

GRUESOME FIND AT NIAGARA FALLS

Skeleton of Man Supposed to Have Perished Months Ago Remains Unidentified.

(Canadian Press) NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 17.—A gruesome discovery was made at the foot of the bank of the Niagara River on the Canadian side shortly before dusk this evening in the form of a skeleton of a man clothed in a dark blue suit. Red Hill, the famous body of water, came across the skeleton today while making a trip below the bank. Not a particle of flesh remains. It is presumed the body had been there seven or eight months. Nothing was found in the way of a clue to reveal the man's identity. Fifteen dollars and a gold watch were found in the pocket.

10,000 ROUNDS OF CARTRIDGES

(Canadian Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Ten thousand rounds of revolver cartridges were found to-day on the steamer Allemania, which arrived here from Haytian and Colombian ports. The belief is that the ammunition was intended for use either in Hayti or Mexico.

SIR EDWARD GREY ON HOME RULE

(Canadian Press) LONDON, Dec. 17.—Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, addressing the constituents at Northumberland to-day acknowledged that no progress had been made as yet in the direction of solving the Home Rule question by consent. The Government, he said, actuated by a spirit of conciliation, had opened the discussion, but the opposition persisted in staying outside and shouting things in at the window. Still the door would continue to be open and it would be the fault of the Liberal party if a peaceful settlement be not reached.

FISHERMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

(Special to The Guardian.) NORTH SYDNEY, Dec. 17.—Eustia Manuel, a fisherman of the Gloucester fleet schooner, Senator Gardner, now here, attempted suicide on board this evening by cutting his throat with a bait knife. The wound bled profusely, but finding that it was not fatal Manuel appealed to Captain Evans to finish the job. The Captain sent for the police and the would-be suicide was taken to the police station. He will probably recover. Loss of sleep and too deep indulgence in liquor, it is alleged, is responsible for the act. He is 35, and a native of Newfoundland.

FIRST CLUE TO MONA LISA THEFT

(Canadian Press) PAIRIS, Dec. 17.—The first real clue to the theft of Mona Lisa was given the French police by Jean Guiffrey, now curator of the Boston Museum of fine arts, formerly assistant conservator of Louvre. Pierre Marcel who was charged with the mission at Louvre makes a statement in which he says Guiffrey at the time wrote, giving reasons why the picture must have been stolen by one of the men engaged in framing the pictures at Louvre. Director French of the national museum was impressed by the force of the argument and notified the police. If the clues had been adequately followed the arrest of the thief of Mona Lisa would have been made long before it was.

NEW FISHERY AREA IS DISCOVERED

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Dec. 17.—A new and virgin fishing area, rich in possibilities not only of the millions it may produce, but in the employment of the native population around, has been found in Hudson Straits, according to a report to the Marine and Fisheries Department by fishery officer Thomas Tanner. The report says it is expected the salmon fishing of the new district will in time equal the best in British Columbia.

SAYS FOREIGNERS NOT MOLESTED

(Canadian Press) HERMOSILLO, Dec. 17.—General Francisco Villa, in a long report received here by General Carranza, denied that foreigners were molested in Chihuahua city with the exception of Spaniards who were expelled. Villa suggested to the supreme commander of the Revolutionists that Chihuahua, the State Capital, be made his provisional capital. Villa has guaranteed the safety of all foreigners except Spaniards, who, he says, have always taken an active part in the troubles of Mexico and always against the people. Villa told that the institution of Civil Government at Chihuahua and the enlistment of 200 federal soldiers who were sent to Juarez, was on his own recognition.

BEST PLAN FOR SONG WRITERS

NEW YORK, December 16.—The music taster for a time today, within the sombre walls of the federal building, they came at the beck of the district attorney to help him prove, if possible, that Robert J. Kellogg had failed to make good his advertised promise to set songs of many writers to music and sell them. The government charges that by this alleged failure Kellogg used the mail to defraud.

Song writers from many cities, here as witnesses against Kellogg, heard their verses read in court. Mrs. M. N. Kramer, of Washington, said that she sent Kellogg a song entitled "Twins Only a Little Foolish Dream," but that it has never been sold extensively, though she paid him to write the music. Doran Green, of Bristol, Penn.; Bernard T. C. Schroeder, of Minonk, Illinois; H. J. Stanley, of Boston; L. C. Taylor, of Miami, Texas, and many others gave similar testimony.

John W. Willis, senior, of Redville, La., a man of sixty, testified that he had written sentimental poems all his life but never succeeded in having them published. He sent one to Kellogg, he said, with money, but nothing came of it. "Finally," he said, "I threw up the whole thing like a hot potato."

