"The advice of the Company's experienced staff has been and is being constantly sought in increasing measure," Hon. Mr. McCurdy

HON. F. B. MCCURDY
President Eastern Trust Company reported. He attributed this demand for the Company's services in large degree to the difficulties created for individuals clients by complex government regulations.

"The cost of carrying the huge war debt continues to entail heavy taxation at high rates in Canada from which the public is earnestly looking for relief," he said.

Net earnings in 1947 were $195,321.02 of which taxes accounted for $80,000. Dividends at the regular

The sum of $50,000 was transferred from Real Estate and Contingent Accounts to Reserve Fund, which now amounts to $550,000. Mortgage investments of The Eastern Trust Company, amounting to more than $6,750,000 in value, were administered carefully, with due regard to helping borrowers who were experiencing adversity.

In order to permit unhindered expansion in the future, Parliament has been asked to amend the Company's Act of Incorporation by increasing its authorized capital to $3,000,000.

The Directors' report expressed their sorrow at the death of Hon. W. D. Ross, long a director of the Company and former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. The vacancy created on the Board of Directors by his death has been filled by the appointment of Mr. C. H. Rennie, who is also chairman of the Company's Toronto Advisory Committee. Appreciation of the loyal and efficient service given by members of the Company's staff was recorded. The report noted that the Staff Pension Fund, which was started three years ago, has been operating actively. During 1947 the Company's monthly contributions totalled $4,440.76, while the sum of $8,285.47 was set aside from profit and loss on account of past liability.

To keep pace with the Company's continuing expansion and to provide better service for clients in Western Nova Scotia, a branch office was opened in Yarmouth during the year.

CANADA-BERMUDA SERVICE MOOTED

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 12 (CP) — A new freight shipping service between Canada and Bermuda is under consideration here following an engine breakdown at sea which forced the Canadian freighter Dundas into Bermuda for repairs.

D. M. Wathen of Saint John, N. B., general manager of the Kent Line, accompanied the relief ship Galloway Kent to the tiny harbor of St. George's to superintend transfer of the cargo of salted cod fish, bound for Brazil.

At the time he took a look into the shipping situation with the idea of extending service to the colony.

"I have been making inquiries with a view to perhaps starting a shipping line between the two places," he said here. "The chief difficulty would be to find enough Bermuda cargo to take back to Canada. At one time we used to see quite a lot of Bermudian products in Canada but there are few available now."

Simcoe Actors Do Original Play

By FRED KERNER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

GUELPH, Ont., Feb. 11— (CP) —Of the four drama groups vying for Western Ontario Drama League festival honors here this week, most interest is centred about the entry of the recently-created Simcoe Little Theatre.

Started little more than a year ago, the Simcoe group rose quickly to the forefront in the W.O.D.L. by winning the 1947 festival over groups with long experience. This year the Simcoe players again showed their ability by gaining one of the four places in the Western Ontario festival — places for which 14 groups competed.

Along with Simcoe in this year's elimination competition to select a representative of the W.O.D.L. to participate in the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa late in April, are the London Little Theatre, the Hamilton Players Guild and the Guelph Little Theatre.

One of the best organized drama groups in the Dominion, the London players are offering George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan," Thomas Job's adaptation of the Emile Zola novel "Therese," is the entry of the Hamilton Guild, while the local group is presenting Esther McCracken's comedy, "Quiet Week-end." All are three-act plays.

Only Canadian-written play in the competition is the Simcoe entry, "A Pig in a Poke," written by the group's director, Mrs. Catherine McCormick Brickenden.

Directed Many Winners

Mrs. Brickenden, a moving spirit in the long-established London Little Theatre, formed the Simcoe group a year ago. By directing the winning W.O.D.L. festival play, she set a record — it was the fourth time she had directed winning plays in the Western Ontario regional competition.

Long a patron of Canadian playwrights — all of her winning plays were Canadian — written — she turned to writing this year to give her group a festival entry. However, it was by chance that Mrs. Brickenden wrote "A Pig in a Poke."

D. Park Jamieson, president of the Dominion Drama Festival, in presenting the Western Ontario awards at Hamilton last year, jokingly remarked that Mrs. Brickenden accepted the challenge. The result was "A Pig in a Poke," probably the first three-act wholly Canadian farce.

The play is set in a storm-bound farmhouse in which dwells a widow and her slow-witted brother. When a bus stalls in the snow on the highway, a dozen-odd characters take shelter in the house introducing several minor themes of romance, mystery and even a touch of original music.

"Why the title?" "Well," said Mrs. Brickenden, "a pig in a poke is an unknown quantity — and so is the play!"

From garbage dumps and litter piles the survivors of the war in Europe and Asia seek to take out food so that they may live. Many children are in this through—some estimates placed at more than 400 million. To help save these children, Canadians are being asked to contribute $10 million to the Canadian Appeal for Children. Similar Appeals will be made in 26 other countries. But it does prevent the organisms from escaping and circulating up to human noses again when treated surfaces are disturbed by walking or other movements. Ultraviolet light and some vapors can be used to kill any organisms floating in the air.

The chemical is an oil and a detergent, added to make the oil mix in water, that looks and feels like cold cream. It has no odor and can be applied as an invisible coating that won't change the feel of fabrics or flooring, says L.S. Green, whose firm produces the material (called Germaseal).

BACTERIAL FLYPAPER TRAPS DISEASE GERMS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK, Feb. 11 — (AP) — A bacterial flypaper is a new aid toward keeping rooms free of disease germs.

It's a chemical that can be put on floors, blankets or curtains to catch and hold tiny organisms, including those that cause colds, when they settle out of the air. Unlike flypaper, it doesn't kill. But it does prevent the organisms from escaping and circulating up to human noses again when treated surfaces are disturbed by walking or other movements. Ultraviolet light and some vapors can be used to kill any organisms floating in the air.

The chemical is an oil and a detergent, added to make the oil mix in water, that looks and feels like cold cream. It has no odor and can be applied as an invisible coating that won't change the feel of fabrics or flooring, says L.S. Green, whose firm produces the material (called Germaseal).

Small amounts can be added to water when floors are washed, or to rinse water when blankets or other fabrics are washed. The washing removes the trapped organisms. "Wartime tests at Camp Carson, Colo., showed that during periods of activity in wards the number of streptococci in the air was reduced 88 per cent when fabrics and floors had been treated. Green said.

An article in the American Journal of Medical Science reported a 50 per cent reduction in acute respiratory infections in treated areas of a barracks. Another test showed that a treated blanket was nine times more effective in holding micro-organisms than a non-treated blanket.

Several New York business houses are experimenting with the chemical now, Green said. Whether the chemical can trap substances that cause allergies still is being investigated, he added.
