Referees	W. Scantlebury, and H. Simpson

VIC MGAULEY SELECTED FOR CANADIAN TEAM

Nova Scotia Star to Run in Olympic Marathon, is Decided at Special Meeting.

MONTREAL, April 28.—Selection of a number of competitors to represent Canada in various branches of sport at the Colombes stadium in Paris, this summer, and as manager of the Canadian team in place of J. H. Crocker, Toronto, who is unable to make the trip, were the main features of the Canadian Olympic committee meeting held here over the week-end.

John Culbert, of Guelph; and Victor McAuley, Windsor, N.S., were selected to represent Canada in the Olympic Marathon, provided that their form on June 20 is satisfactory to the coach and manager of the team, Dave Johnson, former McGill track and field captain, now a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, was confirmed as a member of the team. Johnson will run the 440 yards for Canada and will do his training at Oxford, joining the team when it arrives in England in June. Hilton Bolyea, of St. John's, N. B., will represent Canada in the sculls.

It was decided that this Olympic committee transmit to all branches of the A. A. U. of C. and all the Olympic trials authorized by this committee shall be recognized; that all entries for Olympic games must be in accordance with the International Olympic Committee regulation; and that only committee will only recognize men selected at authorized trials.

BABE RUTH, MILLER HUGGINS' BIG BOY, IS BEGINNING TO GROW UP

Getting More Serious now About The Future of His Family- Didn't Realize The Land of Plenty and Spent Money Like Water On The "Good Fellows"?- "I Like The Kids and I'm for 'em all The Time Says Babe"

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—"He's beginning to grow up now and he's in shape. You just watch him go this year," Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, said today, looking at the Babe's prospect, to ride the 1924 season.

"Ruth always will be a boy at heart," he said. "He wouldn't realize what he is if he had lost the enthusiasm, the temperament or the viewpoint of a youth. He's getting more serious now about his future, and that is what I meant by saying 'Up until last year the Babe acted like a boy who didn't realize that the land of plenty, in which he was living, was not permanent. He had plenty of money and he spent it all on friends who were eager to help him in the spending. He was in the parlance of Broadway, he was a 'check-grabber.' He couldn't understand why he should not be permitted to pay all the freight and be a good fellow when he was on parties with the gang. He found himself broke, saw himself in the light of a sucker and he quit it."

After he had fought Jack Dempsey in Shelby last summer and failed to get a cent for staying fifteen rounds with the world's champion, a friend remarked to Tom Gibbons that it was hard luck on him.

"It's not my bad luck," Gibbons replied, "it's a bad luck for my Philadelphia. I would not mind if I had my three little boys. I have enough to take of myself, but it is my duty to provide for them."

The Babe didn't say anything like that last fall, but he did something that meant just as much. When the season closed he called Harry Heilmann, star Detroit outfielder, who had beaten him out for the American League batting championship.

"Take out the old papers, Harry. I want to buy some insurance."

When he is not working at baseball, Heilmann is an insurance salesman, and a good one, too. He drew out the application blank and Babe said:

"Give me one for $50,000."

As might be expected, he passed the physical examination and was accepted by the company for the full amount of the application.

When the policy had been turned over to him, the Babe let out a big sigh and said: "Now, I feel a whole lot better. There's sure to be something for the wife and little Dorothy when I leave."

That, perhaps, was one of the demonstrations that Ruth gave his manager as the symptoms of growing up.

The Babe still retains his temperament, but as soon as he loses that he will be close to the end of his career.

He is not the fiery, petulant Babe who jumped into the stand two years ago and ran out of the place the loud-mouthed rooster who called him a bum, but he is still the Babe who takes everything to heart and who broods when things are not going right.

In one of the pre-season exhibition games with the Brooklyn Robins, he objected to a decision given by Umpire Clarence Rowland and he found that Rowland wagged one of the most cutting tongues in the league. Rowland hurt the Babe's feelings, and he sulked all through the game like a schoolboy. He loafed in the field and loafed on Babe Ruth is seen autographing the first ball pitched this season in Boston at the opening game of the Yankees and the Red Sox. Needless to say, the Sultan of Swat was the centre of attraction.

BOWLING

L. O. C. ALLEYS

A very exciting game was rolled in the L. O. C. alleys last night between the L. O. C. All Stars and the Nationals which was won by the latter by a small margin of 40 pins.

NEW TRAINING STUNT
No little amusement was furnished a number of the local sporting fraternity Saturday afternoon between three and four o'clock, when a well known athlete was wheeling a per-ambulator (double header) up Prince St. On inquiries being made into the "mystery" no authentic information could be learned, but one ardent baseball fan opined that the guests that said athlete was getting into condition for the coming "bowl" season.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB FOR SUMMERSIDE

On Friday night a meeting of a number of the men of Summerside was held in St. Paul's Hall, with a view to forming an Athletic Association. L. M. McNeill was elected chairman and the meeting called to order.

It was decided to fit up St. Paul's hall as a gymnasium and to call a new club the "Amateur Athletes." No further business was discussed but it was decided to call a meeting for Thursday, May 1st, when all officers will be elected and bye laws drawn up.

That sport is again coming to the front in the "Western Capital" is shown by the above, and it is hoped that all will take an interest in this. So don't forget the meeting on Thursday night.

FRISCO DIRECT

In our advertising columns today will be noticed a card drawing attention to Frisco Direct, 224 1/2.

This beautiful horse was purchased at the Old Glory sale in 1922 by Mr. Hammond Kelly. He was very highly thought of at the sale and many predicted that he would get a record better than 2.15. Mr. Kelly, however, did not place him in training, but utilized his services in the stud last year. A short time ago he sold him to Mr. Claude MacMillan of the Morell House, Charlottetown, who is going to give the breeders an opportunity of patronizing this great horse in 1924.

It is Mr. MacMillan's intention after the breeding season is over to place Frisco Direct in training and to give him a record commensurate with his speed.

As far as breeding is concerned there are few better bred ones than Frisco Direct. His sire is San Francisco and his dam is Direct Hal, one of the great sires, and himself an unbeaten pacer on the Grand Circuit. His granddam on his dam's side is Princess Royal, dam of S. including Ese H. Kay, 2:00 1/4. With his rich breeding inheritance Frisco
