mastery and hoped to use the United Nations to that end. McNeil said "without qualification" that if the Russian attitude continues "not only will the United Nations be destroyed but the unstable peace of the world will crumble and crash, bringing to all the raging hideous results to which Mr. Vishinsky drew our attention."

His speech was in the main a tearing down of the "war-mongering charges" Vishinsky directed against the United States and Britain in his fiery speech of last Thursday.

McNeil tore into the Russian stand as stated earlier by Vishinsky whose speech he described as "a comedy piece," "offensive," "judicious" and "monstrous."

Before he concluded McNeil held out the olive branch. Britain, he said, "harbors no hostility toward Russia or any other nation. Our design is plain, our doors are open, our press is free. We have nothing to hide, we are willing to co-operate and try to secure a lasting peace."

Vishinsky took notes throughout the speech and left the chamber immediately after McNeil concluded, his face set and angry.

McNeil's speech, which included a general approval of the United States plan for discussing reorganizing the United Nations, limiting the veto right and strengthening the Assembly, was the major event of today's speech-making.

Earlier Paris El Khoury, chief Syrian delegate, repeated his objection to the proposed partition of Palestine and asked for reversal of United States support of Jewish claims in the Holy Land.

He declared United States arms and money were aiding Jewish actions in Palestine and said it took "a certain amount of restraint" to keep from denouncing such actions as the U. N. McNeil did not touch on the Palestine question.

A later speaker, Dimitri Manuilsky, Ukraine's foreign minister and veteran Communist leader, angrily replied to McNeil with a repetition of Vishinsky's "war-mongering" charges and a declaration that McNeil had been unable to answer them.

was revealed. Mr. Zatzman said his loss was at least $75,000. Destroyed were two buildings comprising the cooper shop of the fish packing firm and a two-story frame residence occupied by two families including the owner, Miss Margaret Quinn, all on Chesley Street. Another building on the same street escaped with light damage. No one was injured.

A brisk wind threatened to spread the fire for blocks along the Strait Shore Road, bordering a section of Saint John harbor. Fears were felt of a fourth great conflagration in the old port city's history before firemen finally gained the upper hand. A $10,000,000 dock fire swept the west side waterfront in 1921, much of the city was laid waste in 1977, and the other great fire devastated the indiantown section in Saint John's extreme north end.

Today's two-alarm fire began from unknown cause at the front of one of the buildings, which appeared like a flash under fanning of a stiff westerly wind. The first alarm sounded shortly before 9 a.m. with all the city's firemen and apparatus on the job, the situation was well under control by noon. Heavy showers this afternoon aided patrollers in extinguishing embers.

changes necessary to prevent any recurrence." Gen. Gibson noted that Warden R. M. Allan had been away on sick leave from May 28 to the morning of Aug. 18, after the escape had taken place, and that Deputy Warden Millard had been in charge of the prison during the 2 1/2 months prior to the break. The circumstances of the escape and evidence taken during the inquiry disclosed "that laxity had developed in the manner in which the duties were being carried out, and particularly in the methods of searching for contraband materials."

Gen. Gibson said there was no evidence of "active outside help" in the escape apart from a hack-saw blade found after the break. The source of this blade, of course, make not used in the penitentiary, has not been determined.

Workers Prepare For Drive

Over one hundred campaign workers in the Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal gathered at the Citadel last evening to finalize their plans for the one day drive to be held throughout the City today. The enthusiasm of the workers was high and each division commander asserted that his division would lead in topping their objective, when the results are tabulated to-night.

Highlight of the meeting was the short address by Col. L. DesBrisay, Salvation Army officer and a native of Charlottetown. She also spoke to the Red Shield Appeal yesterday and as a tribute to the work of her organization, an anonymous donor presented the campaign chairman with a cheque for $20.00 at the conclusion of that meeting. Mr. Donald Baker, chairman of the Summerside organization mentioned some of the outstanding achievements of the "Sally Army" and stated that "the Salvation Army stands supreme in service to mankind, a tribute to which every serviceman will testify."

Mr. Percy Turner, chairman of the Special Names Division publicly acknowledged the donation of $100 received today from the Clark Fruit Co. through Mr. Percy McInnis. Similar donations from other firms have been previously acknowledged in the press.

City chairman, Tom DeBlois urged all the workers to report their campaign returns at the supper meeting to be held at the Salvation Army Citadel tonight at six o'clock.

Meat Shortage Not Serious, Survey Shows

(By The Canadian Press) - The Packers' strike, well into its second week on a national scale, apparently still is far from settlement but there are indications the meat shortage will not be serious for at least several more days.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed yesterday that most retailers expect to be able to meet consumer demand through the week-end. But the threat remained that a prolonged strike will cause the worst meat shortage in Canadian history.

Some 12,000 members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (U.P.W.A.) are on strike for a basic wage of 92 cents an hour, which would entail an average cost of 17 cents for the industry's "big three" - Swift Canadian Company, Canada Packers Limited and Burns and Company - have offered from three to five cents.

The shortage has been averted for the time being by independent packers not affected by the strike and by farmers slaughtering their animals to meet local requirements.

First legal action to prevent black-marketing during the strike was taken yesterday in Montreal, where a butcher was summoned on charges of selling the industry's pork in wholesale quantities at exorbitant prices and of not providing required records.

Conciliation efforts still are stated by the Ontario restaurant judgment on a Saskatchewan proposal for nomination of a conciliator by the eight strike-affected provinces. Meanwhile, the U. P. W. A. is striking by its demand for settlement efforts on a national scale.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 - (AP) - New York said its last farewell to Fiorello H. La Guardia today at a solemn funeral service in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

What Russians Hear Concerning Vishinsky Speech

By Eddy Gilmore - MOSCOW, Sept. 22 (AP) - Newspaper readers in the Soviet Union today were given a report that the Russian Deputy Foreign Minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky had upset the plans of forces in the United States which were pictured as seeking war with the U. S. S. R.

Two correspondents advised from New York that Vishinsky's speech to the United Nations General Assembly last week "in which he named by name a group of war mongers produced the impression here of bursting bomb." Their dispatch added:

"Actually this blow at those forces opposing peaceful co-operation was meted out so skillfully that the cause of American reaction is presently a picture of complete panic and bubbling wrath."

The correspondents in the General Assembly apparently heard the Russian people. At a football game Saturday afternoon I heard and saw Russians all around me reading to themselves or aloud to companions Vishinsky's speech, comments on it and the position of the United States as pictured in Russian newspapers.

The dispatch asserted that the Russian people are so responsive in the General Assembly for many months, but that the promised "surprises" turned out to be "only old veto stuff which disappointed all delegations."

From The Emerald Isle

On Friday evening Sept. 12th, Miss Doris Kelly a very popular young lady of Kinkora, was tendered a miscellaneous shower by her girl friends at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. E. Kelly.
