

The Western Guardian

This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a purely nature may be inserted at a special word strictly payable in advance.

OLD CARS for wrecking purposes. Pope Garage, Summerside. L-1073-10-2-81

JUST RECEIVED Munn's Best Cod Liver Oil, Taylor Drug Co., Kensington. 10-4-tf.

MATINEE RACES at Kensington Wednesday, October 9th. Special prize given by James McDonald in each class. L-1114-10-4-7-21.

SUNGLO FOX BREEDERS CLUB MEETINGS held each Monday evening 8 o'clock at Office of International Fox & Animal Foods, Summerside. Every Foxman welcome. L-1174-10-7-31.

VISITING SUMMERSIDE—Messrs. Herman and Frank Maynard of Regina are on a visit to their aunt, Mrs. M. L. Frank MacKenzie of Summerside.—S

VISITORS TO SUMMERSIDE—Mrs. Hume Hopgood of Malpeque and her daughter Miss Hazel, were visitors to Summerside on Saturday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hopgood's sister, Mrs. Henry Mallett of Detroit, who has been spending the summer on the Island.—S

GASPIESIA CALLED—The S.S. Gaspesia called at Summerside on Thursday and brought a large miscellaneous cargo and four passengers. She left on her return trip on Friday with about 100 barrels of oysters.—S

RETURNED HOME—Mr. Elwood McEachern with his wife and little daughter have returned to their home in Boston after a pleasant visit with relatives in Prince County.—S

LONDON AUCTION FUR SALES—Advices have been received by four houses in Summerside that there will be 10,000 silver fox skins on the market for the fur auction which opens in London on Oct. 8th. The order of sale will be Messrs. Hulth, Anning and Cobb and Lampons. Prices expected to be firm.—S

RED CROSS—The Junior Red Cross branch of Wilnot Valley School held their reorganization meeting in the school on Wednesday, Sept. 26, with the teacher presiding. The branch this year has one hundred percent membership, and adopted their former name of "True Blue." After a short discussion the following officers were elected: President, David Clarke; vice president, Helen Huestis; Secretary, Kenneth Clarke; Treasurer, Wendell Huestis; Director, E. E. Huestis; Publicity Manager, Lawrence Durant. Also commemoated of the following: Program, Beth Waugh; Health and Cleanliness, E. E. Clarke; Service, Harry Waugh; Collecting Coupons, Lawrence Durant.

CATHOLIC YOUNG MEN'S LEAGUE—The annual meeting of the Catholic Young Men's League of St. Paul's Church was held on Sunday 29th when the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Joseph Gaudet; Vice President, Gordon Sullivan; 2nd Vice President, Elmer Murphy in charge of entertaining committee; 3rd Vice President, Harold Arsenault, in charge of Athletics; 4th Vice President, Raymond Coffin, chairman of educational committee; Recording Secretary, Eddie Arsenault; Judging by the feeling expressed by the members present it was predicted that the club would have a successful year. The opening card party of the club was held on Friday evening in St. Paul's Hall and a goodly number gathered to try their hand at the good old game of auction forty fives. Keen competition resulted in the following emerging winners: Gentlemen's first, George C. Arsenault; Consolation, Elmer Grady; Ladies first, Miss Eileen Carver; Consolation, Miss Bertha Gallant. In the freestyle Mr. Joseph Richard came out the victor after a hard struggle. A very fine time was had by all and all signified their intention of being on

P. L. BOWNESS
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
Prince County Hospital
ambulance in Charge
Summerside and Bedouque
Phone 33-1.

BORDEN FOX SHOW
Nov. 19th, 20th, 1935
Open to registered and unregistered foxes throughout the Province.
Trophies, substantial cash prizes, fox feed and supplies to winners.
Open to all P. E. I.
E. C. BELL, Secretary.
Carleton.
L-1111-10-4-31

P. L. BOWNESS & SON
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We have opened a complete line of funeral supplies in the McPherson building, Kensington, in charge of Mr. Nelson R. Henry, Phone 3-5. Our personal attention will be given calls day or night with prices in accordance with the times. Most modern funeral coach in the Maritimes. Separate motor ambulance at very moderate rates.

