Children's Aid Society Report

At the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society held Thursday night, Major T. E. MacNutt, Secretary-Treasurer reported the very favorable balance in hand of $1,323.66 in the funds of the society.

AGENT'S REPORT Mr. W. J. Bawden, agent, presented the following report of the year's activities: As you are aware, the object of the Children's Aid Society is the care and protection of neglected and dependent children.

There are many neglected children in our midst, and in addition to the usual causes met with in past years, new problems, created by the war, are being encountered, and our society has had to deal with cases recently where it was found necessary to remove "innocent" children from the evil example and influence of their mothers in the absence of husbands who are away from home in the service of their country.

The money coming to these mothers has been transferred to the Children's Aid Society to be administered in the interest of the children, and present indications are that perhaps many more such cases will have to be dealt with in the coming year.

LOS ANGELES (CP)—For moral protection of children police have inaugurated regulations of the old-time penny arcades here.

read in a few minutes, but I have even time to present above an outline which will at least give you some idea of what is being done in the interest of unfortunate children who are unable to help themselves, and it is pleasing to note that many boys and girls are growing up to be decent respectable citizens. The children could have been quite different were it not for the help rendered by the Children's Aid Society.

Another type of neglected child is the Juvenile Delinquent, who, because of improper or faulty home discipline becomes a source of annoyance and gets into such trouble as petty theft, destruction of property, etc., for which he has to be brought before the Juvenile Court. The total number dealt with in this way during the past year was fifty-seven. Forty-five boys and twelve girls.

One encouraging feature of the Juvenile Court cases is the large number who appear only once and give no further trouble. This year, ninety-one per cent have taken the advice received in the court and have since given a good account of themselves.

It is not the more serious cases that are brought into court. A great many instances of petty annoyance on the part of juveniles are dealt with by interviewing the parents and with very satisfactory results. It was found necessary to send seven juveniles to Reformatories during the year. In addition to those before the court for delinquency, there were twenty-two children who were in school and needed for non-payment of the school fees. The law is not easy to prevent a child's entry into a report that may be

Dorothy Dix Says—

INTENDS TO JILT HER DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged to a man for the past three years, but he would never agree to marry because he said he wanted to wait until we could have a better start. Now he is leaving for the army and I thought it would be nice if we could be married at once. I could keep working and with the allotment I would receive from the government, I could start buying the furniture we would need for our home. As an answer he asked me to return his ring, which he has given for safekeeping to his mother, and he tells me that if we still feel the same way towards each other we will be married after the war is over. What do you think of the situation? FIANCEE

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. STERLING HUNTER Seldom has the town of Kensington and surrounding districts been so shocked and saddened when it was learned on the morning of October 30th that the gentle spirit of Mrs. Sterling Hunter, nee Lydia Stewart, had passed away in the Prince George hospital. Her smiling face will be missed in the community and in the United Church where seldom a Sabbath passed without her presence, but most especially in the home, where she had so faithfully and willingly ministered to her family bearing her burdens with a cheerful smile. So one thought of her as ailing as she was seen where duty called her, so when it was learned she had been called to her Heavenly reward so suddenly one wonders why. But God's ways are mysterious. He knows when our tasks are completed hence the reward. She leaves to cherish the memory of a kind and loving mother and faithful wife, her husband, and following sons and daughters: Margaret, Mrs. Wilfred Evans; Lily, Stewart and Percy; also six grand-children, an aged mother, Mrs. John A. Stewart, of Dunstons, and four sisters and three brothers, namely: Pearl, Wesley Matthew, Elizabeth, Mrs. William Bears; Myrtle, Margaret, Edwin, Harold and Wallace. The funeral was held from the United Church, Kensington on Nov. 1st at 11 o'clock, thence to the United Church, Dunstons, where she was tenderly laid to rest by the side of her father who predeceased her several years ago. The floral tributes were as follows: Follow, husband and children: Spray, Myrtle, Margaret and Edwin; Spray, MacDonald and Rowe; Spray, R. E. Mutch Co.; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Inglis; Spray, Mrs. Chisholm. Sleep on loved one thy tasks are o'er. Thy gentle smile we see no more. 11-28-42
