HEALTH INSURANCE

OTTAWA, June 10 —(CP)—Financing Health Insurance on a contributory basis would give rise to endless problems of adjustment and add to the overhead cost, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture contended in a submission today to the House of Commons social security committee. The Federation advocated a national system with all costs borne by the Federal treasury out of general taxation and no contributions required from the insured people. This is contrary to the provisions of a draft bill and the recommendations of the advisory committee on health insurance, which are under study by the committee. H. H. Hanam of Toronto, president of the Federation, presented the Federation's arguments in the form of a commentary or amplification of a written brief, submitted but not read at an earlier meeting of the committee.

WOMEN'S LAND ARMY

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 10 — Organization of a "women's land army" in New Brunswick is under consideration by the Provincial Government, said Agriculture Minister A. C. Taylor in a letter replying to a resolution of the Saint John City Council that establishment of such an organization be studied as a means of alleviating farm labor shortage.

HANSEN — ALLEN WEDDING

(Saint John Telegraph Journal)

An event of much interest to relatives and friends in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island took place on Tuesday morning, June 1, at St. Peter's Church, when Rev. W. Wyllie, C.SS.R., united in marriage with nuptial mass Sofie M. Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Allen, St. Louis, P.E.I., and W. Ralph Hansen, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hansen, Saint John.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, was attended by her cousin, Hazel Arsenault. The groom was supported by her bother, Leo H. Hansen.

The bride's gown was a slipper-length model in white moire taffeta. It was fashioned on simple lines, having a tight-fitting torso and gathered bouffant skirt. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. Her white tulle veil was finger tip. It was made in Juliet cap style with a heart shaped coronet, caught up on each side with a cluster of orange blossoms and dainty satin knots. Her sandals were of white crushed velvet. She carried a cascade bouquet of American beauty roses.

The bridesmaid's gown was slipper length and of turquois blue maise taffeta. It was made almost similar to that of the brides'. Her hat was a large picture model of baby pink milan with matching turquoise trimmings. Her slippers were baby pink velvet. She carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents on Harrison Street. The rooms were decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, surmounted by a silver arch with tiny doves and miniature bells. On either side of the cake were ivory tapers in silver holders and crystal vases of delicate pink rose buds.

The toast to the bride was proposed by George Hansen and responded to by the groom. After breakfast the couple left on a brief trip to points in upper New Brunswick. On their return they will reside at 45 Sydney Street.

COMONS PROBE EVADED

OTTAWA, June 10 —(CP)— The House of Commons Agriculture committee today rejected, by a vote of 25 to 7, a proposal by J. G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con. Lake Centre) that Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, or some other board official be called to give evidence on board policies in respect to agriculture. The committee approved a motion that it be authorized to review wartime policies made effective under the Agriculture Department, with representatives of various special boards being called as witnesses.

IFS FOR THE NEW RECRUIT

(With apologies to Kipling)

If you can answer No when those around you
Are taking drinks and off'ring them to you
If you can keep your pledge when Pals confound you
And advocate the cause of Temperance too
If you can see the future in the distance
A future bright led by clear thinking men
If you can save your country from disaster
By religiously unholding right and then
If you can follow boldly what your conscience dictates
And fight the Brewer
In that awful zero hour.
If you can strive and toil and pray and conquer
And rescue men from "Moderation's" power
If you, when life's short day is slowly waning
Still faithfully unhold the standard you have won
I say if this you do throughout your journey
Then you a Victor's crown deserve my son.

NEED OF EDUCATION ON THE EFFECTS OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

To the Editor, Barrie Examiner.

Dear Sir:—Since our whole social structure is but a reflection of our individual attitudes on social and moral problems, we might well examine ourselves lest we decline, largely through the demoralizing effects or beverage alcohol and their inherent evils into a nation of moral degenerates. Let us not forget what France is paying for HER folly. On the authority of a former Premier of that country, France fell because of her drinking habits.

True, it is, we can be justly proud of many things we have done as a nation, but if we compare some of them with an item or so on the other side of the ledger, we are liable to get quite a shock.

For instance, while some may think we did fairly well in raising ten or eleven millions for Red Cross purposes, very much worse than wasting poses, we find ourselves wasting — —about three hundred millions on a legalized, socialized, but brutalizing drug, that, from time immemorial, has ruined more homes, killed more men, and starved more children than all the other evil inventions of man combined.

Let us not, however, overlook the fact that the guilt attached to this thng w call "Social Enemy No. 1," does nto rest so much with the drug itself as with the individuals and corporations who, for the easy money that's in it, never cease to push their abominable products onto the public. Would to God there was some way of making these profiteers provide for the defelicts of their business and also meet the tremendous expense that this business costs the government. It is time the public realized that the much advertised revenue is far from clear gain, to say nothing of the ruined lives, physically and spiritually, that money and revenue cannot restore. I am a great believer in education, especially moral and spiritual educaties, not over-looking, of course, but rather stressing what the scientist has to say in this enlightened age regarding the effect of alcohol on our nervous, mental and physical set-up.

