Remembrance Day In Borden

Promptly at 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 11, the teachers and pupils of Borden High School assembled in the Principal's class room and after a silent prayer to Almighty God asking Him in His infinite mercy to spare the world from further carnage...

The principal of the school Mr. J. H. DeRoche presided and in a few well chosen remarks opened the proceedings. He spoke of the observance of the day and the significance of the "poppy" emblem. How it stands for a Remembrance of those who died that we might live and who gave their lives that we should be freed from further wars.

After the observance of a two minute silence in honour of our departed dead, the pupils and audience sang O Canada.

The chairman then called on Rev. J. M. Baxter, pastor of Borden, and the Rev. G. G. Gault, pastor of the Anglican Church. He reminded the children of their duty to encourage their mothers and women friends to wear the poppy.

The assembly then arose and sang "The Maple Leaf Forever" the solo part being taken by two young girls of the principal's department Miss Marion Dugan and Miss Doris Herring.

Rev. Wm. V. MacDonald, pastor of Seven Mile Bay and Borden churches, was the next speaker. As Father MacDonald was himself once a public school teacher, he seems never happier than when associated with school children.

He spoke of the observance of Remembrance Day in the manner the children were observing it and stressed the observance of good citizenship patriotism and fervent Christianity.

Borden's popular Mayor, Mr. P. J. McIntosh, was then called on and as he is one of Borden's earliest settlers told the children of the great change in the Borden landscape, where once were tall trees and thick copse wood there now were beautiful and well kept lawns embellished by beautiful flowers—a happy town indeed—where in the words of Longfellow "The richest is poor and the poorest lives in abundance."

As the Mayor is one of the school officers and secretary of the school, he thanked all those who helped to make the Remembrance Day such a success.

Miss Doris Herring then thanked the guest speakers for inspiring their minds with such noble sentiments and having come such long distances to be with us. This motion was ably seconded by Master Harry Hoffer who also extends his gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Reverend gentlemen.

The audience then arose and with animation sang the National Anthem.

Workmen yesterday were busy clearing debris from the burned section of G.S.S. Brant, caused by a fire which occurred Monday afternoon when the ship was at sea.

Capt. A.J. Campbell and crew felt keenly the loss of their shipmate Charles Stubbart, but when the fire was discovered below deck in the foremast quarters the smoke was so dense it was impossible to reach the deceased who was sleeping only a short distance away.

First Mate Herb Anderson went below in a brave attempt to reach the sleeping man but the smoke was so dense he was obliged to abandon the attempt at rescue.

Two lines of hose were put into operation, using sea water, and with these together with a stream hose the fire was confined to the quarters where it originated.

Holes cut in the deck allowed an entrance for the hose while a line was carried below, the men taking turns at operating the stream. They were only able to stay below seconds at a time.

Other members of the crew removed a large quantity of inflammable material from the bow to the stern of the boat. The material was directly above the section which was ablaze. While this was being done Capt. Campbell headed the cabin with the wind, so that the dense smoke could blow away from the ship and in case flames should break through they would do less damage. Fortunately the flames were confined below deck.

After three hours strenuous work the men were able to go below where they found their shipmate in about four feet of water near the door of his cabin. The body showed no sign of burns.

Evidence Concluded In Liquor Conspiracy Case

The evidence was concluded yesterday in the case of John (Holman) Walsh, who is charged with conspiracy to distill alcoholic spirits illegally which is proceeding in the Supreme Court at Summerside.

The witness testified that the prosecution and the defense stated they would call no witnesses. It is expected a verdict will be reached today.

The first witness was Oletus Walsh, formerly of Summerside, now with the army. He stated that sometime before he joined the army he worked at the Soviet kitchen door of the Soviet at Andrew Perry.

Thomas Perry, Summerside, a resident of the kitchen door, testified that he recalled the accused in 1941. He was paid by the accused but did not recall the barrels taken away. Cross examined by Mr. Noonan witness said he is not sure but thinks the barrels were brought by the accused.

James Henderson, Ottawa analytical chemist, identified three samples of liquid in bottles which were in court and said he made an analysis of the contents. In each case witness testified that they were distilled spirits and the alcoholic content was 93 per cent.

Witness testified that if molasses yeast and water are mixed it will convert into alcohol. The alcohol can be withdrawn by distillation. One gallon of molasses yeast will make three quarters of a gallon of pure spirits. The witness was cross examined by Mr. Johnston.

William A. Gaudet collector of customs at Summerside said he has no record of any license to distill spirits in his files. He said he permits to make beer have not been issued here for 4 or 5 years. Cross examined by Mr. Johnston witness said he only speaks of Summerside, does not undertake to say of any other place.

John H. Howatt, Clerk, testified that the Soviet Cafe was assessed in the name of Andrew Perry for the years of 1941, 1942 and 1943 and the tax was assessed in the name of Andrew Perry.

Wallace Palmer, age 17, testified he lives in Conway, father is Guy Palmer. Remembered operations of 1941. Cletus Walsh was there and had a building rented by the father before the war. He said this building over the pump. Witness never went in this building while these operations were going on as his mother had told him not to. One time on passing the door he saw a large number of barrels and a big can like a funnel on top. The windows were covered up.

Cross examined by Mr. Johnston witness said there was no one else in the building when he was there that he knew of.

Tells of Seizures — Erskine Harvey, Inspector in Charlottetown in the employ of the Soldiers Settlement Board. He was formerly with the R.C.M.P. station at Borden. He said that in 1941, at that time the Walsh family lived there, Harry Walsh seemed to be in charge. He made a search there and found approximately 500 gallons of wash. Court before the Mounties came. Walsh was fined $100 and costs.

Pte. Percy Finch, now of the army, formerly of Summerside Det
