Cosmopolitan Artist's Portraits And American Water Colors Make Nice Canadian Water Colors And Small Pictures By O. S. A. Members Look More Gentle Than Ever.

(By Jehanne Bietry Salinger, Art Critic of The Canadian Press)
TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 25—With contemporary writers entirely given to biographies, and everyone thirsty for the literary portraits of all-important men and women of yesterday and to-day, the November exhibition of Cosmopolitan Artists' Portraits at the Toronto Art Gallery is a most fitting feature. Yet to those visitors to whom the idea of portraiture is linked with that of likeness to the sitter, this group of self-portraits by famous contemporary artists is shocking beyond redemption. In fact, the "serious-minded art lover" who is coming to this show with his own art opinion well "rehearsed," is going to find it well nigh impossible to reconcile all that he has heard on the standards of portraiture with the contents of this exhibition.

The worst of it is that when leaving the portrait-room to seek a refuge in the gallery where hang the American water colors, this unfortunate visitor will feel that he has fallen from Charybdis to Scylla. There the comparison with last month's exhibition of Canadian water colors will seem odious, and the faithful devotee of the orthodox careful, minute drawing and conscientious use of color will throw up his arms in despair. Painters such as George Biddle, Guy Pene Du Bois, James Chaplin, Glenn Coleman, Andrew Dasbourg, to mention only a few out of the collection—all names to be conjured with—will seem sacrilegious when considered by the standard of the Canadian water colors exhibited last month at the Grange. The looseness of their color, their leisurely compositional arrangement that speak the language of great talent and authority are interpreted by the considerate pupils of our local masters of preciseness as the signs of incompetence and carelessness. In the meanwhile these very men, the Colemans, the Dasbours and their confreres go on reaping prizes from international juries who pass on the work of the most noted artists of Europe and America. As for the names represented in the collection of self-portraits, they are of major importance in the movement of contemporary art. This exhibition was arranged by The College Art Association and is to tour the museums in the United States, after having been viewed in Toronto. With all its unpleasant faces to look at, this group offers a remarkable panorama of the various moods prevalent in the art of today in the United States and in Europe.

No lesser men than Diego Rivera, the Mexican, James Ensor, the Belgian, George Grosz, the German, Picasso, the Franco-Spaniard, Eugene Zak, the Russian, Walter Pach, the denouncing satirist of the False Artist, Alexander Brook, the American, are among the men who have portrayed themselves and whose portraits are shown here. In fact, enter and meet a brother Canadian, who after having become famous in the United States, now feels very much at home at the Toronto Gallery visiting with his country people whose esteem has grown with his fame. Here is Boardman Robinson, the mural painter born in Somerset, Nova Scotia. As we go about the room, being unable to chat with every one, let us at least introduce you to Mr. Kremegne of Paris, France, who seems to have gone to school with our own Varley of Vancouver, formerly of Toronto, unless Mr. Varley went to school with him. The colors with which Mr. Kremegne has painted his own head are very much like those used by the British Columbia painter in his recent portraits.

The two yellow-faced men in the one frame are a double self-version of Vincent Cande, the Italian American who paints landscapes with the same strong sense of delineation and the same intensity that he paints his own traits. The gentleman in high hat who is so incongruous behind glass is the late Monsieur Cottet. You may remember his sentimental processions of people in mourning, his Brittany series in the Luxembourg museum, in Paris. He has described himself in the same gloomy atmosphere which pervades his descriptions of widows and orphans.

"A convict, or a sailor?" someone asked before the self-portrait of Max Beckman, the German. Herr Beckman has answered this question in another self-portrait, this time a lithograph which is shown with other prints in another room, and he has written his answer as a background, or shall we say a halo? to his own head: "Curcus Beckman." This artist is a philosopher, at times a cynic, and he looks at himself as he looks at life, with a fair sense of humor, also with an underlying sadness and bitterness of thought.

Captain Ferguson also stated that while the potato crop is less than average the crop of hay and oats was considered good—Sydney Post.

looks? Here you are with talmudic leaders of art, and their influence is strong on the other artists. Quite rightly you claim that Canadians have very little in common with all these artists and their view of art. To be even more convinced of this the visitor to the Toronto Art Gallery, this month only needs to step into the room where the small pictures by members of the Ontario Society of Artists are being shown. How nice these little pictures are, how candid, well done, restful, intimate, and simple. No cosmopolitanism here, no sophistication in these O. S. A. Christmas pictures. The exceedingly well-done still life by Charles Comfort, which is the most extreme example of painting in the show, "The Red Chair" by Arthur Lismner might be traced to the master Van Gogh from the standpoint of the subject matter, but how content, thoroughly competent it is in color, design and atmosphere!

"Ducks Feeding," by Mary Winch "Changing Pastures," by Herbert Palmer; "Oak Trees, Autumn," by Fred Haines; houses and more houses by A. J. Casson; lakes and more lakes with stiff islands by Frank Carmichael, epitomize the Canadian point of view and its scope of inspiration in this "Small Pictures" show, as it does in most of our art exhibitions. This month a greater emphasis is being brought on this gentleness and candor because, for once, our Canadian work finds itself in truly cosmopolitan company.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY—A Young People's Rally was held at Clyde River Baptist Church, Friday evening, November, 26th. Rev. E. J. Chisholm of Hazelbrook presided. The theme of the Devotional Period was "Stewardship." The scripture was read by Mr. Henry Jones of Hazelbrook; and prayer was offered by Rev. J. G. Wakeling, North River. Mr. Jack Hartz then sang a solo, "Hark! Hark! My Soul." Miss Francis Wood gave a report of the Maritime Young People's Convention held at Wolfville this year; and Edna Jenkins gave a paper on Young People's work, followed by a solo by Miss Francis Wood, "My Task." Rev. F. Crossman spoke on Young People's work generally. After discussion and questions, a definite decision was made by the Young People of Clyde River to organize a Young People's Society. Rev. J. G. Wakeling gave a challenge to Young People, and sang "I Came to Jesus as I Was." This Rally was very encouraging, and the beginning of great things to be accomplished by the Young People of the Island.

