Two of Charlottetown's guest children, 12-year-old Doris French and her 10-year-old sister, Patricia, received one of the biggest thrills of their young lives last night as they listened in to a message from their mother at 8:45

The mother of the girls, who lives in Wembley, Middlesex County, spoke on a short wave broadcast from England and sent birthday greetings to Doris who celebrated her 12th birthday Saturday. In eager anticipation the little girls, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. MacLeod on North River Road, huddled close to the radio long before the broadcast began. When they heard the voice of their mother, which they have not listened to in many weeks, the happy youngsters were greatly excited and, their lonely hearts filled with longing, listened to every word their mother had to say to them.

TOURIST ATTEMPTS TO TAKE DOG.—Mr. H. W. MacLean, agent for the S.P.C.A., Saturday morning apprehended a tourist at Borden as the latter was about to cross to the mainland with a "stolen" dog. The animal, which was a Boston bulldog, belonged to a resident of Charlottetown. Mr. MacLean, at the time, was not looking for a stolen dog, but he recognized the animal as one which he had seen in the city, and thought it strange that the dog should be in the mainland car. He immediately went up to the driver and inquired where the latter got the canine. The man explained that the bulldog "just got in the car." The S.P.C.A. man prompty took the dog away from his would-be abductor and back to the city. He looked at the license tag and from its number was able to find the owner of the retrieved animal. Mr. MacLean advises all dog owners to have these tags on the animals, otherwise it is not as easy to return the dog. Several similar cases of dog thefts occurred during the summer.

A very sad accident occurred on Saturday morning about nine o'clock on the Irishtown road when little David Mann, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Mann, was instantly killed when struck by a car driven by Mr. Roy Adams of Sea View. When the car came along the little boy became confused and ran in front of it. The driver turned sharply to avoid the child but could not. Fire, which started shortly before one o'clock yesterday morning, completely destroyed a large tool house at the Charlottetown Airport, about four miles from the city. The damage was estimated at approximately $3,000 consisting mostly of equipment, principally carpenters tools, picks, shovels and small construction implements.

The baze was caused when an employee flicked cigarette ashes into a box containing oakum, R.C.M.P. said last night. They investigated the outbreak. There were about half a dozen employees in the building who were enjoying a "midnight lunch" and the fire was started in a purely accidental manner. In their excitement, when the oakum ignited, the men attempted to extinguish the blaze by spreading the oakum but this only increased its burning powers. The material is very inflammable and the blaze was out of control before the men had a chance to fight it.

Charlottetown firemen were called out but were unable to save the shed as it was a mass of flames before they reached the scene. However, they protected buildings nearby from damage. The chemical engine was taken out as there was no water supply at the Airport for the jumper. The buildings are fitted with chemical extinguishers for fire fighting.

BUS OVERTURNED IN COLLISION — The large motor bus, which operates a passenger route between Georgetown and Charlottetown, was overturned in a collision with a loaded truck at the corner of Kent and Weymouth Streets, near Prince of Wales College, yesterday at noon. There were no passengers in the bus at the time as it had previously stopped at the terminal. The truck was after taking on a load of lumber at the Railway Station and was going north on Grafton Street enroute to the Charlottetown Airport. The bus was going east on Kent Street and the accident occurred at the intersection. None of the occupants of either vehicle were injured. The left front fender of the truck was damaged and also a headlight and spring. RUNAWAY CAR AT POWNAL— Mr. Elwood Burhoe, of Charlottetown, who was returning to the city at dusk last night in company with his wife and two young children, had a narrow escape from possible death at Pownal, when a runaway car shot out of a driveway and across the highway in front of his car. He did not notice the other vehicle until it was on the road. The vehicle, which was without a driver, came out of Mr. John Cannon's driveway. It appears that some children released the brakes on the car, which was resting on a steep incline, with the result that it tore crazily down the hill, which slopes about 100 yards to the pavement, striking a small ditch and jumping the highway. Such was the speed of the vehicle that it "hopped" a six-foot ditch on the other side of the road, and tore through a fence. Rolling over about half a dozen times the car continued its mad race on four wheels again for about another 125 yards, and landed in a woods at the bottom of the hill, after it crashed through another fence. Surprisingly enough, the runaway car was not badly damaged and only one window glass was broken. Burhoe's car only escaped by about ten yards, as the other vehicle, narrowly missing a pedestrian, started its long lone ride. It was a Dodge sedan which was about ten years old.

The coroner's jury called to enquire into the death of David Mann, 5 years old, who was instantly killed on Saturday morning on the Irishtown Road when he was struck by a car driven by Roy Adams of Sea View returned the following verdict yesterday.

"We the coroners jury empanelled to enquire into the death of David Mann, find that the deceased came to his death as the direct result of being struck by an auto driven by Roy Adams of Sea View, P.E.I. After considering the evidence heard today we find cause of his death was accidental but not unavoidable because the said Roy Adams by his own admission saw the four children some one hundred yards away and we believe that it was lack of judgment on his part not to slacken his speed sufficiently to secure the safety of the four children. We recommend that not only the driver at present involved but all operators should exercise every care to safeguard the lives of all persons on the public highways especially children" Signed, Rev. A. D. Stirling, foreman, G. Ives, Donald MacKenzie, Heath Casely, Hollis MacKay, Hollis B. Cameron.

The happy young couple were the recipients of many useful and costly wedding gifts, including cheques, linens, furniture and silverware.