WILL CHOOSE PRINCE CO. CANDIDATE

Conservative Nomination Convention Called At Summerside This Morning.

A convention of the Liberal-Conservative party for West and East Prince will be held this forenoon at Summerside for the purpose of endorsing the selection of a candidate for nomination in opposition to Mr. A. E. MacLean.

It is understood that Mr. J. Frank Arnett has consented to allow his name to go forward again, he having carried the colours of the party at the election in 1930.

hand next Friday when the pre-Christmas tournament will be started.—S

MALPEQUE, Tuesday evening, Oct. 8th, Stanley Bridge Dramatic Club present "Shady Grove" under auspices of Malpeque Women's Institute. L-1179-10-7-21

DECLINES INVITATION—Mr. A. E. MacLean has declined an invitation to speak in St. John, N. B., and other points outside the Province.—S

PERSONALS

—Miss Eileen Dawson is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Reginald Dingwell of North Bedouque.—S

—Mrs. Vernon Matthew and daughter, Miss Dolly O'Leary were visitors to Summerside last week.—S

—Miss Dorothy Lidstone of Cape Wolf is visiting relatives in Boston.—S

—Mr. Herman G. Bryan is visiting Boston and expects to return to his home in Freeland on Tuesday.—S

—Mr. Russell Rogers of Coleman attended the Conservative meeting in Charlottetown on Saturday.—S

—Mr. Bernard Riley and Mr. Edward Lidstone of Cape Wolf were visitors to Summerside on Saturday.—S

—Mr. and Mrs. Parnell McMahon moved into their beautiful new residence in Kinkora on Saturday. Their many friends in Summerside regret their departure but wish them every success in their new home.—S

—Friends in Summerside will regret to learn of the death on September 19th at his home in St. Albans, near London, England, of Mr. George Harmon, father of Mr. Bernard Harmon of Summerside. Mr. Harmon left for London on September 20th.—S

"Martha Washington" Tea in I. O. O. F. Hall

A very enjoyable and unique tea was held on Saturday afternoon in the I. O. O. F. Reception Room and was sponsored by the Past Noble Grand, Club of Alpha Rebekah Lodge.

The tea table looked lovely with centre of Gladiolus and flame colored candles in silver holders and bunches of Rowan berries and was presided over by Mrs. W. L. McEachern, Mearmaid and Mrs. A. J. Houle.

Those serving were all attired in pastel colored gowns of the Martha Washington style and looked very quaint and picturesque.

Miss Hilda Harper, President of the Club and Mrs. Fulton Adams, vice president received the many friends who were loud in their praise of the lovely arrangements of the tea.

Mrs. Willis Nicholson and Miss Jean Fraser played piano selections and vocal solos by Miss Jean Fraser and Mrs. L. H. D. Howatt were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The Club is giving the proceeds to the Prince Edward Island Hospital and the Prince Edward Island Orphanage collections.

SUNGLO
Fall-Furring Ration and Summer Rations at your nearest dealer.

P. L. BOWNESS & SON
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We have opened a complete line of funeral supplies in the McPherson building, Kensington, in charge of Mr. Nelson R. Henry, Phone 3-5. Our personal attention will be given calls day or night with prices in accordance with the times. Most modern funeral coach in the Maritimes. Separate motor ambulance at very moderate rates.

P. L. BOWNESS & SON
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We have opened a complete line of funeral supplies in the McPherson building, Kensington, in charge of Mr. Nelson R. Henry, Phone 3-5. Our personal attention will be given calls day or night with prices in accordance with the times. Most modern funeral coach in the Maritimes. Separate motor ambulance at very moderate rates.