Of one thing I am sure: The rising generation must be taught, by all means possible, not to drink, rather than how to drink. Then in support of such teaching, let us give our youth the much needed leadership they surely deserve, by fully resolving, or much better still, solemnly pledging ourselves not to indulge in any kind of alcoholic beverages whatever and at the same time, under no circumstances, offer them to others.

If we will do this for the sake of others, we will surely be making a splendid contribution towards a better Canada.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Speaking as a social worker who has given much study to the problem of the chronic alcoholic, the Rev. Dr. George A. Little, of Toronto, gave a Sarnia congregation a vivid insight into the working of the group known as "Alcoholics Anonymous" which has had extraordinary success in dealing with one of the gravest problems of modern society.

GOSPEL METHOD

Dr. Little prefaced his address by pointing to the Gospel method of evangelism by personal influence. "Jesus findeth Philip. Philip Findeth Nathanael" (John 1: 43-45) was his text.

"Is there anyone in Sarnia you cannot do anything with?" Dr. Little asked. "I mean anyone quite hopeless, quite beyond redemption. The sort of person of whom people usually say, 'He's sold his soul to the Devil.' If there is such a person, if there are such people, I think you ought to keep a list of them. Because if you are Christians, you ought to be doing something about them.

"Mind you," the preacher continued, "I don't say you will have any immediate success. I know one man I've worked fifteen years with. I haven't changed him very much. But now he says he likes to hear me talk, so I haven't given up hope. And, if God desn't give up hope for people, you and I have no business to either.

SABBATH HANGOVERS

"I want to talk to you about one type of person in particular, a type I've had a good deal to do with. Judging by what I saw in the station in Toronto on the train coming here, on the bus coming from the train, and in the hotel after I got here, I have come to the conclusion that there must be about a hundred people in Sarnia who have had to spend the greater part of the Lord's day dealing with a firstclass hangover.

"Now I'm very sorry for those people. They miss so much, for one thing, and they spoil so much for another. I think Jesus would have tried to help them, in a quiet, personal, reasonable, unfanatical sort of way. Some of them probably are true problem alcoholics, and in that case they are definitely sick people —sick in body and sick in mind. I am convinced that one of the needs of the Church today is a more truly Christian attitude towards the chronic alcoholic."

The group known as "Alcoholics Anonymous," since its origin in the United States eight years ago has had a phenomenal success in dealing with problem drinkers, a success which has won the outspoken praise of medical men and jurists.

Except insofar as the "A.A's." as they are known, insist on the reality of a "power outside oneself to help one," the Alcoholics Anonymous group is not a religious organization; it is not even a formal organization at all. There are no fees or dues, no obligations except an honest desire to stop drinking. It is a free association of men and women who in companionship and common effort to beat a common enemy have achieved some astounding results.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Some one has said that "most of us regard 'Citizenship' as a privilege which is ours by virtue of our doing nothing at all but being born." But as we have been born into this world, does not that involve every man and woman in a circle of responsibility as to the kind of citizens they give to the world. "Christian Citizenship" is Citizenship —plus. It should mean loving our neighbor as ourself —doing unto others as we wish to be done by. Citizenship more than going to the polling booths and casting a vote, though many fail to do that much. A Christian Citizen should be interested in anything and everything that affects the lives of people. Let us follow the lead of our great leader and Organizer, "Frances Willard," who led the fight for Home —the uplift of women —and "Good Citizenship."

"Just where you stand in the conflict,
There is your place,
Just where you think you are useless,
Hide not your face.
God placed you there for a purpose
Whatever it may be,
Know that He has chosen you for it
And serve lovally."

—C. M. Taylor, Prov. Sut. of "Christian Citizenship."

Discusses Wartime Controls

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP) — Wartime controls are a protection to the businessman as long as they are necessary, but when shortages no longer exist, these controls become meaningless and cease to exist, Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada and chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, said today in an address to the 72nd annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

"It would be a great mistake if businessmen allowed their thinking on post-war problems to be colored or distorted by fear of controls," he said. Our vision of the future must be one of confidence. The danger of planning on too small a scale is the greater. Neither government nor business can afford to ignore the responsibility of doing its part."

Price control, Foreign Exchange control, control over material allocation and rationing all relate to scarcities of one kind or another, he said. These shortages will not disappear the moment hostilities cease but will continue into the post-war period.

"These shortages will remain in some degree until countries have been able to reorganize their affairs, and abnormal demands such as world relief and rehabilitation are met."

Mr. Towers said the plans for international monetary reform, one written under the sponsorship of Lord Keynes and the other under the sponsorship of the United States treasury, approached the problem in the right direction.

"Government's most important post-war objective is that there shall be employment at reasonable living standards for everyone willing to work. Some of the things we shall want after the war are properly within the field of government rather than private business. It is up to the government to make plans for the provision of these desirable things whether they be social services or public works."

