Canada Gains In Immigration Wealth

OTTAWA, June 17—The wealth trend of emigration and immigration so far as Canada and the United States are concerned is now adays very much in favor of Canada, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics today. This is a complete reversal from the situation of a short time ago.

In the fiscal year, 1923-4, the value of settlers' effects from Canada to the United States was $9,846,000, and from the United States to Canada $4,788,000. During the fiscall year 1931-2 the value of settlers' effects going to the United States from this country was $3,296,000 and $7,595,000 from the United States to Canada.

Gains $4,299,000

The loss of wealth in settlers' effects in 1923-4 was $5,058,000 the gain in wealth in 1931-2 was $4,299,000.

Canada in the month of April imported more than three times the merchandise from foreign countries than she purchased from British Empire countries, accord-

Premier Harrington Home From England

HALIFAX, June 17—(By the Canadian Press)—"I was impressed by the splendid spirit of the British people," said Hon. G. S. Harrington, Premier of Nova Scotia, who returned to Halifax last night after a vacation in England.

"I believe they are the first to realize the actual condition of their country and to take effective steps to meet it. They have imposed severe burdens upon themselves and they are carrying them with a courage and determination which is showing results in progress."

During his stay in London, Premier Harrington made inquiries with regard to the prospect of provincial financing in that market.

"While there are some substantial underlying difficulties due to the exchange situation," he said, "yet prospects for future borrowing are improving daily."

In all sections of the Old Land keen interest was shown in the forthcoming Imperial Conference at Ottawa. He found strong hopes and expectations that the results would be beneficial to the Empire as a whole.

"I believe my health has been improved by the trip and I am glad to be home again," he continued. "We in Nova Scotia have our problems to face but they are minor in comparison with those which face the people of the Mother Country, and if our people will face them with anything like the spirit and determination which is being shown across the sea it will aid us materially in finding their solution."

"My own immediate plans are obscure," he said. "It is possible that I may have to visit Ottawa in the near future."

He did not state the object of the proposed visit to the capital and refused to discuss provincial affairs until he had consulted his ministers.

Mrs. Harrington, who accompanied him on the trip, remained in England to visit friends. She expects to return late in July.

Effort To Free Communists Continue

HALIFAX, June 17—(By the Canadian Press)—The Canadian Labor Defence League has not given up the battle on behalf of ten alleged Communists held in Halifax under deportation orders, according to L. A. Ryan, local lawyer, who tonight intimated that decision of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, refusing applications for writs of habeas corpus would be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Ryan stated he had instructions from A. E. Smith, National Secretary of the League, to proceed with the appeal if it was considered advisable.

Accordingly, Mr. Ryan tonight telegraphed to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Federal Minister of Immigration, advising him of the contemplated action.

The minister has before him ten appeals from the deportation orders of the immigration tribunal at which the men were tried, and his decision may be delayed pending the outcome of the federal court hearing.

PILGRIMS AT DISRAELI'S HOME

In observance of the fifty first anniversary of the death of Benjamin Disraeli (Lord Beaconsfield) nearly 100 members of the Primrose League of England visited Hughenden, his home and burial place. Wreaths were placed on Disraeli's tomb in the churchyard. The pilgrims lunched at the hotel at High Wycombe, from the porch of which Disraeli made his first political speech in 1832 during his first and unsuccessful campaign for Parliament. Later they were received by Major Coningsby, a nephew of Lord Beaconsfield.

KEEPS UNOFFICIAL ARCHIVES OF MONTREAL

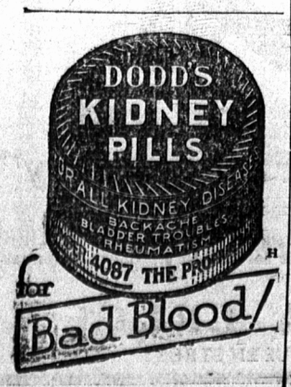
MONTREAL, June 16—(By The Canadian Press)—Clipping stories of interest from newspapers has been a habit of Jules Bourbonniere, retired accountant of this city, since he was a boy. Now his library contains a unique collection of scrapbooks numbering over 900 volumes, which he is anxious to place in some institution where it will be available to the public.

Keeping the unofficial archives of Montreal and, in a more general way, of Canada and the whole world has been a labor of love with M. Bourbonniere. He always made a practice of reading the local daily newspapers, both French and English, as soon as they came out and it was at the age of 13 when attending Plateau Academy that the idea came to him of preserving interesting happenings the world over. "Since then," he is proud to say, "all through a busy life I have never neglected my scrapbooks, and paste-pot and scissors have been my constant companions."

"When I am big, mamma, I'm going to marry a doctor or a minister."

"Why, my dear?"

"Cause if I marry a doctor I can get well for nothing, and if I marry a minister I can be good for nothing."



