Farewell To Mrs. A. D. Sharpe

The citizens of Bedouque said farewell to Mrs. A. D. Sharpe and her family at a little gathering prior to her departure to Summerside, where she has taken up her residence. The party was held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Bowness. Rev. Arthur Organ presided, and in a few words expressed the object of the meeting and read the address, to which Mrs. Sharpe very graciously replied.

A beautiful parlor clock, hall table and end table were presented to Mrs. Sharpe by Mr. Hammond Bowness and Seamen Bell on behalf of the assembled guests. Small gifts of remembrance from Bedouque citizens were given to Mrs. Sharpe's three children by Miss Helen Bowness. After a pleasant evening refreshments were served and each took farewell of a dear friend and her family.

Following is the address:—
Address to Mrs. Sharpe

We, your friends, gather tonight to express to you our good wishes and our sincere regret at your departure. You have been in this community for many years. During those years you have known our joys and sorrows, your hopes and your disappointments, and most of all your triumphs. In all these things, so pleasant has been your bearing, so helpful your attitude, and so courageous your whole life that you have given much to encourage us and for us to remember. Rich and poor, will remember your kindness for a long while. A doctor and his wife are in a unique position; as public servants they are liable to criticism to which ordinary citizens are not subject. It is therefore, an added tribute that both of you have left permanent places of regard in all our hearts.

May we add that we shall miss very much bicycling Betty, whimsical John, and tricycling Neil. We feel they will be a great blessing to you in coming years.

Our only suggestion in your move is that you are to settle not far away. We shall still be within hailing distance and hope that you will continue to look on Bedouque as "Home" in a very special sense and on us as your continued friends.—S

Less Employment Restricts Women

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Dec. 4—In Latvia on the Baltic Sea, owing to the climate, women keep their good looks until they are 40 or 50, and therefore have no difficulty in finding employment. Will there be a sudden emigration there, since this statement appeared in a report of the trades and professions committee of the International Council of Women?

The report comments unemployment in general seems to bring with it the danger of restriction of opportunities for women. The matter of assisting and retaining the unemployed women by organizations, where government agencies for this purpose do not exist or are inadequate, is discussed.

Surveying conditions generally, the committee finds that trade and employment have improved in many countries, Canada being among those mentioned in the report.

Married women still have the hardest fight to maintain their right to work and do not always receive support from their fellow workers. Efforts to obtain equal pay for equal work have not made much progress.

Need of women factory inspectors is still unrecognized in many countries, the report notes. Hungary has appointed its first woman factory inspector, a physician, and Rumania has obtained a second. New Zealand reported an increase in women on the inspecting staff. In Canada there has been an increase of three in Manitoba, and the five in Ontario and the one in Nova Scotia are paid less than their male colleagues.

The position among the so-called "unemployed workers" is less encouraging than in industry. Canada reported unemployment among university graduates, and in Sweden also young graduates often have difficulty in obtaining first posts. Varying conditions are reported for other countries. In India the demand for highly-qualified women increases, and owing to their scarcity they sometimes receive higher salaries than men with equal qualifications. Great Britain has drawn attention to the need of the unemployed woman of

SUPREME COURT AT SUMMERSIDE

A verdict of not guilty was returned by the Jury yesterday in the case of the King vs. Harry Wm. Dickie. His Lordship, Mr. Justice Arsenault addressed the Jury at the opening of the Court.

In his opening remarks of His Lordship's charge to the Jury, he complimented the Sheriff, F. J. E. Wright on his selection of Jurors and in the manner in which he maintained order in the Court. His Lordship said, he remembered the present Sheriff's father, who was Sheriff from 1897 to 1914 and has been sheriff of Prince County with one or two intervals, since 1914.

He also complimented Counsel on the excellent manner in which they had conducted their case.

With reference to the case, His Lordship stressed the increasing need of educating the public along safety first lines, and advocated that safety first rules should be taught in the school. The best way to reduce accidents is to educate the child in home and school to take care of himself.

The introduction of the motor car has brought its problems. It is a modern convenience, one that the public would not wish to do without, but it has brought in its wake many accidents. In trying to get the people to drive safely public regulations and laws have been enacted. These laws are not always strictly adhered to. Sometimes, notwithstanding the observance of all these laws, a driver may still be subject to accident.

The remedy in the opinion of those who have studied the matter closely is in education and should start with children. Early in life young people today learn the mechanical operation of a motor car. But the same attention is not always given to operating a car in a safe and sensible manner.

The time has come when it should be part of the school curriculum and part of the normal course of teacher training, to teach children how to take care of themselves, how to govern themselves in operating a motor car, the observance of rules and laws, to use care in the operation of a car, to be taught in the school pupils, then the generation growing up would be more careful in these matters.

The matter could well be taken up by the Board of Education. Women's Institutes, Girl Guides, Boy Scout's, teachers and mothers. To teach safe driving would go a long way toward curing what are often avoidable accidents.

Education along these lines has been started in the United States and many pupils have taken their first exams in safe driving.

His Lordship then pointed out that the law requires that anyone operating a motor vehicle must take reasonable precaution to avoid accident. If he does not take that precaution he is criminally negligent.

If a driver drives carefully, but has a momentary lapse of duty, through some distraction, that is not considered in law a lapse of duty. It is for you to decide whether the prisoner was driving with care or otherwise. His Lordship reviewed briefly the different aspects of the case and the laws that govern them and at the conclusion of his address the jury retired to return later with a verdict of not guilty.

The prisoner was therefore released from custody.

The appeal case of the King respondent vs. George Kinch appellant was heard and dismissed with costs.

Judgment was reserved in the appeal case of the King vs. Percy (Placidie) Gallant.

Court adjourned sine die.

