FIRST AID must be quick

QUICK treatment for minor cuts and burns and bumps is the secret of avoiding dangerous consequences. That's why it pays to keep "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly handy all the time. Its application keeps the sore spot clean, promotes the growth of healthy new tissues. Tends to prevent scars, too.

Keep your medicine chest well stocked with "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. You can buy it anywhere in jars and tubes. Don't wait for trouble. Be prepared. That's what first aid means. And remember, when you buy, that the trade-mark Vaseline on the label is your assurance that you are getting the genuine product of the Chesebrough Manufacturing Co., Cons'd, 5520 Chabot Ave., Montreal, Canada.

SMILES

"A fat girl may not have a big bank account, but she always has something to fall back on."

Postmaster: Wall, squire, I heard ye went down tew Washington tws git my job. Air yew th' appointee? Squire: No, by gum, I ain't. Postmaster: Haw, haw; sort uv "disappointee," eh, squire.

Mrs.: That remark you blurted out at the party last night was in dreadfully poor taste. How did you come to make it? Mr.: Well, you see, there was a gap in the conversation and I clumsily put my foot in it.

Little Elsie: After I wash my face I look in the mirror to see if it's clean. Don't you? Little Bobby: Don't have to. I look at the towel.

The DOOM TRAIL by ARTHUR D. HOWDEN SMITH

AUTHOR OF PORTO BELLO GOLD ETC. COPYRIGHT BY BRENTANO'S

"Here is the account for this post for the year just ended. We handled a total of 204 'green' deer skins and 23 packets of various kinds of furs. On these we cleared a profit of 2,382 livres, 3 sols, 9 deniers about $476 which would not come anywhere near covering the operating expenses of the post. You will find the same story at every post from here to the Mississippi."

"Why, monsieur?" "These sacre English! First they turn the Iroquois against us; then they build the post of Fort Oswego, at the foot of the Onondaga's river on Irondequoit bay (now Oswego, N. Y.); then they send out a swarm of young men to trap and shoot in the Indian country; then they pass this accursed law that forbids us obtaining Indian goods from the New York merchants! Peste, what a people! They have us in a noose." I shook my head dolefully.

"Ah, monsieur, you make me very sorrowful," I said. "I came out to Canada thinking to make my fortune but if what you say be true, I am more likely to be killed by the English."

"No, no, it's not so bad as that," he answered quickly. The governor-general has waked up. It seems that in France they are not quite ready for another war, but we are charged to make preparations as rapidly as possible. There is an emissary coming soon from Paris, who will have instructions for the frontier posts and the friendly Indians. It may be we can persuade the English to be stupid enough to revoke this law of theirs. In any case, my Jean, you will have heard of the Doom Trail?"

I crossed myself devoutly. "I have heard nothing good of it, monsieur," I said fearfully. "Humph! I don't doubt it. And mind you, Jean, for myself, I do not like that kind of business. But after all, 'tis trade over the Doom Trail which keeps you and me in our jobs. Without it—well, this post would shut down. And they do say at Quebec that if we can start a revolution in England for this Pretender of their and war at the same time, we shall be able to take the whole continent from them."

There was a commotion at the door. "Bind the Indian," shouted a voice in French. "Hah, I thought so! We meet again, Ormerod!" De Veulle stood on the threshold, his rifle leveled at my breast. "Bring the Indian inside here," he called behind him. A group of Cahnugas, frightfully painted, with their grotesque bristling feather headdresses, hustled Ta-wan-ne-ars into the room. But now Joncaire asserted himself. "What do you mean by this, Monsieur de Veulle?" he demanded. "This man is a forest-runner, Jean Courbevois, a messenger from De Tonty. The Indian is a Messessague."

"I shall be done," he said. "Now, then"—De Veulle addressed me—"we will consider your case. Are the bands sufficiently tight?" I had been bound with strips of rawhide which cut into every muscle. The question was superfluous. "Pick them up," he said to the Cahnugas. "We will get back to the canoes."

Despite the tightness of my bonds and the numbness they induced, I fell asleep, rocked by the easy motion of the canoe as it was driven along by the powerful arms of the Cahnugas. (To be Continued)

ST. PATRICK'S ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. PETER'S BAY

A large and appreciative audience filled Holy Name Hall, St. Peter's Bay on Tuesday evening, March 17, and greeted the performance of the three act play, "Betty, The Girl of My Heart" by the St. Peter's Dramatic Club.

The hall was recently re-decorated with very pleasing effect. The stage scenery was also remodelled and may now be fitted up to suit different scenes in any play. With electric lights, piano and new Victrola (used for the first time at this place).

DOROTHY DIX

"This Message I've had in my Heart for years," says DOROTHY DIX

GIRLS, for years I've had it in my heart to say what follows. (It is important.)

Do keep everything about you as dainty and pretty and colourful as possible. Everything, including and especially the things that don't show—your underthings.

Why do I say this? Well, we women are made so that pretty clothes give us CONFIDENCE in ourselves. This applies to underthings, too, as every girl knows. When you put on a new bit of dainty, colourful lingerie, you feel very exquisite. And when you yourself feel charming, others find you so. There's something contagious about it.

"But, Miss Dix," girls often say to me, "we can't always be buying pretty new lingerie—we'd like to, but we aren't millionaires."

Now, girls, I'm NOT advising extravagance! What I do want you to do is summed up in two simple rules:

- 1. Buy the prettiest lingerie you can, and 2. Keep it colour-fresh, new looking, as long as you wear it

Daintiness demands frequent washing, of course, but this NEEDN'T FADE your things or wear them out. Ordinary "good" soaps often do take away some of the colour, especially delicate pinks and other pastel if it's safe in water... it's safe in LUX!

In Your Home, Too MOREOVER, not only can dainty, colourful lingerie give you confidence of charm—but your very SURROUNDINGS can help! Pretty curtains, slip covers, cushions, colourful table linens, all form part of the magic spell, when they are kept ever lovely with Lux. DOROTHY DIX Lingerie washed 12 times with ordinary "good" soap—silk threads pulled, lace damaged, colour off. Lingerie washed 12 times in Lux—silk and lace fibres intact, colour intact, charming as when new!

"Colourful, lace-trimmed lingerie makes you feel exquisite" Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto. 6652