Pathetic Sight On Main Street

The following clipping from the "News Item", Wakefield, Mass has reference to Mr. Robert Bridges, a Charlottetown boy whose father conducted a large meat business on Hillsborough Street, and a pork shipping and packing establishment in the basement of the building now occupied by the Guardian. "Bob", as he is familiarly known, conducts a large poultry farm in Wakefield, and has closed his retail egg store, finding the home demand ample to absorb all the products of his hennery.

Bridges Has No Place to Go
(Apologies to Author of "O'Brien Has No Place to Go")

Don't go up to the old store, Bob
Farnham's up there with his talker
Don't go down by the Dry Goods Stores
Nor over to see Mrs. Walker
Don't hang 'round by the bank or Mac's
The sound truck will be along soon
Since broadcasts began for the Wakefield Day show
Poor Bridges has no place to go.

One of the most pathetic figures in Wakefield Square this morning after Wakefield Day got under way was "Bob" Bridges, the big hen and egg man from Wakefield Park.

Until today, Bob has been having big egg sales every week end at 418 Main St. This orning he came down and found his vocal abilities quite outdistanced by the gigantic amplifier mounted on the roof.

He strolled down Main St. to a point near Paine's and was just about to re-tell the story of how Item advertising forced his hens to do their darndest, when there was a crash and Paine's broadcaster burst forth in song and story.

Dejectedly, Bob crossed the square, and was about to hold forth again, when a radio mounted outside Sorenson's jewelry shop greeted his ears.

Last week, Bob was enthusiastic about advertising. It had built his retail egg sales up from nothing to 300 dozen a week and the Hen's Labor Union was protesting that his flock was working overtime. This morning, he was not so sure. Advertising had brought personal competition, and, like O'Brien in the song of 25 years ago, he had "no place to go."

DEPPRESSION HITS FRENCH

NEW YORK, June 17—(By The Canadian Press)— Hard times have penetrated even to St. Pierre and Miquelon according to Henri Camille Sautot, acting governor of the islands.

Interviewed during a brief visit here M. Sautot declared the inhabitants of these little isles, just south of Newfoundland, are so poor they have to drink tea instead of wine, their customary beverage.

Commenting on reports of widespread liquor running from the islands the acting governor said the government of France has no knowledge of any such traffic. "It is perfectly true much liquor has been bought," he proceeded. "A sea captain may purchase 10 bottles of brandy or he may want 10,000 bottles. If the private dealers wish to sell them, very well. The government is not in the wine or liquor business, you must know."

Few of the 4,500 inhabitants of the islands can afford even the cheapest of red wine, M. Sautot said. They have given up drinking entirely since the depression first hit the islands when Portugal, Spain, Brazil and Porto Rico stopped buying codfish.

"There has been a crisis," he proceeded. "In order that the fishermen be enabled to buy their gasoline, salt and implements I have founded a mutual benefit bank to which each fisherman contributes and to which the French government gives 100,000 francs annually."

NO SCARCITY OF BABY CLOTHES

WINNIPEG, June 17—(By The Canadian Press)— Let no one in Winnipeg ever again fear a babe will die of exposure here, for lack of clothing at least. In response to an appeal for infants' layettes, made early in the year by certain social agencies, a veritable deluge of baby garments has poured into official welfare groups. Touched to the heart by the statement that "the spring crop of babies among the needy would go wrapped in newspapers,"women's organizations have been busy stitching garments since the first of the year until there are no longer new babies enough to use them all. The child welfare department of the provincial government has enough layettes on hand to take care of the normal demand until next fall.

Convocation Of Royal Arch Masons In Charlottetown

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Nova Scotia, with jurisdiction over Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, will hold their annual convocation in Charlottetown on Tuesday next.

About one hundred delegates are expected to attend this assembly.

There are three lodges of Royal Arch Masons in this province, located at Charlottetown, Montague and Kensington.

This grand body meets here on invitation from the Island chapters, and such meetings outside the province of Nova Scotia are rare.

On the following day, Wednesday, the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Prince Edward Island will hold their annual communication in the Masonic Temple, when the sixteen lodges on the Island will be represented by their Masters and Wardens. Hon. Senator John E. Sinclair, Grand Master will preside over the Grand Lodge sessions.

In the evening a historical play in two acts, written by Reginald B. Harris, K. C., Grand Historian for the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia, entitled "Brothers in Arms," will be presented in St. Peter's schoolroom by the members of St. Andrew's Lodge, Montague before the Grand Lodge of Prince Edward Island.

This play depicts the formation of the first lodge of Masons in Prince Edward Island in 1871. The names of the characters represented are Col. Timothy Hierlihy from Quebec; Col. William Spry, chief engineer of defensive works at Charlottetown in 1776; Dr. John Clark, of the lodge in New York; Capt. Joseph Osborne, made a Mason in New York; Capt. Timothy W. Hierlihy, made a Mason in Halifax; Lieut. Etter, made a Mason in New York; Sergeant John Kell, a sergeant in Independent Companies; Edward Cain, private in Independent Companies; the captain of the "Privateer" captured in Charlottetown Harbour, later joined Independent Companies in Charlottetown; Lieut. Caleb Wheaton, of Independent Companies.

