Landing Operations Practiced by Men of Regt. de Hull

Practising shore landings and establishment of bridgeheads on an "enemy" shore—for the day when they may be called upon to spearhead a drive into Hitler's Fortress Europa or II Duce's bomb-smashed Italian territory—men of the Regiment de Hull are pictured in training action "somewhere in Canada". Fully-equipped soldiers of the unit are shown (top) pouring from landing barges almost before the plat-
