SUGAR BOYCOTT HAS THE EFFECT OF CAUSING A BREAK IN SOARING PRICES

NEW YORK, May 5.—On the heels of the sugar boycott by women in New York and scores of other communities throughout the country a sharp break in futures amounting at the close from 45 to 55 points occurred today. A reduction in the price of refined sugar from 10 to 9 1/2 cents was announced by one large refiner. Anti-sugar pledges will be administered to the 1,000,000 school children tomorrow in an attempt to break present prices, it was announced by the women's sugar committee. The children who take the pledges will use sugar substitutes, such as fruits and syrups, "as long as sugar speculators continue to boost the price."

A FAREWELL PARTY AT TRYON

A happy party of young people gathered at the home of Mr. Samuel Holland on the evening of Saturday the twenty-eighth, to bid farewell to Miss Ruth on the eve of her departure to Charlottetown, where she intends training for a nurse.

Miss Marion Howatt presented her with a well filled purse on behalf of those present and Mr. Burgeon Clark read the following address:

To Miss Ruth Holland

Dear Friend,—Having heard with regret that you were going away we could not let you depart from our midst without some small token of recognition on our part. There is always a sadness about the breaking up of old associations and the severing of home ties, and much as we regret your going we believe you are taking a step in the right direction. Your sunny disposition and unfailing courtesy will stand you in good stead and fit you for the high and noble calling you are about to enter. You will be missed in the home where you have always been cheerful, obedient and industrious. We will miss you in our social circle. Your happy manner and pleasant smile and your respect for the opinion of others has endeared you to all with whom you have come in contact. As you look into the future with all its problems and possibilities and go out into the wider sphere of life's activities, no matter where our lot may be cast or what life has in store for us, you can rest assured, that the hope and prayer of your friends gathered here tonight is that a great and overruling providence that heeds the sparrow that is shaping and molding our destinies will be your guide and comforter and smile on all your undertakings. We ask you to accept this gift not for any value it has in itself but as a token of the esteem with which you are held by your many friends. We shall watch your career with pride. Your success will be our success, and we, your friends as the years go by will cherish in our hearts many happy thoughts of our early associations.

Miss Holland who is one of Tryon's most popular young ladies although taken by surprise made a fitting reply thanking her friends for their gifts and good wishes. The evening was spent with music and games the young people enjoying themselves to their hearts content. A dainty lunch was served which was done justice to by all present. After thanking their host and hostess for courtesies extended and wishing Miss Ruth bon voyage, departed to their various homes with memories of an evening pleasantly spent.

For Baby's Bottle

THE qualities which doctor, nurse, and mother seek in milk for babies are found in Carnation Milk. For it is simply pure, whole cows' milk with about 60% of the water removed by evaporation, sealed in air-tight containers and sterilized. It is always uniform. And you never run short, because Carnation keeps—you can order a month's supply at once, even in summer. Your doctor will gladly recommend Carnation for your baby. Order several tall (16-oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

Try this recipe and write for free Carnation Recipe Book, including the formulae for infant feeding.

CARNATION AS A DRINK

For drinking purposes, use one part Carnation Milk mixed with an equal portion of cold water, or two parts Carnation to three parts of water—according to how rich you care to serve. Ice and stir well. A booklet containing recipes for twenty-five drinks will be sent free.

IN MEMORIAM

WILLIAM PENN GREEN.