RAILROAD HEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Herbert O. Fitzpatrick, vice president and general counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, was selected tonight to become the new head of the former Van Swerling railroad empire.

In Canada the employment of women in Oriental tea-shops is forbidden, it is noted. In New Zealand women may not be employed in delicatessen shops.

Married women are meeting with difficulty in regard to the right to work in Norway and The Netherlands. In South Africa, except for certain specially-exempted individuals, there are now no married women among university lecturers. Two countries where more liberal opinions prevail are India and Sweden.

In Denmark, skilled men and women in the tobacco trade receive the same rate of wages, also true of the printing trade in Finland and of certain processes in India.

Women in the teaching profession, in banking and in commerce seem to be handicapped nearly everywhere by reason of their sex, although in the public service of certain countries equality is the rule. There are frequent complaints from some countries about inequality in promotion.

The transcontinental airway service came up for discussion and Mr. Brennan, stated that more equipment was needed at the airport. He suggested that a committee

Seriously Injured

When Struck By Car On Icy Road

Mrs. Peter Ranaghan of North Carleton was struck by a car yesterday morning as she was on her way to church at Seven Mile Bay. The driver, a resident of Summerside, saw her walking along the road ahead of him and blew his horn. Whether she did not hear him is not known, but she started to cross the road right in front of the car. The driver jammed on the brakes, but the slippery condition of the road caused the car to swerve round and the lady was struck by the back of the motor car. She was picked up in an unconscious condition by the driver and taken as quickly as possible to the Prince County Hospital. It was found that Mrs. Ranaghan has a fractured arm and leg. To what other extent she is injured is not yet known.

The latest report from the hospital is that she has regained consciousness and seems a little better, but her condition is considered serious.

Suggest Highway Be Kept Open Winter Months

Matters of importance to Summerside as a business centre were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade. The President, Mr. W. E. MacDonaid presided.

A matter of great importance at the moment and which was discussed was that of keeping the highway between Charlottetown and Summerside open. The Board commended the government in its efforts so far this year in keeping the road open. It was felt, however, that a lot more could be accomplished if the snow plow available were kept moving on the road immediately a storm makes its appearance instead of waiting until the next morning. The suggestion was made that storm fences, such as are used in Quebec and Ontario, could be installed gradually as expenditure would permit and experience find necessary.

The Board endorsed in a resolution the petition which is being circulated round the town asking the government to keep open the road and also expressed the hope that the government would continue its present activities as long as possible with the equipment they already have and open the road as early as possible in the spring. It was felt that by so doing the government would gain the experience necessary to know what was required to keep the road open. It was the consensus of opinion that the money spent in gasoline would pay for the expense, and business in both Summerside and Charlottetown would benefit.

Ex-Mayor Lidstone reported that Prince County residents west of Summerside are complaining of the poor service they are receiving from the railway. He said that during the recent wet spell which made the roads impassable in many places that the railway should have made some effort to accommodate the farmers on bringing their produce to town and would have gained thereby.

Mr. Lidstone had occasion to go to Alberton recently and it took him from 12:20 noon to nearly 7 p. m. A friend in the train said, he used to walk in the same time. Mr. Lidstone said, it was not the fault of the trainmen but with nine cars of freight it was impossible to get along any faster. At every stop he had time to visit his friends and they all complained of the service. The old system of a freight train east and west every day and a quick passenger service is what is required. The business men are getting very poor service and passengers no service at all, said Mr. Lidstone in conclusion.

Fox Show For Summerside

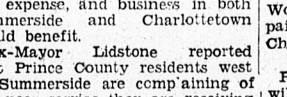

Mr. Hancock gave voice to the suggestion of some local foxmen that Summerside should have its own fox show next year. As the centre of the industry this should be so. The old idea that we are competing with Charlottetown is wrong, said Mr. Hancock. In Norway this year they held 50 fox shows, the areas served spread over the whole country. The fox show is properly conducted is the only practical method of giving information to ranchers. Mr. Hancock did not think Island shows were so conducted to be of the greatest benefit of all concerned. Lack of heated accommodation for cleaning foxes was deplored by the speaker.

In Norway the shows were proving of an educational value to ranchers in teaching them to produce good pelts. In Summerside how so many people are dependent on the fox industry for a livelihood he considered a show would benefit.

Mr. Holman and Mayor Robinson endorsed the opinion of the speaker and it is understood that the matter will be discussed with leading foxmen in the county. The curling rink was suggested as a suitable place for the show to be held.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Dr. Albert Einstein, proponent of the theory of relativity, and of the elastic uncertainty of the universe, has invented a "gadget" which will enable any amateur to use a camera without knowing how to take an exposure.

He did it in collaboration with Dr. Gustav Bucky, an notable in his own field for the development of the curative use of X-rays, border-line rays and other rays up and down the electrical spectrum.

Both learned scientists seemed a little embarrassed at being caught doing such a thing. Dr. Einstein kept it a dark secret at Princeton. Dr. Bucky was apologetic in New York, but equally firm in his refusal to tell how it came about. "A man must have some private corner in his life," he said. "You will excuse me, please."

Their embarrassment seems to arise from the fact that the invention works on a very simple principle. It is nothing more than the photoelectric eye—the device that counts visitors at museum gates and opens kitchen doors automatically for waiters with full trays.

According to Science Service, which uncovered the invention in Washington as Patent No. 2,068,562, filed last December by Dr. Einstein and Dr. Bucky, an open photoelectric eye in the front of the camera automatically moves a screen of varying transparency in front of the main camera lens.

All the amateur need do to press the button, secure in the knowledge that the screen will let in the proper light. Patent experts predict the invention will be practically and commercially important in the next few years.
