TREATED JOB WITH PATROL 'AS A JOKE'

Edward Kenny, New Waterford, P. E. I., Former Fisheries Officer Admits Falsifying Reports.

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONCTON, N. B., May 16—Admission by a former fisheries patrol boat captain that he had falsified his reports was heard Saturday evening at the final session of the Royal Commission investigating illegal lobster and smelt fishing. The witness was J. Edward Kenny, Waterford, P. E. I., captain of boat 31, D. B. No. 1 from Sept. 21 to Oct. 31 last, operating out of Tignish, P. E. I.

The session ended the lengthy inquiry by Mr. Justice A. T. LeBlanc of the New Brunswick Supreme Court. A total of 300 witnesses were heard at New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island points.

Mr. Justice LeBlanc will next investigate charges that Inspector J. J. Lester, in Gloucester County, showed favoritism in his work and failed to enforce fisheries laws. It was believed unlikely this inquiry would be held before next month. At Buctouche yesterday morning and afternoon witnesses heard Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Melanson, A. Bradford Smith and Inspector J. U. LeBlanc, Shediac, Kenny, Major D. H. Sutherland, Halifax, chief supervisor of fisheries in the Maritimes, and Col. A. L. Barry, Newcastle, district supervisor, testified at Moncton last evening.

Kenny admitted that while he had reported destruction of lobster traps in the closed season not one had been destroyed on his orders.

Basques Are Driven Back

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) GUERNICA, Northern Spain, May 16—In urgent forces drove their lines forward a half-mile towards Bilbao today in the Amorobita sector in a slashing reply to a pre-dawn Basque attack. General Francisco Franco's troops camped tonight within seven miles of the Basque capital in the sector. The Basques, reinforced by Asturian shock troops, were driven back across a spur of Mount Calvo westward from the village of Gorocia. Gorocia, east of Bilbao and northeast of Amorobita, lies about midway between Amorobita and Guernica. Squadrons of bombing planes dumped explosives repeatedly on the Basque positions, clearing the way for the infantrymen who stormed their foe's trenches in a fierce attack with machine guns, rifles and hand grenades.

STORM SWEEPS NEW ENGLAND

One Death Reported Along With Property Loss.

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) BOSTON, May 16—Two-day rainstorm had blown out to sea tonight after destroying life and property off shore and sending New England streams toward flood crests.

Clearing skies quieted flood fears in Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire as rain-drenched mountain slopes drained off into rivers.

Albert Graham Ober, Jr., member of a prominent Baltimore family, was pitched into the sea and lost 10 miles off Block Island, R. I., when the yacht Flying Cloud lurched in heavy seas.

The three-masted Canadian schooner Minna King, which went aground near Quoddy Head, Me., Friday night, was towed to State anchorage in the nearby Johnson's Bay Saturday by the Coast Guard patrol boat AD-58 and a commercial vessel.

Off Marblehead, the big racing sloop Ranger was dismasted as it was being towed to Newport, R. I., where it had planned to start working out for America's Cup competition. Many New England streams were still over their banks tonight, but damage by flood waters was believed slight.

Was Native Of This Province

(CP)—L. J. Leonard, 44, for the last eight years on the staff of the Canadian National Express here died in hospital Saturday. He had been stricken with a brain hemorrhage a week previously. Surviving are his wife and one son, Billy, two sisters, Mrs. M. F. MacPhee and Mrs. Frank Macdonald, Charlottetown, and two brothers, Vincent and Ernest, at Cornwall, P. E. I. Burial will be made at Charlottetown.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 16 (CP)—Imperial Airways' giant airship Cavalier would leave Bermuda for New York next Friday morning to inaugurate the 1937 Bermuda-New York service, it was announced here Saturday. At the same time, 10 a. m., a Pan-American Clipper ship would take off from New York, bound here. Both planes would fly at about the same speed in order to land at approximately the same hour, 3.30 p. m.

Caballero Fails In Task Of Forming New Cabinet

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) VALENCIA, Spain, May 16—Francisco Largo Caballero tonight refused to make further efforts to form a new government to replace the cabinet whose resignation he burned in Saturday. His refusal, announced to President Manuel Azana who had commissioned the stern, gray-haired leader to form a "Win the War" Ministry, was based on strong opposition to his proposals on the make-up of the new cabinet. A stalemate was reached largely because of the veteran's insistence on retaining the war ministry portfolio with the premiership. This plan met the determined opposition of the Communists who announced they were intent on re-organization of the war machine for a stronger war policy.

STRAWBERRY GROWERS FORM SYNDICATE

Lay Plans For Shipping Portion Of Crop To Old Country.