P. E. ISLAND OYSTERMEN'S ASSOCIATION FORMED

Officers Appointed and a Number of Excellent Addresses Delivered. Outlook for Oyster Business Most Promising. Suggestions by Premier and Other Speakers.

A large number of men interested in the oyster business attended a meeting in the Board of Trade room, convened for the purpose of organizing an association, the object of which, as set forth in one of the resolutions passed, "shall be the conservation and development of the oyster industry so as to make it a greater source of profit to the fishermen and others interested in the business." On the motion of Mr. J. K. Ross, who stated that the present meeting was only a continuation of a previous one at which Mr. L. P. Tanton acted as Chairman, that gentleman was unanimously elected to the chair. Mr. Tanton having announced the purpose of the meeting, Major A. A. Bartlett was elected acting secretary. The following resolution, moved by Mr. Ross and seconded by Mr. J. A. Dewar, was then read and adopted: "That whereas it is advisable in the best interests of the oyster industry in this Province, that there should be a larger measure of co-operation of the fishing, growing and selling interests; and whereas it is deemed advisable that this can best be served by the formation of an Oystermen's Association for the Province, whose objects shall be the conservation and development of the oyster industry so as to make it a greater source of profit to the fishermen and others interested in the business; therefore resolved: That an association be now formed, to be known as 'The Co-operative Oystermen's Association of Prince Edward Island,' the officers to be a President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, who, with seven other persons, shall form the Executive Committee."

OPTIMISM PREVAILING NOTE.

Having read this resolution, Mr. Ross spoke in optimistic terms on the oyster industry of the Island. They had to realize, he said, that there were possibilities—big possibilities—in the future of the business in Prince Edward Island. A gentleman from the homeland who had visited Canada, was reported in that morning's Guardian to have said that the Maritime Provinces were the best part of the Dominion, and they were beginning to recognize that fact. And the people here, he added, were beginning to realize that Prince Edward Island was the best part of the Maritime Provinces. There were a great many things here to boast which they were not boasting. Certain men had left the Province whose departure was not deprecating—those men were "knockers" and Canada had not much room in these days for pessimistic people. There was a great deal of difference, however, between the Maritime and the Western Provinces and that was that the latter were more imbued with the spirit of progressiveness. That spirit was commencing to assert itself in our own province and wonderful strides were being made. The oyster business could be made a source of great profit, Malpeque oysters had made our island famous and they could not be beaten. The one great thing which was needed was co-operation in the development of the industry. They must bear in mind that the oyster business was not a "get-rich-quick" proposition; it was a sound profitable industry, but it required three or four years to grow oysters. The true secret was the scientific growing of the fish from seed; patience in this was an essential. In conclusion Mr. Ross urged earnestly the necessity for co-operation, and he suggested that a nominal fee might be charged for membership.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Major Bartlett here moved that a committee of three be appointed to suggest to the meeting names of those who might be considered a representative body of officers to control the affairs of the Association for the next year. Mr. J. A. Dewar, Capt. T. H. E. Inman and Mr. John McQuillan were appointed. This Committee, after consultation, presented to the meeting the following list of officers of control which was approved: President, Vice-President and Secretary: Messrs. W. H. Aitken, Harry Holman and A. A. Bartlett, respectively; and additional members of executive, Rev. Fr. J. A. McDonald, Grand River, and Messrs. John McQuillan, North River; Thomas Linkletter, Miscouche; Garfield Warren, North; Bideigh, Bideigh; George Riley, Baltic; and J. K. Ross, Charlottetown.

The chairman, in reply to a question by one of the audience as to whether the Association would be "run on wind," said that there would be items of necessary expenditure to be met, such as advertising, etc., and he thought that Mr. Ross's suggestion of a 50-cent membership fee might be adopted. Mr. Ross accordingly put a motion to this effect to the meeting and it was carried. A list of enrolment was then tendered for signatures, when thirty-two names were attached with an initial receipt of $15.

Mr. Tanton at this juncture vacated the chair to the newly-appointed President, Mr. W. H. Aitken.

DISCUSSION.

At the invitation of the President, there arose a discussion on the question, when should fishing begin. In connection with this, Mr. Tanton stated that an explanation of the destruction of oyster beds might be found in this—the fishermen, in taking up their oysters, threw back all the shells they got. This was repeated over and over again with the result that the oyster beds got smothered. He thought that the fishermen might be made to take up everything, shells and all, and they might dispose of the shells to the planters. He further threw out the suggestion that the fishermen should be allowed to take oysters in the spring for the purpose of transplanting, and this might best be done by disposing of them to the leaseholders.

