QUEBEC WILL PROTECT PAPER INDUSTRIES

Premier Taschereau Declares Government Will Discourage Establishment of New Paper Plants

QUEBEC, June 8.—The Province of Quebec, if necessary, will take steps to protect present paper industries established in the province and will discourage establishment of new paper industries, Premier Taschereau told the delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here tonight.

He coupled with his announcement a request that "the sister province of Ontario" co-operate with Quebec in efforts to foster the well-being of the Canadian paper industry.

Premier Taschereau was cheered as he arose to make his address. He referred to Quebec as the "cradle of Canada" too busy to engage in radical feuds.

"We buried here in Quebec, where the grenadiers of Wolf and Montcalm, the antagonists of the past," he declared, Quebec offered to manufacturers same labor, same laws and power.

"What more can you ask" he queried.

"Quebec," Premier Taschereau added, "realized that a great competitor existed to the south of Canada and warned that Canada owed it to herself to develop the natural resources that she had and which the United States did not have."

The Premier instanced pulp, paper, mines, forests and water power.

Premier Taschereau had a word of advice for the Dominion Government, turning to Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, also the speaker at the banquet, he declared:

"The day that you abolish the income tax, you will go a long way to support industry."

Premier Taschereau agreed that the time for this step had probably not yet come, but that it merited careful attention on the part of the Federal authorities.

Other speakers at the banquet, which concluded the sessions of the 57th annual meeting of the C.M.A., were L. W. Simms, newly elected president, and Mr. Malcolm.

Mr. Simms in his address commended the C.M.A. a co-operative effort without parallel in the world, and stressed the value to Canada of the constructive efforts of manufacturers.

Referring directly to the Maritime Provinces, he declared the only real basis of their commands must be an "economic equitable unity" throughout the Dominion.

The retiring president of the C.M.A., W. S. Falls, was presented a silver gift on behalf of the Association during the banquet. Earlier in the day he had listened to congratulatory speeches and in reply had declared he had worked for the Dominion and that no other country in the world offered so great opportunities or liberties as the Dominion of Canada for young people.

D. R. BUCHANAN NEW MODERATOR PRESBYTERIANS

Was Unanimous Choice at Presbyterian General Assembly at Regina.

REGINA, June 8.—In his speech of acceptance after being unanimously elected Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly Dr. John Buchanan, a missionary stationed at Amkut, all Rajpur said: "When I left my post in India to come to Canada it was my earnest desire to place before the general assembly of the church the need for intensified effort in the evangelization of native India. I came from the jungle to give an account of what has already been accomplished and place before the church my hopes for even greater achievement."

Dr. Buchanan said, "Unexpectedly I have been honored far beyond my limited qualifications, but with the aid of those who are entrusted with the Church leadership I will continue to serve to the utmost of my ability. I regarded my election to this high office as an expression designed to convey to the world that we are cognizant of the great importance of the foreign mission field."

The Assembly was opened with public worship conducted by Rev. Dr. A. J. MacGillivray, acting Moderator of Guelph, Ont.

Attending the opening sederunt were approximately 250 Commissioners representing the various presbyteries in the dominion. An additional number is expected before the business session proper gets underway.

"There are few reasons for discouragement and many reasons for encouragement," Dr. MacGillivray declared. "It is true that our work is handicapped because we have neither the men nor the money with which to prosecute a forward movement. We could easily absorb one thousand ministers in the next few years and expand our efforts in various departments of our church."

There had been a notable advance all along the line, the speaker said. Worthy of special mention was the establishment of 156 new Sabbath schools, 33 new preaching places, a net gain of 12 per cent. in erection or purchase of more than 200 church buildings since the disruption.

"Here in Saskatchewan, where perhaps the church suffered most severely, a remarkable recovery has taken place," Dr. MacGillivray continued. "The great strength and vigor of our church in the central areas of the Dominion are a part of the strength and vigor and will yet be regained, both in the east and the west. Our work is being consolidated; our advance is steady."

Drew to dismiss the proceedings which had been taken for the purpose of having Dean or Drew extradited and returned to Portland, Oregon for the purpose of standing trial there on a charge of larceny by Bailee.

Mr. Duffy also moved for a discharge of the prisoner, and that the bond and bail for the sum of $500 be delivered up, on the ground of certain objections taken by Mr. Duffy to the proceedings. The bail in question had been deposited by Mr. Drew at the time of his arrest under a warrant issued by Mr. Justice Haszard as a judge in extradition on the 10th of May last. Campbell representing the Attorney General in the latter's absence from the province and Mr. C. Gavan Duffy, representing Mr. Drew.

At the conclusion of the argument, Mr. Justice Haszard gave judgment, dismissing Mr. Duffy's application. He ordered a further adjournment of one week in order that the accused might be produced.

AN INCOMPETENT AT THE HEAD OF THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT IN CANADA

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Leader Of The Conservative Party, Declares That Hon. Robert Forke Is Not Fitted To Be Minister Of Immigration.

(From our own Correspondent) OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—The minister of immigration had a wearying and worrying time yesterday and today, this department, himself, and the report of the committee on agriculture and colonization being under fire the whole of the time.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the opposition, charged in the House last night that Hon. Robert Forke was not fitted either by temperament or by training to be minister of immigration. The department, Mr. Bennett declared a moment or two later, could not succeed so long as it was presided over by the "gentleman who now controlled it, surrounded by the gentlemen who sat with him."

