The full page advertisement of Messrs Sinclair & Stewart, Ltd., Summerside, in this issue is commended to the attention of Guardian readers. This enterprising firm certainly believes in giving the public bargains when they need the goods and not wait till the season is over before offering them at such wonderful low prices as are quoted here. They are now clearing up the balance of summer goods as well as all odd lines and remnants which have accumulated after the largest seasons business ever recorded in the store. The policy of this firm is that nothing be allowed to grow old. Each season's stock must be closed out in the season and nothing carried over into another year. This no doubt is one of the secrets of their largely increasing trade. The fact of being able to start each trade season with nothing but the new, the fresh and the fashionable, is a privilege worth making some sacrifices for, and as a consequence people have learned to look to this store for the fulfillment of their requirements in the latest and most desirable merchandise and naturally they are not disappointed. This sale is now on and will continue for two or three weeks and the goods and prices are of such a nature as to insure a quick and ready response they would urge the necessity of an early call before the assortment is broken. Besides the items mentioned in this advertisement there are many other attractions in each department which there is not space to enumerate here. A visit to this store will repay everybody.

As usual Paton's store closes at nine o'clock on Saturday evenings. Please do your shopping early and help the good cause. 5-29dtdt.

Mr. Ramsay, and his brother, of Amherst, we understand have erected a summer cottage on the old place, and will spend their vacation there. In common with all St. Andrew's people here, of which Church he is the esteemed pastor, and who know how faithfully and how earnestly he has worked and how abundantly he has labored, in season and out of season, we wish him and his esteemed partner a glad and restful holiday and a glad welcome return to our town where their leaving influence for good is well marked.—New Glasgow Enterprise.

The first event to be raced at Tunnel Park was two years ago in 1907. This event was pulled off with such regularity and neatness that it was quite successful. This race had a large tendency to influence the outcome of last year's race-meet, just as last year's meeting has the power to influence the coming meeting, which promises to be the biggest success as a racing event this season. Good situation, good track good department and everything pulled off in a good straight regular fashion. Is what the people want.

When the morning express train from Tignish was coming along the shore front yesterday morning the engine collided with a team driven by Samuel Bernard, merchant at St. Eleanore. Mr. Bernard was coming up past Holman's wharf driving a truck-wagon, and did not see the train coming, neither did the engineer see the team, there being a building which hid it from his view. When the engineer saw the situation he applied the brakes, but the train could not be brought to a standstill until the wagon had been struck, turning it over and breaking one wheel. Mr. Bernard was thrown out but escaped with only a few bruises and a bad shaking up.