P. L. BOWNESS & SON
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
We have opened a complete line of funeral supplies in the McPherson building, Kensington, in charge of Mr. Nelson R. Henry, Phone 3-5. Our personal attention will be given calls day or night with prices in accordance with the times. Most modern funeral coach in the Maritimes. Separate motor ambulance at very moderate rates.

Rousing Preliminary Addresses At Forum On Saturday Evening

(Continued from Page 3)

our country, that in her hour of need, Providence provided in the person of the Right Honourable R. B. Bennett a man who was able to cope with her many perplexing problems." (Applause.)

"Excluded as we were from the markets of the United States and other countries by prohibitive tariffs over which we had no control, the export trade of Canada in 1930 was in a bad way. It was at this juncture that Mr. Bennett turned his attention to Great Britain, always an important nation, and then, by the Ottawa Trade Agreements, found an outlet for the primary products of Canada and succeeded in establishing between Empire countries, comprising as they do one quarter of the population of the globe, the greatest reciprocal trade agreement of the last half century.

"Ladies and gentlemen, you have all experienced the benefits of these trade treaties in the past three years. They terminated, in 1930, the tariff on wheat to whom we import the task of this renewal? To Mr. Bennett, who was chiefly instrumental in their consummation, or to Mr. King who, without offering anything better, to take their place, has strenuously opposed them at every turn.

"That is the question which you are asked to answer by your ballots on the 14th day of October.

"Mr. McLure and I have represented you in Parliament during the past five years and our record is before you. At your request, as expressed in convention, we are again seeking your suffrage.

"We take this opportunity of thanking you for your support in the past, and we respectfully solicit your votes and influence in the forthcoming contest." (Applause.)

MR. MCLURE

Nothing, said Mr. W. Chester S. McLure, the next speaker, could give him greater pleasure than to be one of this vast audience, gathered to do honour to Canada's great Prime Minister and great Empire builder, the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. He did not intend making any lengthy remarks. "I am here on this platform because you have honored me and my colleague as your candidate in the last election. You have again honored us to carry your banner on October 14 into power. I thank you most sincerely for that expression of confidence. Your support on October 14 will give Premier Bennett an opportunity of further developing Canada and her institutions." (Applause.)

EX-PREMIER MACMILLAN

"As I look back over the period of my life," said ex-Premier Macmillan, who also received enthusiastic applause, "I have experienced times of joy and pride, but at no time in my life, either private or political, have I felt greater pride than at this present moment, when the honour devolves upon me of introducing Canada's greatest Prime Minister, and Prince Edward Island's best friend." (Applause.)

In my capacity of Premier of this Province for two years, and as acting premier for over a year before that, I probably have had more to do with Mr. Bennett than any one else in this Province. And I know that my colleagues in the late government will agree with me that whenever we went to Ottawa on those "picnics" which the Liberal press was so fond of talking about—when we went there with proposals for the benefit of this province we always met with the greatest consideration from Mr. Bennett and his cabinet.

"It is nearly five years since the first of those 'picnics' began. The man who went to Ottawa at that time is now Minister of Public Works in the Government of this Province. He started those 'picnics' and came back with $90,000. Yet there is not a man in political life on the Liberal side in this province who has ever said one kind thing about Canada's Prime Minister.

"Two or three days after we were elected in 1931, the late Premier Stewart and myself went to Ottawa and came back with $113,000 of unemployment money. In 1933 we came back with $125,000 of unemployment money.

"More than that, the special disability under which this Province has lain for several years regarding excessive rates on the Car Ferry, was put before Mr. Bennett and his cabinet. We had the pleasure of hearing the Prime Minister say to his Minister of Railways, the Hon.

More Towns Are Bombed

(Continued from Page 1)

lopans in this area constitute only the outermost Ethiopian barrier, 20 miles in advance of the main northern line of defence.

Resisting Successfully

Ras Seyoum, commanding the northern troops, reported to the Emperor that the manpower of the two armies is equal and said the Ethiopians had been resisting successfully despite their enemies' superior weapons—airplanes and tanks.

