bennett will take office as Prime Minister of Canada on Thursday afternoon. The personnel of the new Conservative administration will be announced that afternoon by the Conservative chief minister after his chosen ministers have been sworn in at Government House.

The curtain will probably be rung down on the final act of the present dominion government today when the Cabinet meets at two o'clock in the afternoon. In all likelihood the meeting will be the last which the Mackenzie King administration will hold and the connection which that government has had for the past eight years and a half with the Privy Council Chamber, repository of many state secrets, will be severed.

All the ministers are now in the capital, and the probabilities are that the valedictory will be delivered to a full representation.

Newsman Inspect R-100

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., Aug. 6.—"Check your matches and cigarette lighters."

That was the word given a party of 50 newspapermen yesterday as they started up the 200-foot mooring mast at St. Hubert with Squadron Leader Wann of the R-100 to inspect the ship officially. And having checked matches and lighters, the inspection began.

In relays of 15 men, the party was conducted to the top of the mast where the nose of the ship was coupled.

Major R. W. Weir (Heigbert), will probably be Saskatchewan's representative in the Cabinet with a strong possibility at the moment that he will be Minister of Agriculture. Hon. H. H. Stevens, who was defeated in Vancouver Centre is now in the Capital and his name is associated with the Portfolio of Minister of Trade and Commerce or Minister of National Revenue. The report continues that General A. D. MacRae, Chief Conservative Whip will eventually go to London as Canadian High Commissioner.

Prior to the meeting a group photograph of the retiring Cabinet was taken—"Just as a souvenir of our long association in Government." The Prime Minister said.

"DISCUSSED THE WEATHER"

There was nothing of gloom on the faces of the Ministers as they left the Privy Council Chamber. They laughed and chatted together, and many of them shook hands with the newspapermen who were present in the expectations of a definite announcement being made.

Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Public Works, discussed the weather and emphasized his approval of holding elections during the summer months. Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, spoke of the R-100 and the repairs that were being made to her damaged fabric.

The Prime Minister was in a cheerful mood. He shook hands with the reporters and chatted with them for several minutes. "Our last meeting," he said.

prevent its escape. Surrounding each bag is a network of twine to prevent them from "bulging" on to the catwalk when they are completely inflated.

Just before the party arrived, the ship had been refueled with gasoline and warnings were given to the first party aboard "not to scrape their feet."

It was explained that the friction of scraping leather on the metal parts of the floor walk would perhaps cause sparks of static electricity. Later parties wore shoes with special soles to prevent this.

The R-100 inside can be likened very much to the ordinary lake or ocean liner.

The crew is established on the first deck and sleep in the usual double-decker beds. Their mess is directly in front of the sleeping quarters.

The dining saloon and galley is on the next floor above as are the promenade decks. All cooking is done by electricity and supplies of desiccated vegetables were carried, although Squadron Leader Wann said "no-body ate them."

These vegetables were carried merely for emergency, he explained, and on the trip from Cardington a plentiful supply of fresh vegetables were available.

Beneath the catwalk of the ship are fuel tanks; while above, at the bow are emergency water ballast bags, each bag containing 5-8 of a ton of water.

They could be dumped in a flash if it were necessary to raise the bow of the ship quickly, Mr. Wann said.

Below the crew deck hangs a large gondola. It is the brain of the ship, for here are all the main controls. It looks very like the pilot house of a steamboat, except there are two

Bees Take Charge, All Hands Leave

AVESHAM, Eng., Aug. 6.—A swarm of bees yesterday took possession of a passenger train entering the station here and routed passengers and train men alike. The bees settled thickly in nearly every compartment.

After considerable delay and many vain efforts to shoo the bees away, a signalman nearby, who is a bee keeper in his spare time, induced the swarm into one of the hives. It was only then that the train could proceed.

BRITISH ARE PREPARING FOR TROUBLE

Arab Disorders In Palestine Imminent — Does not Surprise London.

(Special to The Guardian)

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 6.—Plans of Ibn Saud for attacking Trans Jordan on the borders of Palestine are complete, according to the London Daily Mail, which estimates the King of the Hedjaz can muster 300,000 men, mostly horsemen, as cabled by the Chicago Daily News correspondent.

The British authorities are preparing for Arab disorders in Palestine and this news regarding the Wahabi leader does not surprise London. The steamer Krakow, carrying 500 tons of Polish rifles, ammunition and armaments for the Hedjaz has left Gdynia with the permission of the League of Nations and the British and French Governments. Ibn Saud apparently does not lack funds despite the discontinuance of the British subsidy of $300,000 a year for his peacefulness.

Admitted Free From Canada

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 6.—All sawed lumber and timber if not further manufactured than planed or dressed on one side, is to be admitted from Canada into the United States free. This decision has been rendered by Commissioner of Customs F. X. Eibe, by way of clarifying the new tariff law which places duties on some lumber, boards, planks and deals. The tariff bill caused trouble, the Department of Customs found. These woods had no commercial significance and changed it to all sawed lumber and timber if not manufactured etc.

Quake Kills 500 Thousands Hurt

LONDON, Aug. 6.—A terrible earthquake killed 500 persons and injured 4,000 others on the north-east shores of the Caspian Sea, a Riga dispatch to the London Morning Post said yesterday.

The towns of Tshapaevo and Vritzyk were reported destroyed. The bodies of 30 children were recovered from the ruins.

A children's home at Tshapaevo was destroyed by the shocks, the Morning Post report said. The dispatch said 200 houses at Tshapaevo were razed, and the church destroyed by the quake.

The Ural River was reported to have flooded the town.

U. S. NAVY TO BUILD 1,000 AIRPLANES

(Special to the Guardian)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Navy General Board has before it a recommendation that the navy enter a new gigantic five year airplane building program, contemplating construction of 1,000 planes to cost $85,000,000. It was learned on high authority today.

Battling Storms

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—The steamer "Beothic" carrying the department of the Interiors 1930 expedition to the posts in the Canadian Arctic Archipelago is battling storms about midway between Labrador and Southern Greenland on its dash across the North Atlantic, according to wireless dispatches received from George P. MacKenzie, officer in charge of this summer's patrol, by O. S. Finnie, director of the North West Territories and Yukon Branch.

The noon position of the ship on Monday was given as half way between the coast of Labrador and Greenland where the first stop will be made.

ARMED YOUTH RAIDING HOME SURPRISED BY ACTOR'S APPEARANCE

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 6.—Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture star, was held up in his beach home here today as he and his wife, Mary Pickford, returned after a visit at the home of Elsie Janis, stage and screen actress.

Fairbanks lost about $25 in cash, he said, as he reported the robbery to Santa Monica police tonight. Thousands of dollars worth of jewelry belonging to the actor and Miss Pickford was overlooked.

The actor said he was surprised by a youth with a gun after he and Miss Pickford went to the second floor of their home and he returned to the first floor to leave a note for a servant.

The bandit evidently was as surprised as Fairbanks.

"Gee, it's Fairbanks," the youth said. "I hate to do this, but I have to have some money."
