Routiers Assign A Strong Staff To Second Front

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—British, Canadian and American newspapers form the team which Routiers have assigned to the second front and headquarters posts from which the story of the military invasion of Europe will be told.

Their dispositions still are a security secret, Roussier states, but their broad outlines and names of key men now may be given.

Their Canadian and American counterparts are Marshall Yarrow, 36, formerly with the Ottawa Citizen, and Angus Grant, who worked for The Canadian Press in Halifax early in his career.

Headed the staff which will cover Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force—SHAFF—its chief is Sidney Mason, for 20 years a Times reporter and Routiers night editor for the last 18 months. He started on the London start of the British news and Routiers night editor for the last 18 months.

With the Second Front naval forces will be Desmond Tigne who has covered practically every battle from the outbreak of war to Routiers search of action. He covered the Russo-Finnish war and the British campaign, being temporarily in charge of Routiers staff at Eisenhower's North Africa headquarters.

Other highlights today were the report of Alex Walker, of Calgary, Dominion President, Famous Minister Macdonald and J. C. G. Harvey of Ottawa, general secretary.

Land Girls Plow English Fields

A SOUTH COAST VILLAGE, England, June 5 (AP)—Like great, smooth-flowing river, Allied planes roar ceaselessly over the white chalk cliffs of Dover in bright sunshine while down below, hardly lifting their heads, farmers and land army girls toil to produce food for civilians and the vast military forces now crowded on this tight little island.

Quebec Election Rumored Oct. 25

QUEBEC, June 4 (AP)—The fifth and last session of Quebec's legislature was prorogued here Saturday after sitting lasting 4 1/2 months and amid rumors that general provincial elections were set for Oct. 25, the fifth anniversary of the election of the present liberal administration.

There was no official confirmation of the latest rumors, just as there has been no comment on other possible dates advanced during the last few months. While previous rumors have placed election day in July, August or September, Premier Godbout has said merely that elections would be held sometime during the summer or fall.

The brief prorogation speech was read by Lieutenant-Governor Sir Eugene Fiset after the legislative council, provincial upper house, had given final approval to the 450,000 budget of provincial treasurer Arthur Matheson.

At the pre-election prorogation, Liberals held 50 seats in the 80 seat lower house, the Union Nationale 17, Nationalist one and Independent one, with eight seats vacant.

With the British Home Fleet is Arthur Cotterell, who worked one of the outstanding stories of an Allied convoy fighting through to Russia and back again.

Other highlights today were the report of Alex Walker, of Calgary, Dominion President, Famous Minister Macdonald and J. C. G. Harvey of Ottawa, general secretary.

"Cross of Lorraine" Tells Stirring Story of French Fighters

The Fighting French are on the march in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's stirring story of a group of French soldiers who carried on the fight against Germany from the depths of a Nazi prison camp. The all-time cost of the film, "The Cross of Lorraine," which opens today at the Prince Edward Theatre, is headed by Jean Pierre Aumont, the fighting Frenchman who came to this country after the fall of France and made two movies before returning to fight again with the forces of General De Gaulle.

The film deals with a specific outfit of French prisoners composed of men from various walks of life. After the Armistice they are promised freedom by the Nazis but instead find themselves herded to a prison camp. There they are subjected to brutal treatment by their captors. Peter Lorre, a Nazi sergeant, sets out to break their spirits. But he does not succeed due to the efforts of such men as Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Aumont, Joseph Calleia and Richard Widmark. However, he does win out in the case of Gene Kelly, the toughest and bravest of them all.

Opportunity to escape presents itself and several of the men are fortunate enough to make their way across the border to freedom. They raise a peaceful village to resist and after waging out a Nazi unit leave to join the guerrilla fighters in the mountains.

Based on the best-selling novel, "A Thousand Still Fall" by Hans Habe and titled in honor of the symbol of the Fighting French, "The Cross of Lorraine" is an outstanding film. Jean Pierre Aumont, who literally lived the role he plays in the film, is outstanding as a lower who used his brains to outwit the Nazis. Gene Kelly, a former soldier who refused to accept defeat.