Four Independent Companies of infantry were sent from New York to Charlottetown in 1778 under the command of Colonel Hierlihy. The blockhouse, several batteries and other defensive works were erected under the supervision of Capt. William Spry, chief engineer. Barracks to accommodate three hundred men, also a hospital, stores for provisions and ordinance were erected in the west end of the town.

The archives of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia contain a number of interesting documents—minutes certificates, inventories of property, etc., of this new lodge which was opened on St. George's Day, April 23, 1781, and named St. George's Lodge.

The dates, places, personages taking part, costumes, ceremonies and music are all historically correct and should be of deep interest to the members of the Grand Lodge.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. EMMA CHAMPION

Suddenly on May 7, at Torresdale, Philadelphia, there passed to her eternal rest, Emma, beloved wife of Rev. Dr. J. B. Champion. There are left to cherish the memory of a loving wife and mother, her husband, four daughters, and three sons. The daughters are, Mrs. (Dr.) Winifred Buerman, of McMinneville, Oregon; Mrs. A. Hutton and Mrs. Stanton Nichols, of White Plains, New York, and Mrs. V. Ross, of Philadelphia. The sons are: Dr. W. D. Champion of Philadelphia; Dr. Ralph Champion, of New York, and Mr. Jack Champion, at home. The deceased was the second daughter of the late W. A. Dunbar, of Alma, P. E. I., and Mrs. Dunbar, who still resides there.

There are also left to mourn, the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Amos Gorrill, of Glenwood, P. E. I.; Mrs. A. Haywood of Alma, P. E. I., and Mrs. John Work of Hamilton, Ont.; Messrs. H. B. Dunbar, J. A. Dunbar, and J. W. Dunbar, of Alma, P. E. I., and Dr. D. W. Dunbar of Vancouver, B. C. Her funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Blois, assisted by Professors of New Eastern Seminary, where Rev. Dr. Champion is Professor of Theology. The remains were laid to rest in Fox Chase Cemetery, Philadelphia. To the bereaved relatives sincere sympathy is extended.

THAT THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW

(A column of interest to all recording accepted facts and worthy opinions regarding the place of alcoholic beverages in modern life; as well as news of the progress of the campaign for a "dry" world.)

(Sponsored by the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance P. E. I.

SOME INEVITABLE CONCLUSIONS

"By no stretch of i... nation can the liquor control systems of Canada be called a compromise between "wet" and "dry". They embody a wet policy. They seek to provide appropriate and adequate machinery for liquor manufacturers, and purchasing facilities for liquor drinkers."

The basic idea underlying "Government Control" is to perpetuate the traffic in alcoholic beverages and provide facilities by which people may obtain liquor.

The basic idea underlying Prohibition is to exterminate the traffic in liquor and to abolish the facilities by which people may obtain this racial poison.

If you had to choose between one side or the other in a battle for the freedom of the people, which side would you take?

From the standpoint of men who seek to derive profit from the sale of alcoholic beverages, and from the standpoint of men who drink and want facilities provided by which they can obtain liquor to drink, as well as from the standpoint of the politician who seeks a system that will provide jobs for party heelers and business associates, and revenue at any price the system of "Government Control" is a magnificent, stupendous success.

But from the standpoint of serious minded citizens who seek a real solution to the grave problem which the liquor traffic sets up from the standpoint of the patriot who seeks to purify the life of the country and strike the shackles that hinder development; from the standpoint of the reformer who seeks to lift humanity to higher levels; the system of "Government Control" is a grim, ghastly, unspeakable failure.

How do you look upon it?

LIVED MORE THAN 5,000 YEARS AGO

CAIRO, Egypt, June 17—The bodies of two royal ladies 5,200 years old, have been unearthed in the depths of the Giza Plateau, near the Pyramids.

On opening one of the coffins the excavateors, who are members of the Egyptian University's archaeological expedition, found that it contained the body of a woman of about 25, richly adorned with jewels. She was lying on her back with her face turned toward the east. Above the head was a golden fillet, 60 centimetres long. Around the neck was a gold necklace composed of fifty pieces.

The left wrist of the second body which is believed to be that of one of the royal ladies of the fourth dynasty, bore a bracelet of fine gold threads on which a medium sized Cornelian was set.

This woman wore a perfectly-cut tunic embroidered with faience beads, which were not unlike the styles worn today by European and Canadian women.

Archaeologists who examined the finds declare it is extremely rare to find an intact old empire tomb for almost all have been pillaged during the five millenniums since the Pharoahs and their royal consorts ruled the Nile.
