trenches for a few days but there are always working parties in abundance, so our time is pretty well taken up. We did not have as bad a winter as last one but still we had it very miserable. As soon as dry weather comes you may look for a hot old time, but it will help shorten the war we will be quite willing. I have not seen Frank Kelly for a couple of weeks, but on enquiring he seems to be all right. He does not have the danger we have, as he does not go to the front trenches. We easily have the advantage of the Germans in gun-fire but that does not subtract from the fact that they are still a formidable aggregation. There is talk of our having a few weeks rest in the near future and it is near time as we have been pretty hard at it since coming to France. We had a dandy officer killed in No Man's Land the other night. I had to go out for fear he was still living and had quite an experience. We got his body in O. K., but with hard work, as the Germans threw bombs at us and opened up a bunch of machine-guns. They were trying to get the body first. It was exhilarating and I had no thought of danger until it was all over. He was perhaps our best officer but too venturesome. That is the worst part of our job. No matter when a man is wounded we are expected to go to give first aid. Well dear mother, I must close now with best love to all.

..*GLENSIDE.—Mr. Allen McCormack a well known horseman of Glenside came near losing a valuable pair of colts a few days ago. Mr. McCormack was working in his woods and had left the animals out, when for some reason they started for the ice and having gained that started for sea going almost a mile out and within a few yards of open water. Lookers on were at a loss to know what to do but luckily for Mr. McCormack the colts had sense enough to stay on shore for after having a good look at the open sea they evidently preferred land and returned home.—J.

NEW DICTIONARY IS READY FOR READERS

Third of First Series of Dictionary Coupons Complete for Exchange

MAILED OUT OF TOWN

"New Universities" Distribution Begins—Rich With Helpful Features

This is the opening day of this paper's distribution of The New Universities Dictionaries to its readers. Three coupons clipped from the columns of this paper must be presented at our office with the application for one of the volumes. It is specified that these be from papers of three different days. Therefore today is the first day for the completion of the first set. A small fee of 98 cents is required, the only condition asked of those who seek one of these excellent educational books.

For out-of-town readers of this paper a special mail arrangement has been made. These may send in the three coupons by mail, together with the 98 cents and the necessary postage to pay mailing charges on the dictionary. For their benefit, instructions are given elsewhere as to the amount of postage necessary. This is done so that all readers of this paper may share in the distribution of the New Universities.

There are more than 1,200 pages to the volume, including twenty-five supplementary dictionaries. Among the latter is one dealing with the use of the maps, authorized by the postmaster-general. This will prove of value to all, in view of the new postal regulations. The book is handsomely bound in flexible leather and profusely illustrated, many of the reproductions being in color. Pictures of various types of aeroplanes are given, so that when you read about a Blériot monoplane you can turn to this section in the New Universities and see how it differs from others in use.

BOAT FROM NURNBERG DRIFTS FROM FALKLANDS TO DUTCH COAST.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—The Kiezerring says a sensation has been caused by the discovery of a German cruiser Nurnberg, at Schobuell, in dinghy, belonging to the German cruiser Nurnberg, at Schobuell, in Friesland, Holland. The Nurnberg was sunk in the battle with the British fleet off the Falkland Islands on December 8, 1914.

The newspaper suggests that the dinghy drifted from the Falkland Islands to Iceland and thence homeward under westerly winds. It adds that the Germans regard the return of the boat as a happy omen for the Fatherland.