Others in the fine cast are Sir Cedric Hardwicke as a courageous priest, Richard Whorf, as a doctor, Joseph Calleia and Peter Lorre.

Italian King Steps Aside

NAPLES, June 5 (AP)—King Victor Emmanuel stepped aside as Monarch of Italy today as he previously had said he would do upon the liberation of Rome, and handed the 39-year-old son, Crown Prince Humbert, all "Royal prerogatives."

Italian political pressure had been brought to bear against him since the conquest of Naples. The Monarch, however, retained his title as head of the House of Savoia and remains as King without power.

King Victor, who became ruler July 29, 1900, had announced last April 12 his "irrevocable" decision to withdraw from public life "on the day on which Allied troops enter Rome," and to turn his powers over to the Crown Prince.

Canadian Legion Adopts Total War Resolution

VANCOUVER, June 5 (AP)—A demand that the Dominion government force Canadian soldiers to serve in any active theatre of war was voiced in the first of 19 resolutions passed today at the biennial convention of the Dominion command of the Canadian Legion.

About 400 delegates adopted the "total war" motion which said that continuous, adequate reinforcements must be assured "particularly at this period of anticipated invasion and prospective heavy casualties" and added that "there is in Canada a large trained force, immobilized under present policy, from active military service or essential industry."

Land Girls Plow English Fields

A SOUTH COAST VILLAGE, England, June 5 (AP)—Like great, smooth-flowing river, Allied planes roar ceaselessly over the white chalk cliffs of Dover in bright sunshine while down below, hardly lifting their heads, farmers and land army girls toil to produce food for civilians and the vast military forces now crowded on this tight little island.

The girls drive a heavy tractor. The broken pattern of her furrows is likened to a giant searchlight and its crew. At another there are anti-aircraft units.

Invasion or no invasion—the land must be cared for. Frontlines country though it is, Kent farmers have increased their wheat acreage by almost twice the average for the rest of Britain. Cattle have been increased by 15.5 per cent.

Dusty convoys of camouflaged tanks and guns wind endlessly through the narrow country lanes, where the spring hedgerows have been been more beautiful. Red Cross ambulances stand under the trees of an orchard heavy with bloom. Bronzed American soldiers from the farm belt lean from jeeps to discuss war crops.

PON-HONOR FEEDS

Manufactured at Charlottetown from selected Western grains of choice quality, scientifically blended for a PURPOSE and fulfilling their MISSION:

OUR PURPOSE

is to supply farmers with a BALANCED RATION that will produce growth and development more rapidly than can be expected from less potential feeds and feeding practices. Hundreds of farmers who have been using our feeds consistently for years assure us in the most emphatic terms that PON-HONOR FEEDS are certainly fulfilling their MISSION:

WE CANNOT

begin to expound on our different Brands here but we have a specially prepared ration for pigs — weaners, growers, finishing and brood sows; For Poultry — Chick Starter, Grower, Fatener and a Laying Mash that will defy consumption without corresponding production results;

IT IS

Impossible to tell the whole story in this adv., but if you, as a feeder, desire the most in return for expenditure (and who doesn't), you should feed PON-HONOR FEEDS:

OH YES

You wonder about price? Well, we are not offering feeds or selling them on the basis of price alone, but rather on the MERIT of our products, because we realize that "Quality is remembered long after price is forgotten."

BUT

For you who are curious on this point—we'll let you in on a secret. We have a clientele of consistent customers who are the keenest on saving a dime that ever favors a store with their business, but yet refuse to sacrifice quality for the sake of a nickel. They are good company to be in with, and their example is worth following.

FINALLY

We can supply you with the best balanced feeds for young growing animals, as well as the mature, producing and reproducing kinds. We will sell you such, at the lowest price—comparable values—on the market:

BUT

We cannot FINANCE your bills. When we buy our supplies it's "money on the palm" and henceforth our sales terms must be ditte are in the FEED SUPPLY business only. It's a Bank's business to do the financing. Let's understand each other and work together.
