BACK FROM ANNUAL MEETING OF M. A. H. A.

Committee Appointed to Deal With Intermediate Hockey in Maritimes

SUMMERSIDE, March 20.—Mr. B. W. Robinson, President of the Prince Edward Island Hockey League and member of the executive of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, has just returned from the annual meeting of the Association held in Truro, N. S., on Friday last.

Among the various matters dealt with in which our local hockey fans would be most interested was the appointment of a committee of three to deal with intermediate hockey in the Maritimes. Mr. J. S. Wright of Summerside, was appointed to represent Prince Edward Island. Up to this year there has been a clause in the constitution of the M. A. H. A. which required that fifty per cent of the revenue derived by the M. A. H. A. from playoff games had to be remitted to the M. P. B. A. U. of C. but now that the M. A. H. A. is affiliated with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, this is no longer necessary. The amount thus saved will in the future be devoted to the organization of intermediate hockey in the Maritimes.

Mr. Robinson attended the playoff games in Halifax and is still convinced that the Crystals are as good as any team in the provinces and could have put up just as good a showing as the Bathurst team.—S

"Yoo-Hoo—C'mon Over"

By QUIN HALL

It's now some three weeks since the Balm Battle of the Palms brought the 1928-1929 Miami season to its sporting climax. The light and grim details of that Sharky-Stribling sparring match have receded into ring records and newspaper files, leaving essentially but one outstanding result—Miami's established place as one of the world's great sport centres during the Winter. What of its sporting future?

The late Tex Richard's dream concerning a well packed arena at a Miami mauling bee was realized largely through the personal efforts of Bill Carey and Jack Dempsey. The battle was a big financial success. Close to 10,000 additional $5 ducaats could have been retained if the promoters had had that many more squatting places. As it was, there was a "packed house." The intake proved conclusively that Miami Beach and the surrounding territory could, and would, support boxing.

The main event may have been disappointing to some of the customers who were accustomed to seeing more and better hitting, but many fans it was a grand evening. Yes, there was some heavy fist-tossing in the prelims which helped spice up what might otherwise have been a monotonous three hours.

However, the big point seems to be that Greater Miami—a trick name, coined to satisfy the individual boosters of both the City of Miami and Miami Beach—is an ideal spot to stage any warm weather sport during the Winter months. Having successfully put on racing meets—both horse and dog—in the face of some fairly well organized bluenose opposition—the section has now demonstrated its ability to support big-time fistcuffs.

Before his death Rickard had planned to make Miami Beach the scene of a big annual boxing event in case the first venture warranted it.

Following the Sharky-Stribling fuss, there is considerable talk about plans for next year and it seems likely that another bout of goodly proportion will be put on down there next February. There was some talk of keeping the arena in Flamingo

Park intact at least for another year, but the city dads claimed it was a fire hazard and it was dismantled and taken from Miami Beach to Miami, where it will be reassembled for future clouting parties. Bill Carey, acting for the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York, had tentatively agreed to give Miami a major battle a year for five years.

In addition to its climate and Steve Hannigan, the hustling publicity man on the Beach, Southern Florida needs live sporting events to attract big patronage.

After meeting with opposition this Winter, the track element met the situation with oral betting and continued to run successfully. The crowds attracted to various sporting events were orderly and well mannered, and this should have some weight with the law-makers when the bill legalizing racing, comes before them again.

Southern Florida's rail and water connections with the heavily settled sections of the East make it an ideal spot for sporting events. And Greater Miami will be better equipped to take care of the crowds next year.

Ace Bailey Tops Scorers In N.H.L.

Right Winger Of Leafs Counts For 22 Goals, 10 Assists—Nels Stewart Second.

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, March 20.—Scoring honors for the 1928-29 season in the National Hockey League go to "Ace" Bailey, dashing right winger of the Toronto Maple Leafs, according to figures for the scheduled season issued tonight from the office of the League.

Bailey, a leading contender for the scoring honors throughout the season, broke a tie with Nels Stewart, of Montreal Maroons on March 14. Stewart went scoreless against Canadiens on that occasion, while Bailey registered two goals and assisted in another while Leafs were deluging New York Americans with a five to nothing count. It is noteworthy that Howie Morenz, the Canadian speed vendor, and leader of the scorers last season, finished the season with a rush that landed him in third position. Morenz was out of commission for seven games, but recovered his form near the end, scoring four goals in the last two games, for his club.

