A baby boy is being welcomed at the home of A. G. and Mrs. Putnam, York street, Sackville, N. B., says the St. John Telegraph. Mr. and Mrs. Putnam are well known in this City.

The firm of Ross & Matthews of this city have added another strong British fire company to their office. The Commercial Union of London, England, Ross & Matthews are now in a position to handle large lines of fire insurance both on city and country properties. The Commercial Union has been operating here for some years, and has a select business on its books. The firm solicit a continuance of the policyholders for the company and a share of new business from the insuring public.

James H. Huntley of the Huntley Stock Company states that acting is as exact a science as mathematics. "Capable men have told me," says the actor, "that acting is not an exact science, and capable men have told me that they do not believe it can ever be made such. I don't agree with them. If acting is not exact then it should be. It should be a careful building of a presentment. It should receive the same methodical treatment as a play. No man ever did much who left the slightest detail of acting to chance. A characterization is a mosaic from which there should be missing no slightest bit, or we may regard it as a picture in which lights and shades are perfectly mingled. "So-called inspiration is much overrated in the dramatic profession. He who depends upon inspiration for the proper bit of a business in a situation is ten times more liable to fail than to score. The house builder would not, with an odd and ill chosen assortment of materials and tools, begin work, trusting to place a window or door. Before he takes up saw or hammer or plane he would have planned the minutest detail and in his mind's eye, seen that house finished before with his material eye he saw it begun. That is my conception of acting."

On Saturday last another of those familiar demi-Johns, which have become residents of Charlottetown during the regime of the Prohibition Act was escorted to the police station in the custody of a gentleman still wearing his winter suit of blue, trimmed with brass buttons. The demi-John was trimmed inside with nearly a half-bushel of beer. It appears that Detective Bradley was engaged in a task of some importance and secrecy and had occasion to enter the yard following day. The entries for the stake races on the Charlottetown Driving Park closed last night. From the above new rule any entry bearing the post mark of the place of ending not later than noon today will be eligible.

I am Grateful to the Independent Order of Foresters especially to the members of Court Minnewawa, Bedeque, for their kindness to me during the long illness of my husband the late Leslie Gould. While he was in the hospital for the insane the dues were paid by the members. At the funeral, everything that a society could do for a member was done and soon after the amount for insurance was promptly paid, and I here tender my sincere thanks to the Foresters for their kindness.
