

Your Throat. Gargles can't go back far enough, sprays don't reach deep enough; but the air you breathe touches every part. Then why not put some healing medicine in the air and let them get along together? That is what Vapo-Cresolene is for. It puts the healing medicine right on the places that most need it. You now see why it so quickly cures sore throat, bronchitis, hoarseness, whooping-cough and asthma.

THE DOUBLE-BREASTED REEFER FOR THE SMALL GIRL.

For school and every-day wear in fair weather there are few models at once so smart, practical and all around comfortable as is the double-breasted reefer or box coat. In deference to the vogue of fitted garments for their elders, those for the young generation are assuming semi-fitted lines where formerly they hung full and loose. A dark red cheviot makes this pretty little model, the rich red making it especially suitable and cheery for cold-weather wear. There is a seam down the centre back, and the fit is adjusted by means of the shoulder and under-arm seams. The turnover collar is all in one piece, flaring into a reverse shape at the corners, and interlined with a princess haircloth, as is also the sleeve wrist, to hold the shape. The fronts fasten over in double-breasted style, and convenient pockets appear on the hips. The sleeve is comfortably full at the top, tapering into a close-fitting outline below the elbow.

Worry Habit Kills the Nerves Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Dr. A. T. Schofield, a great English authority on diseases of the nerves, attributes the usual cause of such ailments to "the worry habit," which he denounces as an "unmitigated evil." Headache at top or back of head noises in the ear, sudden starting or twitching, tenderness of the scalp or spine sleeplessness, dyspepsia, pains and cramps, timidity, irritability, melancholy, are some of the symptoms of exhausted nerves. Pure air, wholesome food, rest and the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild and revitalize the wasted nerve cells is the ideal treatment for diseases of the nerves. Assert your will power and determine that you will not worry or let little things irritate you, and keep using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly and persistently week in and week out, and it will not be long until you will feel the thrill of new life and energy coming back to your wasted and worn-out nerves. There is no doubt about the ability of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you, for its extraordinary restorative power has been established in hundreds and thousands of cases. Mr. Archibald Sutherland, Principal South Bay School, Sydney, N. S., writes, "I was greatly troubled with nervous dyspepsia and slight choking feelings in the chest. After meals I often felt like vomiting and my stomach was sore. I was nervous and worried, frequently had headaches and shortness of breath on slight exertion. Several doctors treated me but each for a different ailment and I finally decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After I had used three boxes I found myself very much benefited. You can depend on me to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all who suffer from any form of nervous disease for I believe it has entirely cured me. I shall be glad to be the means of bringing this medicine to the notice of anyone who is suffering as I did." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

MR. DAVIDSON'S PROMOTION.

MONTCTON, N. B., Nov. 17.—George Davidson for the past twenty years station agent at Annapolis, has been appointed to succeed the late W. W. Price as agent at Petitcodiac. Mr. Davidson is now senior agent on the line between Moncton and St. John, and his appointment is promotion.

ROBBED HER EMPLOYERS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—Kate McKay has confessed to the theft of hundreds of dollars' worth of goods from Haycock & Dudgeon's dry goods and general firm for whom she worked. She confessed to having sent large quantities of goods to Toronto to dispose of there through relatives.

MILK AND DEATH-RATE.

That it would be a paying business policy for any city to undertake the control of its entire milk supply, pasteurizing all of the product before it reaches the consumers, seems to be proved by recent experiments in New York, where the death-rate among infants has been greatly lessened during the last few years by the adoption of this kind of precaution on a large scale—for the benefit, chiefly, of the babies of the poorer districts.

It has been reckoned by the Department of Agriculture that one child out of every three dies before reaching three years of age, "one of the leading causes of infant mortality being impure milk." That this estimate is not excessive appears to be demonstrated by the fact that in 1891 the death-rate of New York children under five years was in excess of ninety-six in the thousand. About that time a private citizen of large means took up the problem and, having decided that impure milk was to a great extent accountable for the mischief, began to establish stations for the sale, at cost, of pure milk, both natural and sterilized. In cases where people were too poor to buy, milk was given away in bottles.

As a result, the death-rate per thousand of children under five fell in 1896 to seventy-seven. In 1898 it dropped below sixty-nine, and last year, in 1904, it was only sixty-three. This means one child saved out of three that would have died otherwise. Though the population of the city increased nearly one-third from 1891 to 1904, the total number of deaths of children under five fell from 18,221 in the former year to 16,137 in the latter. Allowing for the augmented population, it would seem that the lives of more than a thousand little ones in the metropolis were saved last year by the distribution of pure milk.

The peril to child life, of course, is greatest during the three months of summer. For those three months the death rate of children under five was 125 per thousand in 1891. In 1896 it was 104 per thousand; in 1897 it fell below ninety-one; in 1900 it dropped to less than seventy-seven, and in 1904 it was seventy-four and a half. The actual number of deaths of children under five, notwithstanding augmented population, fell from 5945 in 1891 to 4805 in 1904, for the three months of summer only.

In 1887 the death-rate among the waifs picked up in the streets of New York and placed in the Infant Asylum at Randall's Island was over forty-four per cent. A pasteurizing plant was installed in the early part of the following year, and the deaths immediately dropped to less than twenty per cent; last year they were under seventeen per cent. This first attempt at municipal ownership and operation of an outfit of the kind deserves, therefore, to be regarded as highly successful, and the moral to be drawn from it is altogether too obvious to require comment.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. WANT AND NEED. There's a big difference between what a baby wants and what he needs. Deny him the one, give him the other. Most babies need Scott's Emulsion—it's the right thing for a baby. It contains a lot of strength-building qualities that their food may not contain. After a while they get to want it. Why? Because it makes them comfortable. Those dimples and round cheeks mean health and ease. Scott's Emulsion makes children easy; keeps them so, too. SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Ont.

BEAVER FLOUR. Spring wheat flour makes wholesome, nutritious bread. Winter wheat flour makes light, white, delicious bread. Neither makes perfect bread, but BEAVER FLOUR. a blend of Manitoba Spring Wheat and Ontario Fall Wheat in the right proportions of each, makes perfect bread—whitest, lightest, most inviting and nutritious. Beaver Flour will make your baking successful. Ask your grocer for it.

THE WORLD OVER Thousands of Mothers are using DR. CODERRE'S INFANTS' SYRUP. For Children's Ailments, you cannot but admit the fact that this preparation is one of merit and is all that is claimed for it. It is safe, pleasant and soothing for children teething and a prompt checker of bowel and stomach troubles. Physicians and Professional nurses recommend it. In purchasing, see that Dr. Coderre's signature and portrait is on every wrapper. Beware of the many SYRUPS put up in a similar form and made to look like Dr. Coderre's. Price, 25c. per bottle, or by mail on receipt of price. Sole proprietors, THE WINGATE CHEMICAL CO., Limited, Montreal, Canada. STANTON'S PAIN RELIEF, A FAMILY REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL USE.
