Repair Work.

One of our great Specialities

Our business has been so great for past few months it has been almost impossible to turn out our orders on time. The question naturally arises. What is the reason of so great a rush? The reason is plain, our plant is fitted throughout with the latest Modern Machinery and employing none but first class workmen. We are in a better position to turn out work in a satisfactory manner than any other establishment on P. E. Island. We have the facilities and know how to execute the work. Give us a trial and be convinced of the merits of our work.

THE MORNING GUARDIAN

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1901.

Lord George Hamilton, Indian Secretary, in presenting the financial statement for the Indian Empire, said it was the most favorable showing since India came under the direct control of the Crown. Notwithstanding that the famine relief in three years had cost £15,000,000 the same period showed a surplus in the treasury of £6,377,000. This season's rains, though something less than normal, were sufficient to give a fair outlook for the crop.

The proposed new steamship line intended to shorten the Atlantic passage will be composed of six steamers, four of which will ply between Berehaven, Ireland, and New York and two between Berehaven and Halifax or Sydney. They will burn Texan oil instead of coal for fuel. By building 60 miles of railway and a short ferry from Ireland to Wales passengers landed in Berehaven will be able to reach London in 12 hours. It is hoped thus to make the passage from New York to London in five days and from Sydney to London in four to four and a half days.

Among the great enterprises of Western Canada is the dam of the Keewatin Power Company at the outlet of the Lake of the Woods 120 miles from Winnipeg. The dam is constructed of granite and cement and holds in an expanse of water one half larger than the area of Prince Edward Island. It gives 30,000 horse power. It is now proposed to utilize this power to light the City of Winnipeg. Buffalo uses 12,000 horse power from Niagara, 25 miles distant. A plant is now being constructed to deliver electric power in San Francisco from a water fall 155 miles distant. There is loss in the transmission so far, but it is claimed that a copper cable, one inch in diameter will transmit 50,000 horse power with a loss of less than one fifth of one per cent per mile.

It is claimed that by this year's census France shows a gain of 412,384 since 1896, but this is disputed and the real gain is said to be less than one third of that number. Taking a long period of 80 years past it will be seen that the growth of population in France has been surprisingly slow, when compared with other great nations. Great Britain, Germany, Russia in Europe and Italy have doubled or more than doubled their numbers in that time, while France has gained but eight millions since 1821. Here are the figures:

France.....	30,462,000	38,641,333
United Kingdom..	20,984,000	41,460,678
Germany.....	27,000,000	56,345,014
Russia in Europe..	52,000,000	110,000,000
Italy.....	16,000,000	35,000,000

Referring to what the Examiner has to say about the commercial travellers' tax we may remark that we took up the subject at the request of a well-known member of the Commercial Travellers' Association. We have presented what might fairly be said on both sides. We regard the tax of $100 upon resident agents of firms in other Provinces as less defensible than the tax on travellers generally. It is quite true, as the Examiner points out, that these agents might be tempted to remove to Pictou or Point du Chene to reside, and by transacting their business from thence could escape the greater part of the tax of $100. Their removal, should they take this course, would be on all hands regrettable.

A. C. P. R. OFFICIAL TALKS

Only 17,000 Men Carried West Short of Number Asked by Government.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—Mr. McPherson, general passenger agent of the C. P. R. western lines, who has just arrived from the West stated this morning that there is work in the West for all the men who have gone out there and who are looking for farm work. "The trouble has been that in many cases the men have congregated in large numbers in the centres. In Brandon and Winnipeg a thousand men could no more find farm work in a couple of days than they could if they were dropped down in Montreal. The trouble has been the men have stuck to the main lines instead of going out on the branch lines, and thereby getting into the heart of the farming country. The people we have carried out there fall far short of the number the government intimated would be needed to harvest the crop. The government's estimate was that twenty thousand harvest hands were wanted. We have carried about seven thousand people out on our harvest excursions. These have not all gone to the harvest fields of Manitoba, for we know that many persons have taken advantage of the extraordinary cheap rate to go to Winnipeg, and from there have gone to visit friends in the states along the border. When such large numbers of men are carried out it requires some days and some conveniences for their distribution among the wheat fields, but I have no doubt that all who are looking for farm work will find it. The C. P. R. does its best to distribute them. Station agents send reports of the number of men needed in the districts where they are located, and the harvesters are notified of the number that can find work there. In some cases homesickness has caused complaints, and many men have gone out who are not looking for employment on the farms but are seeking places as clerks. Not a few complaints have come from these persons."

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL IN DANGER.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—A good deal of excitement has been caused during the last week by the report getting abroad that St. Paul's Cathedral is in danger from excavations for the new underground railway. There is a generally accepted belief that the cathedral's foundations rest on concrete. This is not the case. The cathedral rests upon natural clay, which needs moisture to preserve its tenacity and firmness. There is no doubt that modern disturbances in the soil have tended to drain away the desirable dampness.

At the present moment the portions of the building which give the greatest cause for alarm are the stately built west front, where the walls, with the towers and bells, are particularly massive and the south transept, where the condition of one window is certainly such as to give cause for anxiety. Some idea of the incessant renovation the building requires may be guessed from the fact that the ordinary staff of masons for the cathedral number forty. They are selected for their skill and are constantly employed in the everyday requirements of the building.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE SIX MILES IN THE AIR.

A London Daily Mail correspondence dated Berlin, Aug. 2, says: The balloon trip of Drs. Berson and Suering, briefly referred to on Thursday, Aug. 1, constitutes, it now appears, a record in aeronautics. After ascending from the Meteorological Institute on Thursday the balloon reached a record height of 34,400 feet (over six and a half miles). At a height eight hundred feet short of this Dr. Berson and his companions became unconscious and remained in this state three-quarters of an hour while the balloon soared many feet higher through dense masses of cloud. The last figures recorded by the instruments showed 34,400 feet, but the daring aeronauts must have gone considerably higher while unconscious. Drs. Berson and Suering relate that at a height of 3230 feet the cries of geese and cattle were still heard, and the sound of a railway engine was audible up to 20,000 feet. After that perfect quiet reigned. Freezing point was reached at a height of 12,500 feet; at 20,000 furs were put on; and at 30,000 the aeronauts had to resort to insulation. The newly invented "thermophor" provided an excellent expedient, for keeping the blood warm when the thermometer was somewhere near zero. Thermophor in the shape of plates had been put into their boots and pockets by the aeronauts. The balloon descended at Kottbus, eight hours after its departure for Berlin. Messrs. Glaisher and Coxwell in September, 1883, attained a supposed height of 36,000 to 37,000 feet, but the figures were not exactly noted, as both aeronauts were overcome by the cold and had only sufficient strength left to pull the valve with their teeth and cause the balloon to descend.

A Scotch parson once appraised the blacksmith of the village for not paying his church rate. "But I never go to kirk," said the blacksmith, "that's your fault," said the minister. "The kirk is always open." A few days later the blacksmith sent a bill to the minister for shoeing his horse. The minister indignantly protested that his horse had no legs shod. "That's your fault," said the smith the forge is always open."

Our market stalls have been open for business on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., previous to that from 4 in the afternoon to 10, now as the forenoon trade has not been up to our expectation, and as we do not feel warranted in resorting to the persons rule of trade or for that matter the blacksmith—so after mature deliberation we have concluded not to open our market stalls on Saturday until 6 in the evening. The moral of this is quite plain. It may pay to keep the kirk always open and also a blacksmith forge but it does not pay to keep the market open in Charlottetown all the time.—J. J. Gay & Son.