Frederick P. L. Lane of Montreal was elected president, succeeding Louis L. Lang of Galt, Ont., while J. C. Macfarlane of Toronto was elected first vice president and G. Blair Gordon of Montreal, second vice president.

The late Mrs. Inman was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and will always be remembered for her kindly spirit, keen sense of humor and hospitality. British Lend-Lease For U. S. Fighters

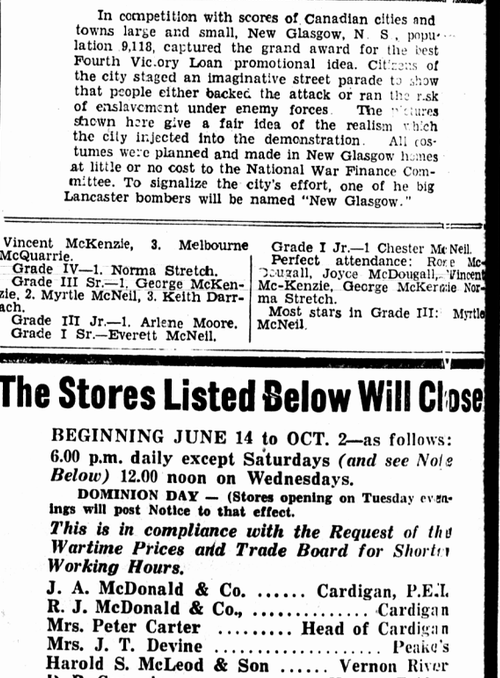
WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—Six hundred and seventy-five aircraft are among materials provided United States armed forces abroad by Britain under reciprocal lend-lease, Administrator Edward R. Stettinius reported today.

The planes, some of them used in French North Africa and West Africa(came to the Americans complete with engine and propeller tools, maintenance equipment and concealment nets, Stettinius said in a port bringing reverse lend-lease figures up to March 31.

Radio-telegraph equipment given to American pilots in North Africa between October and April was transferred at the expense of the reserves of British flying units, Stettinius reported, and radio-location equipment, including radio stations and experienced men to run them, also were turned over to the United States fliers.

Stettinius also listed many other lend-lease contributions of the United Kingdom.

Small City Wins Canadian Conte



In competition with scores of Canadian cities and towns large and small, New Glasgow, N. S., population 9,118, captured the grand award for the best Fourth Victory Loan promotional idea. Citizens of the city staged an imaginative street parade to show that people either backed the attack or ran the risk of enslavement under enemy forces. The pictures shown here give a fair idea of the realism which the city injected into the demonstration. All costumes were planned and made in New Glasgow homes at little or no cost to the National War Finance Committee. To signalize the city's effort, one of he big Lancaster bombers will be named "New Glasgow."

Roosevelt Pays Warm Tribute

WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—President Roosevelt turned over to the Greek government today an anti-submarine patrol ship as an expression of American hopes and prayers that it would hasten the day "when liberated Greeks will again maintain their own government within the shadow of the Acropolis and Parthenon."

In a ceremony at the Washington Navy Yard the Greek ambassador accepted the gray PC-622 for his government. The ship was delivered under lend-lease arrangements and christened King George II, in honor of the Grecian monarch.

In a brief broadcast address the president told how the Greeks had been given three hours on Oct. 28 1940 to decide whether to accept Axis slavery or resist. Their choice he said, would have been the same if they had had three years.

"Today," Mr. Roosevelt said, "Greece is a land of desolation, stripped bare of all the essentials of living. Thousands have died of hunger, thousands are dying, today. Greece is a gaunt and haggard sample of what the Axis is so eager to hand to all the world.

"But within their own land, and upon other shores, the Greeks are fighting on. They will never be defeated."

Sydney Steel Plant Facilities Are Improved

MONTREAL, June 10 —(CP) — Plant facilities of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation had been greatly improved since 1939, Arthur Cross, president, told shareholders at their annual meeting today. He said the capacity of the Sydney plant was up 50 per cent. Profits in 1942 were nevertheless lower than in 1939, reflecting increased costs and limited selling prices.

Answering a shareholder, who wanted to know whether the company intended to continue a policy of expansion by further acquisitions during the next few years, Mr. Cross declared that the fundamental objective of the company has been to improve and consolidate its financial and physical position.

With this end in view, the president said, the net working capital had been increased from $2,400,000 in 1936 to its present position of nearly $16,000,000. Purchase of Canadian tube and steel was made to consolidate the finishing end of the company's business closer to its market.

Mr. Cross reported that, despite the improvement in working capital, the company was showing a period of increasing costs and the net working capital needed further building up to meet the requirements of expansion necessitated by war demands.

Touching on the dividend question, Mr. Cross explained that, until the directors felt that dividends could be maintained with reasonable continuity, he did not consider their inauguration justified.

Reports were adopted and directors re-elected.