PERSONALS

Eleven members and one visitor of the Waterford Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Alice Kench on November 10th to hold their regular annual meeting. The meeting was opened by singing the "Ode." The roll call was answered by paying fees. A very fitting address was read by the resigning President, Mr. E. G. Ellsworth. The retiring Secretary, Mrs. Frank Shea briefly outlined the activities of the Institute and gave the financial report. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Alice Kench; Secretary, Mrs. Gerald Shea; Directors, Mrs. James M. Kenny, Mrs. George McAlduff and Mrs. Patrick Gallant; Auditors: Mrs. Frank Shea and Mrs. E. G. Ellsworth. The following committees were appointed for the incoming month: Sick Committee: Mrs. James M. Kenny and Mrs. Patrick Gallant; School Committee: Mrs. Gerald Shea and Mrs. George McAlduff. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Shea, the roll call will be answered by "What I would like for Christmas." The meeting was then adjourned with the Anthem. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess; all then joined in a lively game of Whist from which the sum of $4.00 was realized.—T

Dr. Wood's Tickling In The Throat And Coughing Spells

Mrs. James McGann, Kinnmount, Ont., writes:—
"Some time ago I had a very bad cold, and the tickling in my throat would cause long spells of coughing. I was advised by a friend to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking the first bottle my cough had all gone. I can recommend 'Dr. Wood's' to everyone with a cold or cough."

Source of Radium Found in Canada

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 24—Pitchblende deposits discovered recently at La Bine Point on Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories, constitute a very valuable source of radium, according to an official report by a Government expert. At the present value of radium the ore easily could meet the cost of shipment to the nearest railway which is set at 80 pounds per ton, but improved transportation must be devised if serious production is to be attempted. Ore now must be handled several times as it is taken out by a small gasoline boat and a ten ton scow.
Great Bear Lake is the fourth largest inland body of water on the continent, and the overland journey from Waterways, the nearest railway point, requires four weeks. By air the trip is made in a day, and prospectors commonly use that mode of transport. They are interested in rich indications of silver as well as in the pitchblende.

Improvement in world silver markets has been good news for Canada which is the third greatest silver producer in the world. This metal represents an investment of more than $40,000,000 in the Dominion and in the first eight months of the present year production was 15,241,778 ounces, a slight reduction from 1930. Most of it comes from British Columbia and Ontario.

Gold production in Canada this year will set a new high record with a value of about $40,000,000 and it is estimated by high authorities that this figure will be doubled in ten years. Export of gold is forbidden at present, except under licence of a chartered bank.

There passed away after a long illness at her home in Chelton on Wednesday, Nov. 11th, Mrs. Russell Craig, formerly Miss Mary Ellen Howatt of Cape Traverse. She leaves to mourn her husband and seven children, namely, Mrs. Charles Robertson of Halifax, N. S., Mrs. William Heckbert, Summerside; Mrs. Stanley Jack of Bedouque; Misses Verda and Esther, Heath and Harrison at home, to whom much sympathy is extended. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon from her late residence, Rev. Mr. Archibald officiating.

Dodge Colds

Many persons are resigned to having one or two colds every winter and will not believe that it is possible to avoid having them. At this season there generally seems to be quite an epidemic.
If you are subject to colds, first of all consult your doctor and find out if there is a removable cause such as adenoids or tonsils. Next, take stock of yourself and find out if all your habits make for health. Do you take daily exercise? Walk to and from work is possible join a gymnasium class, or take setting-up exercises. Get plenty of sleep? sleep restores spent energy and strengthens resistance to colds. Be sure that your house and office are well ventilated. Wear warm clothes and keep your feet dry.
Fully as important, as any of the foregoing suggestions is your daily menu. Do not over-eat. Choose foods which will keep the intestines clean and drink plenty of water. Breakfast is essential both to the child going to school and to the worker. It is a good plan for father to set an example by eating a whole some breakfast. Fruit first for an appetizer, then a cereal, an egg, toast or bran muffins and cocoa. This may be too substantial for some of us. In that case there are many simpler menus. Fruit, ready-to-eat; cereal with milk and a hot drink; hot cereal cooked with dried fruit; fruit, graham bread toast and cocoa are all good combinations.

Keep your system regulated by foods such as bran, whole-grain cereals, dark breads, fruits and vegetables. Clogged machinery is the first to break down. A cold catches the person who has not kept fit.
As a final precaution against colds keep the nose, mouth and throat clean. A salt-water gargle is a cleansing solution and leaves a pleasant taste. Use this before going to bed. Don't let a cold catch you—it won't, if you don't give it a head start.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves
It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Hughes Drug Co., Ltd., says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money

Periodic—Eye Examinations

Are vitally important, whether one's eyes are good or otherwise.
Don't wear your glasses for five or ten years, as some do, without re-examination, for in that time serious changes may take place, which if not discovered, may work permanent injury to the most precious sense you possess.
Guard your eyes.
