LOCUSTS STOP A PLANE

LONDON, Oct. 11—(British United Press)—Locusts have reversed the order of things in the campaign that is being waged against them by aeroplanes in India, Egypt, Palestine and other countries in the near and middle east.

A pilot-instructor named Jones, of the Karachi Aero Club, was flying the club's Moth machine when the engine suddenly failed, and he had to make a forced landing.

He had flown through a swarm of locusts, and it was found that one of the insects had been drawn into the air intake pipe, causing a stoppage of the air supply to the engine.

A similar incident was reported from Kewcit, in the Nej, about 18 months ago. Several R. A. F., machines which went up to scatter a swarm of locusts were forced to descend because the insects filled the radiators and the engines were in danger of overheating.
