BOB STEELE IN "THE NEVADA BUCKAROO"

A drama of the days when vigilantes battled bad men and a man's six-gun was his passport to safety!

SERIAL AND COMEDY

"Nevada Buckaroo" A Real Thriller

The roaring days of the early west, when the local sheriff's forces were unable to cope with outlawry and banditry and citizens formed vigilante committees, are vividly brought to the screen in Bob Steele's starring western, "The Nevada Buckaroo," now playing on the bill at the Capitol Theatre.

The popular young player is cast as "The Nevada Kid," a member of a road agent gang which preys on the stage coach lines running from Rattlesnake Gulch to Carson City. When the Kid becomes interested in a girl he momentarily loses his cunning, is captured and sentenced to prison.

His friends secure his pardon by changing a petition for a county seat into a petition for a pardon. Free once more, the Kid determines to "go straight" but finds that his erstwhile pals make it very hard for him. He is torn between his desire to reform and his loyalty to his former friends.

As a guard for the stage coach he is warned that his friends are going to hold it up—and when they do, he determines to bring them to justice. In trying to do so he is himself imprisoned and almost hunted by an enraged vigilante committee which believes that he is in league with the road agents.

Dorothy Dix is seen as the leading lady with a cast which includes George Hayes, Ed Brady, Glen Vavender, Billy Engle and Artie Ortega.

"Polly of the Circus" At Prince Edward

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

There is enough entertainment for the entire family in "Polly of the Circus," Marion Davies' new starring vehicle, which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre. It is the ideal screen presentation, containing just what young and old look for on the screen.

Everybody loves the circus and there is the most thrilling view of flying trapeze acts you ever witnessed right at the very start. In the spectacular climax, other exciting circus scenes are to be seen and throughout the picture there is a glamour and color aimed to delight all ages. The romance is charming in simplicity, and to those tinged with a touch of ultra-sophisticated dialogue, the story will be refreshing to see and hear.

Clark Gable plays opposite the star in the picture of the Margaret Mayo play, offering an engaging characterization as the small-town minister who falls in love with the jazz-hearted circus girl.

The settings and costumes are superbly executed and the production abounds with rare pictorial interest. Whatever you do, don't miss "Polly of the Circus."

GOLD SEEKERS WATCH HENS GREENMOUNT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Nov. 24—Gold seekers are watching the fowls of a Utah chicken ranch. A hen in whose gizzard Mrs. Dan Prentice found eight small nuggets of yellow gold is believed to have come from the ranch.

The annual meeting of the Greenmount Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Nicholas O'Hearn on November 14th. The meeting opened by repeating the Creed in unison. The roll call was answered by paying dues. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Wilbert McInnis; Vice-president, Mrs. A. H. Paynter; Secretary Treasurer, Miss Margaret Handrahan; Directors, Mrs. Nicholas A'Hearn, Mrs. Daniel Gavin, Mrs. Aeneas A'Hearn; Auditors, Mrs. Annie MacKay, Mrs. Will Ryan. The treasurer reported that though receipts were smaller than in former years, the Institute still has a substantial sum of money on hand. The next meeting to be at the home of Mrs. A. H. Paynter, the roll call to be answered by "Pulling the Lazy Stick." The meeting then adjourned, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

ence and hardships through which he and others passed. Even at eighty-two years of age he gave evidence of great physical strength and endurance. NEW YORK, Nov. 24—The smoke is beginning to clear away after the memorable battle of the waistline, and the net result of all the shooting seems to be that the waistline will remain about where it was.

The newest importations from Paris now appearing in the smarter shops on Fifth avenue, indicate that the natural waistline again is the choice of most designers. A few of the models show a waistline a few inches lower. Fewer still remain loyal to the higher line, which had a brief but noteworthy vogue.

Sleeves, too, show a tendency to forget some of their wayward thoughts of the early season. Most of them are plain, although some designers still accent the upper arm and elbow.

Skirts for the most part are slim, with fitted hips. The hem-lines are from 8 to 12 inches from the floor and just full enough to make walking comfortable.

Belts play a larger part than usual in many of the newest modes.

As another Christmas approaches, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association is once more asking your help. Last year, the sale of the Association's Christmas seals realized a substantial sum, which has made possible the steady continuance of its work; as Patron and Patrons of the Association, we sincerely hope that the response to this year's Christmas appeal may be no less generous.

In every province of the Dominion, funds are needed to enable the war against tuberculosis to be carried on; and in every Province, there is abundant evidence of success with which the Association has conducted the campaign hitherto. There is no need to emphasize the disastrous results to the national welfare should there be any lessening of our efforts to stamp out this terrible scourge.

This is a cause to which all, who have a Christmas offering to make, can contribute with the certain knowledge that their gift will be put to the best possible use. We have, therefore, no hesitation in commending it once more to the Canadian public, the members of which have always shown such generous sympathy in past years.

Christmas 1932.
