PROOF OF BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIAL PROGRESSIVENESS—Pursuing its vigorous "British Trade Prestige" campaign, which is helping to sell British goods in overseas markets, THE EMPIRE MAIL directs attention in its current issue (published from 212, High Holborn, London, W.C. 1, at 1s. 6d.) to the importance and efficiency of the varied industries of the United Kingdom. A glance through the names of the contributors to the issue will gain very wide attention to the article by Mr. Alan J. Cobman on "Empire Aviation Possibilities," in which the famous aviator reveals the aims which inspired his present momentous flight to Australia, and the developments which may follow it.

Mr. Alan Cobman on his Flight. Among the general contents of the Number, a contribution which will gain very wide attention is the article by Mr. Alan J. Cobman on "Empire Aviation Possibilities," in which the famous aviator reveals the aims which inspired his present momentous flight to Australia, and the developments which may follow it.

Informative Trade Features. In its leading article, THE EMPIRE MAIL discusses "The Future of British Coal" and pleads on behalf of British industry for a mutual sinking of differences. The regular sections of the journal contain much that is of intense practical interest to business men, a good example being the report on "Equipment for South Africa," in the pages devoted to engineering. Here a special South African correspondent gives information as to the needs of the mines, municipal projects, etc. As with engineering, so with the British motor, chemical, and textile machinery industries special sections of the Number deal with recent developments and present opportunities, and correspondents in the chief centres report on industrial prospects. Under the heading of "Empire Trade Developments," overseas events of trade interest are reviewed, and another very important section deals with Latin America.

Remove Corns By Hot Water

You can stop that corn or callous from aching in a minute or two. You do it in this way: Drop a little Putnam's Painless Corn Extract over the tender surface of the corn or callous and the pain stops at once. Just a few more applications, and then, after a hot foot bath the corn drops out. Can anything be simpler? You obtain certain results with Putnam's Painless Corn Extract. Note the name. It costs little and gives glorious results. Sold by all druggists.

Farrow Fired At Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—The services of R. R. Farrow, former deputy minister of customs, and for 40 years connected with the civil service, have been definitely dispensed with. The necessary order-in-council has been passed. Mr. Farrow came into prominence when his name was brought before the public in the recent customs inquiry into irregularities in the department. He has been in poor health for some time.

The Laurentian forest area of Quebec is estimated to contain 75,000,000 acres, and lumbering operations have been carried on for more than 100 years. The principal species are spruce, pine, cedar, tamarack, maple, birch, ash, elm, basswood and poplar.

BRIGHT HATS FOR MEN NOW LONDON DECREE

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Brighter hats for men is the order which has been passed out by Mayfair haberdashers. More colorful suits also are to be offered by tailors who are working hand in hand with hatters to get men away from dull grey and dark blue. Two new browns, cedar wood and buff, will be offered in both suits and hats, and also overcoats. Suits and hats which shade to lilac will be among the novelties of the season.

Theosophy Society To Have National Center

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The American Society of Theosophy will lay the corner stone of its new $250,000 national headquarters at Wheaton, Ill., near here, next Sunday, during its national convention here Aug. 28—Sept. 1. Approximately 2,000 members of the 274 lodges throughout the country are expected to attend the gathering, which will have as its guests of honor J. Krishnamurti, young Hindu regarded by the society as the man through whom God will work when next his agency visits the earth, and Mrs. Annie Besant, international president of the Society. They will come from Adyar, near Madras, India, headquarters of the Society.

Mrs. Besant, despite her advanced age of 79, will find a busy program of addresses planned for her, with a speaking tour from coast to coast awaiting the end of the convention. Krishnamurti and she will be guests at a reception Saturday, Aug. 28, the opening day of the convention, and Mrs. Besant will speak Sunday evening, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, when the convention will end with a banquet, and on Thursday will deliver a public lecture in a downtown theater. Mrs. Besant is the editor of a daily newspaper published in Madras, India, general secretary of the National Conference of India and of the National Convention of India.

Bobbed Hair Her Joke

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 20.—Bobbed hair is "one of life's biggest jokes," Mrs. W. C. Athow, department president of Michigan, Ohio Army Nurses of the Civil War as she looks on with eyes which have seen events of 93 years. "A tall, slender girl with a good heavy straight bob, reminds me of an upturned mouth," says the veteran nurse. "It is humorous as well as monotonous to see hundreds of girls following one style like a flock of sheep."

"To give my opinion on the present day styles of dress, cocktail drinking, cigarette smoking, dancing, jazz, bobbed hair and other modern 'evils' would fill a whole volume. Jazz is a desecration of our most beautiful gift—music. Modest dancing, however, is a delightful recreation and when I was younger I used to enjoy it."

