

Stockings are so important

One fourth of your costume is hosiery. Stockings must harmonize in shade—fit and flatter! The solution? Famous Kayser stockings in all their variety of styles and colours.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO LOCK THE STABLE!

"AFTER THE HORSE WAS LOST, OF COURSE, they then locked up the stable!"

To shrug away danger seems a very human failing... for example, today, here and now in Canada, how many people have you heard say, "But why all this bother over freedom of the press? We already HAVE it, haven't we?"

YES, and every day you should give thanks for it! Because no one other thing is so important to YOUR OWN PERSONAL LIBERTY.

The free circulation of opinions, the free publication of all the FACTS are the foundation of your right of individual choice. Every kind of news is important... news about jobs and wages, deaths and inventions, news about philanthropies and embezzlements... news about what was said in Parliament by whom, and what could have been said... news about what there is to buy, and at what price...

DEMOCRACY is rule by the PEOPLE... but rule by uninformed people isn't democracy! That's MOB rule! And remember how history proves that every time a nation no longer acts capable of standing on its own feet, and making its OWN choices, somebody always steps in to TELL that nation the answers!

So don't say, "why worry... we HAVE a free press!" That is the voice of COMPLACENCY talking. Liberty is in danger the very instant the people stop actively wanting it. Whenever a people become too smug or too lazy to insist on having the facts, they soon find they can't get them if they would. When nobody seems to care, then military censorship (which we all know is necessary in war time) can grow by imperceptible steps into political censorship.

This is not somebody else's worry... it should be YOUR worry. Because remember, the "freedom of the press" is not a selfish right somebody has given to the PAPERS, but a democratic privilege your grandfathers struggled to help win for YOU.

The Publisher is doing his best, every day, to save that privilege for you. He'll go on giving you the facts to the last ditch. But you will have to speak out sometimes, too, to prove you really WANT to keep our way of life! The way to begin is to be an ACTIVE reader!

THE PRICE OF FREEDOM IS ETERNAL VIGILANCE! This is one of a weekly series of institutional messages sponsored by an informal Committee of Publishers under the chairmanship of Hon. W. A. Buchanan, and appearing in newspapers from coast to coast. Clubs, patriotic societies, business firms or individuals who would like reprints may have them by writing to the business office of this newspaper.

Dorothy Dix Says—

"I can take my child and go back to my father's house to live, but I cannot live without my husband. And I am desperate."

There is the reason that so many young people get divorces. They marry on a shoestring and when the shoestring breaks the marriage goes with it. They love each other, but they love good clothes and restaurants and automobiles and dancing to jazz bands better. Becky Sharp said that any woman could be virtuous on $5000 a year, and many and many a marriage could be saved on a hundred dollars advance in the husband's salary.

This may sound cynical, but it is the unvarnished truth. And it is human nature. Not many of us are capable of an affection that will survive a lower standard of living and doing without the luxuries that have become necessities to us. None of us are romantic when we are hungry, nor feel like billing and cooing when the bill collector is knocking on the door.

Lack of Finances

No doubt love should be enough and a young couple should be content to live on bread and cheese and kisses, but they are not. They still crave beefsteaks. No doubt rags are royal raiment when worn for love, but it doesn't keep a boy and girl from looking in the shop windows with envious eyes. No doubt they should be all in all to each other, but alas they get bored when they see too much of each other. And so they quarrel for amusement and make life a torment for each other until they part.

It is because marriage has to be financed like every other enterprise that makes us elders urge boys and girls to put off their marriages until they have the price. Of course, they don't listen to us, which is probably just as well for the world has to go on. Maybe.

Daughter's Problems

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am engaged to the dearest boy in the world and we want to get married, but my mother objects on three grounds: (1) Because I am 20 and she thinks that is too young for a girl to marry. (2) Because my fiancé is not making enough to support a wife, and I would have to keep on with my job after marriage. (3) Because she says she spent many years in rearing me and it is my duty to repay her by giving her several years of my life. Now I want to give my mother many years of my life, but I don't want to be a slave to her. It doesn't bother me that I'll have to work after marriage. I like the thought of working out things together, and I am sure I would be happier doing it than waiting and waiting and waiting for years for my sweetheart to make enough money to support a home and wife. What do you think of the situation?

SWEET AND TWENTY

ANSWER—I think you are right and your mother is wrong. Every good mother has a right to expect her daughter to repay her for all that she has done for her by loving her and cherishing her, but that doesn't mean that she has a right to monopolize her for any given number of years.

To ask a daughter to give up all thoughts of love and marriage during the very flower of her youth is making a shrewd bargain with her. It is demanding the pound of flesh nearest her heart, and no mother who is not utterly selfish and self-centered would ask such a thing. DOROTHY DIX.

New Manning and Training Depot Receives First Class of Girls For Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force

Barrack life has begun for these British Columbia girls, of a group of 158 who came to Toronto for a five-weeks' administration course in the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force. Left in front are Inga Hislop, M. Adland, Marion Downes and Eileen Macdonald; in

regular R.C.A.F. issue. Jean was secretary to D. G. Potter, assistant deputy attorney-general of Manitoba. Wet paint is a hazard at Havergal, where decorators are still hard at work. Margaret Acland of Victoria, B. C. (THIRD LEFT), got a bit on her sleeve, but found a willing workman to help remove it. Stowing belongings neatly away in bedside cupboards and under bunks is an art still to be mastered by many of the girls. Muriel Wismer of Saskatoon, shown (RIGHT), is a school teacher, has a sister in Washington with the British embassy. Girls in this first class will be officers and non-commissioned officers.