EASTERN—Italy's claim to the capture of Wayeta, Ethiopians said, possesses little military importance because the place faces an almost impassable desert.

EXTREME SOUTH—Mussolini's reported capture of Dolo was deemed unimportant strategically since here again the Italian troops face a wide and forbidding desert.

The Emperor's line of defence on eastern and southwestern fronts, it was emphasized, is along mountains and behind deserts.

A communique from the African front, issued prior to today's fighting, said the assault on Adowa had been resumed at dawn by the second army corps.

Fresh victories were officially reported for Saturday—the third day of war.

Other Successes

On the northern Ethiopian front General Santini Ruggero ran up the Italian flag on the ruins of the Adigrat fortress, which collapsed in the crushing defeat of May 18, 1936.

In the southeast, the Italians after brief fighting occupied Gerogubi yesterday morning, the government announced.

(The Addis Ababa correspondent of Reuters News Agency reported Italian planes had bombed Gerogubi, 80 miles from Walwal, killing 40 soldiers.)

An official communique announced the steady advance of the various columns in the north had put within Italian control much of the population.

The text of the communique follows:

Yesterday, Oct. 5, our flag which on May 18, 1936, was taken down from the fort of Adigrat was raised again on the ruins of the same fort by the strong forces of the first army corps commanded by General Santini Ruggero.

The population and priesthood made acts of submission.

The native army corps, after having captured Ambahaugher with lightning manoeuvres, brushing aside the defenders, settled down in the vicinity of Entisico.

The second army corps, which had a more difficult terrain to handle, reached the outlying districts of Adowa.

Aviation cooperated efficiently with the various columns.

General de Bono (General Emilio de Bono, commander of all colonial troops) reported 'all troops without exception gave proof of their great eagerness, discipline and resistance.'

Toward evening the troops rested on their new positions.

Detachments of engineers and 1,000 laborers worked without interruption day and night and have already transformed the paths that lead from the frontier to Adigrat into roads which may be travelled by motor cars.

Defeat Of 1896 Is Avenged

(Continued from Page 1)

Sinna was repulsed.

On a new line, liaison already has been established between the various army corps.

Congratulates Army Commander

Tonight Premier Mussolini communicated the news of the capture to the King and sent the following telegram to General Emilio de Bono, commander of colonial troops in East Africa:

"The announcement of the capture of Adowa fills the souls of Italians with pride. I send to you and all my troops my high praise and the gratitude of the nation."

For three days, while Ethiopian warriors held the city, Italy had waited to celebrate the occupation of Adowa—symbol of the crushing Italian defeat in 1896 and now its symbol of victory.

There were no newspapers today to inform the nation and to organize a celebration. There will be none until tomorrow, when Fascist leaders expect nation-wide exultations.

Military technique to minimize casualties was apparent in the Italian news from the front.

Past tanks lead the way, with air squadrons overhead. Field artillery "clears out" the difficult spots where the Ethiopians resist. In some cases the planes, after circling widely, come up behind the enemy and rake the opposing ground forces with machine guns

Trans-Canada Highway

"Again Mr. Bennett kept his promise in saying that he would assist in building a trans-Canada highway so far as connecting this capital city of the Island with Borden is concerned. Last year we went to Ottawa and received from him an initial $50,000 to build two miles of concrete road at Borden. On that trip we came home with $112,000, the balance being for the beginning of the trans-Canada highway. This year we went back again, and came home with over one-quarter of a million dollars for the trans-Canada highway, and before this month is out we hope to see this capital connected with Borden by a great highway which should be named the Bennett Highway." (Applause.)

"It is my wonder, then, that I should take this first opportunity I have had in Mr. Bennett's presence of extending the thanks of the government of the day for what he has done for this Province.