TRAIL RIDERS IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

There is a new and most interesting movement on foot in Canada, these days, and not only in Canada, for its influence has spread far and wide since that day two years ago, when the Order of Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies was transplanted from a mere beautiful idea into an actual reality. The greatness and beauty of this "trail riding movement" has inspired a charming little book whose author is one of Canada's outstanding writers—Frederick Niven. Mr. Niven is widely known in America and the Old Country, and his appreciation of the Canadian West has been evident in all of his latest books, such as "Hands Up," "The Wolf," "The Lady of the Cross," "Sage-Bush Stories," "Cinderella of Skookum Creek," "Treasure Trail." Now he has given us in "Trail Riding in the Canadian Rockies," recently published by the Canadian Pacific Railway, a description of a trail rider's day in the mountains. He tells his story simply, yet so vividly that reading it one becomes conscious of beauty that broods among the tangled woods and peaks; the trail winds seen from the train that winds through narrow ribbons of tamarack needles—soft and resilient; the sways, the birds, and the bee-hooded glades. He speaks of the great joy of lying down underneath the stars, of waking to find morning on the misty mountains; and lastly of the eagerness of starting out upon a new day.

"The horses are saddled, the pack string waits. We mount and ride into the balsam scent, to the sight of lonely lakes, blue as turquoise, or green as jade tucked away among the woods. A vision of leagues of forests out of which crags flaunt up to the sky holding aloft the gleaming glaciers, on these thin ribbons of trails, strewn with odoriferous dust of old cones and tamarack needles, that twine through the wonderland."

It is a very wonderful experience to go on one of the official rides that the Order hold in the Rockies, Mr. Niven says, and it is easy to believe him. This year members of the Order will gather from all parts of the world to hold their official rides, and wind up with the annual "Pow-Wow" this year to be held in Pasmigan Valley, near locally Lake Louise.

"Trail Riding" is not only valuable from the standpoint of the high literary quality of Mr. Niven's introduction, but on account of the many riding, camping, fishing and hunting trips that are given in detail by prominent members of the Order of Trail Riders, such as Lt.-Col. Philip A. Moore, E. N. Davis and Bill Peets, a number of maps showing the trails and bungalow camps in the Rockies, and many fine photographs. For all these reasons, therefore, this little book is recommended to you with the warning that if you are not already a trail rider, you will be after reading it.

King Leaves Monday For The Maritimes

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20.—Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King spent an hour here this morning on his way east after two weeks campaigning in Western Canada. Mr. King concluded his western tour last night in Brandon. He will spend today travelling and will speak in Timmins, Ont., Friday night and in North Bay and New Liskeard Saturday. After a brief rest in Ottawa on Sunday, the Liberal leader will start east. There will probably be meetings at Sherbrooke, Woodstock, N. B., Saint John, Annapolis, Yarmouth and Liverpool during next week. In all, Mr. King will likely spend two weeks in the Maritime Provinces.

THE FLAG GOES BY

Along the street there comes A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums, A flash of colour beneath the sky; Hats off! The flag is passing by! Blue and crimson and white it shines Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines; Hats off! The colours before us fly; But more than the Flag is passing by.

Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great, Fought to make and to save the State; Weary marches and sinking ships; Cheers of victory on dying lips; Days of plenty and years of peace; March of a strong land's swift increase; Equal justice, right and law; Stately honour and revered awe;

Sign of a nation, great and strong To ward her people from foreign wrong; Pride, and glory, and honour—all Live in the colours to stand or fall. Hats off! Along the street there comes A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums, And loyal hearts are beating high; Hats off! The Flag is passing by!

DO YOU LIKE HONEY?

By Barbara B. Brooks, Home Economics Dept., Kellogg Company of Canada, Ltd., London, Canada.

If asked the question "Do You Like Honey?" nine persons out of ten will answer in the affirmative. But further questioning will reveal the fact that they eat this sweet only semi-occasionally and very rarely use it for cooking purposes. There is no other food so sweet of which brings fragrance, flavor and texture so vividly to our minds. Aristotle even declared honey to be a dew distilled from an ethereal rainbow. This is a pretty fancy, but the way honey is made by the bees is hardly less wonderful. Nectar from blossoms is sweetness, water and the oils which give each flower its characteristic perfume. The bees transform this into the honey that we all know.

Honey being a natural sugar is easily digested. The simplest way to serve it is either in comb or liquid form with hot breads. It is often served with cereals and is a favorite accompaniment for many housewives in other lands. The recipe for German Christmas cake, very old and has been handed down from one generation to another for many years. The following honey recipes have been tested and found delicious and practical:

Daffodil Meringue 2 tablespoons granulated tapioca, 2 cups honey, 1 pint boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon butter, Pinch salt. Beat the granulated tapioca and honey together in a bowl with cold water and stir it into the boiling water. Salt lightly and cook until clear. Beat the yolks of the eggs and beat in the honey with the granulated tapioca and cook over hot water until it thickens about 20 minutes. Pour into a buttered dish, adding a little candied lemon peel if desired. Cover with a meringue made from the whites of the eggs, beaten with 2 tablespoons of honey, and bake to a delicate fawn color.

Honey Cake. 1 cup butter, 4 cups flour, 2 cups honey, 2 level teaspoons soda, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cream butter and honey, add well beaten eggs, sour milk and flour, sifted with soda, spices and salt.

Honey Corn Flake Muffins. 1 1/2 cups corn flakes, 2 cups milk, 1 1/2 cups graham flour, 1/4 cup honey, 2 cups white flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon shortening. Mix melted shortening with honey, add to one egg beaten lightly, then add milk. Stir in the dry ingredients which have been thoroughly mixed. Bake in well greased muffin tins for thirty minutes. (Will make 32 muffins.)