A member of the audience took exception to this on the ground that it would tend to deplete the public areas.

Mr. Donald Mathieson, of Traveler's Rest, could not understand why the fishermen did not have the same privileges of fishing and shipping as the lease holders. He wondered why anyone should think of making a difference between them. In reply the Premier said that in the case of the lease-holder it was not advisable to interfere with private property as it could be left to look after its own interest; while with the public property, where everybody was reaping and nobody sowing, it was necessary to have regulations for the conservation of the same. If, however, the fishermen could agree among themselves as to the desirability of lengthening the season he would promise on behalf of the Government to use his influence with the Federal authorities to bring about the desired change.

Proceeding, he said that this industry was of paramount importance first to the whole province, second to the vested rights of the fishermen, thirdly to the public investing their money in the industry, and lastly to the consumer. The Government in dealing with the industry as a whole had to consider all these interests, some of which must necessarily be conflicting. This organization should be a valuable assistance to the Government in making desirable recommendations for the common good.

Mr. Crafer, of Malpeque, in speaking of the different complaints of the fishermen, said that they complained chiefly of the digging of shells from certain beds that had been set aside for that purpose. They also complained of some good ground being let in the leased portions, the fishing and shipping season for the leases being longer than for the public fishermen.

Mr. H. H. Shaw, in answer to this, said that in making the survey of Pleasant Bay it was recognized that it would be extremely difficult to definitely determine what constituted barren areas.

In deciding what was barren bottom there were two extreme views: one party claimed that wherever oysters had been found, even if there were none at the time of survey, this should be retained as a public fishing ground; another party claimed that no ground that could be improved by cultivation should be prohibited from being leased. But as both these views were extreme there had been adopted the decision of a U. S. A. judge who held that any ground which would not afford a livelihood should be considered barren. It was evidently impossible to find out all the portions of the bottom upon which oysters were growing, and every attempt was made to exclude from leasing bottoms covered with shells. Possibly some of these may have been missed, but even if they were missed it would be well to open these to the public in the midst of leased ground, as it was desirable to keep public and leased grounds separate.

Three beds which had formerly been set aside for mud-digging purposes by the Dominion Government were open for the purpose of taking shells. The very fact of mud having been taken from these before would show that they were considered as not being live oyster beds. In regard to the different times of fishing on private and public areas, it was, he said, the practice in the neighboring republic not to interfere with private industry but merely to regulate the public fishery for its own benefit.

It should not be forgotten that before the survey was completed and the plans offered for leasing, a great many fishermen were consulted and their approval of the ground to be leased obtained. No complaint was heard until after the grounds had been applied for; then the hitherto worthless bottoms suddenly took on a special value. Where definite complaints were made the leases were withheld until the ground was re-examined, and in every case the ground was found to come within the definition of barren bottoms.

A Committee of five—Messrs. Inman, Bentley, McQuillan, McLaughlin and T. McNutt—was appointed to frame rules, regulations, etc.

The meeting was adjourned to the 13th January to be held at Summerside, when further consideration will be given the matter of the time for fishing.

MEXICO GRAPPLES WITH FINANCE

(Canadian Press) MEXICO CITY, Dec. 17.—A presidential decree, making state bank notes legal tender throughout the republic, a guarantee fund to be subscribed by state banks and to be deposited in the National Bank, and finally, a government guarantee of the bank notes is the program decided upon by a committee of five bankers representing the National Bank of London and Mexico and three other concerns, who met this afternoon with the head of the Finance Department. No difficulty is anticipated in having Huerta issue a decree, the bankers maintaining that this is the only means of maintaining in circulation a sufficient amount of medium of exchange.

CARDINAL DIED IN ROME FROM INFLUENZA

ROME, December 16.—Cardinal Rampolla died about midnight. He was not known to be ill, but has several times suffered from serious attacks of influenza, similar to the ailment which has afflicted the pope. It was Cardinal Rampolla who celebrated the Te Deum at Rome on May 11th in thanksgiving for the recovery of the pope.

ADMITTANCE FREE TO POULTRY SHOW

In the interests of the educational campaign which is being conducted by the federal and provincial governments, the Commissioner of Agriculture has asked the executive of the P. E. I. Poultry Association to admit the public free to the exhibition now in progress in the Agricultural Hall. The request has been generously complied with and the hall will be thrown open freely to the public to-day and tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

It is very regrettable that the attendance at this, the largest and best poultry show ever held in the province, has so far been much below what it ought to be. So marked has been the negligence of citizens in this respect that the executive is seriously considering the desirability of hereafter holding the poultry shows in one of the sister towns. Should this course be decided upon and this attraction be removed, citizens will no doubt raise a howl about it, but they will have the melancholy satisfaction of remembering that it was their own fault.