"I am not going into those other questions of direct relief, old age pensions, etc. suffice it to say that in cold cash in the last four years we have received from the Bennett Government in this province away over One Million Dollars.

"Lastly I must mention the Rustico highway for the benefit of those people who have been clamouring for years for rail connection which they never got, where not even a beginning was made with the exception of some tracks that were generally put down by the Liberals before an election. The people of that isolated community have the satisfaction of knowing that their hard-surface road is going down now, and that its difficulty will be solved.

A Striking Contrast

"These are some of the things that I want to say in the presence of Canada's Prime Minister; that we who have had something to do with them feel grateful for his generosity to this province. You can contrast that attitude, which he extended to every province irrespective of politics, with the attitude of Mr. Mackenzie King when he said, 'No, a Five-cent piece to any Tory Province.'

"I wish I had time to go further, but I must not trespass. I remember sitting in the House of Commons in the gallery, listening to Mr. Bennett enunciating his reform policies. Mr. King took objection, claiming he had dealt with those policies long ago. Mr. Bennett asked, 'What did you do with them?' and the Liberal leader replied, 'I put them in a book.' It was a little book, confined to old-fashioned long ago. But the present Prime Minister has put his ideas into the statutes of Canada, where they are now working for the benefit of the country." (Applause.)

"You need not take my opinion on the stand which the Prime Minister has taken during the past five years. Go to the independent tribunal which is the best judge of the standards of government in every country in the world—the League of Nations. What do they say about Canada? That Canada is leading the world out of this depression, and will come out of it with her resources intact, with the character and spirit of her people undaunted." (Applause.)

"If that is so, who is responsible? Isn't it the man who is head of the government, the man who has steered the destinies of Canada during the five most difficult years of her history? That man I have great pleasure in introducing to you now, as Canada's greatest Prime Minister." (Applause.)

Scout News and Notices

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand, a Scout set out to take him home. Some hours later a wild Scout returned. Very slowly, but surely, the small hiker had led him on and on to a home several miles in the country.

The first training course for leaders of Special Test Scout Groups (physically and mentally handicapped boys) was held this fall at Gilwell Park, England. Special Test Scout units have been increasing rapidly in hospitals and sanitariums for children throughout the Empire, as well as in the United States, France and Holland.

Rover Scouts of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, on Easter last, visited the David Livingstone Memorial at Victoria Falls, and joined the 1st Livingstone Scout Troop in a Scouts' Own Service. The Rovers placed at the foot of the memorial a wreath bearing the inscription, "With the deep respect of the Salisbury and District Local Association of Boy Scouts."

Looking about for some field of public service, Rover Scouts of a new crew at West Hatch, Somersetshire, found a unique one near at hand. This was the ringing of the chimes of the local church, long silent. They began to study the ancient art of bell ringing, and the bells are once more heard regularly. The Rover ringers' first big test came with the King's Silver Jubilee, when in relays they played hymns and national airs for most of the day.

No "Red Indians" had been reported in Scotland, but when lumbermen fighting a brush fire in a pine wood at Heriot heard a yell, and looked, their hair rose as they saw undoubted redmen charging through the smoke. While they stared, poised for flight, the Indians attacked the fire, and retreated themselves into Boy Scouts.

Men between 20 and 40 should buy Twenty Pay Life Policies

Confederation Life

Men between 20 and 40 should buy Twenty Pay Life Policies

BECAUSE, between these ages, a large amount of life insurance can be carried for a low premium. At the end of twenty years, the value of the policy becomes a fully paid-up part of one's estate, no further premiums being necessary. Then, too, the policy has a very substantial immediate cash value. In short, a Twenty Payment Life Policy is an ideal way of combining Life Insurance protection and systematic saving. If you want to accomplish these two things at one and the same time, write for our pamphlet entitled, "Fully Paid Up in 20 Years," which shows how it can be done.

Evangelist Lectures

They were members of the Royal High School Troop of Portobello, who as a novelty had been camping in Indian fashion and in costume. The fire lasted throughout the night and into the morning, but the smoke-grimed "savages" stayed with it, and rendered very valuable aid.

