SUBJECTS	RESULT OF EXAMINATION
Ammunition	93 special mention
Carriage	91 " "
Guns	93 " "
Store Accounting	88 " very good
Electricity	92 special mention

The General Officer Commanding, desires to record his satisfaction at the very high marks obtained by Sergt Weatherbie in this difficult examination. By order, M. AYLMER, Colonel, Adjutant General.

Sergt. Weatherbie is a son of Mr. John Weatherbie of Georgetown, and obtained his first military training in No. 3 Co. 4th C. A., whose headquarters were at Georgetown. He joined the Royal Canadian Artillery at Quebec a few years ago, and rose rapidly from the ranks. THE GUARDIAN congratulates on his brilliant examinations in which he has done credit to his native province and also on the signal mark of favour conferred on him by receiving official commendation from the general officer commanding.

In Distress With Eczema

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Delhi, Norfolk County Ont., writes as follows:—"I was troubled with Eczema or Salt Rheum for over twelve years, and during that time doctored with four different physicians, but found that they could only give temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether I have used three boxes and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and can say it is the best I ever used, and in my estimation worth its weight in gold."

The keen misery which many endure from the tortures of skin disease is most appalling, and so much the worse because it is unnecessary. Dr. Chase's Ointment stands alone as the one unfailing remedy for salt rheum, eczema, scald head and every form of itching skin disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Prayers for the Dead.

SIR,—In my letter in reply to Plain Worshipper I attempt to make a certain classification of Christian churches. In your editorial reply, you deny that the churches classed as Catholic belong together your reason for it being that there are wide differences between them. I think you are not reasoning correctly as the same line of reasoning would lead you to discard the word "metal" as a class name because iron and gold are inseparably divided. I mentioned several things that the class of churches that I termed Catholic, held in common as differentiating them from Protestant churches. I beg to add another point that is common as between them and is not to be found in Protestant Churches that is, that the Catholic Churches all teach their followers to pray for the dead; and it is because this is a point on which all Catholic Churches agree, the High Church School consider it one reason why the Anglican communion should follow a custom sanctioned by their Church.

As to the actual division between these several churches I take it that I am correct in saying that the only real case where there is not inter-communication is between the Roman church and the others. The Anglicans do not forbid Romanists to communicate with them at the Lord's table, but the Romanists advancing certain claims do not permit members of any other church to partake of their communion. On the other hand I would point out to you some facts that show that there are not "wide and impassable gulfs" between the Anglican and Greek churches. The Armenian peblars who come here belong to the Armenian church, a Catholic Church of unquestioned antiquity. They take the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in the Anglican church, usually here, in St. Peter's Cathedral, and their clergy do the same and are also allowed to officiate in Anglican churches. On the other hand Protestant ministers are not allowed to officiate in Anglican churches, hence the strange spectacle presented at the Week of Prayer last January when the clergymen of the Protestant churches in this city having united with the Rector of St. Pauls in services in the different church buildings of the different denominations, found that although the Rector went to and conducted services in the other churches he could not invite the ministers to do the same in his church. Or again consider the recent consecration of a Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church at Fond du Lac, re-essential unity of the Anglican, the Russian and the Old Catholic churches. On that occasion was demonstrated by the presence of Bishops of the Russian, Greek and Old Catholic churches, all of whom took part in the service.

I have endeavoured to show as a matter of fact the Anglicans belong to that class of churches that are called Catholic, not to the class commonly called Protestant and that one doctrine that all the Catholics hold is that of prayers for the dead. This doctrine has been held by these churches from the earliest antiquity and is thus sanctioned by Christian History and not only is it so sanctioned but all these churches have and do claim that the practice of this doctrine is recorded in the New Testament and the onus of proving that it is not certainly falls on those who state that this historic doctrine is unchristian.

WHY CROUP IS FATAL.

When croup attacks your child you must be ready for it. It comes as an accompaniment to an ordinary cough, or it may attack without warning. All fits of children develop quickly, and when any kind of cough appears there should be something at hand to stop it with promptness. Many a child has choked to death with croup because the right remedy was not convenient. Every one should know that the right safeguard for a child's cough or any cough is Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. With this soothing compound in the house, croup is always easily checked and relieved.

To give a child a "cough mixture" containing a narcotic is a very serious matter, yet most preparations contain something of this kind. Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the purest extracts of barks and roots and gums of trees, and is healthgiving in every component part of it. Wherever it touches an inflamed surface, it heals and soothes it. Nothing so compounded for cough is so harmless, and nothing so efficacious. Adamson's Balsam is an old remedy and it has never lost a friend through failure to help. Keep it in the house, try it on your own cough and do your child a good turn by being ready for any emergency. Price 25 cents at any druggist's.

Packing and Carrying Fruit.

Last week Prof. Robertson gave evidence before the Agricultural Committee of the House of Commons as to the injury done to the Canadian apple trade by dishonest and improper packing. He spoke of the need for properly ventilated stowage on steamers, and read a number of reports from Mr. Grindly the department's agent in Liverpool showing that where apples were carried in heated holds they arrived in the best condition. The shipments to Glasgow arrived in the best condition. This year the steamship companies were showing a desire to co-operate with the Government in securing proper carriage of apples. Mr. Fisher stated that he has a bill on the order paper respecting the marking and inspection of packages containing fruit for sale which will obviate the grievances complained of in this connection and dishonest packing.

This question of having our apples honestly packed and all our fruit landed in Great Britain in good condition is most important. Legislation in regard to dishonest packing cannot come too soon while every means in the Government's power should be utilized to induce and if need be compel steamship companies to provide properly ventilated and isolated chambers for the carriage of fruit. But we are making progress along these lines and a few years will doubtless witness a large improvement in the direction of better shipping and carrying facilities for all our perishable food products. In this connection the following comments on our fruit trade with Great Britain taken from a recent issue of British Refrigeration and Allied Interests will be found interesting.

"The recent shipment of Canadian fruit to this country, to which reference has already been made on several occasions in the columns of the journal, and as regards the quality, of which we give in another part of this issue an interesting report by a well-known expert, has sufficiently amply demonstrated the fact that the initial difficulties to the enterprise have been satisfactorily overcome, and that the time has now arrived when Canadian fruit, not only of the hardier class, but also that of the most delicate description, will be able to compete on exceedingly favorable terms in the markets of this country. Some years back when shipments of Canadian fruit were first made, the result was disastrous, and the project was thus nearly killed in its earliest infancy. Nor, indeed, was this failure much to be wondered at when it is to be considered that fruit, beef, butter, etc., were all stored on board the steamer in the same cold chamber, although the temperature suitable for their preservation differ very considerably. For instance for fruit we do not want anything lower than 30 degrees Fahr, nor appreciably higher than 40 degrees Fahr, whilst for butter the temperature might with advantage be as low as 22 degrees Fahr, and for beef one of 28 degrees Fahr, would be the best. Under such circumstances it is not very surprising that as the temperature of the cold store was kept suitable for the latter goods, the fruit suffered very much damage, and when exposed to the warm air on its arrival in this country, the tissues burst, and it perished within twenty four hours."

STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE.

Are factors of the greatest success. No person can do full justice to himself without them. In no season of the year are they more easily exhausted than in the spring. We need not discuss the reason for this here. It's enough to say there is one, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength and endurance as thousands annually testify.