At a meeting held on Saturday evening in Mr. Hemming's office, 88 Great George Street, Charlottetown, a number of strawberry growers formed themselves into a syndicate, each member pledging himself to supply from the forthcoming crop a given quantity of strawberries, which after processing will be shipped to Great Britain in sulphur dioxide packed in oak barrels, to be sold to the jam manufacturers of the Mother Country.

QUADS BORN IN MONTREAL

Three Boys And A Girl Given Good Chance Of Survival.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, May 16—Quadruplets were born late today to Mrs. Paul Martel, 30-year-old baker's wife. The three boys and one girl were given a good chance of survival.

The first child was born without medical assistance, arriving two months ahead of time as the surprised father hunted frantically for a doctor.

Neighborhood women then came to Mrs. Martel's help at her home in the city's east end. Someone sent for Dr. J. A. Barrette, and he presided at the birth of the next three.

First born was the girl, and the boys followed swiftly. By the time the last of the quads had made its debut to the world, an ambulance from Ste. Justine Hospital was outside the door with four incubators. The infants were bundled into it and rushed away to hospital.

The French-Canadian mother stayed home, making a good recovery. The Martels have been married five years and, before today, had three children—Rogers, 4; Therese, 2, and one-year-old Raymond. The 30-year-old father was almost speechless when they arrived. His wife had been in indifferent health for about two weeks, but neither had anticipated four children, though they had looked for a multiple birth of somewhat smaller proportions.

Police Seek Knife Killer

BROOKHAVEN, N. Y., May 16—A six-year-old girl was slashed to death today and her four-year-old brother was wounded seriously by a man the boy could identify only as "Joe" and who, he said, "had money too." The feverish ramblings of the boy gave state and Brookhaven police their only clue to the knife killer and sent them back into the woods near here in a race with darkness to find "Mommy." The boy, his throat slashed and a deep wound in the back of his scalp, was conscious enough on his hospital cot to tell police. "My name is Jimmy." But he could not give his last name or tell where he lived. He was found crying in the tangled thickets by police led by eight-year-old Margaret Savage, who a few minutes before had stumbled over the body of the slain girl. Nearby was a butcher knife.

Strike Threatens In Steel Industry

PITTSBURGH, May 15—The threat of a strike that might begin before the week ends, hung tonight over the heads of five of the biggest independent United States operators in the booming steel industry. "Sign or face a strike within 10 days," was the statement worked by the 11-month-old Steel Workers Organizing Committee to Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland and Crucible Steel Corporations. They employ 192,000 of the 370,000 steel workers in the United States. After a day-long conference with leaders of the John L. Lewis steel drive Saturday, during which he checked up on reports of strength and of morale in union ranks, Philip Murray, chairman of the committee, announced he was positive his organization has a majority in every steel mill in the United States. "We shall have some very definite announcements to make within 10 days," he said.

Undisclose Buyer Of Leeds Estate

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., May 16—The William B. Leeds 34-acre estate on Long Island was sold at public auction Saturday for $160,000 to an undisclosed purchaser whose attorney described him as an American sportsman and yachtsman. (The New York World-Telegram had reported Thursday an English syndicate was expected to attempt purchase of the estate for the Duke of Windsor.)

Curb Revolt In Albania

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) TIRANA, May 16—Albanian Government troops tonight encircled the town of Argyrokastr, held since late yesterday by a group of rebels headed by former cabinet minister Ethem Beut, and advanced without resistance. All positions between Tirana and Argyrokastr were reported occupied by the loyal troops. The uprising, in which a police captain was killed, was described as "Communist-inspired." In all other parts of Albania, with thousands of messages pouring in to King Zog, describing the revolt as a "criminal attempt" and affirming loyalty of all sections of the Albanian people. The insurgents were said to have the backing of a police officer and a retired captain. It was the third uprising Albania has known since 1932.

Mrs. Reddin resided here until the death of her husband in 1927. Since then she had been residing in the United States. She visited here last four years ago. Nazis Hail Anglo-Reich Rapprochement Efforts; Italy To Be Self-sufficient Authoritative Observers See Improved Anglo-German-French Relations As Result Of Recent "Negotiations" During Coronation Period.

(BY LOUIS F. LOCHNER Associated Press Foreign Staff) BERLIN, May 16—(AP)—Newspaper bannerlines and other officially-controlled manifestations indicated today that powerful forces are at work to improve German-British relations. To international observers it has been evident for some time that Germany is at least considering the relative advantages of British and Italian friendship. Yet Italo-German friendship, insofar as it goes, seems to remain steadfast. From this situation may be drawn this conclusion: Germany would like to be good friends with both Italy and Great Britain, which are having new friction. If an outright choice between the two becomes inevitable, Germany will be able to weigh all pros and cons and may command an attractive price for her favors.