Bailey leads the goal getters in either section, having scored 22 times in all and furnished 10 assists. The leading goal getter in the American division is by coincidence also a right winger, this honor going to Carson Cooper, the "shovel shot" star of the Cougars. Cooper scored 13 goals during the season and furnished the assists for 9, gaining a total of 27 points.

Rural Hockey

A very interesting game of hockey was played at Marshfield, March 14th between the Brackley Rovers and Marshfield. The Brackley Rovers winning by the score of 9-3. For all the score was a little one sided, the Marshfield boys had the bad breaks. Phillips and Stead scored the majority of the goals for Brackley and the rest of the boys gave good assistance, not forgetting Daddy Hughes in the net who stopped everything in sight. Mills, McParlane and H. Foster were the stars for Marshfield.

After the game the Marshfield boys entertained the Brackley boys to a very sumptuous and dainty lunch which was served by the ladies of Marshfield at the home of Mr. Heath Foster.

VANCOUVER ACE IS AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

Equals World's Record At Hamilton Meet After Weeks Of Inactivity.

(Canadian Press)

HAMILTON, Ont., March 20.—Percy Williams, Vancouver sprinting ace, after several weeks of inactivity, returned to competition tonight to win the 60 yard dash at the athletic meet here tonight. His time 61-5 seconds equalled the world's indoor record for the distance.

Williams was pressed by Johnny Fitzpatrick, Hamilton Olympic Club, who, with Williams, was a member of the Canadian Olympic team. Both got away to a good start and Fitzpatrick held a slight lead at the 40 yard mark. Williams, however, finished with the burst of speed that has made him famous and passed Fitzpatrick at the tape. Not more than an inch separated them. Leigh Miller of Hamilton finished third.

Woman Champion High Jumper Jumps Into "Talkies"

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, March 20.—Ethel Catherwood, world's champion girl high jumper, today confirmed a rumor that she was to leave for New York City in a few days where she will accept an offer to enter the "talkies." Miss Catherwood said she had been keeping it a secret and she intended to leave with her sister for New York tonight.

L. O. C. Bowling

By no means discouraged and with a strong determination of coming back strong in the last two games, the Rovers, holders of second place, and who are now in a fight for the championship with the Crescents, which looks very favorable to them, made one of the best and most exciting comebacks ever witnessed on these alleys, when, after losing the first game by a wide margin of 145 pins went into the second game steady and cool and finished this game with still better hopes of winning out when they forced the Crescents to decrease their lead by 71 pins.

In the third game they started off strong at the first and set a very strong pace which the Crescents were unable to follow, being forced to lose a battle which looked like a sure victory for them after the first game.

An excellent feature in last night's game was the cool and splendid bowling of R. Harley who rolled the excellent single game total of 298 and making a total for the three games of 780, which is a great credit to the Crescents, who, although losing, plan to come back strong in the second game, which will take place tonight, when it is expected that a crowded house will witness the game which promises to be still more exciting and better than the first game:

FORCED LOAN

(Special to the Guardian)

LONDON, March 20.—The Bank of Montreal at Vera Cruz, Mexico, had been forced to pay a rebel force a "loan" of 50,000 pesos, according to word received from the British representative there on March 5. Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, today in the House of Commons stated when asked if the lives and property of British nationals had been affected by the Mexican revolution. Sir Austen added that the city was re-occupied by government troops on March sixth and it was not known whether the money had actually been paid over to the rebels.

A little vinegar in the water which you use to rinse windows will give them a brilliant lustre.

Add a little salt to the sour fruits when cooking them. You will require less sugar.

A solution of paraffin in turpentine makes the window sashes run smoothly. Apply it in the groove.

Xaviers Defeat Ont. Champions

University Of Toronto No Match For Fast And Plucky Saints, Losing By 5 To 1 Score.

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, March 20.—St. Francis Xavier, amateur hockey champions of Quebec, and conquerors of the Bathurst "Papermakers", Maritime titleholders, defeated University of Toronto, champions of all Ontario 5 to 1 in the first contest of their two game Allan Cup semi-final series here tonight. The locals thus take a four goal lead into the second game which will be played at Toronto Friday night.

The Saints were full value for their win, but did not really assert their superiority until the final session when they ran in four goals to break a one goal tie that existed at the end of the second period. The Toronto students put up a plucky fight, but after holding the Saints in check for two periods collapsed under the pressure which the locals continued to apply in the final frame.

