PHIL HARRIS ROCHESTER / LESLIE BROOKS IN NEW FILM

Paced by nine lively songs and hilarious comedies, Columbia Pictures' newest, jam-bore of five, "I Love a Bandleader," starring Phil Harris, "Rocheater" and Leslie Brooks, opened yesterday at the Capiol Theatre to an audience which loved every ever-loving minute of it.

What music will Phil raises his hat! Such kissing when Leslie raises her lips. What laughter when "Rocheater" raises the roof! It's the slickest musical in many a moon.

A great deal of credit for this musical is due to the writers of the story, John Gray, and the fast-paced screenplay, Paul Yawitz. Experts at comedy and gag situations, they have produced "Rocheater" and "Water Cadeet," who by the way has never been funnier than in his role as a theatrical agent.

Leslie Brooks, an unknown singer trying to get a job in a night club, not only is as decorative as she has ever been, but also to the light comedy by deft interpretation, but also for the first time changes and grows into a comedienne to her previously known talents will be welcome.

Naturally, the greater part of the action of the story is given to Harris and "Rocheater," and these comedy acts are given the regalia of show make the opening, when they appear as a couple of scene painters in a night club, they carry the ball off for a touch-down every time they get their hands on it.

13,000 Cancer Deaths Yearly in Canada

Each year in Canada there are about 13,000 deaths from cancer. In fact the deaths from cancer during the past several years were far greater than the deaths in our armed forces.

The situation is alarming and steps are being taken to do something about the matter.

Next month is Cancer Month over the whole Dominion and the United States, and preparations are being made for Prince County's participation in the Cancer Prevention Campaign.

The provincial committee formed in Summerside to promote the Cancer Prevention Campaign met in the Town Hall last Thursday evening with Dr. C. K. Gunn presiding.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. J. P. MacInnis and the direction of Mrs. Jean Pierce, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Cancer Society, when she visited here some weeks ago.

In view of the fact that half of the cancer deaths could have been prevented through early diagnosis by members of the public in every adult resident of Prince County a member of the Cancer Society, which has been given one dollar ($1.00) and the money is to be devoted principally to prevention of cancer in Prince Edward Island.

This has been a disease-free area for cancer for many years and is one of the most cancer-free areas in Canada. This could be accounted for by the fact that it is one of our citizens.

An earnest endeavor will be put forth to increase public cooperation and with this in mind a skeleton organization, to be supplemented by the Cancer Society, women's institutes and other bodies, was set up at the meeting.

Ex-Mayor John E. Campbell, who has long been identified with public health work, is the chairman of the organization committee. He will be assisted by Mr. Bennett J. Kelly, Mrs. J. W. Allen, R.N., Mrs. Colin Stewart and Mr. Allison MacLean.

The public relations committee is headed by Mrs. J. P. MacInnis and will be associated with him, Rev. E. W. Hunter, Rosbank, and Miss Eleanor Whelan, R.N., S.

U. S. Army Approves Quality Of S'ide Milk

Mr. Elmer Offer, proprietor of the Ideal Dairy, Summerside, was advised yesterday by telephone from Harmon Field, U.S. Army Air Base in Newfoundland, that the sample of pasteurized milk that he had sent over on Saturday had passed the right test and was acceptable.

He stated definitely that he would not land at the Summerside Airport as there was no control tower in operation. They had been prepared to take 600 gallons of milk a week and were to call here twice a week for deliveries.

It looks now that unless this difficulty can be overcome this order will be lost. Even though the R.C. Air Force operates the Summerside Airport and a number of men stationed there they do not keep the tower in operation. It is understood that efforts are being made to have this difficulty overcome but it is not known whether they will be successful.

Officers of the U.S. Air Corps came to Summerside on Saturday seeking to obtain fresh pasteurized milk after they had been unsuccessful in Charlottetown. They had inspected Mr. Offer's plant and being impressed with it asked for a sample delivery of milk which was made. This sample, as stated above, was satisfactory.