The executive, while thus regretting the lack of interest on the part of the public wish to gratefully acknowledge the splendid and successful efforts of the Department of Agriculture in making the show an educative and profitable one.

FISHERIES TREATY BEING DISCUSSED

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Dec. 17.—That prospects are favorable for the final conclusion of an international fisheries treaty between Canada and the United States, is the inference drawn from the first day's negotiations between the commissioners. Mr. Prince is the Canadian Commissioner and Dr. Smith is United States officer. Dr. Smith arrived last night and called on the Premier and Mr. Hazen. There are sixty-six clauses in the treaty and the commissioners will go over them all. It is the opinion here that there will be a satisfactory settlement of all points.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH IN A N. Y. FIRE.

NEW YORK, December 16.—A city fireman, his mother and sister, were burned to death early today in a fire which practically destroyed a five story apartment house in which they lived at 366 Amsterdam avenue. It was one of the most spectacular city apartment house fires seen in this country recently, seven persons being seriously injured by flames or by jumping from windows.

The fifty occupants found the exits cut off when the flames shot up from the basement. The firemen effected many thrilling rescues, but Thomas J. McManus, one of their number, who was on 24 hours leave from the station house in the vicinity, was trapped in his apartment with his mother, Mrs. Mary McManus, and his sister, Mary. One of his mates, Michael O'Sullivan, was probably fatally injured by falling from a ladder while trying to make his way to McManus's apartments. All three members of the family were dead when the firemen finally reached them. McManus was a cousin of Thomas J. McManus, a prominent Tammany leader, familiarly known as "The McManus."

The loss is estimated at $25,000.

THE LINERS FREE TO CHOOSE ANY PORT OF CALL

HALIFAX, Dec. 17.—The council of the board of trade at its meeting yesterday afternoon had the English mail service under discussion, and particularly the sailing of the Victorian and Virginian from St. John. From the steamship schedule Halifax was to be the port for the former ship leaving Liverpool on December 6th and the latter on December 20th. The Victorian was withdrawn from Halifax and the Virginian also is withdrawn from this port. The council asked for an explanation from the post office department at Ottawa.

The Tuetonic was to have come here on February 11th, but it also is to sail to and from St. John.

The agents of the White Star Dominion line informed the council that they had been instructed by their principals that the Tuetonic was an emergency boat, agreed on by all four lines to take the place of any boat withdrawn from the time being from the service. The Royal George will drop one trip and the Tuetonic takes her place. The council protest, but they feel bound to accept the explanation given by the agents of the line. The mail contract gives the lines the option of going to either St. John or Halifax, and the Tuetonic, taking the place of the Royal George, goes to St. John. The Tuetonic was to have made a special trip to Halifax, but no passengers or freight were taken for this port.

The New York chamber of commerce wrote suggesting the insertion of a clause in business transactions to the effect that if any dispute should arise the matter be allowed to be settled by arbitration and that the arbitration be utilized for that purpose. Numerous cases reach the courts with long delays, whereas the arbitration boards, composed of business men, would be settled on a business basis. The secretary was instructed to write the proposition which has long been in practise in Halifax.

The cost of watering the steamships at Halifax is in some cases excessive, and the present method is unsatisfactory. The board is asked to work on a better system, and a committee was appointed to take up the matter.

FIENDISH ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

(Canadian Press) ST. THOMAS, Ont., Dec. 17.—A mysterious attempt was made to wreck a heavy G. T. R. freight train near here at midnight last night. There is a bridge over Catfish Creek and at this place the attempt was made. The bridge is 125 feet high. The track had been under-mined and the ties taken out at a point six feet from the bridge. Two new ties were placed with ends under the rails, the other ends sticking up together between the rails in such a way that the train would be derailed. The west-bound train for which the trap was laid was late and the east-bound was given the right of way, so that when it struck the obstacle it was from the other side and no damage was done. The engine stopped but was not derailed. There is no clue to the guilty parties as there has been no trouble on the road. Detectives have the case in hand.

PICKED UP CREW SUPPOSED LOST

(Canadian Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 17.—Given up for lost, the crew of the derailed and abandoned steel ship, Dalgona, owned in London, are now on their way to Dover on the French ship, Lore, which picked them up on October 9, a thousand miles off the coast of Chile. The Captain and three men are dead. How they perished is yet unknown.
