Stan Musial Named Tot Player In National League

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Stan Musial, right fielder whose stick-work brought him the National League batting championship and was a major factor in the success of the St. Louis team to their second straight pennant has been named the league's most valuable player for 1941.

The selection was made by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association. The young star polled 367 points of a possible 386, receiving 13 of 24 first-place votes.

His closest rival was a team-mate, catcher Walker Cooper, who drew five first-place votes and a point total of 192, the points being awarded on the basis of first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and so on.

Only two other players were honored with votes for first place. Burly Bill Nicholson, Chicago Cub outfielder drew five such ballots and wound up in third place with a point total of 181. The other first-place vote went to Clyde Sison, veteran relief hurler—and toward the end of the season a starter—for the Cincinnati Reds.

Each of the 24 voters listed 10 players in order of preference, and Musial was the only man to be included on the list of every voter. In addition to his 13 votes for first place he received six for second, one for third, two for fourth, one for sixth and one for seventh.

Musial, 22 and playing his second full season with the Cardinals, batted .357 to lead his nearest rival Billy Herman, by 26 points. He came up near the close of the 1941 season and batted a sensational .425 in 12 games. In 1942 he hit .315 in 140 games.

Canadiens Chalk Up First Win Of Season

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens chalked up their first win of the National Hockey League season tonight, edging out New York Rangers 2-1 before 8,000 fans.

The win moved Canadiens up into second place, behind Toronto Maple Leafs while their third straight loss kept the Rangers in the cellar. Canadiens had to fight all the way for the win, chiefly because little Ken McAuley took delight in robbing them time after time in the first two periods when the Canucks had a wide margin in the play. Rangers made their best effort in a penalty-studded third period.

Murphy Chamberlain and Phil Watson were the Canadiens' scorers, while Jack McDonald rapped home the lone Ranger tally. Chamberlain opened the scoring when he took Ray Gettiffe's pass from a scramble early in the opening frame. Rangers tied it up at the 14-minute mark after a bit-up in front of the Canadian net.

Former Ranger Phil Watson

made his first goal in a Canadian uniform in the winner early in the second period, with Butch Bouchard and Chamberlain drawing assists.

Nurses Here From Mascot Of 1st Nfld. Hospital Back In Canada

By The Canadian Press
You'd think mountains of ice cream would be the very first thing a healthy, 12 year old Canadian boy would want when he got back to Canada after 3 1/2 years in Britain, where the frozen dessert is just a memory. But that's stood only third on the list of things wanted by Bruce Steel of Winnipeg, the mascot and pride of the Canadian 1st Division, when he came home to Canada recently.

First of all Bruce wants a dog—any dog—just so it's all his own. Next he wants a pair of skates. For ice skating is probably what Bruce missed most of all—only natural in a boy brought up on the prairies where the legend is children are born with skates on their feet.

Bruce and his mother and 11 months old baby brother Lance reached Canada with a group of Canadian servicemen, English war brides and other travellers from Britain. His father, battery sergeant Major A. E. Steel of the 3rd Field Regiment, came back about three weeks ahead of his family.

The Steels went overseas in March, 1940, and Bruce almost immediately became the pet of the 1st Division men, following his father from camp to camp. During their stay in the British Isles, Bruce and his mother went through the blitzes in London, Portsmouth and other cities, but never cried until the head of the family he'd come home because he was not in the fit for overseas service.

Prices when he arrived here were so high that he was almost completely even to the red patch

Canucks In Italy To Get More News From Home Towns

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—(CP)—Canadians in Italy will get more home news from the 8th army paper published in the field, through redistribution to Canadian servicemen supplied by The Canadian Press to 500 daily.

Since the beginning of September CP has provided a weekly bulletin of home news for the "Eighth Army News," a four-page sheet with four or five columns to a page. Its size (about 12 by 15 inches usually) varies with the press's staff available to scrounge as the army moves. In addition to army drawings, cartoons, and news material from army or radio sources, the paper frequently publishes stories by CP staff writers. For front-page toning play in one issue is a story by Maurice Desjardins, CP staff writer and overseas correspondent for Canada's French language newspapers, on Lt.-Gen. Bernard Montgomery's visit with the Canadians in Italy.

Another issue carried the streamer "on all fronts the news is good" and stories of Allied successes in Italy, Russia, and the South Pacific. A column "Canada Calling" contained Canadian news items.

The "Eighth Army News" has been read by Canadians in the absence of The Canadian Press News published weekly in London. The latter has been shipped regularly to Italy but is not reaching the troops effectively. It is understood the Canadian army is investigating means of expediting even small shipments of the CP News in view of its full Canadian content and because Canadian news is considered of great importance to morale of the troops.

Says Independent Retailer Now In Better Position

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 2.—(CP)—George S. Hougham of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Merchants' Association of Canada, said today that the position of independent retailing is "better today than at any time in the last decade."

Mr. Hougham warned that retailers in postwar years will have to do a job to stay in business in the face of competition from department and chain stores and from co-operatives. He predicted a "very rapid development of the co-operative movement" in parts of Canada after the war.
