A PROMINENT CITIZEN ATTACKED AT HIS HOME

And Severely Beaten by an Assailant Who Made His Escape—Pinkerton Detectives and City Police Officers Join in the Hunt—They Make Two Arrests.

Another lawless outrage was committed last night shortly after ten o'clock when one of Charlottetown's best known citizens was wantonly attacked in his own house and severely beaten by two unknown men who managed to make their escape.

As a result of his beating Mr. McEachern is badly shaken up, is bruised about the head and has his wrist badly sprained. During the evening Mr. McEachern who lives next door east of Hotel Victoria had been attending the meeting of the Caledonian Club.

In the meantime Mrs. McEachern managed to make her escape and gave the alarm at the Hotel Victoria next door. A number of the guests went quickly to the rescue but the assailants managed to make their escape.

HON. MR. TARTE ON HON. MR. BLAIR

La Patrie Contains Rather Interesting Editorial

In Which the Former Leader of the Liberals in Quebec Discusses the Former Colleague's Resignation.

Mr. Tarte, who has had some experiences similar to those of Mr. Blair, discusses his resignation in a rather interesting way.

La Patrie says: "The English capitalists who have purchased La Presse are also the proprietors of The Globe and The Evening Times and other journals perhaps."

"Before resigning Mr. Blair would understand the combinations which have been formed."

"It is singular that the government, with its means of information, had not been informed of what was going on and in preparation."

"Mr. Blair has always been a great performer. He was for twelve or thirteen years premier of New Brunswick."

"The government of which he was the head was not a party government. It was a Blair government. It contained in its ranks conservatives, liberals, and neutrals—more conservatives than anything else."

"Mr. Blair kept himself a good distance from federal politics. "There were in the New Brunswick legislature some vigorous fights. He stood head and shoulders above those who surrounded him."

"During the latter part of his administration he had about him men of talent, like Mr. Pugsley for example, who was always considered a conservative in federal politics."

"Mr. Pugsley has now joined the liberal party even to the point of publicly condemning Mr. Blair's resignation."

"Mr. Emmerson is another Blair partisan who has left him and has taken his portfolio."

"Mr. Blair is not only a skillful politician but he is a daring financier. It is very well known in financial circles that he has adventured on certain occasions in formidable speculations. Sometimes he gained, sometimes he lost."

"He performs in politics as he does on the bourse. He never plays a small game. "His speech after his resignation was a determined play."

"His acceptance of the chairmanship of the railway commission was another great stroke."

"His retirement, the stand which he takes, the campaign on which he enters, will be coups in a great play."

"In what company will he play? Who will furnish the stakes? "For journals which cost about a million, and other journals which cost less but also cost money, constitute a bill which not everybody is able to pay."

"Mr. Blair has reached three score. He has hair and a beard of immaculate

NICHOLAS WIRES TO KING EDWARD

His Regrets for North Sea Outrages—The British Cabinet is Calm—Secretary Lyttleton Speaks—Russians Reported to Have Bought Chilean Warships—Kuropatkin Promoted.

NICHOLAS IS SORRY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25—(Special)—Emperor Nicholas has telegraphed to King Edward expressing his deep regret at what occurred in the North Sea on Sunday and his sympathy with the families of the killed and wounded fishermen.

REPORTED BUYING WARSHIPS. A story is current here that Russia has purchased the Chilean navy which will join the Baltic fleet at the Azores Islands.

THE REPORT DENIED. An infraction of the Chilean neutrality will be avoided by transferring the ships to Turkey who will receive $2,000,000 from Russia.

whiteness. His Physique breathes force and determination.

"He was not in the house of commons a happy debater. He was long, ambiguous, he lacked precision, information and clearness. It was only a speech for effect that he made when he retired from the ministry. We all have our strong sides and our weak sides. In spite of his weak sides Mr. Blair is a "doubtable adversary. He has strong sides."

"It is an open secret that he was driven to the wall and was obliged to retire under circumstances which he considered humiliating."

His Philippe against the government, against the Grand Trunk Pacific, against the prime minister, was a defiance to the government. He threw down his glove to his colleagues of yesterday which did not leave any misunderstanding in the mind of the public."

Circumstances which we think we understand, forced him to accept the situation which the government offered. For a time he bent his head. He has lifted it up again today under conditions which the future will make more clear."

The cabinet has greatly damaged its own interests of late. Governments which think that they are invincible are inclined to deal as conquerors with things and men."

It is then not surprising that Mr. Blair has found allies and means of action, and that he has availed himself of them to fling himself into the arena at a time which he finds favorable."

The general elections now pending will witness extraordinary incidents. When Mr. Blair gave up his portfolio La Patrie spoke of the incident with reserve."

We are for reasons easy to conceive, in a position to judge the position of many public men who play a role on the stage. The Patrie proposes to hold the same reserve in the present circumstances."

Mr. Blair will talk soon. At least that is clearly stated in the despatch to the Times published in our columns yesterday. We will hear him before judging."

The country has a right to know the reasons, all the reasons which have caused the former minister to issue from his seclusion."

Good Old Stories. "There's no doubt about it; he is getting on in politics."

"He hasn't done anything in particular."

"No. But they are telling the same anecdotes about him that they used to tell about Henry Clay and Daniel Webster."—Washington Star.

Their Start. "Where did they go on their honeymoon?"

"To the hospital. You see, they had so many fool friends."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The report is denied in responsible quarters.

KUROPATKIN PROMOTED. A Ukase has been issued appointing Kuropatkin Commander in Chief of the Russian army.

THE NORTH SEA OUTRAGE. LONDON, Oct. 25—(Special).—Speaking at Leamington today Colonial Secretary Lyttleton referring to the North Sea outrage of the Baltic fleet, said that Ministers were looking at it in the calmest and most composed manner.

USES STRONG WORDS. It was impossible to view it other than as the result of a murderous intention or the result of a wicked intention.

STARTED TO GAIN. As soon as he began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills—Story of Amos Stewart.

GODERICH, Ont., Oct. 24—(Special)—Mr. Amos Stewart, flour miller of this town, has proved the value of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a tonic.

"I had been very poorly for about a year," says Mr. Stewart, "and though I was treated by two doctors I kept losing flesh all the time. Then I commenced using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in ten days I gained six pounds. I am still losing a little every day, and I am feeling better in every way. I feel that I owe it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills ensure sound kidneys; sound kidneys give pure blood, pure blood means health and strength all over the body.

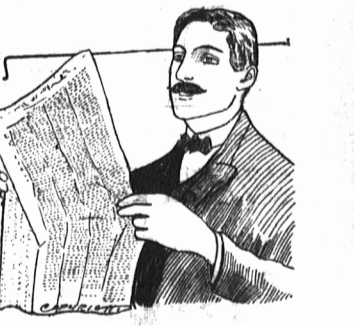

SEARCHING MERCHANTMEN. PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 23.—The report is confirmed that vessels of the Russian Baltic Fleet stopped and searched merchantmen of the Isle of Wight.