Contract Signed

(Special to the Guardian)

NEW YORK, March 20.—V. J. Mezhlauk, head of the metal industry of the soviet union, announced today that a contract had been signed with the Freyn Engineering Company of Chicago to assist in the preparation of plans for a $1,000,000,000 metallurgical works program, chiefly iron and steel, extending over the next five years. The Freyn Company previously prepared plans for a $50,000,000 steel plant which the Soviet is constructing in Siberia. The new program calls for 18 new metallurgical works and the re-equipment of about 40 other plants. The Freyn Company will send 15 engineers to Leningrad with the Soviet metal works planning institute.

Muddy Ruel, the Senators' star catcher, is going through a systematic course of training for his arm and doing little actual catching in advance of the opening of the season. Benn Tate, long the second string Washington receiver, is again available, and Ed Kenna and Al Bood are willing to accept the other nomination.

While Manager Johnson concentrates on his pitchers, four coaches keep the rest of the recruits moving. Zeb Milan and Patsy Gharity make them cry and Nick Altrock and A. Schacht, the comedians, force laughter from them.

BIG LEAGUE BALL GOSSIP

Walter Johnson Back As Manager of Washington Senators

TAMPA, Fla., March 20.—(C.P.P.) Walter Johnson, who spent two years in the ranks of the Washington baseball club, has returned to his post of Commander-in-Chief. Johnson is held in such affection by the fans that it is possible they will be enthusiastic in trying to get him. It may be the greatest day of the Senators in the coming campaign as he is pressing a golf term for trying to hard.

The great neutral vote of baseball has cast solidly for Connie Mack for years but the tall tactician may be to share it this season with the train for among the fans at the Washington stadium remains one of the great idols of the game. The feeling extends to the Washington players and every one of the thirty athletes in the training camp wants to go right now and die in a baseball war for "good old Barney."

Manager Johnson himself is paying strict attention to his pitchers. As one of the great mound stars of all time he is qualified to pass on pitching performances and certainly some of the younger school will be better off having passed under the tutelage of the old master.

Of the even dozen pitchers on hand over half of the number are regarded as sure to stick with the other two three places very much in doubt. Ed Sam Jones, Garland Braxton, Irvie Hadley, Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown, Adolph Liska and Paul McCullough promise to start.

A merry battle may be fought, among the rest. Bob Burke, tall but very thin lefthander, who was on the club last year, has more weight at Jim Weaver, six and one-half inch over six feet and scaling 230 pounds has too much. If the giant Weaver absorbs instructions sufficiently to get the most from his pitching arm he should uncover a "high, hard one" that will be difficult to bunt, much less hit. Weaver apparently needs schooling in fielding. He is so big he has difficulty in coordinating his hands and feet. Mike Martin, the linemen king of the Washington training quarters, boasts that Weaver can unscrew the lights on the roof of a railway car while standing flat footed but in his brief baseball experience his success with bunts has not been so striking.

Liska, whose underhand delivery will remind veteran American League ers of Jack Warhop of the old New York Highlanders, is said to have a yorker pitching asset in control.

Buddy Myer, obtained at great price in playing talent from the Boston Red Sox, will play third base. Osh Bluege moving to the left of the infield to make room for him. Bluege probably will take care of shortstop with Joe Cronin, a promising young shortstop acting as understudy. Staff Stewart and Minter Hayes will play second base between them. Stewart seems to become faster as he grows older and he has practically made good on third trial although he has not played regularly. On the Floridaian previous visit to the Washington camp he has found the manager, Buck Harris, playing his position.

Joe Judge has no opposition for first base but a substitute has not yet been elected. The chance of Harry Boss, a Little Rock recruit, who hurt when he suffered injuries to his hands in an automobile accident, Charlie Gooch, former Little Rock third baseman, detecting evidences of crowding around third, announces himself as a former first baseman and is attempting to qualify as far as possible as he can get from his regular position and still remain on the infield.

Muddy Ruel, the Senators' star catcher, is going through a systematic course of training for his arm and doing little actual catching in advance of the opening of the season. Benn Tate, long the second string Washington receiver, is again available, and Ed Kenna and Al Bood are willing to accept the other nomination.

While Manager Johnson concentrates on his pitchers, four coaches keep the rest of the recruits moving. Zeb Milan and Patsy Gharity make them cry and Nick Altrock and A. Schacht, the comedians, force laughter from them.
