BUTTERFLY FLOWER IN THE GARDEN

Magnificent pots of schizanthus are fascinating exhibits at flower shows and in florist's windows, and the idea so prevalent that this is a greenhouse plant. On the contrary it is an early grown garden annual that has been adopted by the greenhouse men and converted into a winter beauty. Under greenhouse conditions and by pinching back and training the plants they are developed into magnificent pyramids covered with blooms so completely that the foliage is not in evidence.

It is an easily grown garden annual. Coming into bloom from seed in a short time and continuing to cover itself with its dainty, daisy bloom all summer. In the garden it is not practical to carry on the pinching and training into pillars practiced by the greenhouse man. The plant naturally sprawls and its wily branches cover considerable space, lacking the rather compact and stiff form of the pot plant. It, however, has the same wealth of bloom in the open but it is so distributed that the handsome foliage adds to its attractiveness.

The dwarf large-flowered form is better for the garden than the Wisconsin type which is usually grown in conservatories, making much greater length of stem. The small butterfly shaped flowers in various ground colors with blotches either of lighter or darker coloring will be a constant delight and sprays are beautiful material for cutting. It likes rich soil and suffers in dry, hot spells, so care must be taken to give it water. Take the nozzle off the hose and let a gentle stream soak in about the roots of the plant. Its structure is so fragile that a stream of any force upon the plants beats them down.

Heavy rains flatten a planting at times but they regain their poise in a few days and renew the cloud of blossoms. Sow in rows in the seed bed, covering lightly and transplant into their permanent quarters when they have made four true leaves. Give the plants a foot each way. They will cover the space in reasonably fertile soil and with good cultivation. The schizanthus will prove a delightful novelty to many gardeners who have regarded it only as a greenhouse plant. It is no more a horticultural subject than the callula or Turkspur.

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICES.—The Mother Day Service in the Georgetown United Church was very largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all. There were a considerable number of visitors in Town on this occasion. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and the musical program was of a very high order. Apart from the regular congregational singing the Choir rendered the Chorus, "Mother's Prayers Followed Me." A trio was sung by Mrs. A. E. Jenkins (Alt.) Mr. McNeil, (Tenor) Mr. Yorston. Also the Solo, "Song My Mother Sang" by Samuel Yorston, Tenor Baritone was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Yorston was congratulated at the close of the service. The musical part of the program was brought to a close by the Trio, "Drifting", by Mr. Walker, Mr. Lavers and Mr. Yorston. Mr. Pierce thanked the Choir for their beautiful performance and hoped that they would sometime in the near future render another Musical Hour and we all feel sure that they will only be glad to do so again.—A.

Oil wells in far Peru producing a crude that has all the essentials of a fine motor oil; IMPERIAL tankers transporting this crude to Canada; IMPERIAL refineries employing an exclusive process for the manufacture of a superior oil—these are factors which have made Marvelube Canada's better motor oil. Because it is made from a better crude, Marvelube is an inherently better oil. Because it is made by improved refining methods, it possesses added qualities of superiority. Because its production and distribution are safeguarded by the standards of Canada's largest refiners of petroleum products, it has won and held the confidence of motorists the country over. Marvelube is a golden-pure lubricant, made by a better process from a better crude petroleum. Only IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED employs this improved process; only IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED has access to Peruvian crude.
