THE GYROSCOPE AND MONORAIL

Special to The Guardian. NEW YORK, Nov 11—The demonstrations conducted in London by Louis Brennan have demonstrated conclusively that the gyroscope can be practically applied to railroad operations on a single track. Thus the monorail, which will eventually revolutionize the railway systems of the world, seems brought within the bounds of practicability. Brennan had previously given demonstrations with a small model car. Members of the Royal Society were astonished to see the model running along a span of wire rope, balancing itself like a tight-rope dancer on two wheels, in apparent defiance of the laws of gravitation. The inventor has completed a full sized car, fitted with gyroscopes and has given a demonstration which was entirely successful. Forty persons were carried in the car up and down a straight single rail track and round and round a circular track.

Wallberg, of Montreal, $53,205, in settlement of his claim for extras in connection with the construction of the new car shop for the Intercolonial at Moncton. ADDRESS AND PURSE FOR REV. DR. CURRAN

REV. THOS. CURRAN, D.D., Ph.D.

In Columbus Hall last night in the presence of a large number of warm friends Doctor Curran was presented with a purse of $725.00 and the following address:— To Rev Thomas Curran, D.D., Ph.D., of Kelly's Cross, Prince Edward Island, Reverend and Dear Father:— When some nine or ten years ago you rose from a professorship in St. Dunstan's College to be its Rector, those who were aware of your brilliant record as student and scholar in Canadian institutions of learning, and afterwards in the Roman Propaganda, were then impressed with the conviction that the mantle of eminent predecessors in the rectorship had fallen upon worthy shoulders. During the years which have since taken flight your career was watched with sympathetic interest by the friends who early reposed confidence in your capacity and abilities, and who are now more than gratified with the results of your splendid administration. It is a matter of common knowledge that the continuing success and progress of the College were largely, if not wholly, due to your unflinching zeal. To parents, guardians, and others concerned in its welfare,

KING LOSES AN OLD FRIEND

LONDON, November 10—The royal birthday festivities at Sandringham palace were brought to a close this afternoon by the sudden death of heart disease of Montague Guest, while out with the king's shooting party. Montague Guest was the son of Sir John Guest, and the grandson of the Earl of Lindsey. He was an old and valued friend of the king, who has cancelled all arrangements for the remainder of the week. Guest was one of the best known figures in London society. He was of striking personality and was intimately known as "Monty." He was always welcome at court functions, and was an enthusiastic sportsman, yachtsman, art connoisseur, and possessed a fine collection of prints and bric-a-brac. He was born in 1839.

liberty, and firm purpose faithfully followed to develop and mould the character of the students, so that their conduct in after years might reflect credit on themselves and their Alma Mater. Under your rectorship eager students sought admission from Island homes and also from abroad in numbers far surpassing those of any period in its history. There is a beautiful story of ancient Ireland which tells how students flocked to her shores from other climes in quest of learning. We are here reminded of the fact that you, Reverend Father, are of this ancient race that taught the nations in those far off times, and did so much to glorify the Christian priesthood throughout the whole world, but especially on this continent where they have the leading part in bearing aloft the banner of the Cross. Another trust imposed upon us is the offering to you of the accompanying purse, the contribution of warm friends in testimony of their friendship and high regard for your own personal worth and a slight reward for your great and noble services, which we feel assured will have far-reaching effects in the lives and careers of the many graduates, who have been inspired by your teaching and example, with high ideals and manly ambitions. In conclusion we desire to say that the best wishes of hosts of friends and admirers follow you to your present field of labor. Our earnest prayer is that your coming years may be surrounded with peace, and that the honours and dignities which are the reward of sacrifices and meritorious work may be yours in God's good time. As a last word, Reverend Father, permit us to ask that in your kindness of heart you remember us in your prayers to Him who doeth all things well.

Faithfully Yours, James Eden, J. A. Kelly, C. Gavan Duffy, T. P. Cullen, Henry Fitzgerald, John T. Clarkin, James Phelan, Martin Corcoran, James M. Duffy, Patrick Clarkin. Father Curran responded with a fitting reply thanking those present and other friends for their kindness. Short complimentary addresses were given by Rev Monsignor Phelan, Revs P. D. McGuigan, D. A. Croken, M. McDonald, Alex McDonald, T. P. Cullen, and many others.

This building was considerably damaged from the fire, but more so on account of water.

LIBERAL WINS IN MIDDLESEX

TORONTO, November 10—Duncan Ross, the liberal candidate in West Middlesex, was elected today by 155 majority, to fill the vacancy in office of W. S. Calvert, formerly the chief liberal whip. The liberal majority in 1904 was 206, the last year Mr Calvert's majority was cut down to 12. Ross's majority was secured entirely in the town of Strathroy and in the townships of Ekfrid and Caradoc. All the rest of the riding went for McLaughlin, but by majorities so narrow that Ross was still left in the lead. The two candidates worked hard canvassing throughout the riding. McLaughlin came within twelve votes of beating Calvert at the general election a year ago. To become a candidate Ross was forced to resign his seat for North Middlesex in the provincial house. The election in that constituency will be held on December 6.