McKEE-CLARK

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Trinity United Parsonage, Richmond St., Saturday morning, when Rev. Hugh Miller united in the holy bonds of matrimony Doris Charlotte, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. McKee, to Albert C. Clark.

The bride was attractively attired in an imported brown swaggar suit, lavishly trimmed with red fox, with hat, shoes and other accessories to match and corsage of tulle and roses.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Livingstone, Mrs. Livingstone becomingly attired in a blue suit trimmed with blue fox and matching accessories.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, after which the happy couple left by motor for Boston, New York and Atlantic City.

Previous to her marriage the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower and afternoon tea at which she received many useful gifts.

Among the wedding presents received were a beautiful silver service and tray from DeBlois Bros., also a coffee table from the staff of DeBlois Bros., of which the groom has been an efficient employee for some time.

Before her marriage the bride was employed as cashier with the Confederation Life Insurance Co., and received from the branch manager, Mr. W. G. Hogg, a magnificent mantle clock, also a silver dish from the representatives of the Island District.

Substantial cheques were received from the bride's parents and others, also numerous other gifts including china, cut glass and silverware.

The Guardian joins with numerous friends in extending hearty felicitations.

—Miss Irma Constable of New London is visiting in New Annapolis and Summerside a guest of Mrs. Harold Moos and Mrs. Maxwell Robertson.—S

FARM FOR SALE

There will be sold by public auction on the premises at North Tryon on Thursday, October 10, 1935, at two o'clock, the farm property formerly occupied by William E. Calbeck and consisting of about eighty-five acres, all under cultivation.

This property has two dwelling houses and nice brook running through the property. It is well located, being near churches, schools, etc.

Terms will be announced at the sale.

For further particulars apply to Morley M. Bell, Solicitor, Summerside. L-1003-9-28-5-21.

FOR SALE

1 Electrical Oil Burner Complete. This burner is in perfect condition and can be purchased reasonably.

T. D. MORRISON,
Summerside

Scout News and Notices

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand, a Scout set out to take him home. Some hours later a wild Scout returned. Very slowly, but surely, the small hiker had led him on and on to a home several miles in the country.

The first training course for leaders of Special Test Scout Groups (physically and mentally handicapped boys) was held this fall at Gilwell Park, England. Special Test Scout units have been increasing rapidly in hospitals and sanitariums for children throughout the Empire, as well as in the United States, France and Holland.

Rover Scouts of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, on Easter last, visited the David Livingstone Memorial at Victoria Falls, and joined the 1st Livingstone Scout Troop in a Scouts' Own Service. The Rovers placed at the foot of the memorial a wreath bearing the inscription, "With the deep respect of the Salisbury and District Local Association of Boy Scouts."

Looking about for some field of public service, Rover Scouts of a new crew at West Hatch, Somersetshire, found a unique one near at hand. This was the ringing of the chimes of the local church, long silent. They began to study the ancient art of bell ringing, and the bells are once more heard regularly. The Rover ringers' first big test came with the King's Silver Jubilee, when in relays they played hymns and national airs for most of the day.

No "Red Indians" had been reported in Scotland, but when lumbermen fighting a brush fire in a pine wood at Heriot heard a yell, and looked, their hair rose as they saw undoubted redmen charging through the smoke. While they stared, poised for flight, the Indians attacked the fire, and retreated themselves into Boy Scouts.

Scout News and Notices

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand, a Scout set out to take him home. Some hours later a wild Scout returned. Very slowly, but surely, the small hiker had led him on and on to a home several miles in the country.

The first training course for leaders of Special Test Scout Groups (physically and mentally handicapped boys) was held this fall at Gilwell Park, England. Special Test Scout units have been increasing rapidly in hospitals and sanitariums for children throughout the Empire, as well as in the United States, France and Holland.