Premier King warmly resented the charge. He spoke of Mr. Forke as the "very loyal, very faithful minister of immigration." He sketched the career of Mr. Forke since he came to Canada as a Scottish immigrant, his life in the West, his various public offices till he entered parliament and became progressive leader, and questioned if any training could have been more helpful to the man in his position as minister of immigration.

Mr. Forke was a good example of what Canada offered to the man who possessed the sterling qualities that he possessed. Mr. King mentioned in passing that in the government were three ministers who had come to Canada as immigrants, Mr. Dunnington from England, and Mr. Forke from Scotland and Mr. Heenan from Ireland.

When Mr. Kay, chairman of the committee on agriculture and colonization, moved concurrence in the report, Mr. Cahlan moved an amendment.

The amendment observes that the key to solution of the whole problem of immigration lies in provision of adequate employment. It recommends that a department of immigration, colonization and industrial development be organized forthwith, consisting of two branches each under the direction of an erudite man of intellectual strength and after outlining the duties of the two branches, the amendment remarks that the industrial development branch, by a detailed survey of industrial conditions in Canada could recommend what new industries could be advantageously created in Canada.

By unanimous consent the House sat until midnight to have the debate through.

The amendment was not pushed to a vote, but was defeated "on division." In addition to Prime Minister King, the Hon. Mr. Sturges, Ralston and Dunning spoke warmly in defence of the Hon. Mr. Forke. There were, however, a number of other speakers, and at times the debate was accentuated by very sharp passages.

The House remained in committee all today, immigration matters being disposed of at 5.30 p. m., and then a switch was made to protest against the activity of two hundred dockworkers on a rampage in West Kootenay, B. C., was voiced in the House of Commons this morning.

The protest came from W. K. Esling (Conservative West Kootenay), during consideration of immigration estimates.

Mr. Esling referred to them as "nothing more than human animals," and fanatics who openly defy the law by going around the country naked. They were marching into municipalities holding meetings, chanting and standing on street corners openly expressed their defiance to the laws of the country. They would not send their children to school, declined to pay taxes and would not adhere to other laws.

Mr. Esling referred to a report that the government was bringing in 20,000 more into the country to which Mr. Forke replied hotly, "There is nothing in it."

General Ross, Kingston, suggested that if the government would make it possible to establish industries in Canada there would soon be a flow of British immigration. He charged that under present policy American paper mills were being run on Canadian pulp.

The bulk of the evening before in committee bore fruit today. The Hon. Mr. Robb, in a fit of irritation at this juncture rose and his manner as well as his language did not assist in expediting matters.

It was apparent, he stated, that those members who were in the chamber intended to adopt a "sniping process against the minister of immigration." Early in the session a committee had been appointed to investigate the administration of the department of immigration and charges had been made that there had been trafficking in immigration permits. As a result of the inquiry, immigration had a wearying and worrying time yesterday.

"No, no, there was nothing of the kind," shouted Conservative members. "The minister of finance is not going to get away with that," interjected Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac Addington).

Mr. Robb said the report had found that there had been no foundation for the reports of trafficking. "Who sent out this rumour throughout the country," asked Mr. Robb. "The conservative gentlemen opposite us, he was proceeding to state when Hon. R. B. Bennett, conservative leader, demanded that the minister of finance give names.

Continuing, Mr. Robb said that the immigration report had been passed unanimously in the House last night. "On division," interrupted conservative members. Mr. Robb asked if it was not time to discontinue the attack against the immigration department, as the parliamentary immigration report had been passed by the House.

He objected again to the "sniping process against my colleague, the minister of immigration."

General Ross immediately protested. "I stand absolutely in the open and any statement I make I will back up," General Ross declared. The general had referred to Mr. Forke falling out with the Salvation Army.

Mr. Robb said that he was the minister of the government who had originally fallen out with the Salvation Army over certain instances. It was not the government, however, that quarrelled with the Salvation Army, but it was the Salvation Army that worked up the quarrel with the government. "If any minister were to blame for the quarrel with the Salvation Army," I am the man to blame and not the present minister of immigration," Mr. Robb declared.

Mr. Bennett immediately rose to his feet. "I desire to say to the honorable minister of finance, that there will be no voting of supply if he continues to make speeches such as he has just made. I desire to say to him that if he proposes to make inaccurate statements, this House will not vote supply." Mr. Bennett declared, Mr. Robb had stated that the immigration report had been passed unanimously. Such was not the fact. Mr. Bennett stated, and the minister of finance knew it.

Mr. Bennett declared that the immigration report had been carried on division in conformity with a long established parliamentary practice. A vote had not been taken to save time. "There will be votes now if he wants them," Mr. Bennett declared, addressing himself to the minister of finance.

"He has invited them and he will have them, if that is what the minister of railways wants too he will get them."

In suggesting that the member for Kingston (General Ross) had adopted a sniping process towards the minister of immigration in discussing the McConechie case, the minister of finance had made a statement that was entirely incorrect. Mr. Bennett stated, General Ross had openly charged the minister of immigration with dereliction of duty and the minister of finance should refer to an open charge in this way as sniping.

The prime minister in the House last night had delivered the funeral oration of the minister of immigration. "There is no need of threatening," interjected Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways. "We are not threatening," promptly retorted Mr. Bennett. The Conservative opposition.
