SCHOOL BOARD—The regular monthly meeting of the City School Board was held Monday night. Arrangements were made whereby additional classes for the city schools may take the course in manual training. The proposal was explained to the Board by Superintendent H. H. Shaw, Mr. Shaw, trustee officer, also appeared before the board and gave an oral report of conditions in this city. Sister Mary G. MacDonald was appointed teacher for the new room just opened in Rochford Square School. It was pointed out that there is a large average attendance in all the rooms in the city schools, thus causing an accommodation problem which will have to be reckoned with. Bills were passed and other routine business was transacted.

WAS REMEMBERED—Queen Square School was the scene of a very delightful and pleasing half-hour yesterday morning, when pupils and teachers assembled in their hall to present a purse to Rev. Dr. Patrick McMahon, who is soon leaving for Rome, where he will further his studies in Canon Law. The presence of His Excellency, Bishop J. A. O'Sullivan, lent much dignity and enjoyment to the occasion. A fitting address was masterfully delivered by Stephen MacMillan, in which he reviewed the many relations between the pupils and Father McMahon, and in which he hoped for the continued success of so good a friend in his studies abroad. The presentation then followed and was given by William Connelly. Father McMahon made a fitting reply, in which he commended the thoughtfulness of the boys and teachers alike for such a wonderful act and assured the boys that it was much appreciated. The chairman, Mr. MacDonald, then called upon His Excellency, who in his usual manner, won the hearts of everyone present, by his wit and good, sound advice. He dwelt at length on the merits of Dr. McMahon and the benefit of after-school education and closed with the wish that as Father McMahon would not forget the boys of Queen Square School, so they should and would not forget him in their prayers. Other speakers included Rev. Bernard Gillis, Mr. Morrissey and Mr. MacDonald. After three hearty cheers and a tiger were given Father McMahon, the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Union Commercial College Notes

New students are entering each week.

Students in all classes are making rapid progress.

Classes in Penmanship, Spelling, Rapid Calculation and Arithmetic, are held each day.

It is the intention of Prin. Moran to have his students give a demonstration of Rapid Calculation work before some of the business men, during the term.

Several new typewriters have been added to the already large number of modern machines.

A number of new students will enroll after Thanksgiving. This is a good time to enter.

Watch the penmanship classes at the U. C. C. 5628-10-5-11.

SOUTH LAKE AND VICINITY

Mr. Ivan C. MacDonald, South Lake was a weekend visitor to the eastern metropolis.

His friends very much regret to learn of the serious illness of Mr. Stephen Mellick, Jr., of Elmira, who recently underwent a series of operations in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Hopes are entertained for the speedy recovery of Mr. Stanley Fisher, South Lake who is convalescing in the Charlottetown Hospital, after undergoing a serious operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Walter A. Fisher, South Lake, motored to the Provincial Capital recently.

A successful dance and weighing party was held at Bothwell Beach on the evening of Monday, September eighteenth, to raise funds to provide prizes for the pupils of the district who took part in the School Fair. Violin music was supplied by Mr. Joseph MacDonald accompanied by organist, Mrs. Alfred Rose.

Some men are at present engaged in construction work on the breakwater at North Lake. This project ought to help solve the unemployment problem for this section.

Like so many other lakes and streams throughout the Maritimes and all along the Atlantic seaboard, South Lake has mysteriously failed to produce its annual growth of eel-grass this fall. In the coves and indentures along the shore where great rafts of the familiar sea weed formerly gathered, not a vestige is to be seen. It is thought that the phenomenal disappearance of the sea weed is due to a disease, and that the plant will in time reassert itself. The loss of this marine plant is felt, not only by sportsmen, who depend largely upon it as food for the waterfowl that frequent the lake, but also by the farmers who utilize it for fertilizer, banking etc.

With the advent of another mackerel fishing season there is bustling activity all along the waterfront. A miniature city of fishing shacks has arisen at South Lake harbour, and all the local boats as well as a large number from the North Shore and Souris are engaged in the fishing off this coast.

Messrs Reg'nald Rose and Joseph Ford, South Lake, have each launched a new motorboat for the mackerel fishing industry.

Mr. Walter A. Fisher, South Lake motored to Souris on Saturday last.

Mr. Geo. E. MacDonald, South Lake, was a recent visitor to St. Charles.

Miss Eufreda Stuart, teacher, Earnsccliffe, is spending her holidays at her home here.

Miss Laurena Shreanan who is in charge of South Lake School left on Friday to spend a short vacation at her home in Kinkora.

BEEES STRUGGLE HARD TO SAVE THEIR HOME

A strange struggle over a hoarded "treasure" is going on in Terre Haute, Ind. The principals are a hive of independent bees and a beekeeper. A tree holds the "stake." Two years ago the bees swarmed in a little hollow tree in the downtown district and set to work storing honey, apparently unmindful of autos roaring by, or people crowding close to see.

Walter Bleifield, beekeeper, recently was given permission to move the swarm to his farm. It appeared impossible to salvage the honey without injuring the tree, for the single opening, oddly enough, was near the base of the tree and less than two feet from the sidewalk.

But Bleifield conceived a plan. He placed a trap over the opening, whereby the bees can leave but not re-enter. Then he placed a patent hive a few inches away.

In a fortnight or so—about the middle of October—young bees will be hatched in the new hive, Bleifield said. The new bees, he believes, will re-enter the tree, "rob" it, and transport the honey out into their own hive.

"Bees are terrible robbers as well as great workers," Bleifield declared.