Rover Scouts of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, on Easter last, visited the David Livingstone Memorial at Victoria Falls, and joined the 1st Livingstone Scout Troop in a Scouts' Own Service. The Rovers placed at the foot of the memorial a wreath bearing the inscription, "With the deep respect of the Salisbury and District Local Association of Boy Scouts."

Looking about for some field of public service, Rover Scouts of a new crew at West Hatch, Somersetshire, found a unique one near at hand. This was the ringing of the chimes of the local church, long silent. They began to study the ancient art of bell ringing, and the bells are once more heard regularly. The Rover ringers' first big test came with the King's Silver Jubilee, when in relays they played hymns and national airs for most of the day.

No "Red Indians" had been reported in Scotland, but when lumbermen fighting a brush fire in a pine wood at Heriot heard a yell, and looked, their hair rose as they saw undoubted redmen charging through the smoke. While they stared, poised for flight, the Indians attacked the fire, and retreated themselves into Boy Scouts.

Scout News and Notices

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand, a Scout set out to take him home. Some hours later a wild Scout returned. Very slowly, but surely, the small hiker had led him on and on to a home several miles in the country.

The first training course for leaders of Special Test Scout Groups (physically and mentally handicapped boys) was held this fall at Gilwell Park, England. Special Test Scout units have been increasing rapidly in hospitals and sanitariums for children throughout the Empire, as well as in the United States, France and Holland.

Rover Scouts of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, on Easter last, visited the David Livingstone Memorial at Victoria Falls, and joined the 1st Livingstone Scout Troop in a Scouts' Own Service. The Rovers placed at the foot of the memorial a wreath bearing the inscription, "With the deep respect of the Salisbury and District Local Association of Boy Scouts."

Looking about for some field of public service, Rover Scouts of a new crew at West Hatch, Somersetshire, found a unique one near at hand. This was the ringing of the chimes of the local church, long silent. They began to study the ancient art of bell ringing, and the bells are once more heard regularly. The Rover ringers' first big test came with the King's Silver Jubilee, when in relays they played hymns and national airs for most of the day.

No "Red Indians" had been reported in Scotland, but when lumbermen fighting a brush fire in a pine wood at Heriot heard a yell, and looked, their hair rose as they saw undoubted redmen charging through the smoke. While they stared, poised for flight, the Indians attacked the fire, and retreated themselves into Boy Scouts.

Confederation Life

Men between 20 and 40 should buy Twenty Pay Life Policies

BECAUSE, between these ages, a large amount of life insurance can be carried for a low premium. At the end of twenty years, the value of the policy becomes a fully paid-up part of one's estate, no further premiums being necessary. Then, too, the policy has a very substantial immediate cash value. In short, a Twenty Payment Life Policy is an ideal way of combining Life Insurance protection and systematic saving. If you want to accomplish these two things at one and the same time, write for our pamphlet entitled, "Fully Paid Up in 20 Years," which shows how it can be done.

Association

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand, a Scout set out to take him home. Some hours later a wild Scout returned. Very slowly, but surely, the small hiker had led him on and on to a home several miles in the country.

The first training course for leaders of Special Test Scout Groups (physically and mentally handicapped boys) was held this fall at Gilwell Park, England. Special Test Scout units have been increasing rapidly in hospitals and sanitariums for children throughout the Empire, as well as in the United States, France and Holland.

Rover Scouts of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, on Easter last, visited the David Livingstone Memorial at Victoria Falls, and joined the 1st Livingstone Scout Troop in a Scouts' Own Service. The Rovers placed at the foot of the memorial a wreath bearing the inscription, "With the deep respect of the Salisbury and District Local Association of Boy Scouts."

Looking about for some field of public service, Rover Scouts of a new crew at West Hatch, Somersetshire, found a unique one near at hand. This was the ringing of the chimes of the local church, long silent. They began to study the ancient art of bell ringing, and the bells are once more heard regularly. The Rover ringers' first big test came with the King's Silver Jubilee, when in relays they played hymns and national airs for most of the day.