INVESTIGATE THEFT OF 15 FOX PUPS

Royal Canadian Mounted Police last night were investigating the theft of 15 silver fox pups valued at $550, from the ranch of Mr. A. H. Roper on the Mt. Edward Road, a short distance from the city limits, sometime Saturday night.

The foxes were fed early Saturday evening. Early yesterday Mr. Roper discovered the theft when he went to the ranch to feed them again. The 15 pups were from four to six weeks old.

Police said they were hampered by the lack of clues. Mr. and Mrs. Roper were absent from the ranch from 8 p. m. until 11 p. m. Saturday night while neighbors said they heard no disturbance from two wolf hounds on the premises. The ranch guard fence door, which had been locked, was apparently not opened by the thieves, police said. Marks at one end of the ranch would indicate they had climbed over the guard fence.

Relations Improved? LONDON, May 16—(AP)—Authoritative observers saw strong indications tonight that Great Britain, Germany and France have been holding hands under the cloak of coronation excitement. Premier Mussolini's declaration that Italy will make herself economically self-sufficient was taken here as an indication he had heard about this development. The press has recorded the "personal success" being scored by Marshal Werner Von Blomberg. At the German Ambassador Joachim Von Ribbentrop's coronation party Marshal Von Blomberg met General Marie Gustave Melin, French Army Chief of Staff, and they chatted together for more than an hour. Diplomatic circles considered a luncheon meeting Saturday between Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Delbos highly important. The Evening Star editorially said: "There is a definite prospect at long last of a conference between British, French and German about differences between the three countries."

ROME, May 16—(AP)—Italy will make herself economically self-sufficient even if she has to work "25 hours a day," Premier Benito Mussolini proclaimed Saturday. He called this program a guarantee of peace and a surety of "the life, the future and the power" of the nation. (Continued on page 7)

Pair Drowned At Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, N. B., May 16—Joseph Lesjak, 9, and his brother August, 11, were drowned at Newcastle Creek tonight and a companion, Henry Howatt, 17, was saved by Eileen Giles, 16. The three children rushed out in her boat upon hearing Henry's call for help after the boys' rowboat capsized in an inlet of Grand Lake. She managed to pull Henry and Joseph into her own boat but the latter was dead when brought to shore. Joseph had a death grip on the older boy's legs while Henry clung to the capsized craft as Miss Giles rushed to the rescue. August disappeared in the water and his body was located after an hour's grappling.

Continued Anglo-French Collaboration Indicated

LONDON, May 16—(CP-Havas)—Pursuit of a common foreign policy with France will be one of the aims of the cabinet under Neville Chamberlain, the diplomatic conversations underway here during the past few days seem to indicate. French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos saw Prime Minister Baldwin, with whom he discussed the past. The future, Baldwin told him, rested with Chamberlain. Delbos then saw the Prime Minister-to-be with whom he discussed Anglo-French collaboration in the coming period. Out of the interview between General Werner Von Blomberg, Reich Defence Minister, and Foreign Secretary Eden it became clear that Germany desires to ease the situation created by the Span-

Many Unite In Tribute To Lord Snowden

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, May 16—Friends and enemies that he made during a long political career today paid tribute to Viscount Snowden, weaver's son who conquered a lifetime of ill health to become Labor's first Chancellor of the Exchequer. Aged 72, he died Saturday of a heart attack.

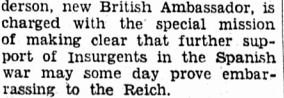

His wife—who once said she felt in love with him "when I saw him smile"—was his only immediate survivor. His title, Viscount Snowden of Ickornshaw now becomes extinct. Lord Snowden struggled in recent years with increasing pain and illness. He was crippled at 27, when knocked from a bicycle. He spent a year in bed and limped thereafter, walking with the aid of two sticks. His rise in public life despite severe physical handicap has been compared with that of President Roosevelt who fought the crippling effects of infantile paralysis. The former Chancellor of the Exchequer, who took Great Britain off the gold standard in the financial crisis of 1931, and introduced the famous "tax and tariff" budget of the same year, died at four a. m. at his country home at Tilford, Surrey. He had been inactive politically for five years although his biting criticism of the National Government was occasionally heard in the House of Lords. He will be cremated after a private service Tuesday at Woking, Surrey. (King George and Queen Mary

Mr. Jordan was operating a fishing boat at Pictou Island at the time of the fire. Mrs. Jordan and a little daughter, who were visiting friends, arrived home to find the entire second floor in flames.
