Y's Men Make Presentation To Major Craig

Major George W. Craig was presented with a beautiful Gladstone bag by his brother Y's Men at the regular meeting of the club held in the Y. M. C. A. club rooms last night.

The address for the occasion was delivered by Mr. James Haslam and many fine tributes were paid the popular Major Craig by his fellow Y's Men. One of the oldest and most active members of the club, Mr. Haslam, was missed by the organization on his departure from the Province in the near future.

Major Craig Replies—In answer the Major thanked the club for their generosity in remembering him with such an appropriate gift and assured them that wherever he went he would always carry it with him and would ever remember the boys who gave it to him.

He stated that he was proud to be a member of the club and although he was sorry that he was leaving yet he was pleased to be going with the boys as a soldier.

Mr. Roy Cudmore, President of the Charlottetown Y's Men's Club, spoke of the many good services performed by Major Craig for the betterment of the club.

He referred to the boyhood of Major Craig and also his services in the last war and assured him that the best wishes of the club would follow him wherever his duty would take him.

Mr. Raoul LePage and Mr. Jack MacNair also expressed the sentiments of the organization in short addresses attesting the popularity of the Major.

Vice-President Ernest Bell occupied the chair and the meeting opened with "O Canada" followed by luncheon at the conclusion of which the presentation was made.

Mr. Jack MacNair reported that the annual Christmas Sale sponsored by the club had been an unqualified success. The proceeds of this sale will be used to supply gifts for needy children in the City at Christmas.

Practical business of the meeting and the reading of the different reports concluded an eventful night at the Y's Men's Club. The closing hymn was Major Craig's favorite song "Land of Hope and Glory" was sung by the members.

Nfld. Cod Liver Oil Manufacturers To Increase Output

MONTEREAL, Dec. 7.—Newfoundland cod liver oil manufacturers likely will increase production to meet new demand brought about by reduced supplies of European supplies resulting from the war, J. H. Penson, Newfoundland's finance commissioner, said here today in an interview.

Cod liver oil produced in the old colony has been shown scientifically to be equal to the best European product, said the commissioner. Most of Newfoundland's cod fishing for the present year was done last summer before the declaration of war, said Mr. Penson. During the winter months the fishing is at its lowest ebb.

Like the rest of the Empire, Newfoundland is doing its share in the prosecution of the war and has imposed a tax on the import of comes and corporations, the commissioner said.

He discussed the colony's wartime imposts on gasoline, matches and liquor and enlistment of Newfoundlanders in the Royal Navy and other services, and even in the Canadian and British armed forces.

Farmers Hear Address On Parasites

A very informative and instructive address was heard last night in the town hall, Summerside, when Dr. W. E. Swales from the institution of parasitology of Macdonald's College, St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., spoke to a representative gathering of farmers on the question of parasites in livestock.

Prof. Reid Middleton presided and introduced the speaker. A round table discussion took place after Dr. Swales' address. Dr. Swales all through his discourse stressed the fact that sanitation is the big factor in combating the parasites.

Treatments are very important, but simple treatments are quite often the most effective. He also pointed out that worm powders are very good for conditioning the animal but does not as a rule clear away with the parasites. Sanitation is the only effective method.

Dr. Swales first took up the treatment for the effective eradication of the warble fly which does so much harm to cattle especially in the spring and summer. The speaker said the Island farmer could exterminate the warble fly grub on P. E. I. in one year by using derris powder in the spring. Because the fly does not travel very far at the most five miles. Therefore if farmers used the derris powder which is most effective and took care to treat imported cattle they would soon have a free area. The powder only costs a few cents and it would bring dollars in return to the farmer.

Dr. Swales stated that he had been informed that packers would give free areas preference. It was the duty of every farmer to use the powder to make the Island a free area. It would mean better quality hides and increased milk production.

There were also simple methods for preventing parasites getting out of hand in horses. One very simple method was to run a knife down the legs of the animals where the eggs are, or to wash with vinegar. It is best to rely on treatment hard on the horse. Here Dr. Swales stressed the importance of cleanliness as a great help.

For foot treatment Dr. Swales said that carbon disulfide was advisable for farmers to form themselves into groups and have a veterinary treat the animals. Diet is also a very important factor in treatment of horses. Keep the horse resistant from worms is the best way.

In speaking of sheep here again simple methods are best. Canada, said the speaker, has the advantage over Australia, England and every other sheep raising country, because the severe winter climate gives the natures a rest, which most parasites are destroyed.

Most parasites have a routine method of treating the sheep in the spring before the pastures become contaminated they would have no sick pastures. A blue resistant and nicotine drench is the best treatment.

Cleanliness is the only method for ridding pigs of nit worms. Dr. Swales said that the nit worm is very hot and will kill the worms which are found in the droppings of pigs. Cold does not kill these parasites but washing the pen out every three weeks with boiling water will do the trick; by taking care the pen is clean before and after farrowing you protect the young pigs. It is the young pig that is infected so that sanitation is most important at the time the sow is farrowing and for some weeks after. Don't be afraid of hot water to keep your pig pens free from parasites. Diet is most important. A chicken that is deficient in vitamin has no resistance so that nutrition is very important.

Dr. Swales closed his remarks by saying that rapid strides have been made in the study of parasites which would be of lasting benefit to the farming industry.

Dr. Cunningham and E. S. Notting both spoke briefly on the water will kill the nit worms. Mr. Robert Baker North Beceque, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker which was passed unanimously.

Annual Poultry Show Concludes

The annual Prince Edward Island poultry show is over for another year. The birds were returned to their home roosts yesterday after a busy week posing for the judges and spectators.

The quality of the fowl at this year's show speaks well for the standard of breeding in Island poultry. Judges Fred Nash and Mr. A. L. Hennessey were pleased with the entries although it was difficult for them to pick the winners in the keen competition which prevailed. Mr. Charles worth was supervisor of the show.

Many visitors were interested in the odd classes which was comprised of the bantams and rabbits. Some very fine entries were listed in this "freak" class.

Interesting programs were featured through the entire course of the show. In the evenings the visitors were entertained by the fine music by the St. Avard's orchestra. Below is the balance of the prize list:

Special prize donated by Mr. Fred Nash Senior Poultry Fieldman Dept. of Agriculture donated for the best type of market bird in the show by George E. Worth Black Jersey, Giant Cockerel. The display of poultry feeds by Maple Leaf Milling Company displaying cafeteria mashes and feeds was a treat to the exhibitors and many comments were heard on the quality of these products. There was also a display of Pull O' Pep Feed by the Queker Oat Co. Ltd., which many comments were from Supt. of show Charles E. Worth.
