

DEBATE ON

Mr. Diefenbaker said the minister had declared in effect that: "Regardless of conditions, however dangerous our situation as a country and an Empire may be, any party government which today would bring in military service for overseas would have no regard for the political future of that party."

"Surely that is a dangerous attitude to be taken by a minister charged with the aspirations of the people and their right to survival!" He said: "I stand where I have always stood: my consideration, and no doubt he was speaking for the members of the government around him, is political survival at some time in the future."

Other speakers included Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (Con. South) who charged the government with being mainly concerned with political expediency.

The time to discuss and make definite plans for total conscription was now and all should be done by Parliament, said Col. Ross. He described the Royal Commission report on the Hong Kong expedition as "a fine piece of white-wash" and declared that would appear from the report that training and equipment were not important.

J. M. Desheres (Lib. Newfoundland) a French-speaking western member, announced that he would support the government's policy, having been elected as a supporter of the King's government.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F. Vancouver East) said the government was to be blamed for "lack of honesty" in connection with the manpower problem.

Mr. Gardiner's reference to party considerations in application of a total conscription policy arose when he discussed the speech made by Mr. Hanson last week.

He quoted from Mr. Hanson's speech to indicate the latter's definition of national selective service, as follows:

"It means, in a word, that every man among us shall be called upon to perform the right job, at the right time in the right place in the right way."

He suggested that Mr. Hanson meant that the government should tell every man where he should serve and when.

Mr. Gardiner recalled that on May 7, 1941, he had said that it would be possible in Canada to raise a military force of 750,000 men.

"I submit to the House that the plans now submitted to it by the Minister of National Defence (Col. J. L. Ralston) provide for such an army."

"There are something over 600,000 up to the end of the present fiscal year with the necessary troops to perform the right job, at the right time when the troops now raised are in action."

"Under those circumstances we have the possibility of carrying out in Canada the present policy in relation to the army, without conscription."

Mr. Gardiner said there was immediate necessity for having power to send men out under the N.R.M.A. outside of Canada for service in the United States, Alaska or other closely adjacent areas.

But that did not necessarily mean sending men out during the present period, farther south on the sea of Azov. These may be accompanied by a secondary thrust from the Kerch Peninsula.

Mr. Diefenbaker was challenged to give a direct answer as to whether or not he favored immediate conscription for overseas service.

He replied: "I say that the time has come when there is only one mobilization that will assure equality and fairness and will assure unity in Canada, so that each province will know that all are properly contributing and all within each province are contributing."

"That is by establishing selective service for overseas immediately, and there is no qualification about that."

LESS COFFEE FOR SOME IS BETTER
Coffee rationing will prove hard on an Ottawa woman who has had to admit that she drinks from ten to fourteen cups of strong coffee a day, but her health and looks will improve, she has reason to hope, because doctors are agreed that excessive drinking of tea and coffee is not good for anyone.

Nutritionists state that while coffee, like tea, has value as a stimulant, it has no actual food value. Everyone could live well, though perhaps not so happily, without tea and coffee. These drinks are not all harmful when freshly made, and drunk in moderate quantities, but too much of the caffeine in coffee and the tannin in tea is hard on the nerves.

Some people may find it hard to cut down their tea and coffee consumption. Like a reducing diet for over-weight, it may be hard at first but will pay dividends in the long run.

Horsemen Demand Suffolk Downs Increase Purses

BOSTON, June 15—(AP)—The first horsemen's strike in the 100-year-old history of New England pari-mutuel racing—a strike over demands for increases in all purses—today resulted in the cancellation of tomorrow's eight-race program at Suffolk Downs.

That action resulted when only eight of the 1,000-odd thoroughbreds, quarantined at the track, representing almost 200 different owners, were designated as starters in tomorrow's over night events.

Earlier a group of owners and trainers, who had identified themselves as "horsemen" of Suffolk Downs, presented a petition to Charles F. Adams, president of the Eastern Racing Association, that called for a 20-per-cent increase in all purses for the duration of the 60-day meeting, which reached its halfway mark last Saturday.

Adams said:—

"I told the representatives of the horsemen that we are willing to go part of the way with you but we can't go all the way. We are doing all we can afford to do for we cannot foretell what the future has in store for taxation and for transportation and we could not make promises that we might not be able to keep."

Later three owner-trainers, Johnny McDowell, Phil Be'er and Harold Simmons, who acted as spokesmen for the horsemen, notified racing secretary Charles J. McLennan that they had revised their demand to a minimum purse of $1,200 instead of $1,000 for the rest of the meeting.

In their petition to Adams, the horsemen pointed out that the upkeep of horses had increased "far in excess of 30 per cent" and that they were unable to make the 60-day meet even under the most favorable conditions. They also pointed out that the Suffolk Downs handle for the first half of its 1942 meeting totalled $15,075,555, an increase of $1,938,707 over that same period last year.