No "Red Indians" had been reported in Scotland, but when lumbermen fighting a brush fire in a pine wood at Heriot heard a yell, and looked, their hair rose as they saw undoubted redmen charging through the smoke. While they stared, poised for flight, the Indians attacked the fire, and retreated themselves into Boy Scouts.

Evangelist Lectures

They were members of the Royal High School Troop of Portobello, who as a novelty had been camping in Indian fashion and in costume. The fire lasted throughout the night and into the morning, but the smoke-grimed "savages" stayed with it, and rendered very valuable aid.

McKEE-CLARK

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Trinity United Parsonage, Richmond St., Saturday morning, when Rev. Hugh Miller united in the holy bonds of matrimony Doris Charlotte, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. McKee, to Albert C. Clark.

The bride was attractively attired in an imported brown swaggar suit, lavishly trimmed with red fox, with hat, shoes and other accessories to match and corsage of tulle and roses.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Livingstone, Mrs. Livingstone becomingly attired in a blue suit trimmed with blue fox and matching accessories.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, after which the happy couple left by motor for Boston, New York and Atlantic City.

Previous to her marriage the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower and afternoon tea at which she received many useful gifts.

Among the wedding presents received were a beautiful silver service and tray from DeBlois Bros., also a coffee table from the staff of DeBlois Bros., of which the groom has been an efficient employee for some time.

Before her marriage the bride was employed as cashier with the Confederation Life Insurance Co., and received from the branch manager, Mr. W. G. Hogg, a magnificent mantle clock, also a silver dish from the representatives of the Island District.

Substantial cheques were received from the bride's parents and others, also numerous other gifts including china, cut glass and silverware.

The Guardian joins with numerous friends in extending hearty felicitations.

—Miss Irma Constable of New London is visiting in New Annapolis and Summerside a guest of Mrs. Harold Moos and Mrs. Maxwell Robertson.—S

FARM FOR SALE

There will be sold by public auction on the premises at North Tryon on Thursday, October 10, 1935, at two o'clock, the farm property formerly occupied by William E. Calbeck and consisting of about eighty-five acres, all under cultivation.

This property has two dwelling houses and nice brook running through the property. It is well located, being near churches, schools, etc.

Terms will be announced at the sale.

For further particulars apply to Morley M. Bell, Solicitor, Summerside. L-1003-9-28-5-21.

FOR SALE

1 Electrical Oil Burner Complete. This burner is in perfect condition and can be purchased reasonably.

T. D. MORRISON,
Summerside

Scout News and Notices

"Boys of today seem to be better physically than they ever were," declared Lord Baden-Powell, in an address during his Canadian tour.

With their long world tour but recently completed, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell leave England October 19 to visit the Scouts and Girl Guides of South Africa.

Combining hiking and scientific research, Rover Scouts of Sydney University, Australia, organized an expedition, under one of their college professors, to survey the district surrounding Myell Lakes. The party included botanists, geologists and entomologists.

As a result of the impression made upon him by their "behavior work and courtesy," the Boy Scouts of Sierra Leone have been presented by Mr. Alfred C. Blossom, M.P., for Maidstone, with a handsome Challenge Shield. The shield will be awarded annually to the troop earning the highest per-Scout percentage of proficiency badges.

A unique angle of Scouting as a world peace movement was emphasized by its originator, Lord Baden-Powell in an address at Winnipeg, when the "hero of Mafeking" declared that the movement in South Africa had made an important contribution toward healing the breach between the British and Dutch, of which Mafeking was one of the historic struggles.

"Lost Children" duty at fall fairs brings Boy Scouts varied experiences. At the Ottawa exhibition this fall a 4-year-old picked up and "not called for" could give neither name nor address. Did he know his way home? Yes, and he pointed, apparently, down the nearby street. Holding his hand,