Friends of The Guardian are again asked to have all their advertising matter whether of entertainments, lectures, concerts, or of a general nature, in this Office not later than 4 p. m., and of any considerable length much earlier, as it is impossible to give all the news of the day if advertising has to be handled at night, for every line of the latter prevents the appearance of the same quantity of news. For the issue of the 13th one third of a column of such advertising was set up in type at night, and readers were thus deprived of the same quantity of late news. This, of course, makes The Guardian less valuable to readers and correspondingly so to advertisers, and in future only emergency advertising will be accepted at night. Friends are asked to hand in all their advertising as early as possible each day.

THIS SATURDAY'S BARGAIN Handsome Trimmed Hats $2.49. This week it has fallen to the turn of the millinery department to turn out a special value for Saturday, and we really want you to see how well they have responded to the call. Most of these are trimmed felts, and they include a lot of the newest shapes in the catalogue of fall fashions. They are daintily—tastefully—artistically trimmed—such work as you'd naturally expect from Charlottetown's greatest millinery store. There is none of the bargain counter idea about them—They were simply made up with the idea of seeing how much style—and real goodness we could put into a hat for $2.49. They are ready on the second floor—We would like you to express your opinion of them, and see if they are, as we think—worth much more money. MOORE & McLEOD