Krakauskas Will be in Can. Army soon

By Al Collett
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 16—(CP)—Did you know that: Flight manager Jack Hurley and Cris Dundee between them have lost 13 fighters to the United States armed forces.

Hurley's stable of seven included Billy Marquart, Wim peg-born lightweight who is at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Jace Krakauskas, Montreal-born southpaw who learned to pitch on Ontario sandlots, hurled his last game for Baltimore Orioles Saturday.

He'll be in the Canadian Army soon. The six-foot, 200-pound fireballer developed a sore arm hurling for Washington Senators in 1939 and never fully recovered.

While Dizy Deun talks of a comeback, brother Paul is accomplishing one. He's won several of eight games for Houston in the Texas League.

Army And Navy Whites Tangle At Park Tonight

Tonight at 6:30 the Army softball team from Beach Grove Inn will meet the Navy Whites from the local naval barracks in a regular scheduled game of the City Softball League.

The Navy Whites have won one game and lost one while the Army has won one and lost two so each team will be playing all out in an effort to win tonight's game.

The game will be played at the Victoria Park diamond.

Hale America Golfers brush Up on shots

CHICAGO, June 15—(AP)—The golfing stars began to explode the Ridgemoor Country Club's bottleneck fairways and edged sand traps today—a layout they'll get to know far better in the four-day Hale America National Open starting Thursday.

A number of the 108 players entered brushed up their swings, but the bulk will take to the links tomorrow in the two-day practice period. Among them will be the professionals who competed in the Inverness Invitational which ended in Toledo, O., yesterday, and Bobby Jones, the old master.

The Hale America, golf's chief contribution to the 1942 war effort, offers Chicagoans one of the greatest shows the game has ever seen. Bing Crosby will be a contestant in the tournament, and driving contests and shot-making exhibitions will be given by the stars.

Canada is represented by Gordon Brydson and Bobby Gray.

Clay court! Tourney gets Underway

ST. LOUIS, June 15—(AP)—The national clay court tennis tournament was officially opened this afternoon with three society queens participating in a flag-raising ceremony, but that was as far as the weather permitted it to go today.

There were a few skeptics who said that was as far as the tournament should go, considering the absence of all top-ranking stars except Billy Talbot, the No. 10 national player. The other nine— including such "name" players as Frankie Parker, Bobby Riggs, Billy Grant and Frank Kovacs— are in military service, war work or turned professional.

When and how the play gets underway tomorrow, the opening matches will feature Talbot, seeded No. 1, in a meeting with William Culver of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Francisco Segura Cano, champion of Ecuador, playing a St. Louisan, and Armando Vega of Mexico against Eric Pratt of Kalamazoo, Mich. Roland Vega, the other half of the championship doubles team of Mexico, drew a first-round bye.

FORSEE SUPREME Hagen has 11 challengers For cup team

DETROIT, June 15—(AP)—Walter Hagen, whose golfing exploits during the last 15 years are pretty much wrapped up in the American Ryder Cup team, announced tonight that 11 golfers had been invited to comprise his challengers who meet the cup team here July 18 and 19 in matches for Red Cross relief.

Hagen, captain of all six American teams of picked professional stars that met Great Britain before the war, interrupted the series, said Lawson Little of San Francisco and Henry Peck who were key men in the challenger front.

Dugout Dust: Bill Dekey, the Yankee star

Bill Dekey, the Yankee star backstop, has caught 100 or more games for 13 straight seasons but may have trouble regaining his 14 to "century." Bunched for the second time by a foot injury, Dekey must work in 70 of the remaining 100 games on the Yankee schedule to reach 100 for 1942.

It's a bitter case for the Houltrie (Ga.) Packers to swallow, but they're taking it like men. After their ace right-hander, Paul Wright, was stricken with malaria, the George-Florida League club's directors decreed that each player

Greenberg In hospital

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 15—(AP)—Hank Greenberg was taken to the naval air station hospital in Miami last night apparently suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis but his condition today was improved and an operation was believed unnecessary.

The army air force, in which the former Detroit baseball star is attending an officer candidate school, said his condition is very good.

He must take a dose of quinine regularly.

And why not?

Passeau blanks Dodgers 6-0

BROOKLYN, June 15—(AP)—Claude Passeau blanked Brooklyn Dodgers with five hits tonight to pitch Chicago Cubs to a 6-0 victory over the league leaders in a twilight game. It was Passeau's 10th win of the year, his eighth in a row.

The Philadelphia Record Saturday ran its major league standings upside-down, showing the Philadelphia Athletics on top. The inverted standings carried a footnote explaining "Just thought you'd like to see the home teams on top for a change."

Giants thump Pirates 6-2

PITTSBURGH, June 15—(AP)—With the help of Babe Barn booming bat and Hal Schumacher air-tight, elbowing, New York Giants thumped the Pirates 6-2 today to split their current series two games apiece.