With the passing of William Penn Green on Monday last there was severed the last living link between the Summerside of the present and that of its beginning as "Green's Shore." Mr. Green was born nearly 93 years ago in the homestead on the site of the Presbyterian Hall. His father was Joseph Green, youngest son of the Quaker Loyalist, Daniel Green, whose thriving western capital, Penn Green was the last surviving grandson, and with his clear mind and accurate memory was even in extreme old age, a veritable storehouse of information covering old times and customs. But to him the Quaker spirit was dead and he was ever "roaming with a hungry heart, much had seen and known." At an early age he became one of that band of intrepid sea-captains—among them the Walches, Hillises, Kennedys and others—who were wont to sail out of Summerside harbor in the palmy days of its merchant marine bearing the treasures of the island over far seas and to distant shores. And when, with advancing years he gave up the seafaring life, his love of adventure would not permit him tamely to settle down in a prosaic groove, but he must needs join the train of gold-seekers to Colorado, and live the strenuous life of that time. In old age he came back to the town of his boyhood and to many it was a rare pleasure to hear his tales of foreign climes and stories of the pranks of his youth. He was quite unconventional in his ways, with a certain gaiety of spirit which would not quail "the bludgeonings of chance" and even when age and infirmity laid him low he waged a gallant battle to the last. He was cared for in his illness by his daughter, Miss Georgie, of Summerside. The other surviving members of the family are his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, of Minneapolis, Minn., and his sons, Dr. Cecil, of Montague, and Frank, of Denver, Colorado.

The funeral was held on Wednesday forenoon, Rev. Chas. DeW. White officiating. The pall bearers were, Shepherd Allen, Harry Baker, Wm. Clark, Havelock Lefurgey, David Lefurgey and John

MR. ANGUS McLEOD.

There passed away at Eldon, P. E. I., on the morning of April 12th, Mr. Angus McLeod, aged seventy-two years. About two months ago, he late Mr. McLeod had received injuries from a fall, and he sustained a concussion of the brain, which caused his death. Deceased was well and widely known, and highly respected, an obliging neighbor and a true friend to his family. His passing removes one of the familiar landmarks from Belfast, while his name will ever be associated with many sacred memories. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. McKenzie, of Belfast, while a silent and loving tribute was paid to his memory by the many friends who followed the remains to its final resting place in the Belfast cemetery. He is survived by five sisters, and one brother, Mr. A. D. McLeod, of Boston, Mass., all of whom will long cherish the memory of a sincere and loving brother.

Beyond the stars no toils nor tears, No sombre skies, nor gloomy fears, For He Who trod life's weary way as the dog on which nicotine had Shall wipe all sorrow's tears away.

LONDON, May 5.—The danger combustion destroys the nicotine, to smokers from nicotine poison or rather transforms it into creosol, is declared by Dr. E. P. Rogers, who says, phenols, and other substances to be "so small as to be almost negligible." This should be tidings of comfort and joy to many smokers in America, where, according to dispatches received here, some thing like a crusade is under way against "My Lady Nicotine." She is there denounced, it is said, as a "dissipated jade who is responsible for much that is injurious to health."

Dr. Roger's opinion is based on experiments conducted by himself to determine the action of fire on the tobacco consumed. He has just published an account of them with the conclusions that he has reached. He first took 10 grains of tobacco steeped in alcohol and water in order to extract all the nicotine. He said the solution was strong enough to kill a dog weighing four stones. He then took a similar quantity of the same tobacco and burned it in a pipe so constructed as to retain the whole of the smoke produced. The liquid resulting was found to have no worse effect on a dog than to trouble his digestion. The dog was of the same weight as the dog on which nicotine had

SMOKE OLD CHUM TOBACCO

Training Town Boys For Overseas Farms

LONDON, March 5.—In the House of Commons today Col. A. Buckley, Secretary to the Overseas Trade Department, said that the question of whether the British Government would exhibit at the Empire Exhibition next year was now being considered. He said that he would gladly bear in mind the suggestion that some general representation be arranged for those units of the Empire which are unable officially to participate. Questioned regarding the allocation of a portion of the overseas settlement grant towards the expenses of carrying on training camps in which unemployed lowbred workers would receive practical instructions in agriculture as a preliminary to successful overseas employment. Col. Buckley said that the Government's contribution to any scheme under the Settlement Act may not exceed half the expenses of the scheme, but subject to this condition that training is specifically mentioned in the Act as one of the forms of assistance to which the Government may contribute.