SHE BETRAYED HER HUSBAND

YOUNGSTON, Ohio, November 10—Following the arrest of Pasquale Roman, a murder charged yesterday, an hour after his marriage to Miss Elizabeth it developed that the new-made bride had betrayed her husband to the police. The man was taken from the railway station just as the young people were boarding a train for their future home near Cleveland. He was taken to jail on word from Brownsville, Pa, that he was wanted there under another name for a murder committed four years ago. Today's developments show that the girl told the police that it was Roman who was wanted by the police in Pennsylvania, and that a reward of $800 was on his head. Today, the girl lines in terror of Roman's friends who, she fears, may seek revenge on her, she said, "he told me to marry him," she said, "he told me that he would kill me if I did not." Immediately thereafter she employed attorneys to defend the man, and declared her intention of remaining with him to the end. She said she was sorry that she had betrayed him.

NO HOME STUDY FOR JUVENILES

CHATHAM, Ont., Nov 10—The decision of the Guelph board of education the other evening, to eliminate home study almost entirely from the lower classes of the public schools is an indication that the public is being aroused to the real nature of this great evil. It is a step which boards of education and public school boards in other places might follow with a great deal of advantage to the students under their care.

LEAPS UNDER CAR TO PROVE EDDY DOCTRINE

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 10—J. C. Wilson, formerly of Boston, a disciple of Mrs Eddy's Christian Science doctrine, threw himself in front of a trolley car to prove his faith, and the fact that he is still alive convinces him that the strange test has justified his belief. He suffered concussion of the brain and was a mass of bruises. When Wilson recovered consciousness today in the hospital he told the amazing story of his reason for his rash act. He declared that he was not suffering any pain and said he hoped to be well enough soon to give further demonstrations of his faith in the doctrine. He says he contracted tuberculosis and was cured by Christian Science in Denver. Wilson was born twenty-nine years ago in Sherman, Texas. He was student of electrical engineering in Boston when he became a follower of Mrs Eddy. Local Christian Scientists were much perturbed at Wilson's act and declared that his was a case of misdirected energy, and that neither he nor the church could hope to profit such demonstrations. Hospital physicians have doubts of Wilson's recovery.

ACADEMY FOR CANADIAN NAVY

OTTAWA, Nov 10—One of the first steps towards the actual settlement of the new Canadian navy will be the securing from Great Britain of two second or third class cruisers from the Imperial fleet for naval service as training ships for men and officers and as fisheries protective vessels in the Canadian waters. The Cruisers will be loaned to Canada pending the construction of new vessels for the Canadian navy, and arrangements are being completed between the Canadian government and the admiralty. One of these cruisers will be used on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific coast. This will enable an immediate beginning to be made in the work of training officers and men and when the new Canadian war vessels are completed two or three years hence the government will not be wholly dependent upon Great Britain for officers and crew to man them. A Canadian naval academy will also probably be established as a necessary condition to development of a national navy. An order in council has been passed appointing George J. DeGardals to be Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The International regulations governing the fisheries in boundary waters between Canada and the United States as drafted by President T. T. Prince on behalf of Canada and Dr David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, on behalf of the United States, will not go into effect until some time next year. The delay is caused by the fact that the United States government has as yet no legislative authority to provide for federal enforcement of regulations, the control of fisheries at present resting with individual states. Canada has already the necessary machinery for enforcement of new regulations but the government at Washington will have to wait until legislation is secured from congress.

AN ASSASSIN STILL AT LARGE

Special to The Guardian. PERTH Jct. November 11—Antonio Spinilla, wanted for the attempted murder and robbery of his fellow countryman, Signorino on Tuesday, is still at large, although the men in charge of Chief Foster are close on his track. Signorino seems to have a remarkably strong constitution and although his wound is serious, will undoubtedly recover. The fact that he was wearing no less than six shirts at the time of the shooting probably aided materially in saving his life.

HOW A THOUSAND MEN STARTED LIFE

MONTREAL, Nov 10—An authority states:—"I have on my desk a list of one thousand successful men of this nation. By 'successful' I do not mean mere money-makers, but men who have given us new conceptions of steam, electricity, construction work, education, art, etc. These are the men who influence our moral as well as physical lives. They construct for better things. How these men started in life is interesting. Their first foothold in work is a fine study." Three hundred started as farmers' sons. Two hundred started as messenger boys. Two hundred were newsboys. One hundred were printers' apprentices. One hundred were apprenticed in manufactories. Fifty began at the bottom of railway work. Fifty—only 50—had wealthy parents to give them a start.—Juvenile Court Record.

BETTER WAY FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

LONDON, November 10—Lord Dunsford, writing in the Morning Post, suggests that each town and populous county of Britain should acquire large estates in Canada and other dominions for relieving the unemployed problem instead of spending money on useless relief works. All the men should be emigrated under contract to keep to their agricultural communities for a specified time. The Morning Post, editorially emphasizes the fact that Canada wants men, not loafers, but endorses a duly safeguarded scheme and hopes Lord Dunsford will see what practical steps can be taken immediately. The Standard also endorses Lord Dunsford's proposal, remarking that it is a business proposition, and, as Lord Dunsford says, it is a paying investment on the one hand and means the employing of the workless on the other.