SEED POTATOES

Prices Boards order issued today reminding retail dealers in certified seed potatoes that their market up for 1946 will be slightly less than in 1945 but with a minor effect on the seed potato business of the Islands. The market for seed potatoes department officials said today.

Great bulk of finest grade seed potatoes grown in Prince Edward Island are exported abroad and are certified by the Canadian price ceiling, Ralph McKay of Prices Board told The Guardian.

Five of exported seed potatoes is purely a matter between seller and buyer, he said. The certificate is not required for export permit for export permit from the Department of Agriculture stamping their quality.

The markets division of the Department of Agriculture announced today that with the 1945 crop of 2,611,960 bushels, of which 1,991,888 bushels were exported, and only 200,474 bushels disposed of in Canada, the Island's best customer for certified seed are the United States, Cuba, France, West Indies, Newfoundland, with small quantities going to South Africa and Ireland.

Previous to marriage, the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower on Thursday evening, Feb. 28th at her home by her many friends and neighbors. After the crowd had assembled, she was escorted to a seat of honor by Mrs. Forbes. The parcels were carried in by Shirley Stewart and Jean MacLean, and opened by Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. Harland Day. There were many beautiful and useful gifts, including a sewing machine, a silver and many gifts of money; and a mahogany velvet armchair given by Sydney Bagda, on the occasion of his departure for the States, and a mahogany velvet armchair given by John Forbes. A delicious supper was served by the hostesses assisted by the ladies. The bride to be thanked them one and all for their many gifts, and all departed to their homes in a very happy and joyous mood.

Official British Foreign Policy Easily Defined

BY SYLVAIN MANGOOT, Reuters Diplomatic Correspondent

LONDON, March 19 — (Reuters) — Officially British foreign policy is as easily defined as the British flag. Its aim is as clearly stated by both Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary Bevin to work within the framework of the United Nations Organization to promote world peace and prosperity.

Effective success of the United Nations depends upon the co-operation of the three main victors — the United States, Britain and Russia.

Present uncertainties in Big Three relations make it painfully apparent the future of U.N.O. hangs in the balance.

With or without the working of U.N.O. British policy is international affairs is dependent on factors mainly outside British control. The two most important are the proposed American loan to Britain and the present Soviet tendency to expand Russian sphere of influence to an extent which may be directed against the British Empire.

Full importance of the United States loan for British foreign policy is not generally realized. In event of refusal many experts believe it will be virtually impossible to carry on the present level of defence at a minimum, in addition to replacing capital equipment and producing for export.

Expansion of troops in Greece, Indonesia, Egypt and India represents a heavy drain on the country's resources, and has not escaped the notice of Moscow where propaganda against British policy is being actively stirred.

Socialist Britain represents a definite pole of attraction to progressive forces everywhere. It represents a tangible alternative to totalitarianism while still corresponding to stark realities of present times. This again has not escaped the notice of Moscow where monopoly attraction is claimed for communism.

BEAM PROGRAMS TO RUSSIA

LONDON, March 18 — (CP) — The British Broadcasting Corporation is preparing to beam three half-hour Russian-language programs daily to the Soviet Union. W. A. Burke, assistant postmaster general, said today in the House of Commons.

Short Etan or bolero jackets are worn over new dresses that come in the waist or shorter and often have double-breasted rows of buttons. Camilla white for evening dresses is rich with gold beads or embroidery and wide or narrow gold kid belts. "Jewel" set buttons to match the leading color in the new trousseau dresses for spring are used to button the front or to stud a belt.

Quilting on new leather bags and belts and on the gaudy cuffs of gloves is criss-crossed in diagonal fashion. Redingote coat dresses that button down the front and fit with progressive forms are in evidence. The short evening dress, with full balloon sleeves worn pulled up at the elbow.

High-riding salter hats, with high crowns, narrow roll brims and little veils, are dapper looking with spring suits.

Flowing, full-length sheer skirts on evening dresses are worn over short slips to give the appearance of the short evening dress.
